4. (a) Subject to the provisions of these rules and within the limits of the funds alloted to him for the purpose, the Collector of a District may grant loans not exceeding R1,000 for any one improvement as defined in section 4 of the Act. Applications for loans in excess of R1,000 for any one work shall be submitted to the Revenue Commissioner, who is authorised to sanction the grant of loans not exceeding R3,000 in any one case. Applications for loans in excess of R3,000 shall be submitted with the Revenue Commissioner's recommendations for the orders of the Local Government. Officers authorised to grant loans.

(b) The Collector may, in his discretion, allot funds from his District allotment to any sub-divisional officer or officers of his District, and may empower such officer or officers to grant loans up to a limit not exceeding R500 for any one work within the limits of the funds so allotted.

5. Applications for loans may be presented to any Revenue Officer not below the rank of Naib Tahsildar. Such applications should usually be in the annexed form A, of which printed copies should be made available to intending borrowers free of charge. When an application for a loan is made orally, or otherwise than in form A, the officer to whom it is made shall himself record it in the prescribed form or he shall cause it to be so recorded by some responsible subordinate official. Applications for loans.

6. A local enquiry shall be held at as early a date as possible, by the officer entertaining the application, or by such Revenue Officer not below the rank of Naib Tahsildar as may be called upon by him to make such enquiry, into the circumstances of the applicant, the sufficiency of the security offered and such other particulars as may be necessary for determining whether or not it is desirable to grant the loan. Enquiry into application and officers by whom enquiry should be made.

7. Where the amount of the loan applied for does not exceed R500 and the local enquiry cannot be made within a reasonable time by a Tahsildar or a Naib Tahsildar without detriment to his other work, the Sub-Divisional Officer or in his absence the Tahsildar may in his discretion cause the requisite enquiry to be made by a Kanungo of the Tahsil. Enquiry to be made by Kanungo in special cases.

8. The result of the enquiry shall be recorded in form B (on the reverse of form A) and the papers shall then be forwarded, through the proper channel, to the officer having authority to sanction the loan. Report giving result of enquiry.

9. The officer to whom such a report in submitted may for sufficient reason cause a further enquiry to be held before forwarding or recommending for sanctioning the application, but care should be taken that no unnecessary delay is allowed to occur in making such further enquiry. No application shall be rejected except by order of the officer competent to sanction it, or (in the case of the loans requiring the sanction of the Revenue Commissioner or the Agent to the Governor General) of the Collector. Power to order further enquiry.

10. No loan shall be granted unless enquiries show that the conditions of section 4, clause (1) of the Act are fulfilled, and that the security offered is good and sufficient. Conditions to be complied with before loans are given.

Amount of loan to be sufficient to cover total outlay.

11. In dealing with applications for loans generally and more particularly for loans for constructing or improving Karezes or water courses or for carrying out other irrigation schemes, it is of importance that a close estimate should be made of the total outlay required to complete the project, and that the amount of the loan should be sufficient to cover so much of the total outlay as the borrower is unable to provide from his own capital or to obtain on reasonable terms from other sources.

Karezes.

12. The construction and extension of Karezes are works of a very speculative nature, and no loans should ordinarily be given in such cases until the probability of the success of the project has been ascertained by sinking trial wells and taking approximate levels. Where it is conveniently possible, and in all cases where the outlay is large, the Irrigation Officer in Baluchistan or some local Public Works Department Officer should be asked to examine and report on the project. The grant or refusal of the loan should mainly depend on such officer's report. When such report is unfavourable, no loan should be given without the special sanction of the Revenue Commissioner.

Security for loan.

13. (a) Security as hereinafter prescribed shall be taken before any loan is made under these rules.

(1) Where the applicant's interest in the land or water to be improved, or in both, is apart from the improvement proposed in itself of sufficient value to cover the amount of the loan, the sanctioning officer may in his discretion dispense with further security.

(2) Where such interest is not in itself of sufficient value to cover the amount of the loan, further security should be taken, which may consist of :—

(i) The applicant's interest in other land or water or both.

(ii) Land or water, or both, belonging to any other person or persons who is or are willing to become the applicant's surety or sureties.

(iii) Personal security.

(3) (a) Where the application for a loan is made by a tenant or tenants (other than mere tenants-at-will) of immovable property and the security offered is sufficient to ensure the repayment of the loan, loans may be freely given on such security.

Note.—A tenants occupancy rights should not be accepted as security unless they are transferable at the tenant's option.

(b) The fact that an applicant is in arrears in respect of Land Revenue, or of a previous loan, does not necessarily bar the grant to him of a loan under these rules, provided the sanctioning authority is satisfied as to the security offered.

(c) It is for the sanctioning authority to satisfy himself in every case that the security offered, in whatever form, is sufficient to guarantee the repayment of the loan; and when such authority is of opinion that security other than land is sufficient there is no objection to such security being accepted.

Encumbrances on land offered as security.

14. Enquiries as to existing encumbrances on land offered as security for the repayment of a loan should not be carried further than is absolutely necessary with due regard to the security for the loan.

Interest.

15. Loans shall not ordinarily be given under these rules unless the applicant is willing to pay simple interest at the rate of one anna in the rupee (i.e., 6¼ per cent.) per annum. If in any case there are exceptional reasons to justify the grant of a loan at a lower rate of interest or without interest, the case should be submitted, with the recommendation of the Collector, to the Revenue Commissioner who will accept or reject any such application as to him may seem expedient or in cases of loans in excess of R1,000 will submit the application with his recommendations for the orders of the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor General.

Repayments of loans.

16. Subject to the provisions of rules 17 and 18 the convenience of the borrower should be consulted as far as possible in fixing the instalments by which repayment is to be made. Repayments may be made by yearly or half-yearly instalments, and on dates convenient to the borrower, but the borrower may, if he so chooses, repay by larger instalments or repay the whole amount of his debt at any time.

Date from which payment should begin.

17. Within reasonable limits, the convenience of the borrower should be consulted as to the date from which repayment should begin, and such date should not precede the date when by the exercise of ordinary care and diligence the profits from the improvement may be expected to cover the payment of the instalment. This period of grace, however, should not, without the special sanction of the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor General, exceed two and a half years in any case, and interest should be charged for the period in question.

Period within which loans should be repaid.

18. The period within which the repayment of the loan is to be completed should not ordinarily exceed twenty years, but this period may, in special cases, with the sanction of the Local Government, be extended, due regard being had to the nature and permanency or otherwise of the improvement effected.

Execution of agreement.

19. When it has been decided to grant or to recommend a loan, steps should forthwith be taken to have necessary documents executed. The applicant or applicants should be required to execute an agreement in the annexed form C. Clause 3 of this form should be filled up in cases in which the applicant or applicants hypothicate or hypothicates his or their own property as security; in other cases, it should be struck out. If any land belonging to any other person or persons is to be hypothicated, an additional agreement should be executed in the annexed form D. If personal security of any other person or persons is to be taken the additional agreement should be in the anexed form E.

Planting of trees along water courses, etc.

20. Whenever possible in granting a loan for the construction of a new, or the repairing of an old Karez, water course, etc., the opportunity should be taken to insert a clause in the agreement (Form C) binding the applicant to plant and maintain a reasonable number of fruit or other trees along its bank.

Payment of loan in instalments.

21. Loans of considerable amount should, as a rule, be made not in lump sums, but in suitable instalments; and when money is so advanced, care should be taken to see that each instalment has been applied to the purpose for which it was given before a further instalment is paid; but the payment of the instalment should be made as promptly as possible so that the progress of work may not be retarded.

Order for payment of loans.

22. The order for the payment of a loan should be made out in the annexed form F. If the loan is payable in a lump sum the first and third paragraphs of the order form F should be filled up. If the loan is payable in instalments a separate order will be given to the applicant for each instalment. When the first instalment is to be drawn the first and third paragraphs of the form should be filled up; and when a second or subsequent instalment is to be drawn the first and second paragraphs of the form should be filled in and the third paragraph struck out. Form F should be made over to the borrower, who should present it at the Treasury (or sub-Treasury) for payment, and on payment the order form should be taken over by the Treasury (or sub-Treasury) and forwarded as a voucher to the Accounts Department.

Penal interest for non-repayment on due date.

23. Subject to the provisions of Rule 26 if an instalment of principal, or of interest or of consolidated principal and interest, is not paid when it becomes due, the Collector may, if the delay exceeds one month and shall, if it exceeds six months, charge compound interest at a rate not exceeding 6¼ per cent per annum, on such overdue instalment for the period during which it remains unpaid: provided that, if the default in payment is due to the borrower's inability to pay, and the levy of such compound interest would be productive of hardship, the Collector may recommend that it may be remitted, recording reasons for his recommendation which shall be submitted to the Revenue Commissioner, who shall pass orders on such recommendation.

Inspection of improvements.

24. Collectors should make arrangements for the periodical inspection of all improvements undertaken with the aid of a loan in order to ensure that the loan is properly applied to the work for which it was granted. In all cases the work should be inspected within a month after the expiration of the time within which the applicant has bound himself in the agreement (Form C) to complete the work.

Penalty for misapplication of loan.

25. If it is proved at any time to the satisfaction of the Collector that any part of a loan has been misapplied, he may, after recording the reasons for his decision, and subject to the control of the Revenue Commissioner, proceed to recover the whole amount of the loan with such interest as may have become due thereon.

Suspensions.

26. (a) Suspensions should be readily given when, owing to the failure of crops or delay in the completion of the improvement from causes beyond the borrower's control, the payment of instalments would be burdensome.

(b) No interest shall be charged on suspended instalments for the period of suspension.

Effect of suspension on repayment of loan.

(c) Unless the borrower so desires, suspended instalments should not be made repayable in the ensuing year together with the instalments due in that year, but the effect of suspension shall be to postpone for one instalment period the payment of all remaining instalments due on the loan.

Powers of officers to grant suspensions.

(d) Where the amount of the loan does not exceed R1,000 suspensions may be sanctioned by the Collector. Where the amount of the loan exceeds R1,000 a first suspension may be sanctioned by the Collector, a report being sent to the Revenue Commissioner, whose previous sanction should be obtained before a second or any subsequent suspension of the same instalment is given. The Revenue Commissioner may sanction suspensions of instalments irrespective of the amount of the loan.

Applications for remissions.

27. When any loan or any portion of a loan is found to be irrecoverable, or when for special reasons it appears undesirable, to recover any outstanding amount, a special report shall be submitted to the Revenue Commissioner. It is desirable that the recovery of a loan should take precedence over the recovery of land revenue and it is ordinarily preferable that a remission of land revenue should be recommended rather than of the loan.

Foot-note.—Generally the risk of failure must be borne by the borrower, as this affords the best guarantee that the loan will be judiciously spent, and applications for the remission of outstanding instalments or any part of them will only be considered when it is clearly proved that the work for which the loan was given has failed from causes beyond the borrower's control and recovery in full would occasion serious hardship.

Power to grant remissions.

28. The Revenue Commissioner may, on sufficient reasons being shown, remit any amount not exceeding R500. In any case where the amount proposed to be remitted exceeds this sum, the Revenue Commissioner shall take the orders of the Local Government which has power to grant remissions without limit.

Copies of orders sanctioning remissions to be sent to Account Officer.

29. Whenever any loan or any part of a loan, is remitted under the foregoing rule, a copy of the order sanctioning such remission shall be at once communicated to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, Calcutta, and the Treasury Officer, Quetta.

Forms.

30. The Revenue Commissioner shall regulate the forms of all returns, registers and accounts relating to loans under the Act.

No. 546.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by proviso (1) to Section 11 of the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883 (Act XIX of 1883), as applied to the territories administered by the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan as such Agent, the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor General is pleased to frame the following rules for the temporary exemption of improvements from assessment to land revenue in cases where the improvement is made with the aid of a loan under the said Act, and consists of the reclamation of waste land or of the irrigation of land assessed at unirrigated rates :—

1. (a) Reclamation of waste land.—When land is reclaimed from waste and is brought under cultivation by any means other than perennial irrigation no revenue shall be assessed on it for a period of three years.

   (b) Improvement by irrigation.—When rain-crop or flood-irrigated land has been brought under perennial irrigation no additional revenue shall be assessed on it for a period of four years.

   (c) Waste land brought under irrigation.—When waste land is brought under perennial irrigation no revenue shall be assessed on it for a period of five years.

2. In each of the above cases the period of exemption shall be reckoned from the beginning of the harvest first reaped after the improvement is effected.

3. Nothing in these rules shall be understood as limiting the powers of the Local Government in any case to give more liberal terms than those above prescribed. Nor shall these rules be read as affecting any remission of revenue admissible to any person under the terms of any agreement or unexpired settlement.

4. These rules shall come into force from 1st April 1909.

No. 550.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 2, sub-section (3) of the Agriculturists Loans Act (XII of 1884) as applied to the territories administered by the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan as such Agent, the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan is pleased to extend to the above mentioned territories sections 4, 5 and 6 of the said Act.

No. 551.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 4 (1) of the Agriculturists Loans Act (XII of 1884) as applied to the territories administered by the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan as such Agent, the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan is pleased to make the following rules for the working of the said Act in the abovementioned territories—

Draft Rules under the Agriculturists Loans Act.

Officers empowered to grant loans.

1. Subject to the provisions of these rules, and within the allotment placed at his disposal, the grant of loans (under these rules) shall be within the discretion of the Collector of the District.

2. A Collector may empower Officers not below the rank of Tahsildar to sanction loans not exceeding in each individual case R100 for the purchase of cattle and R20 for seed and Officers not below the rank of Extra Assistant Commissioner to sanction loans not exceeding R200 in each individual case for the purchase of cattle and R50 for seed, provided that loans so given shall be debited against the allotment for the District.

Selected Officers may be empowered to grant loans.

3. Applications from owners and occupiers of arable land for the relief of distress, the purchase of seed or cattle, or for any other purpose not specified in the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883, but connected with Agricultural objects may be presented to any Revenue Officer not below the rank of Naib Tahsildar. Such applications should usually be in the annexed form A of which printed copies should be made available to intending borrowers free of charge. When an application is made orally or otherwise than in form A, the Officer to whom it is made shall himself record it in the prescribed form or he shall cause it to be so recorded by some responsible subordinate official.

Application for loans.

Note.—The words "relief of distress" mean relief of distress directly due to a calamity in agriculture, such as the destruction of crops by drought, floods, hail, blight, locusts or insects; loss of cattle by disease, scarcity and the like.

The words "any other purpose not specified in the Land Improvement Loans Act but connected with agricultural objects" mean any other purpose directly connected with agriculture and its processes.

4. A local enquiry shall be held at as early a date as possible by the Officer entertaining the application, or by such Revenue Officer not below the rank of a Kanungo as may be directed by the Officer to whom the application is presented to make such enquiry (for the purpose of ascertaining whether the applicant is in need of the relief applied for).

Enquiry into application and officers by whom enquiry should be made.

5. The result of the enquiry shall be recorded in the annexed Form B (on the reverse of Form A), and the report shall then be forwarded through the proper channel to the Officer having power to sanction the loan.

Report of enquiring officer.

6. Any Officer to whom such a report is submitted may, for sufficient reason, cause a further enquiry to be held, before forwarding or recommending or sanctioning the application but care should be taken that no unnecessary delay is allowed to occur in making such further enquiry.

Power to order further enquiry.

7. Loans when given should be on such a scale as to render it unnecessary for the borrower to resort elsewhere for supplementary loans in order adequately to supply the needs which have led him to ask for a loan.

Amount of loan.

8. The Collector, or any Officer empowered by him to give loans under Rule 2 may in his discretion require an applicant to furnish security for the repayment of the loan. The loans given under the Agriculturists' Loans Act being as a rule small, it will generally be unnecessary to demand any security other than personal security, but officers who are entrusted with the working of these rules should endeavour to encourage the system by which members of a village, community, or a group of agriculturists, become jointly and severally responsible for the repayment of a loan required by an individual member.

Security.

9. Loans shall not ordinarily be given under these rules, unless the applicant is willing to pay simple interest at the rate of one anna in the rupee, i. e., 6¼% per annum. If in any case there are exceptional reasons to justify the grant of a loan at a lower rate of interest than that prescribed, or without interest, the case should be submitted, with the recommendations of the Collector, to the Revenue Commissioner, who will when the loan does not exceed 1,000 rupees accept or reject any such application as may to him seem expedient.

Interest.

10. The convenience of the borrower should be consulted as far as possible in fixing the instalments by which repayment is to be made. The borrower should, in ordinary circumstances, be expected to repay a loan taken for the purchase of seed from the proceeds of the crop produced by the seed and in the case of a loan taken for the purchase of plough cattle to repay it within two years. The repayment of the whole amount of the debt should in no case take longer than ten years.

Repayment of loans.

11. Whatever dates may be fixed for the repayment of a loan, the borrower may, if he so wishes, repay the amount due by him, by larger instalments or repay the whole amount due by him at one time.

Option of borrower to repay before due date.

12. When it has been decided to grant or to recommend a loan, steps should forthwith be taken to have the necessary documents executed. The applicant or applicants should be required to execute an agreement in the annexed form C., clause 3 of this form should be filled up in cases in which the applicant or applicants hypothecates or hypothecate his or their own property as security; in other cases it should be struck out. If a third party becomes security an additional bond should be executed in the annexed form D. or E. according as the surety is a village community or a group of agriculturists (see rule 8) or not, or in the annexed form F. where the security offered is immoveable property. After the necessary documents have been executed the officer having authority to sanction the loan shall give an order in the annexed form G. for the payment of the amount of the loan.

Payment of loan and executions of agreements.

N. B.—In case of loans under the Agriculturists' Loans Act all securities besides the applicants' personal security are optional (see rule 8).

Grants of Loans in times of scarcity or famine and method of payment.

13. When scarcity or famine is apprehended the Collector may authorise selected officers not below the rank of Naib Tahsildar to draw, on abstract bills, lump sums (the amount of which should in each case be specified) for distribution as loans under these rules. At such times enquiries should be made well in advance as to probable requirements so that arrangements may be made for the immediate disbursement of money when it is actually required. Loans may be granted in villages on the receipts of the borrowers subject to the condition that each agrees to pay interest at the prescribed rate. Receipts should be taken on the spot at the time that the amount of each loan is paid, and each receipt should be signed by at least two villagers as witnesses. The disbursing officer shall also observe the following procedure :—

(1) He shall not draw a second abstract bill without producing a detailed bill to account for the amounts already disbursed from the last advance taken by him, any balance being at the same time refunded into the Treasury or accounted for as prescribed below:—

The balance need not be refunded on each occasion on which a detailed bill is sent to the Treasury. If the disbursing officer foresees that his advance will not be sufficient to meet the probable demands, he may before his advance is exhausted, subject to the condition that funds have been placed at his disposal prepare an other abstract bill for a further advance and send it to the Treasury with the detailed bill in which the unexpended balance of the first advance should be shown as refunded and such balance will be deducted at the Treasury from the amount of the second abstract bill.

(2) The submission of the detailed bill should in no case be delayed beyond the end of the month following that in which the advance was drawn from the Treasury.

(3) At the foot of each detailed bill the disbursing officer shall certify that the amount of each advance was duly sanctioned by him and actually paid in his presence, and that the requisite receipt has in each case been taken.

Levy of penal interest.

14. Subject to the provisions of rule 16 if an instalment of principal or of interest or of consolidated principal and interest is not paid when it becomes due, the Collector may, if the delay exceed one month, and shall if it exceeds six months charge compound interest at a rate not exceeding 6¼ per cent. per annum on such overdue instalment for the period during which it remains unpaid :

Provided that if the default in payment is due to the borrower's inability to pay and the levy of such compound interest would be productive of hardship, the Collector may recommend that it may be remitted, recording reasons for his recommendation which shall be submitted to the Revenue Commissioner who shall pass orders on such recommendation.

Obligation on the Collector to see that loans are not misapplied and penalty for misapplication.

15. In the case of a loan granted for any purpose other than the "relief of distress" the Collector should satisfy himself within a month from the date of the payment of such loans, that the money has been properly applied; and if it is proved to his satisfaction that any portion of the loan has been misapplied he may after recording in writing the grounds for his decision, proceed to recover at once the whole amount of the loan with such interest as may have become due thereon.

Suspensions.

16. (a) Suspensions should be readily given when, owing to the failure of crops or loss of cattle from causes beyond the borrower's control, the repayment of a loan, or of an instalment, would be burdensome.

Interest on suspended instalments.

(b) No interest shall be charged on suspended instalments for the period of suspension.

Effect of Suspension on repayment of loans.

(c) Unless the borrower so desires suspended instalments should not be made repayable in the ensuing year together with the instalments due in that year, but the effect of suspension shall be to postpone for one instalment period the payment of all remaining instalments due on the advance.

Power of Collectors to grant suspension.

(d) Suspensions under these rules may be sanctioned by a Collector.

Remissions.

17. It is desirable that the recovery of a loan should take precedence over the recovery of land revenue and it is ordinarily preferable that a remission of land revenue should be recommended rather than of the loan. When, however, any loan or any portion of a loan is found to be irrecoverable, or when for special reasons it appears undesirable to recover any outstanding amount, a special report shall be submitted to the Revenue Commissioner. The Revenue Commissioner may on sufficient reasons being shown remit any amount not exceeding R500. In any case where the amount proposed to be remitted exceeds this sum, the Revenue Commissioner shall take the orders of the Local Government, which has power to grant remissions without limit.

(Vide R. & A. Department No. 53-157—2, dated the 4th January 1901.)

The Surveyor General, however, has the power to extend the age limit to 30 years in the case of those candidates who are at the time in pensionable service in the subordinate grades of the Survey of India. No person who is married or is likely to be soon married will be admitted unless of pure Asiatic origin. Candidates, if of European parentage, must be Statutory Natives of India and have at least passed the High School Pass examination or First Arts examination at an Indian University having qualified in Algebra as one of the subjects, and if Natives the F. A. Pass examination.

3rd—Candidates must be prepared to undergo the examination detailed below, which will give them entrance to the Training School at Dehra; no candidate will be considered to have qualified unless he gets 50 per cent of the marks in Mathematics and 30 per cent. of the total marks in Drawing.

4th—Examinations will be held in August as a rule. The most suitable of the candidates who qualify will be selected.

5th—When under examination for the Department, the candidate must sign the Bond printed on the reverse of this paper.

6th—The selected candidates will enter the Department as Probationary Sub-Assistant Superintendents, 3rd grade, on a salary of R120 per mensem, and they must pass out of the Training School within a maximum limit of 2 years. They will not be confirmed in their appointments until they have served at least 1 year in a field party and have been well reported on.

The medical certificate should be in the form as given overleaf, signed by a Medical officer in Government employ not lower in rank than Lieutenant. During his course at the Training School should he prove to be in the opinion of the Superintendent, Trigonometrical Surveys, physically unfitted for the Department, that officer may demand a further certificate of fitness.

Acts of insolvency.

9. A debtor commits an act of insolvency in each of the following cases, namely :—

Acts of insolvency.

(b) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes a transfer of his property or of any part thereof with intent to defeat or delay his creditors ;

(i) he departs or remains out of British India,

(ii) he departs from his dwelling-house or usual place of business or otherwise absents himself,

(iii) he secludes himself so as to deprive his creditors of the means of communicating with him ;

(e) if any of his property has been sold or attached for a period of not less than twenty-one days in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money ;

(f) if he petitions to be adjudged an insolvent ;

(g) if he gives notice to any of his creditors that he has suspended, or that he is about to suspend, payment of his debts ;

(h) if he is imprisoned in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the act of an agent may be the act of the principal, even though the agent have no specific authority to commit the act.

Order of adjudication.

10. Subject to the conditions specified in this Act, if a debtor commits an act of insolvency, an insolvency petition may be presented either by a creditor or by the debtor, and the Court may on such petition make an order (hereinafter called an order of adjudication) adjudging him an insolvent.

Power to adjudicate.

Explanation.—The presentation of a petition by the debtor shall be deemed an act of insolvency within the meaning of this section, and on such petition the Court may make an order of adjudication.

11. The Court shall not have jurisdiction to make an order of adjudication, unless—

Restrictions on jurisdiction.

(a) the debtor is, at the time of the presentation of the insolvency petition, imprisoned in execution of the decree of a Court for the payment of money in any prison to which debtors are ordinarily committed by the Court in the exercise of its ordinary original jurisdiction ; or

(b) the debtor, within a year before the date of the presentation of the insolvency petition, has ordinarily resided or had a dwelling-house or has carried on business either in person or through an agent within the limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the Court ; or

(c) the debtor personally works for gain within those limits ; or

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.

(Part II.—Proceedings from Act of Insolvency to Discharge.)

(d) in the case of a petition by or against a firm of debtors the firm has carried on business within a year before the date of the presentation of the insolvency petition within those limits

12. (1) A creditor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition against a debtor unless—

Conditions on which creditor may petition.

(a) the debt owing by the debtor to the creditor, or, if two or more creditors join in the petition, the aggregate amount of debts owing to such creditors, amounts to five hundred rupees, and

(b) the debt is a liquidated sum payable either immediately or at some certain future time, and

(c) the act of insolvency on which the petition is grounded has occurred within three months before the presentation of the petition.

(2) If the petitioning creditor is a secured creditor, he shall in his petition either state that he is willing to relinquish his security for the benefit of the creditors in the event of the debtor being adjudged insolvent or give an estimate of the value of the security. In the latter case he may be admitted as a petitioning creditor to the extent of the balance of the debt due to him after deducting the value so estimated in the same way as if he were an unsecured creditor.

13. (1) A creditor's petition shall be verified by affidavit of the creditor, or of some person on his behalf having knowledge of the facts.

Proceedings and order on creditor's petition.

(2) At the hearing the Court shall require proof of—

(a) the debt of the petitioning creditor, and

(b) the act of insolvency or, if more than one act of insolvency is alleged in the petition, some one of the alleged acts of insolvency.

(3) The Court may adjourn the hearing of the petition and order service thereof on the debtor.

(4) The Court shall dismiss the petition—

(a) if it is not satisfied with the proof of the facts referred to in sub-section (2); or

(5) The Court may make an order of adjudication if it is satisfied with the proof above referred to, or if on a hearing adjourned under sub-section (3) the debtor does not appear and service of the petition on him is proved, unless in its opinion the petition ought to have been presented before some other Court having insolvency jurisdiction.

(6) Where the debtor appears on the petition and denies that he is indebted to the petitioner, or that he is indebted to such an amount as would justify the petitioner in presenting a petition against him, the Court, on such security (if any) being given as the Court may require for payment to the petitioner of any debt which may be established against the debtor in due course of law, and of the costs of establishing the debt, may, instead of dismissing the petition, stay all proceedings on the petition for such time as may be required for trial of the question relating to the debt.

(7) Where proceedings are stayed, the Court may, if by reason of the delay caused by the stay of proceedings or for any other cause it thinks just, make an order of adjudication on the petition of some other creditor, and shall thereupon dismiss, on such terms as it thinks just, the petition on which proceedings have been stayed as aforesaid.

(8) A creditor's petition shall not, after presentation, be withdrawn without the leave of the Court.

14. A debtor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition unless—Conditions on which debtor may petition.

(a) his debts amount to five hundred rupees, or

(b) he has been arrested and imprisoned in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money, or

(c) an order of attachment in execution of such a decree has been made and is subsisting against his property.

15. (1) A debtor's petition shall allege that the debtor is unable to pay his debts, and, if the debtor proves that he is entitled to present the petition, the Court may thereupon make an order of adjudication, unless in its opinion the petition ought to have been presented before some other Court having insolvency jurisdiction.

Proceedings and order on debtor's petition.

(2) A debtor's petition shall not, after presentation, be withdrawn without the leave of the Court.

16. The Court may, if it is shown to be necessary for the protection of the estate, at any time after the presentation of an insolvency petition and before an order of adjudication is made, appoint the official assignee to be interim receiver of the property of the debtor, or of any part thereof, and direct him to take immediate possession thereof or any part thereof, and the official assignee shall thereupon have such of the powers conferable on a receiver appointed under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, as may be prescribed.

V of 1908.

Effect of order of adjudication.

17. On the making of an order of adjudication, the property of the insolvent wherever situate shall vest in the official assignee and shall become divisible among his creditors, and thereafter, except as directed by this Act, no creditor to whom the insolvent is indebted in respect of any debt provable in insolvency shall, during the pendency of the insolvency proceedings, have any remedy against the property of the insolvent in respect of the debt or shall commence any suit or other legal proceeding except with the leave of the Court and on such terms as the Court may impose:

Provided that this section shall not affect the power of any secured creditor to realize or otherwise deal with his security in the same manner as he would have been entitled to realize or deal with it if this section had not been passed.

Stay of proceedings.

18. (1) The Court may, at any time after the making of an order of adjudication, stay any suit or other proceeding pending against the insolvent before any Judge or Judges of the Court or in any other Court subject to the superintendence of the Court.

(2) An order made under sub-section (1) may be served by sending a copy thereof, under the seal of the Court, by post to the address for service of the plaintiff or other party prosecuting such suit or proceeding, and notice of such order shall be sent to the Court before which the suit or proceeding is pending.

(3) Any Court in which proceedings are pending against a debtor may on proof that an order of adjudication has been made against him under this Act, either stay the proceedings or allow them to continue on such terms as it may think just.

Power to appoint special manager.

19. (1) If in any case the Court, having regard to the nature of the debtor's estate or business or to the interests of the creditors generally, is of opinion that a special manager of the estate or business ought to be appointed to assist the official assignee, the Court may appoint a manager thereof accordingly to act for such time as the Court may authorize, and to have such powers of the official assignee as may be entrusted to him by the official assignee or as the Court may direct.

(2) The special manager shall give security and furnish accounts in such manner as the Court may direct, and shall receive such remuneration as the Court may determine.

Advertisement of order of adjudication.

20. Notice of every order of adjudication, stating the name, address and description of the insolvent, the date of the adjudication, the Court by which the adjudication is made and the date of presentation of the petition, shall be published in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

Annulment of adjudication.

Power for Court to annul adjudication in certain cases.

21. (1) Where, in the opinion of the Court, a debtor ought not to have been adjudged insolvent, or where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the debts of the insolvent are paid in full, the Court may, on the application of any person interested, by order annul the adjudication.

(2) For the purposes of this section, any debt disputed by a debtor shall be considered as paid in full, if the debtor enters into a bond, in such sum and with such sureties as the Court approves, to pay the amount to be recovered in any proceeding for the recovery of or concerning the debt, with costs, and any debt due to a creditor who cannot be found or cannot be identified shall be considered as paid in full if paid into Court.

Concurrent proceedings in British Courts.

22. Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that insolvency proceedings are pending in any other British Court whether within or without British India against the same debtor and that the property of the debtor can be more conveniently distributed by such other Court, the Court may annul the adjudication or may stay all proceedings thereon.

Proceedings on annulment.

23. (1) Where an adjudication is annulled, all sales and dispositions of property and payments duly made, and all acts theretofore done, by the official assignee or other person acting under his authority, or by the Court, shall be valid, but the property of the debtor who was adjudged insolvent shall vest in such person as the Court may appoint, or, in default of any such appointment, shall revert to the debtor to the extent of his right or interest therein on such terms and subject to such conditions (if any) as the Court may declare by order.

(2) Where a debtor has been released from custody under the provisions of this Act and the order of adjudication is annulled as aforesaid, the Court may, if it thinks fit, recommit the debtor to his former custody, and the jailor or keeper of the prison to whose custody such debtor is so recommitted shall receive such debtor into his custody according to such recommitment, and thereupon all processes which were in force against the person of such debtor at the time of such release as aforesaid shall be deemed to be still in force against him as if such order had not been made.

(3) Notice of the order annulling an adjudication shall be published in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

Proceedings consequent on order of adjudication.

Insolvent's schedule.

24. (1) Where an order of adjudication is made against a debtor, he shall prepare and submit to the Court a schedule verified by affidavit, in such form and containing such particulars of and in relation to his affairs as may be prescribed.

(2) The schedule shall be so submitted within the following times, namely:—

(a) if the order is made on the petition of the debtor, within thirty days from the date of the order,

(b) if the order is made on the petition of a creditor, within thirty days from the date of service of the order.

(3) If the insolvent fails, without reasonable excuse, to comply with the requirements of this section, the Court may, on the application of the official assignee or of any creditor, make an order for his committal to the civil prison.

(4) If the insolvent fails to prepare and submit any such schedule as aforesaid, the official assignee may, at the expense of the estate, cause such a schedule to be prepared in manner prescribed.

Protection order.

25. (1) Any insolvent who shall have submitted his schedule as aforesaid may apply to the Court for protection, and the Court may, on such application, make an order for the protection of the insolvent from arrest or detention.

(2) A protection order may apply either to all the debts mentioned in the schedule or to any of them as the Court may think proper, and may commence and take effect at and for such time as the Court may direct, and may be revoked or renewed as the Court may think fit.

(3) A protection order shall protect the insolvent from being arrested or detained in prison for any debt to which such order shall apply, and any insolvent arrested or detained contrary to the terms of such order shall be entitled to his release:

Provided that no such order shall operate to prejudice the right of any creditor in the event of such order being revoked or the adjudication annulled.

(4) Any creditor shall be entitled to appear and oppose the grant of a protection order, but the insolvent shall be primâ facie entitled to such order on production of a certificate signed by the official assignee that he has so far conformed to the provisions of this Act.

(5) The Court may make a protection order before an insolvent has submitted his schedule if it thinks it necessary to do so in the interests of the creditors.

Meetings of creditors.

26. (1) At any time after the making of an order of adjudication against an insolvent, the Court, on the application of a creditor or of the official assignee, may direct that a meeting of creditors shall be held to consider the circumstances of the insolvency and the insolvent's schedule and his explanation thereof and generally as to the mode of dealing with the property of the insolvent.

(2) With respect to the summoning of and proceedings at a meeting of creditors the rules in the First Schedule shall be observed.

Public examination of the insolvent.

27. (1) Where the Court makes an order of adjudication it shall hold a public sitting on a day to be appointed by the Court, of which notice shall be given to creditors in the prescribed manner, for the examination of the insolvent, and the insolvent shall attend thereat, and shall be examined as to his conduct, dealings and property.

(2) The examination shall be held as soon as conveniently may be after the expiration of the time for the filing of the insolvent's schedule.

(3) Any creditor who has tendered a proof or a legal practitioner on his behalf may question the insolvent concerning his affairs and the causes of his failure.

(4) The official assignee shall take part in the examination of the insolvent; and for the purpose thereof, subject to such directions as the Court may give, may be represented by a legal practitioner.

(5) The Court may put such questions to the insolvent as it may think expedient.

(6) The insolvent shall be examined upon oath, and it shall be his duty to answer all such questions as the Court may put or allow to be put to him. Such notes of the examination as the Court thinks proper shall be taken down in writing and shall be read over either to or by the insolvent and signed by him, and may thereafter be used in evidence against him and shall be open to the inspection of any creditor at all reasonable times.

(7) When the Court is of opinion that the affairs of the insolvent have been sufficiently investigated, it shall, by order, declare that his examination is concluded, but such order shall not preclude the Court from directing further examination of the insolvent whenever it may deem fit to do so.

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.
(Part II.—Proceedings from Act of Insolvency to Discharge.)

(8) Where the insolvent is a lunatic or suffers from any such mental or physical affliction or disability as in the opinion of the Court makes him unfit to attend his public examination, or is a woman who according to the customs and manners of the country ought not to be compelled to appear in public, the Court may make an order dispensing with such examination, or directing that the insolvent be examined on such terms, in such manner and at such place as to the Court seems expedient.

Composition and schemes of arrangement.

Submission of proposal and acceptance by creditors.

28. (1) An insolvent may at any time after the making of an order of adjudication submit a proposal for a composition in satisfaction of his debts or a proposal for a scheme of arrangement of his affairs in the prescribed form, and such proposal shall be submitted by the official assignee to a meeting of creditors.

(2) The official assignee shall send to each creditor who is mentioned in the schedule, or who has tendered a proof before the meeting, a copy of the insolvent's proposals with a report thereon, and if on the consideration of such proposal the majority in number and three-fourths in value of all the creditors whose debts are proved resolve to accept the proposal, the same shall be deemed to be duly accepted by the creditors.

(3) The insolvent may at the meeting amend the terms of his proposal if the amendment is in the opinion of the official assignee calculated to benefit the general body of creditors.

(4) Any creditor who has proved his debt may assent to or dissent from the proposal by a letter, in the prescribed form addressed to the official assignee so as to be received by him not later than the day preceding the meeting, and any such assent or dissent shall have effect as if the creditor had been present and had voted at the meeting.

Approval of proposal by Court.

29. (1) The insolvent or the official assignee may after the proposal is accepted by the creditors apply to the Court to approve it, and notice of the time appointed for hearing the application shall be given to each creditor who has proved.

(2) Except where an estate is being summarily administered or special leave of the Court has been obtained, the application shall not be heard until after the conclusion of the public examination of the insolvent. Any creditor who has proved may be heard by the Court in opposition to the application notwithstanding that he may at a meeting of creditors have voted for the acceptance of the proposal.

(3) The Court shall before approving the proposal hear a report of the official assignee as to the terms thereof and as to the conduct of the insolvent and any objections which may be made by or on behalf of any creditor.

(4) Where the Court is of opinion that the terms of the proposal are not reasonable or are not calculated to benefit the general body of creditors or in any case in which the Court is required to refuse the insolvent's discharge, the Court shall refuse to approve the proposal.

(5) Where any facts are proved on proof of which the Court would be required either to refuse, suspend or attach conditions to the debtor's discharge, the Court shall refuse to approve the proposal unless it provides reasonable security for payment of not less than four annas in the rupee on all the unsecured debts provable against the debtor's estate.

(6) No composition or scheme shall be approved by the Court which does not provide for the payment in priority to other debts of all debts directed to be so paid in the distribution of the property of an insolvent.

(7) In any other case the Court may either approve or refuse to approve the proposal.

Order on approval.

30. (1) If the Court approves the proposal, the terms shall be embodied in an order of the Court, and an order shall be made annulling the adjudication, and the provisions of section 23, sub-sections (1) and (3), shall thereupon apply, and the composition or scheme shall be binding on all the creditors so far as relates to any debt due to them from the insolvent and provable in insolvency.

(2) The provisions of the composition or scheme may be enforced by the Court on application by any person interested, and any disobedience of an order of the Court made on the application shall be deemed a contempt of Court.

Power to re-adjudge debtor insolvent.

31. (1) If default is made in the payment of any instalment due in pursuance of any composition or scheme, approved as aforesaid, or if it appears to the Court that the composition or scheme cannot proceed without injustice or undue delay or that the approval of the Court was obtained by fraud, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on application by any person interested, re-adjudge the debtor insolvent and annul the composition or scheme, and the property of the debtor shall thereupon vest in the official assignee but without prejudice to the validity of any transfer or payment duly made or of anything duly done under or in pursuance of the composition or scheme.

(2) Where a debtor is re-adjudged insolvent under sub-section (1), all debts provable in other respects which have been contracted before the date of such re-adjudication shall be provable in the insolvency.

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.

(Part II.—Proceedings from Act of Insolvency to Discharge.)

Limitation of effect of composition or scheme.

32. Notwithstanding the acceptance and approval of a composition or scheme, the composition or scheme shall not be binding on any creditor so far as regards a debt or liability from which, under the provisions of this Act, the insolvent would not be discharged by an order of discharge in insolvency, unless the creditor assents to the composition or scheme.

Control over person and property of insolvent.

Duties of insolvent as to discovery and realization of property.

33. (1) Every insolvent shall, unless prevented by sickness or other sufficient cause, attend any meeting of his creditors which the official assignee may require him to attend, and shall submit to such examination and give such information as the meeting may require.

(2) The insolvent shall—

(a) give such inventory of his property, such list of his creditors and debtors, and of the debts due to and from them respectively,

(b) submit to such examination in respect of his property or his creditors,

(c) wait at such times and places on the official assignee or special manager,

(d) execute such powers-of-attorney, transfers and instruments, and

(e) generally do all such acts and things in relation to his property and the distribution of the proceeds amongst his creditors, as may be required by the official assignee or special manager or may be prescribed or be directed by the Court by any special order or orders made in reference to any particular case, or made on the occasion of any special application by the official assignee or special manager, or any creditor or person interested.

(3) The insolvent shall aid, to the utmost of his power, in the realization of his property and the distribution of the proceeds among his creditors.

(4) If the insolvent wilfully fails to perform the duties imposed upon him by this section, or to deliver up possession to the official assignee of any part of his property, which is divisible amongst his creditors under this Act, and which is for the time being in his possession or under his control, he shall, in addition to any other punishment to which he may be subject, be guilty of a contempt of Court, and may be punished accordingly.

Arrest of insolvent.

34. (1) The Court may, either of its own motion or at the instance of the official assignee or of any creditor, by warrant addressed to any police-officer or prescribed officer of the Court, cause an insolvent to be arrested, and committed to the civil prison or if in prison to be detained until such time as the Court may order, under the following circumstances, namely:—

(a) if it appears to the Court that there is probable reason for believing that he has absconded or is about to abscond with a view of avoiding examination in respect of his affairs, or of otherwise avoiding, delaying or embarrassing proceedings in insolvency against him; or

(b) if it appears to the Court that there is probable reason for believing that he is about to remove his property with a view of preventing or delaying possession being taken of it by the official assignee, or that there is probable reason for believing that he has concealed or is about to conceal or destroy any of his property or any books, documents or writings which might be of use to his creditors in the course of his insolvency; or

(c) if he removes any property in his possession above the value of fifty rupees without the leave of the official assignee.

(2) No payment or composition made or security given after arrest made under this section shall be exempt from the provisions of this Act relating to fraudulent preferences.

Redirection of letters.

35. Where the official assignee has been appointed interim receiver or an order of adjudication is made, the Court, on the application of the official assignee, may, from time to time, order that for such time, not exceeding three months, as the Court thinks fit, all post letters, whether registered or unregistered, parcels and money orders addressed to the debtor at any place or places mentioned in the order for re-direction,

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act 1909.

(Part II.—Proceedings from Act of Insolvency to Discharge.)

shall be re-directed, or delivered by the Postal authorities in British India, to the official assignee, or otherwise as the Court directs; and the same shall be done accordingly.

Discovery of insolvent's property.

36. (1) The Court may, on the application of the official assignee or of any creditor who has proved his debt, at any time after an order of adjudication has been made, summon before it in such manner as may be prescribed the insolvent or any person known or suspected to have in his possession any property belonging to the insolvent, or supposed to be indebted to the insolvent, or any person whom the Court may deem capable of giving information respecting the insolvent, his dealings or property; and the Court may require any such person to produce any documents in his custody or power relating to the insolvent, his dealings or property.

(2) If any person so summoned, after having been tendered a reasonable sum, refuses to come before the Court at the time appointed, or refuses to produce any such document, having no lawful impediment made known to the Court at the time of its sitting and allowed by it, the Court may, by warrant, cause him to be apprehended and brought up for examination.

(3) The Court may examine any person so brought before it concerning the insolvent, his dealings or property, and such person may be represented by a legal practitioner.

(4) If on the examination of any such person the Court is satisfied that he is indebted to the insolvent, the Court may, on the application of the official assignee, order him to pay to the official assignee, at such time and in such manner as to the Court seems expedient, the amount in which he is indebted, or any part thereof, either in full discharge of the whole amount or not, as the Court thinks fit, with or without costs of the examination.

(5) If, on the examination of any such person, the Court is satisfied that he has in his possession any property belonging to the insolvent, the Court may, on the application of the official assignee, order him to deliver to the official assignee that property, or any part thereof, at such time, in such manner and on such terms as to the Court may seem just.

(6) Orders made under sub-sections (4) and (5) shall be executed in the same manner as decrees for the payment of money or for the delivery of property under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, respectively.

V of 1908.

(7) Any person making any payment or delivery in pursuance of an order made under sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) shall by such payment or delivery be discharged from all liability whatsoever in respect of such debt or property.

Power to issue commissions.

37. The Court shall have the same powers to issue commissions and letters of request for the examination on commission or otherwise of any person liable to examination under section 36 as it has for the examination of witnesses under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

V of 1908.

Discharge of Insolvent.

Discharge of insolvent.

38. (1) An insolvent may, at any time after the order of adjudication, apply to the Court for an order of discharge, and the Court shall appoint a day for hearing the application, but, save where the public examination of the insolvent has been dispensed with under the provisions of this Act, the application shall not be heard until after such examination has been concluded. The application shall be heard in open Court.

(2) On the hearing of the application, the Court shall take into consideration any report of the official assignee as to the insolvent's conduct and affairs, and, subject to the provisions of section 39, may—

(a) grant or refuse an absolute order of discharge, or

(b) suspend the operation of the order for a specified time, or

(c) grant an order of discharge subject to any conditions with respect to any earnings or income which may afterwards become due to the insolvent, or with respect to his after-acquired property.

Cases in which the Court must refuse an absolute discharge.

39. (1) The Court shall refuse the discharge in all cases where the insolvent has committed any offence under this Act, or under sections 421 to 424 of the Indian Penal Code, and shall, on proof of any of the facts hereinafter mentioned, either—

XLV of 1860.

(a) refuse the discharge; or

(b) suspend the discharge for a specified time; or

(c) suspend the discharge until a dividend of not less than four annas in the rupee has been paid to the creditors;

The Presidency towns Insolvency Act, 1909.

(Part II.—Proceedings from Act of Insolvency to Discharge.)

(d) require the insolvent as a condition of his discharge to consent to a decree being passed against him in favour of the official assignee for any balance or part of any balance of the debts provable under the insolvency which is not satisfied at the date of his discharge; such balance or part of any balance of the debts to be paid out of the future earnings or after-acquired property of the insolvent in such manner and subject to such conditions as the Court may direct; but in that case the decree shall not be executed without leave of the Court, which leave may be given on proof that the insolvent has since his discharge acquired property or income available for payment of his debts.

(2) The facts hereinbefore referred to are—

(a) that the insolvent's assets are not of a value equal to four annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities, unless he satisfies the Court that the fact that the assets are not of such value has arisen from circumstances for which he cannot justly be held responsible;

(b) that the insolvent has omitted to keep such books of account as are usual and proper in the business carried on by him and as sufficiently disclose his business transactions and financial position within the three years immediately preceding his insolvency;

(c) that the insolvent has continued to trade after knowing himself to be insolvent;

(d) that the insolvent has contracted any debt provable under this Act without having at the time of contracting it any reasonable or probable ground of expectation (the burden of proving which shall lie on him) that he would be able to pay it;

(e) that the insolvent has failed to account satisfactorily for any loss of assets or for any deficiency of assets to meet his liabilities;

(f) that the insolvent has brought on or contributed to his insolvency by rash or hazardous speculations or by unjustifiable extravagance in living or by gambling, or by culpable neglect of his business affairs;

(g) that the insolvent has put any of his creditors to unnecessary expense by a frivolous or vexatious defence to any suit properly brought against him;

(h) that the insolvent has within three months preceding the time of presentation of the petition incurred unjustifiable expense by bringing a frivolous or vexatious suit;

(i) that the insolvent has within three months preceding the date of the presentation of the petition, when unable to pay his debts as they become due, given an undue preference to any of his creditors;

(3) The power of suspending and of attaching conditions to an insolvent's discharge may be exercised concurrently.

(4) On any application for discharge the report of the official assignee shall be prima facie evidence and the Court may presume the correctness of any statement contained therein.

Hearing of application for discharge

40. Notice of the appointment by the Court of the day for hearing the application for discharge shall be published in the prescribed manner and sent one month at least before the day so appointed to each creditor who has proved, and the Court may hear the official assignee and may also hear any creditor. At the hearing the Court may put such questions to the insolvent and receive such evidence as it may think fit.

Power to annul adjudication on failure to apply for discharge.

41. If an insolvent does not appear on the day so appointed for hearing his application for discharge or if an insolvent shall not apply to the Court for an order of discharge within such time as may be prescribed, the Court, on the application of the official assignee or of a creditor or of its own motion, may annul the adjudication or make such other order as it may think fit, and the provisions of section 23 shall apply on such annulment.

Renewal of application and variation of terms of order.

42. (1) Where the Court refuses the discharge of the insolvent it may, after such time and in such circumstances as may be prescribed, permit him to renew his application.

(2) Where an order of discharge is made subject to conditions and at any time after the expiration of two years from the date of the order the insolvent shall satisfy the Court that there is no reasonable probability of his being in a position to comply with the terms of such order, the Court may modify the terms of the order, or of any substituted order, in such manner and upon such conditions as it may think fit.

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.
(Part II.—Proceedings from Act of Insolvency to Discharge.
Part III.—Administration of Property.)

Duty of discharged insolvent to assist in realization of property.

43. A discharged insolvent shall, notwithstanding his discharge, give such assistance as the official assignee may require in the realization and distribution of such of his property as is vested in the official assignee, and, if he fails to do so, shall be guilty of a contempt of Court; and the Court may also, if it thinks fit, revoke his discharge, but without prejudice to the validity of any sale, disposition or payment duly made or thing duly done subsequent to the discharge, but before its revocation.

44. In either of the following cases, that is to say:—

(1) in the case of a settlement made before and in consideration of marriage where the settlor is not at the time of making the settlement able to pay all his debts without the aid of the property comprised in the settlement; or

(2) in the case of any covenant or contract made in consideration of marriage for the future settlement on or for the settlor's wife or children of any money or property wherein he had not at the date of his marriage any estate or interest (not being money or property of or in right of his wife);

if the settlor is adjudged insolvent or compounds or arranges with his creditors, and it appears to the Court that the settlement, covenant or contract was made in order to defeat or delay creditors, or was unjustifiable having regard to the state of the settlor's affairs at the time when it was made, the Court may refuse or suspend an order of discharge or grant an order subject to conditions or refuse to approve a composition or arrangement.

Effect of order of discharge.

45. (1) An order of discharge shall not release the insolvent from—

(a) any debt due to the Crown;

(b) any debt or liability incurred by means of any fraud or fraudulent breach of trust to which he was a party; or

(c) any debt or liability in respect of which he has obtained forbearance by any fraud to which he was a party; or

(d) any liability under an order for maintenance made under section 488 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(2) Save as otherwise provided by sub-section (1), an order of discharge shall release the insolvent from all debts provable in insolvency.

(3) An order of discharge shall be conclusive evidence of the insolvency, and of the validity of the proceedings therein.

(4) An order of discharge shall not release any person who at the date of the presentation of the petition was a partner or co trustee with the insolvent or was jointly bound or had made any joint contract with him, or any person who was surety or in the nature of a surety for him.

PART III.

ADMINISTRATION OF PROPERTY.

Proof of debts.

Debts provable in insolvency.

46. (1) Demands in the nature of unliquidated damages arising otherwise than by reason of a contract or breach of trust shall not be provable in insolvency.

(2) A person having notice of the presentation of any insolvency petition by or against the debtor shall not prove for any debt or liability contracted by the debtor subsequently to the date of his so having notice.

(3) Save as provided by sub-sections (1) and (2), all debts and liabilities, present or future, certain or contingent, to which the debtor is subject when he is adjudged an insolvent or to which he may become subject before his discharge by reason of any obligation incurred before the date of such adjudication, shall be deemed to be debts provable in insolvency.

(4) An estimate shall be made by the official assignee of the value of any debt or liability provable as aforesaid which by reason of its being subject to any contingency or contingencies, or for any other reason, does not bear a certain value:

Provided that if in his opinion the value of the debt or liability is incapable of being fairly estimated, he shall issue a certificate to that effect, and thereupon the debt or liability shall be deemed to be a debt not provable in insolvency.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section "liability" includes any compensation for work or labour done, any obligation or possibility of an obligation to pay money or money's worth on the breach of any express or implied covenant, contract, agreement or undertaking, whether the breach does or does not occur, or is or is not likely to occur or capable of occurring, before the discharge of the debtor, and generally it includes any express or implied engagement, agreement or undertaking to pay, or capable of resulting in the payment of, money, or money's worth, whether the payment is, as respects amount, fixed or unliquidated; as respects time, present or future, certain or dependent on any contingency or contingencies; as to mode of valuation, capable of being ascertained by fixed rules, or as matter of opinion.

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.

(Part III.—Administration of Property.)

Mutual dealings and set-off.

47. Where there have been mutual dealings between an insolvent and a creditor proving or claiming to prove a debt under this Act, an account shall be taken of what is due from the one party to the other in respect of such mutual dealings, and the sum due from the one party shall be set off against any sum due from the other party, and the balance of the account, and no more, shall be claimed or paid on either side respectively:

Provided that a person shall not be entitled under this section to claim the benefits of any set-off against the property of an insolvent in any case where he had at the time of giving credit to the insolvent notice of the presentation of any insolvency petition by or against him.

Rules as to proof of debts.

48. With respect to the mode of proving debts, the right of proof by secured and other creditors, the admission and rejection of proofs, and the other matters referred to in the Second Schedule, the rules in that schedule shall be observed.

Priority of debts.

49. (1) In the distribution of the property of the insolvent there shall be paid in priority to all other debts—

(a) all debts due to the Crown or to any local authority;

(b) all salary or wages of any clerk, servant or labourer in respect of services rendered to the insolvent during four months before the date of the presentation of the petition, not exceeding three hundred rupees for each such clerk, and one hundred rupees for each such servant or labourer, and

(c) rent due to a landlord from the insolvent: provided the amount payable under this clause shall not exceed one month's rent.

(2) The debts specified in sub-section (1) shall rank equally between themselves, and shall be paid in full, unless the property of the insolvent is insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportions between themselves.

(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the expenses of administration or otherwise, the debts specified in sub-section (1) shall be discharged forthwith in so far as the property of the insolvent is sufficient to meet them.

(4) In the case of partners the partnership property shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of the partnership debts, and the separate property of each partner shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of his separate debts. Where there is a surplus of the separate property of the partners, it shall be dealt with as part of the partnership property; and where there is a surplus of the partnership property, it shall be dealt with as part of the respective separate property in proportion to the rights and interests of each partner in the partnership property.

(5) Subject to the provisions of this Act, all debts proved in insolvency shall be paid rateably according to the amounts of such debts respectively and without any preference.

(6) Where there is any surplus after payment of the foregoing debts, it shall be applied in payment of interest from the date on which the debtor is adjudged an insolvent at the rate of six per centum per annum on all debts proved in the insolvency.

Rent due before adjudication.

50. After an order of adjudication has been made no distress for rent due before such order shall be made upon the goods or effects of the insolvent, unless the order be annulled, but the landlord or party to whom the rent may be due shall be entitled to prove in respect of such rent.

Property available for payment of debts.

Relation of assignee's title.

51. The insolvency of a debtor, whether the same takes place on the debtor's own petition or upon that of a creditor or creditors, shall be deemed to have relation back to and to commence at—

(a) the time of the commission of the act of insolvency on which an order of adjudication is made against him, or

(b) if the insolvent is proved to have committed more acts of insolvency than one, the time of the first of the acts of insolvency proved to have been committed by the insolvent within three months next preceding the date of the presentation of the insolvency petition:

Provided that no insolvency petition or order of adjudication shall be rendered invalid by reason of any act of insolvency committed anterior to the debt of the petitioning creditor.

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.

(Part III.—Administration of Property.)

Description of insolvent's property divisible amongst creditors.

52. (1) The property of the insolvent divisible amongst his creditors, and in this Act referred to as the property of the insolvent, shall not comprise the following particulars, namely:—

(a) property held by the insolvent on trust for any other person;

(b) the tools (if any) of his trade and the necessary wearing apparel, bedding, cooking vessels, and furniture of himself, his wife and children, to a value, inclusive of tools and apparel and other necessaries as aforesaid, not exceeding three hundred rupees in the whole.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, the property of the insolvent shall comprise the following particulars, namely:—

(a) all such property as may belong to or be vested in the insolvent at the commencement of the insolvency or may be acquired by or devolve on him before his discharge;

(b) the capacity to exercise and to take proceedings for exercising all such powers in or over or in respect of property as might have been exercised by the insolvent for his own benefit at the commencement of his insolvency or before his discharge; and

(c) all goods being at the commencement of the insolvency in the possession, order or disposition of the insolvent, in his trade or business by the consent and permission of the true owner, under such circumstances that he is the reputed owner thereof:

Provided that things in action other than debts due or growing due to the insolvent in the course of his trade or business shall not be deemed goods within the meaning of clause (c):

Provided also that the true owner of any goods which have become divisible among the creditors of the insolvent under the provisions of clause (c) may prove for the value of such goods.

Effect of insolvency on antecedent transactions.

Restriction of rights of creditor under execution.

53. (1) Where execution of a decree has issued against the property of a debtor, no person shall be entitled to the benefit of the execution against the official assignee, except in respect of assets realized in the course of the execution by sale or otherwise before the date of the order of adjudication and before he had notice of the presentation of any insolvency petition by or against the debtor.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of a secured creditor in respect of property against which a decree is executed.

(3) A person who in good faith purchases the property of a debtor under a sale in execution shall in all cases acquire a good title to it against the official assignee.

Duties of Court executing decree as to property taken in execution.

54. Where execution of a decree has issued against any property of a debtor which is saleable in execution, and before the sale thereof notice is given to the Court executing the decree that an order of adjudication has been made against the debtor, the Court shall, on application, direct the property, if in the possession of the Court, to be delivered to the official assignee, but the costs of the execution shall be a first charge on the property so delivered, and the official assignee may sell the property or an adequate part thereof for the purpose of satisfying the charge.

Avoidance of voluntary transfer.

55. Any transfer of property, not being a transfer made before and in consideration of marriage, or made in favour of a purchaser or incumbrancer in good faith and for valuable consideration, shall, if the transferor is adjudged insolvent within two years after the date of the transfer, be void against the official assignee.

Avoidance of preference in certain cases.

56. (1) Every transfer of property, every payment made, every obligation incurred, and every judicial proceeding taken or suffered by any person unable to pay his debts as they become due from his own money in favour of any creditor, with a view of giving that creditor a preference over the other creditors, shall, if such person is adjudged insolvent on a petition presented within three months after the date thereof, be deemed fraudulent and void as against the official assignee.

(2) This section shall not affect the rights of any person making title in good faith and for valuable consideration through or under a creditor of the insolvent.

Protection of bona fide transactions.

57. Subject to the foregoing provisions with respect to the effect of insolvency on an execution and with respect to the avoidance of certain transfers and preferences, nothing in this Act shall invalidate in the case of an insolvency—

(a) any payment by the insolvent to any of his creditors;

(b) any payment or delivery to the insolvent;

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.
(Part III.—Administration of Property.)

(c) any transfer by the insolvent for valuable consideration ; or

(b) any contract or dealing by or with the insolvent for valuable consideration :

Provided that any such transaction takes place before the date of the order of adjudication and that the person with whom such transaction takes place has not at the time notice of the presentation of any insolvency petition by or against the debtor.

Realization of property.

Possession of property by official assignee.

58. (1) The official assignee shall, as soon as may be, take possession of the deeds, books and documents of the insolvent and all other parts of his property capable of manual delivery.

(2) The official assignee shall, in relation to and for the purpose of acquiring or retaining possession of the property of the insolvent, be in the same position as if he were a receiver of the property appointed under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and the Court may on his application enforce such acquisition or retention accordingly.

(3) Where any part of the property of the insolvent consists of stock, shares in ships, shares, or any other property transferable in the books of any company, office or person, the official assignee may exercise the right to transfer the property to the same extent as the insolvent might have exercised it, if he had not become insolvent.

(4) Where any part of the property of the insolvent consists of things in action, such things shall be deemed to have been duly transferred to the official assignee.

(5) Any treasurer or other officer, or any banker, attorney or agent of an insolvent, shall pay and deliver to the official assignee all money and securities in his possession or power as such officer, banker, attorney or agent, which he is not by law entitled to retain as against the insolvent or the official assignee. If he fails so to do, he shall be guilty of a contempt of Court, and shall be punishable accordingly on the application of the official assignee.

Seizure of property of insolvent.

59. (1) The Court may grant a warrant to any prescribed officer of the Court or any police-officer above the rank of a constable to seize any part of the property of an insolvent in the custody or possession of the insolvent or of any other person, and with a view to such seizure to break open any house, building or room of the insolvent where the insolvent is supposed to be, or any building or receptacle of the insolvent where any of his property is supposed to be.

(2) Where the Court is satisfied that there is reason to believe that property of the insolvent is concealed in a house or place not belonging to him, the Court may, if it thinks fit, grant a search-warrant to any such officer as aforesaid who may execute it according to its tenor.

Appropriation of portion of pay or other income to creditors.

60. (1) Where an insolvent is an officer of the Army or Navy or of His Majesty's Royal Indian Marine Service, or an officer or clerk or otherwise employed or engaged in the civil service of the Crown, the official assignee shall receive for distribution amongst the creditors so much of the insolvent's pay or salary liable to attachment in execution of a decree as the Court may direct.

(2) Where an insolvent is in the receipt of a salary or income other than as aforesaid, the Court may, at any time after adjudication and from time to time, make such order as it thinks just for the payment to the official assignee, for distribution among the creditors of so much of such salary or income as may be liable to attachment in execution of a decree, or of any portion thereof.

Vesting and transfer of property.

61. The property of the insolvent shall pass from official assignee to official assignee, and shall vest in the official assignee for the time being during his continuance in office, without any transfer whatever.

Disclaimer of onerous property.

62. (1) Where any part of the property of an insolvent consists of land of any tenure burdened with onerous covenants, of shares or stocks in companies, of unprofitable contracts, or of any other property that is unsaleable, or not readily saleable, by reason of its binding the possessor thereof to the performance of any onerous act or to the payment of any sum of money, the official assignee may, notwithstanding that he may have endeavoured to sell or have taken possession of the property, or exercised any act of ownership in relation thereto, but subject always to the provisions hereinafter contained in that behalf, by writing signed by him, at any time within twelve months after the insolvent has been adjudged insolvent, disclaim the property:

Provided that, where any such property has not come to the knowledge of the official assignee within one month after such adjudication as aforesaid, he may disclaim the property at any time within twelve months after he has first become aware thereof.

(2) The disclaimer shall operate to determine as from the date thereof, the rights, interests and liabilities of the insolvent and his property in or in respect of the property disclaimed, and shall also discharge the official assignee from all personal liability in respect of the property disclaimed as from the date when the property vested in him, but shall not, except so far as is necessary for the purpose of releasing the insolvent and his property and the official assignee from liability, affect the rights or liabilities of any other person.

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.
(Part III.—Administration of Property.)

Disclaimer of leaseholds.

63. Subject always to such rules as may be made in this behalf, the official assignee shall not be entitled to disclaim any leasehold interest without the leave of the Court; and the Court may, before or on granting such leave, require such notices to be given to persons interested, and impose such terms as a condition of granting leave, and make such orders with respect to fixtures, tenant's improvements and other matters arising out of the tenancy, as the Court thinks just.

Power to call on official assignee to disclaim.

64. The official assignee shall not be entitled to disclaim any property in pursuance of section 62 in any case where an application in writing has been made to the official assignee by any person interested in the property requiring him to decide whether he will disclaim, and the official assignee has for a period of twenty-eight days after the receipt of the application, or such extended period as may be allowed by the Court, declined or neglected to give notice that he disclaims the property; and in the case of a contract, if the official assignee, after such application as aforesaid, does not within the said period or extended period disclaim the contract, he shall be deemed to have adopted it.

Power for Court to rescind contract.

65. The Court may, on the application of any person who is, as against the official assignee, entitled to the benefit or subject to the burden of a contract made with the insolvent, make an order rescinding the contract on such terms as to payment by or to either party of damages for the non-performance of the contract, or otherwise, as to the Court may seem equitable, and any damages payable under the order to any such person may be proved by him as a debt under the insolvency.

Power for Court to make vesting order in respect of disclaimed property.

66. (1) The Court may, on the application of any person either claiming any interest in any disclaimed property, or under any liability not discharged by this Act in respect of any disclaimed property, and on hearing such persons as it thinks fit, make an order for the vesting of the property in or delivery thereof to any person entitled thereto, or to whom it may seem just that the same should be delivered by way of compensation for such liability as aforesaid, or a trustee for him, and on such terms as the Court thinks just; and on any such vesting order being made, the property comprised therein shall vest accordingly in the person therein named in that behalf without any transfer for the purpose:

Provided always, that where the property disclaimed is of a leasehold nature, the Court shall not make a vesting order in favour of any person claiming under the insolvent, whether as under-lessee or as mortgagee except upon the terms of making such person subject to the same liabilities and obligations as the insolvent was subject to under the lease in respect of the property at the date when the insolvency petition was filed, and any under-lessee or mortgagee declining to accept a vesting order upon such terms shall be excluded from all interest in and security upon the property, and if there is no person claiming under the insolvent who is willing to accept an order upon such terms, the Court shall have power to vest the insolvent's interest in the property in any person liable either personally or in a representative character, and either alone or jointly with the insolvent, to perform the lessee's covenants in such lease, freed and discharged from all estates, incumbrances and interests created therein by the insolvent.

(2) The Court may, if it thinks fit, modify the terms prescribed by the foregoing proviso so as to make a person in whose behalf the vesting order may be made subject only to the same liabilities and obligations as if the lease had been assigned to him at the date when the insolvency petition was filed, and (if the case so requires) as if the lease had comprised only the property comprised in the vesting order.

Persons injured by disclaimer may prove.

67. Any person injured by the operation of a disclaimer under the foregoing provisions shall be deemed to be a creditor of the insolvent to the amount of the injury, and may accordingly prove the same as a debt under the insolvency.

Duty and powers of official assignee as to realization.

68. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the official assignee shall, with all convenient speed, realize the property of the insolvent, and for that purpose may—

(a) sell all or any part of the property of the insolvent;

(b) give receipts for any money received by him;

and may, by leave of the Court, do all or any of the following things, namely:—

(c) carry on the business of the insolvent so far as may be necessary for the beneficial winding up of the same;

(d) institute, defend or continue any suit or other legal proceeding relating to the property of the insolvent;

(e) employ a legal practitioner or other agent to take any proceedings or do any business which may be sanctioned by the Court;

(f) accept as the consideration for the sale of any property of the insolvent a sum of money payable at a future time

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.

(Part III.—Administration of Property.)

or fully paid shares, debentures or debenture stock in any limited company subject to such stipulations as to security and otherwise as the Court thinks fit;

(g) mortgage or pledge any part of the property of the insolvent for the purpose of raising money for the payment of his debts or for the purpose of carrying on the business;

(h) refer any dispute to arbitration, and compromise all debts, claims and liabilities, on such terms as may be agreed upon;

(i) divide in its existing form amongst the creditors, according to its estimated value, any property which, from its peculiar nature or other special circumstances, cannot readily or advantageously be sold.

(2) The official assignee shall account to the Court and pay over all monies and deal with all securities in such manner as is prescribed or as the Court directs.

Distribution of property.

Declaration and distribution of dividends.

69. (1) The official assignee shall, with all convenient speed, declare and distribute dividends amongst the creditors who have proved their debts.

(2) The first dividend (if any) shall be declared and be distributed within six months after the adjudication, unless the official assignee satisfies the Court that there is sufficient reason for postponing the declaration to a later date.

(3) Subsequent dividends shall, in the absence of sufficient reason to the contrary, be declared and be payable at intervals of not more than six months.

(4) Before declaring a dividend, the official assignee shall cause notice of his intention to do so to be published in the prescribed manner, and shall also send reasonable notice thereof to each creditor mentioned in the insolvent's schedule who has not proved his debt.

(5) When the official assignee has declared a dividend, he shall send to each creditor who has proved a notice showing the amount of the dividend, and when and how it is payable, and if required by any creditor a statement in the prescribed form as to the particulars of the estate.

Joint and separate properties.

70. Where one partner in a firm is adjudged insolvent, a creditor to whom the insolvent is indebted jointly with the other partners in the firm or any of them shall not receive any dividend out of the separate property of the insolvent until all the separate creditors have received the full amount of their respective debts.

Calculation of dividends.

71. (1) In the calculation and distribution of dividends, the official assignee shall retain in his hands sufficient assets to meet—

(a) debts provable in insolvency and appearing from the insolvent's statements or otherwise to be due to persons resident in places so distant that in the ordinary course of communication they have not had sufficient time to tender their proofs;

(b) debts provable in insolvency the subject of claims not yet determined;

(c) disputed proofs or claims; and

(d) the expenses necessary for the administration of the estate or otherwise.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), all money in hand shall be distributed as dividends.

Right of creditor who has not proved debt before declaration of a dividend.

72. Any creditor who has not proved his debt before the declaration of any dividend or dividends shall be entitled to be paid out of any money for the time being in the hands of the official assignee any dividend or dividends which he may have failed to receive, before that money is applied to the payment of any future dividend or dividends, but he shall not be entitled to disturb the distribution of any dividend declared before his debt was proved by reason that he has not participated therein.

Final dividend.

73. (1) When the official assignee has realized all the property of the insolvent, or so much thereof as can, in his opinion, be realized without needlessly protracting the proceedings in insolvency, he shall, with the leave of the Court, declare a final dividend; but, before so doing, he shall give notice in manner prescribed to the persons whose claims to be creditors have been notified to him but not proved that, if they do not prove their claims, to the satisfaction of the Court, within the time limited by the notice, he will proceed to make a final dividend without regard to their claims.

(2) After the expiration of the time so limited, or, if the Court on application by any such claimant grants him further time for establishing his claim, then on the expiration of that further time, the property of the insolvent shall be divided among the creditors who have proved their debts, without regard to the claims of any other persons.

The Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.

(Part III.—Administration of Property. Part IV.—Official Assignees.)

No suit for dividend.

74. STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

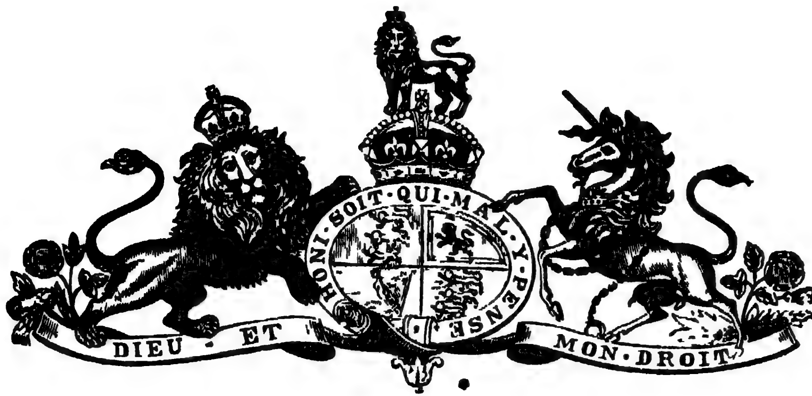
THE principal object of this Bill is to effect certain amendments in the Military Lunatics Act, 1877, the Cantonments (House Accommodation) Act, 1902, and the Indian Works of Defence Act, 1903, which are necessitated by the abolition of Commands and the reorganization of the Army in India.

The opportunity is also taken to remedy certain other defects in the Military Lunatics Act, 1877. All Administrative Medical Officers are now given power by section 3 to make an order for the reception of a military lunatic into any asylum (duly authorized by the Governor General in Council,) or to apply for his transfer to the military authorities with a view to his removal to England.

In section 7 the word "other" before the words "officer authorized" is meaningless and has been omitted.

It has been found that the names of volunteers remain on the rolls of their corps after they have become ineffective from various causes, as the Commanding Officer has not the power to remove the name of a man from the rolls of the Corps in such circumstances.

The opportunity is taken of remedying this defect in the Act.



It is considered desirable, for the purpose of admitting of better control over the sale or supply of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs to Native troops and followers in cantonments or within such limits around a cantonment as the Local Government may prescribe by notification in the official Gazette, that section 13 of the Cantonments Act, 1889, should be made applicable to Native troops and followers, so as to provide for the infliction of penalties in cases where a person sells such liquors or drugs to the said Native troops or followers, without having first obtained the necessary permission from the Commanding Officer of the cantonment or from some person authorized by the Commanding Officer to grant such permission.

With the object of facilitating the apprehension of offenders who sell liquor to soldiers or their families or to followers contrary to law, it is considered desirable to expand the provisions of section 15 of the Cantonments Act, 1889, so as to empower excise-officers to take action under that section, that is to say, to arrest without an order from a Magistrate, and without a warrant, any person committing an offence under sections 13 and 14.

QUESTION AND ANSWER.

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

"IN view of the demand for a local Legislative Council by 'advanced public opinion in the Central Provinces', the need felt by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner for the 'assistance and support of public expression of views on public affairs', as stated in paragraph 28 of his note on the Government of India's Reform Proposals, forwarded with his letter No. 1285 1-15-2 of 18th June, 1908, and the final abandonment by the Secretary of State of the general proposal for the creation of Advisory Councils and the consequential non-adoption of the special scheme recommended for the Central Provinces by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner for securing such 'assistance and support', will the Government, in working out the details of the Reform Scheme, be pleased, in consultation with the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner, to consider the desirability of creating for the Central Provinces and Berar or for the Central Provinces only a local Legislative Council, without raising the Administration into the status of a Lieutenant-Governorship, in exercise of the extensive powers conferred by section 46 of the Indian Councils Act of 1861?"

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied:—

"In connection with the Reform Scheme now under consideration, the Government of India do not at present contemplate the establishment of a Legislative Council for either the Central Provinces and Berar or the Central Provinces alone."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

"Will Government be pleased to state the present amounts of the Gold Standard Reserve and the Paper Currency Reserve? Has either of these Reserves been depleted during the current financial year, and, if so, to what extent, and under what circumstances?"

The Hon'ble SIR G. F. WILSON replied :—

"The amount of the Gold Standard Reserve on the 15th instant was £18,417,833; of which £5,978,899 was held in gold or sterling securities in England, and the balance in rupees in India. Its composition has been altered by the substitution of rupees for gold to the extent of the sterling bills sold on London in 1908, but the Reserve has not been depleted during the current financial year, except to the extent of a temporary loan for general purposes, which it is intended to repay before the 31st of March.

"The amount of the Paper Currency Reserve on the 15th instant was R 41,37,07,715; of which £2,865,970 was held in gold and sterling securities and the balance in rupees, silver bullion and rupee securities. This Reserve has not been depleted during the current financial year. It has been maintained, as required by law, at the equivalent of the amount of currency notes in circulation."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

"Is it true that imports of sugar from Austria-Hungary have more than doubled during the current year, as compared with the figures of the last year? Is this abnormal increase due to any special advantage enjoyed by the manufacturers of that country?"

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked:—

"Has the Government received a memorial from the malguzars of the Central Provinces, praying for longer period settlements and more moderate assessments? If so, has the matter been decided? In view of the generally impoverished condition of the malguzars and the successive famines, will the Government be pleased, in consultation with the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner, to provide at the forthcoming renewal for thirty-year settlements, and to allow the malguzars a higher percentage of profits than in previous settlements?"

The Hon'ble MR. MILLER replied:—

"The memorial referred to by the Hon'ble Member has not yet reached the Government of India.

"The Government have no reason to believe that the malguzars generally are in an impoverished condition. The Central Provinces have suffered severely from famines, but the effect of these famines was carefully watched in the districts affected, and liberal measures of relief were adopted where necessary. In some districts a considerable abatement of the land-revenue demand accompanied by a reduction of rent was given, while in other districts the existing settlement term was prolonged and re-settlement operations postponed until the tracts had fully recovered from the effects of the famine. Any representations that may be submitted through the Chief Commissioner on the subjects mentioned in the last part of the question will be fully considered. The Government of India are not prepared without such consideration to give any such pledge as the Hon'ble Member asks for."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked:—

"Is the Government aware that in the Central Provinces the Government Treasuries do not afford facilities for the exchange of the currency notes of different circles? In view of the steady commercial progress and the advancement of the people of the Central Provinces during the past few years, and particularly the great inconvenience experienced by the numerous Coal and Manganese Companies, Mills, Factories and Trading Associations, will the Government be pleased to establish either a Paper Currency Office or a Currency Exchange in Nagpur in order to afford greater facilities for commercial operations?"

The Hon'ble SIR G. F. WILSON replied:—

"Government have already under consideration measures to improve the system of its note circulation and hope that Nagpur in common with other internal centres of trade will benefit by the changes made."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked:—

"Is it a fact that the gross receipts from Railway earnings have fallen off this year to the extent of nearly three crores of rupees, and the working expenses have increased by a crore-and-a-half? If so, will these facts be taken into consideration in making allotment for Capital Expenditure on Railways during 1909-1910?"

The Hon'ble MR. HARVEY replied :—

" The gross receipts from Railway earnings have fallen off this year to the extent of about 109 lakhs below the actuals of the past year, and the working expenses have increased by 204 lakhs over the actuals of the past year.

" The amount of Capital to be expended in any year on Railways is not fixed with immediate reference to the results of working of the previous year."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

" Will Government be pleased to enlighten the public on the causes to which the fall in the one case and the rise in the other can respectively be ascribed ?"

The Hon'ble Mr. HARVEY replied :—

" The causes of the falling off in receipts and the increase in expenses will as usual be fully explained in the Financial Statements and in the Memorandum by the Railway Board on Railway working for the year which will shortly be laid before Council and published in the Gazette of India. Briefly it may be said that the decrease in Revenue is due to general depression in trade and to local famine conditions. The increase in working expenses is due principally to larger renewals of Permanent Way and Rolling-stock, repairs of extraordinary flood damages, scarcity allowances to staff, abnormal empty running resulting from abnormal trade conditions, and increased cost of coal."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

" Has the attention of Government been drawn to an article published in Indian Engineering of 2nd January last, condemning in strong terms the treatment of third class passengers on Indian railways, especially the following passages :—

' The whole treatment of third class passengers throughout the country is indefensible in any serious reckoning of railway responsibilities .. ..It is not so much in the station latrines and lavatories, but in the cars that humanity is sometimes outraged.

' Notwithstanding the provisions of what is known as the "Sardines section" of the Railway Act, which distinctly prohibits huddling, not only are passengers permitted to stuff compartments beyond their assigned accommodation, but railway officials have often been known, and can always be seen, to thrust passengers into well-filled carriages to their own manifest suffering and that of others already penned in.'

"Do the evils pointed out in the article exist ? If so, what action does Government propose to take for their prevention ?"

The Hon'ble MR. HARVEY replied :—

" The article in Indian Engineering from which three extracts have been quoted on the question has been read.

" Crowding in trains does and must occasionally occur in this as in other countries, especially at times of festivals or other large public concentrations.

" Railway Administrations are fully aware of their responsibilities in this matter, and Government have no reason to doubt that every reasonable endeavour is made by them to deal efficiently with the passenger traffic offering at all times, and Government Inspectors have instructions to pay special attention to the conditions under which third class passengers are carried on the various railways.

"Moreover, the principal Railway Administrations have spent during the past few years, and are still spending, large sums of money in building third class carriages of an improved (bogie) type, which add considerably to the comfort of the Indian passenger. In the circumstances Government do not propose to take any further special action in the matter."

The Hon'ble MR. GOKHALE asked :—

" HAVE the Government of India received from the wife of Babu Ashwini Kumar Dutt of Barisal, one of the nine Bengalee gentlemen recently deported, a memorial drawing the attention of the Government to the report that her husband is seriously ill and praying for his restoration to home and liberty ?

Is it a fact that Babu Ashwini Kumar Dutt is seriously ill?

Are the Government now in a position to state how long they propose to keep Ashwini Babu as also the other deportees under restraint?"

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied:—

"The Government of India have received the memorial mentioned in the question. It is not a fact that Babu Ashwini Kumar Dutt is seriously ill. On the 4th March the Medical Officer in charge of the jail in which this State prisoner is confined reported that his health has continued to be very good and that he has gone up in weight since he was received in the jail.

"The Government are unable to make any statement regarding the release of the State prisoners."

PRESIDENCY-TOWNS INSOLVENCY BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ERLE RICHARDS moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Law of Insolvency in the Presidency-towns and in the Town of Rangoon be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ERLE RICHARDS moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY said:—"My Lord, I desire to say a few words today as I had the privilege of serving on the Select Committee, and had the good fortune of being associated with the Hon'ble the Law Member in the preparation of this important measure, though I must confess I have played an insignificant part. The Committee had the expert advice and guidance of the Hon'ble Mr. Macleod, whose extensive knowledge of the practical working of the English Statute in an important commercial city like Bombay was of immense service to us; we had, besides, the inestimable advantage of the erudition and skill of the Hon'ble Law Member whose exactitude and precision in drafting are unrivalled, and but for whose masterly grasp of the varied and complicated details of the English Bankruptcy Act we should not have been in a position to present so complete and self-contained a Bill to this Council.

"This Bill is one of the most important measures of legislation undertaken by this Council for many a year, and I have no hesitation in congratulating the public, especially the commercial public, of this rising Empire with an expanding trade on their being given a suitable and workable Insolvency Act. The Bill is of a highly technical nature and the most gratifying feature of it is that many difficulties have been overcome and complexities have been simplified, and the public will now have an Act in no way less complete and comprehensive than the English Bankruptcy Act. I have great pleasure in supporting the revised Bill which now embodies the numerous useful suggestions made by the several High Courts and influential commercial bodies and organisations. The amended Bill ought to be received favourably by the public, as the provisions are suitable and framed in the light of the experience gained by the working of the old Act during a long series of years.

"But, my Lord, though I support this Bill, I confess it is with some degree of reluctance that I have become party to the substitution of an Indian Act for an Imperial Statute. In my opinion, so far as the Presidency-towns are concerned, it is necessary and expedient that the Insolvency Law should be an Imperial Statute. It is very desirable that the law for the administration of property of insolvent debtors in Presidency-towns should be passed directly by the Imperial Parliament. But for the proverbial apathy and indifference of the House of Commons for any legislation affecting India, this Council should never have undertaken the preparation of this Bill. Indian interests and vital questions affecting the political and commercial affairs of this vast and growing Dependency, unfortunately, trouble very little English statesmen. This apathy is a regrettable feature of English Parliamentary life. The Indian law, as embodied in the Act of 1848, is on the same lines as the English Acts before 1869, which were superseded by the Bankruptcy Code of 1869, which in its turn was substituted by the more comprehensive and elastic Act of 1883. The present law is thus behind the times by half-a-century, and though admittedly ineffective and out-of-date it is surprising that the task of supplying a suitable law was not till very recently undertaken. Sir James Stephen's Bill of 1870 was withdrawn, because it was too ambitious in its scope, and was intended to apply to the whole of India. Sir Courtenay Ilbert's attempt in 1886 to give a comprehensive Act to India proved abortive, because the Select Committee to which it was referred was of opinion that it was too complicated to suit Indian conditions, but was neither willing to suggest modifications nor to undertake the preparation of a suitable Bill. It was then shelved till last March, and, my Lord, it is due to your incentive and the general animation pervading Your Excellency's administration that this difficult measure, which the Imperial Parliament has so long neglected, has again come up on the tapis, and has assumed a shape which ought to command general assent.

"But, my Lord, as pointed out above, the proposed legislation might be open to objection from one point of view. An Indian Act is, after all, going to be substituted for an Imperial Statute. That is not merely a sentimental objection; it is one founded in reason. It is a matter of no small importance that a discharge granted by Courts in India should operate as a conclusive discharge in respect of all debts provable in the insolvency proceedings in this country; for instance, a debt contracted in England should be fully covered by an order of discharge passed by an Indian High Court. Again the sea-borne trade of a city like Bombay is fast expanding, and Bombay traders enter into direct commercial relations not only with merchants doing business in England, but also in Mauritius, Africa, Penang, Shanghai, Hongkong and other distant ports, and the Bill now before this Council will not be as effective in its operation for the purpose of securing for the official assignee immoveable and other valuable property of insolvents situated in other parts of the British possessions as the present Imperial Statute. A vesting order made under the Act of 1848 now in force immediately vests in the official assignee by direct operation the whole of the property and effects of the insolvent in whatever part of His Majesty's extensive dominions they may be situate or accrue; and likewise a discharge made under that Act takes effect in every part of the British Empire. In the Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Bill it is remarked that the advantages conferred by the Act of 1848 are of no real value, since experience has shown that in practically every case in which there are assets in both countries concurrent proceedings are instituted in England and India. The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, in presenting the Report of the Select Committee, also stated to this Council that on comparison of the effect of an adjudication order under the Act of 1848 with the effect of an adjudication order under the Bill the advantages of an Imperial Statute would appear to be of small practical value. I hope my Hon'ble friend will bear with me if I am not able to wholly reconcile myself to that view. The advantages of having an Imperial Act are obvious, and cannot be gainsaid; and though it is true that in many cases concurrent proceedings are promptly instituted in England and in this country, I venture to assert that the official assignee in this country is in a distinctly more favourable and unassailable position by reason of his drawing his authority from an Imperial Statute than if he were merely deriving his power to act under a Statute of the local legislature, which is necessarily limited in its operation to British India only. The present Bill when passed into law will certainly bring about some inconvenient results in so far as the immoveable property of insolvents situate outside the limits of British India is concerned. It will be difficult to get at the assets of foreign merchants trading in India and investing in real property outside British India; likewise debts, securities, and mortgages due to the insolvents outside British India will not be very easily approachable as under the present Act. An insolvent again, obtaining his discharge in any Presidency-town, will be liable to constant and vexatious persecutions outside British India. The valuable provision of the present Act whereby the vesting order ipso facto operates as a statutory transfer of immoveable property within any part of the British Empire is lost in the Bill under discussion. Henceforward the official assignee will have to call in the aid of section 118 of the Bankruptcy Act for an order which would make the Indian vesting order effective as regards immoveable property lying outside the limits of British India, provided the vesting order purports to deal with such assets; but even in that case his title must date from the order made by the Bankruptcy Court and abundant opportunities will thus be afforded to a dishonest insolvent to dispose of his property in the interval. We must, however, accept this Bill as practical men, and make a virtue of necessity. We must be content to forego the advantages of the present Act in view of the somewhat extensive application of section 118 of the English Bankruptcy Act of 1883; and in order to gain the end more effectively, we have incorporated section 126 with the object of declaring all British Courts exercising Insolvency jurisdiction to be auxiliary to one another. Section 126 of the Bill is thus not a wholly inadequate set-off against the distinct and important advantages that we are going to lose by the repeal of the Act of 1848. My Lord, to be fair, I must state that it is not a case of absolute disadvantage or loss. The Bill under discussion has some distinct merits which the old antiquated Imperial Act does not possess. It is decidedly an improvement on that Act It is modelled on the present English Law of Bankruptcy; it removes disabilities and defects; it provides a more effective and suitable machinery for compelling insolvent debtors to make a full disclosure of their assets and liabilities, and complete and drastic means for reaching and recovering property improperly concealed or disposed of by them. Creditors have been given not only a voice in the preliminary investigation, but have also been given extensive rights of putting debtors into Court before the assets have been made away with, and are, further, associated in the management and distribution of the assets. Moreover, means have been provided for the recovery without serious trouble of the insolvent debtor's property collusively and fraudulently held by third parties, and the official assignee has been invested with powers relating to the conduct of the insolvent and the administration of his property which must inure to the benefit of all parties. The official assignee will thus be every way in a more advantageous position under the present measure than under the Act of 1848, while any possible misuse of the larger powers and privileges by that official is effectively guarded against by the limitations requiring him to act in the light of day and in the presence of the general body of creditors. The provisions in the Bill about composition mark a distinct advance. Proposals for composition must be circulated among the creditors, and after they have been considered by the official assignee, it will not be open, as in the existing Act, to a small number of recusant creditors to disturb the arrangement, and to dictate their own terms. Under the Bill the voice of the majority will prevail. In short, the Bill offers ample protection to an honest insolvent who has come into trouble through the vicissitudes of fortune, at the same time that it places in the hands of the Court necessary means for the prompt and effective punishment of dishonest adventurers. The language is clear, and judges and lawyers will have less difficulty in interpreting and administering the law. The Bill is decidedly less cumbrous and verbose than the existing Act. The underlying principle is different. Unlike the Act of 1848, the Bill aims at the protection of the interests of creditors, whereas the principal function of that Act has been to relieve insolvent debtors and to leave honest creditors at their mercy.

"The Bill may therefore be safely passed into law, and left to work out its own destiny. Meanwhile, I shall, in common with the Hon'ble Law Member and many of my colleagues, cherish the hope that the Imperial Parliament will see its way in the near future to pass an enabling Act for the extension of the scope and operation of the Indian Act."

The Hon'ble MR. MACLEOD said:—"My Lord, for nearly forty years the question of amending the law relating to Insolvency in India has been more or less under the consideration of Government. It has been generally admitted that the law required amendment, but the difficulties in the way have been of an extremely intricate and technical character. This subject must naturally be of the greatest importance to the commercial community, and it is due to my learned and Hon'ble friend the Law Member that all obstacles have been removed and that the persistent demand for reform has at last been satisfied.

"The first step was to provide the Mufassal with a simplified form of Insolvency Law. That was effected by the passing of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, and it then became imperative that the Insolvency Law in the Presidency-towns and Rangoon should be brought up to date. Accordingly, this Bill was introduced and has now reached its final stage before the Council. Shortly, it is based on the English Bankruptcy Acts of 1883 and 1890, adapted with the greatest possible consideration for the special conditions which exist in India. The administration of the English Bankruptcy Law has recently been subjected to an exhaustive enquiry before a Special Committee appointed by the Board of Trade, and the report of the Committee forms a striking testimony to the general efficiency of those Acts. The Committee reported that the evidence and documents placed before them did not disclose any dissatisfaction on the part of the commercial community with the main features of the existing law and procedure; the matters of complaint and suggestions for reform of the law with which they had to deal had principally related to special incidents of the law and branches of its administration.

"It cannot be said that any great changes in the existing law are recommended, but the Select Committee have carefully considered that report and have incorporated in the Bill such few of the suggestions for reform as appeared suitable to Indian conditions.

"Since that report was published, the Right Hon'ble President of the Board of Trade was waited on by a deputation representing the Association of Chambers of Commerce and the Association of Trades Protection Societies, which asked for the introduction of a Bill to amend the existing Bankruptcy Law. As far as I can gather from the newspaper report, the deputation had only four principal points to urge. Two are provided for by the Bill before this Council, the other two were comparatively unimportant and impracticable to adopt as regards India. At any rate this would go to prove that the commercial community in England can find but few suggestions to make for the improvement of the English Acts on which this Bill is based.

"In the note which I was allowed to annex to the report of the Select Committee I have dealt in detail with the advantages which will be secured by passing the Bill, but there are one or two points which I should like to emphasise more clearly. The present Act is entitled an Act for the Relief of Insolvent Debtors. Creditors receive very little consideration. Some people think they are not entitled to much. The Right Hon'ble President of the Board of Trade, when replying to the deputation I have just referred to, is reported to have said: 'The creditor in bankruptcy is not a public benefactor. The mere fact of his being a creditor shows that he has been guilty of misplaced confidence. He has made an error of judgment and is not so much entitled to state protection as some people claim. If he has lost by unsuccessful trading, he must reap the result of his own act.' If that view were correct no one would give credit for fear of making bad debts, then there would be no insolvency, neither would there be any trade.

"The real point is that when an order of adjudication is made against a debtor either on his own or on a creditor's petition, his creditors are deprived of the ordinary remedies which otherwise the law would have allowed them to pursue, and have to depend on the Insolvency Laws to protect their interests. Under such circumstances, it is the duty of Government not only in the interests of creditors but also of the whole community to provide the Courts and their officers with the necessary powers to exercise complete control over the conduct and affairs of insolvent debtors. In this respect the Act of 1848 is lamentably deficient.

"For while the provisions for the discovery of an insolvent's property are inadequate, the burden of proving misconduct and opposing an insolvent's application for discharge is thrown entirely on the creditors. The official assignee is merely a collector of assets, he has neither the right nor the means to intervene. I attach the very greatest importance to the reform it is proposed to effect by the Bill with regard to these two points.

"As to the first, it is proposed to give the Courts the widest possible powers to compel the discovery and production of an insolvent's property. This may not always prevent the successful concealment of property, but legislation can go no further.

"As to the second point, clause 79 provides that the duties of an official assignee shall have relation to the conduct of the insolvent as well as to the administration of his estate. It will be the duty of the official assignee to report to the Court on the conduct of every insolvent who applies for his discharge. The official assignee's report will be primâ facie evidence of the statements contained therein and the onus will lie on the insolvent to rebut them. Even if an insolvent declines to apply for his discharge, the Court can direct the official assignee to report in any case in which he is of opinion that an offence under the Act has been committed.

"The result will be that offences under the Insolvency Law will no longer pass unnoticed. At the hearing of applications for discharge the time of the Court will be saved, and a serious burden on creditors will be removed.

"On the other hand, while the conduct of each insolvent will be officially scrutinized, the procedure whereby a man who has become insolvent through no fault of his own can get an absolute discharge has been very much simplified. Such an insolvent will be able to get protection for his after-acquired property as easily as he can now get protection for his person only. The present law regarding after-acquired property may in many cases work very harshly. Few insolvents go to the trouble and expense of a second hearing to get absolute protection for their property, and even then, if judgment has been already entered up, their property is never safe from execution. The Bill provides that judgment cannot be entered up against an insolvent unless one or more of certain facts have been proved against him. Another great improvement will be effected by enabling insolvency proceedings to be taken by or against a firm in the name of the firm. My Lord, however much care is exercised in framing a measure dealing with insolvency, it is inevitable that complaints will always be forthcoming from persons who suffer from the pecuniary misfortunes of those with whom they deal. Delays in realising insolvents' property must occur, opportunities for the successful concealment of assets will exist, and the administration of insolvent estates must be accompanied by a certain amount of formality and expense, but I am in hopes that this Bill will enable insolvency administration to be far more efficient than it can ever be under the present Act.

"No doubt cases will occur in which a vesting order or an order of discharge will not have so far-reaching an effect as under the Act of 1848. This can be remedied by an Imperial Act, but I have endeavoured in the note referred to above to show that the advantages to debtors as well as creditors to be obtained under the Bill altogether outweigh any loss that may be entailed by the repeal of the present Act. The loss is problematical, the advantages are real. The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy is afraid that the official assignee will not be in such an advantageous position as he is now when seeking to recover assets outside British India. I do not share his fears. I claim that all the points raised by the Hon'ble Member have been met by my note. My experience in the case of assets situate in Hong Kong or in any of the other British Colonies referred to by the Hon'ble Member is that almost invariably the domicile of the insolvent is Indian and the assets are moveable, so that the Indian vesting order will for all practical purposes operate in such cases as efficiently as hitherto.

"The official assignee must always be at a disadvantage if he has to take proceedings which he cannot personally superintend in a Foreign Court. One must assume, however, that the general principles of private international law will be recognized by other British Courts and due effect given to section 118 of the English Bankruptcy Act of 1883. I do not anticipate therefore that the official assignee, if he has to seek the assistance of such Courts, will be in any worse position than he is now.

"But I should also like to point out that it is just in those cases that we are brought in contact with Insolvency Law in other parts of the British Empire and that the disadvantages of the Indian Insolvency Law not being in line with that law are most apparent. Moreover, it is taking a very narrow view of the subject to rivet the attention to what may happen in a particular case. Rather we should consider whether the old or the new legislation is the most efficient and best answers the requirements of the community.

"My Lord, I may claim to have had considerable experience in the actual working of the present Act, and during the last few months I have had ample opportunities of testing this question from every point of view. I am satisfied that in passing this Bill we shall be effecting a very necessary and long called for reform."

The Hon'ble SIR ERLE RICHARDS said :—"The Council have heard the speeches of my two Hon'ble Colleagues, and their opinions are, I submit, a sufficient warrant for this motion. The Hon'ble Mr. Macleod speaks with wide practical experience gained as Official Assignee of Bombay; he knows the defects of the existing law and is confident that this Bill will effect a valuable reform. My Hon'ble and learned friend Mr. Dadabnoy, a lawyer of experience, joins in commending the Bill and points out that it has received the assent of the commercial communities of India.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy devoted some portion of his speech to a point which has been discussed in this Council on more than one previous occasion, as to the disadvantages of giving up the Imperial Statute from which our present law of insolvency derives its authority. The Hon'ble and learned Member is enamoured of this Bill, but he cannot quite make up his mind to break with the past: he is on with the new love, but he is not completely off with the old. He is anxious that this Bill should step into the Statute-book, but he views with regret the departure of the present Act which it must displace. This question has been examined in detail in the Report of the Select Committee and in the papers appended to that Report. We may differ as to the exact degree of loss we must suffer from the fact that vesting orders and discharges under Indian insolvencies will no longer, if this Bill be passed into law, have the same effect of themselves outside British India; but we are all united, and as my Hon'ble and learned friend says, all practical men must be united in recognising that, whatever these disadvantages may amount to, the advantages to be gained by the substitution of the new law over the present out-of-date enactment, altogether outweigh them. Therefore I ask this Council to carry this motion unconditionally and to pass this Bill without reference to the possibility of obtaining an Imperial Act to supplement it. At the same time, my Lord, I desire to state on behalf of the Government of India that they have carefully considered the argument in favour of having an Imperial Statute and that they are prepared to request the Secretary of State to consider the matter, and if he be so advised to ask the Imperial Parliament to pass a short Bill to give effect to Indian vesting orders and discharges in the British Empire outside India. That is the position under the present Act and it is only fair, as it seems to us, that we should be put in the same position under this Bill. It may be said that an Act of this Council will have the same effect as the Bankruptcy Acts of other Colonial Legislatures, and that we cannot fairly claim to be in a better position than other parts of the British dominions. But our answer to that is that in India we are already in a more favourable position and that we are only asking Parliament to maintain the existing position. We do not ask them to enact a new Act for us, that would be unreasonable; but we do ask them to give the Act which we are about to pass the same effect as the present law has. We hope that we shall succeed in our request but we hold that this Bill, even if it be not supplemented by Imperial legislation, will effect a marked improvement in the law, and we recommend you to enact it independently of that consideration.

"During the past few days I have received petitions from various Associations representing vakils and pleaders asking that the Bill may be amended in order to give them a right of audience in insolvency matters, a right which they do not at present possess. Changes of this kind, my Lord, are not easy to make; they involve interference with vested interests and at best they cannot be made at the eleventh hour; they require the fullest consideration. The Bill provides for the maintenance of the existing state of things, and I think the Council will be wise to adhere to that.

"My Lord, I have little more to say. The lot of a Legal Member in this Council is a hard one; it is almost always his duty to speak on measures of a character so technical that it is impossible to invest them with any general interest. During the past few years we have passed Acts in this Council dealing with the subjects of Civil Procedure, Provincial Insolvency, the Limitation of Actions and the Registration of Documents. These are all matters of legal importance, but they are none of them subjects on which it is possible to arouse general enthusiasm. Today, the last occasion on which I shall have the honour of addressing this Council, my task is even worse, and I confess that it is beyond my powers to discuss the provisions of this Bill in such a way as to make it of interest to my Colleagues. I content myself with claiming for it that it will effect an important and much-needed alteration of the law. It is in the interests of the State that commercial transactions should be maintained at a high level of honesty, and that the law should give sufficient powers to prevent fraudulent trading. The Bill will do much to accomplish this object, and it is for that reason that I ask the Council to pass it into law."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE AMENDING (ARMY) BILL.

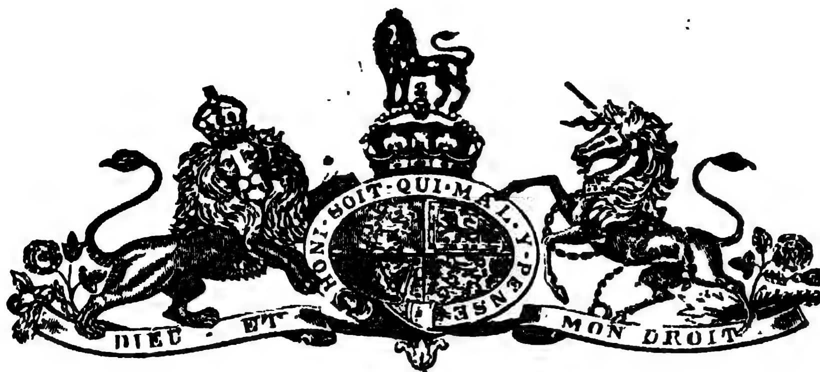
His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend certain enactments relating to the Army. He said :—" The Amending (Army) Bill I have the honour to propose to introduce is of an entirely formal character rendered necessary by recent changes in the ranks and designations of Generals Commanding in India. Advantage has however, been taken of the introduction of this Bill to remedy certain defects in our military laws :

(1) regulating the admission of soldier lunatics to asylums ;
(2) giving power to the Commanding Officers of Volunteer Corps to remove the names of those members who have become non-effective from the roll of their corps ; and
(3) affording better control over the sale and supply of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs in cantonments.

" These three amendments to the law have been dealt with in the Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF introduced the Bill.



His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in English in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazettes.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Monday, the 22nd March 1909.

APPROPRIATION REPORT

OF

FOR

GENERAL REVIEW.

[Throughout the report the rupee figures are in thousands of rupees and the sterling figures in hundreds of £; thus 10,64 reads as ten lakhs and sixty-four thousands of rupees, and £71,2 reads as seventy-one thousand and two hundreds of pounds sterling. The rupee figures are converted into sterling amounts at R15=£1.]

The Financial Statement for 1907-08 announced two important measures of fiscal relief and administrative improvement. The first related to the reduction of the salt duty to Re. 1 per maund with effect from 20th March 1907 throughout the whole of India involving an anticipated sacrifice of revenue of £1,266,7. The second related to a reduction in postal rates with effect from 1st October 1907 estimated to cost £73,3 for the six months of the year. The elasticity of Indian revenues enabled the Government of India to undertake these important measures without restricting their programme of improvements in the administration of matters relating to Police, Education and Agriculture. In response to a desire expressed by the Chinese Government for a gradual reduction of the imports of Indian opium into China, the number of chests of Bengal opium to be offered for sale was reduced, necessarily causing some loss of revenue. A scheme was also introduced, for the first time, of placing the Provincial expenditure on Famine Relief on a satisfactory basis by making annual grants to the extent of £250,0 to Provinces usually afflicted by Famine, in order to enable them to build up a credit with the Government of India to be drawn upon in times of scarcity. After making these allowances the Budget estimated for a surplus of £774,7.

2. The unsatisfactory character of the autumn monsoon of 1907 considerably affected Land Revenue in many of the provinces, chiefly the United Provinces, and under this head the actual realisations proved short of the Budget Estimate by £1,516,6. Forest Revenue also proved worse to the extent of £157,2 chiefly in Burma. Railway Revenue was worse by £1,150,2 due to a growth in the working expenses largely exceeding the corresponding growth of earnings. To some extent these deteriorations from the Budget Estimate were counterbalanced by the revenue under most of the other Revenue heads exceeding the anticipations of the Budget. The chief increases occurred under Opium (£393,9) due to better prices fetched by Bengal Opium and to increased exports of Malwa Opium, under Stamps (£91,6) due to growth of litigation, under Customs (£109,0) due to increased imports of cotton goods, metals, petroleum, and manufactured articles, under Assessed Taxes (£71,2) due to general activity in trade, and under Mint (£198,6) due to large issues of bronze and nickel coins.

3. On the expenditure side, there were considerable savings chiefly under Opium (£135,4) due to a contraction of the poppy growing area in Bengal, under Forest (£90,6) due to a restriction of departmental exploitation, under Political (£138,5) owing to the full amount of subsidy due to His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan not having been drawn, and under Army, (£832,0) due to the postponement of schedule measures or inability to carry them out to the extent anticipated. On the other hand, the Famine Insurance grant was exceeded by £301,7 chiefly on account of heavy Famine Relief Charges in the United Provinces; and there were considerable excesses over the Budget Estimate chiefly under Interest (including interest charged to Railways and Irrigation) (£114,7) due chiefly to the absence of provision for discount on the issues of 3½% India stock in England, under Stationery and Printing (£89,9)

due to large purchases for the Central Stores, and under Other Public Works (£129,7) owing to an expansion of programme. Provincial deficits exceeded the Estimate by £422,0. The net result of these and other variations was a surplus of £300,6.

4. Reference has been made in the report for 1906-07 to the change in the system of allocation of Interest charges between Ordinary Debt and Railway and Irrigation Debt. The change having been introduced after the framing of the Budget Estimate for 1907-08, a proper comparison of the Budget and account figures necessitates an allowance for the change of classification. Marine Pensions formerly shown under 29—Superannuation, &c., are now shown as Marine Charges under the group Army Services.

5. As explained in para. 101 of the Financial Statement for 1908-09, the Revised Estimate for the year 1907-08 as shown therein excluded the figures for the Local Section of the accounts, except in respect of funds not truly of a local character. As the exclusion does not take effect till 1908-09, the Revised Estimate in the present report, includes the figures for the Local Section and differs in some respects from the figures of the Financial Statement, the net surplus shown in that statement being 235,4 against 235,8 shown in the Revised Estimate in this report.

6. The following summary gives the Budget and Account figures of 1907-08 which are reviewed in this report. The details will be found in the statements on pages 646 to 660 :—

7. The comparison in respect of revenues with the year 1906-07 was as follows :—

8. The important variations under Principal Heads of Revenue were the following :—

	£	R
Land Revenue	—1,075,9	—1,61,38
Opium	—415,5	—62,33
Salt	—1,023,7	—1,53,56

Assessed Taxes	+80,3	+12,05
Other Heads	+34,9	+5,23
TOTAL	—1,201,8	—1,80,27

9. The heavy falling off under Land Revenue was caused by the revenue in many of the provinces chiefly the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, the Punjab and Bombay having been considerably affected by the failure of the monsoon. The decrease would have been larger still but for a bumper rice crop in Lower Burma and for large recoveries of Survey and Settlement charges in the two Bengals. A part of the decrease (£60,8 on R9,13) was nominal and due to the transfer of certain credits on account of share of land and water rate in Burma to the head Irrigation. The decrease under Opium was caused by reductions both in the number and price of Bengal opium chests sold, partly counterbalanced by an increase in the Bombay opium pass fees. The decrease under Salt was caused by the reduction in the duty partly covered by increased consumption. The increases under Stamps, Excise and Assessed Taxes were due, as usual, to progressive growth. Under Customs there was a large increase due to an unusual growth of imports, partly covered by a falling off of exports.

10. The falling off under Interest was small. The increases under Post Office and Telegraph were caused by normal growth, partly covered, in the case of the first named department, by the reduction in the rates. Under Mint there were increased profits on heavy issues of bronze and nickel coinage partly with the object of meeting Famine demands. In the Civil Departments, there were increased receipts under Police and Education. In the Miscellaneous Departments, the receipts were higher in the previous year under Exchange due to a higher average rate of Secretary of State's bills and under Miscellaneous due to certain special receipts as explained in the report for that year. Certain recoveries from Local Funds on account of audit fees were also remitted with effect from the year of report.

11. Under Railways there was an increase in the gross receipts due to the opening of additional mileage, development of passenger traffic, larger coal traffic on the East Indian Railway and movements of food grains to famine districts on the East Indian, Oudh and Rohilkhand and North Western Railways; but this was more than counterbalanced by increase in the working expenses due to increased train mileage, higher cost of coal, heavier renewals of permanent-way, engines and vehicles, increased pay of station and train staff and the grant of grain compensation allowances. Under Irrigation there were decreases in the Direct Receipts chiefly in the Punjab and the United Provinces, due in the former case to abnormally high receipts in 1906-07 and in the latter case to the Rabi of 1906-07 not having been as favourable as that of 1905-06. The decrease would have been larger but for the transfer to this head of the share of land revenue and water rate hitherto credited to Land Revenue in Burma. The decline under Other Public Works was small.

12. Military Receipts were lower chiefly under Army due to the stoppage of supply of malt liquor on payment from 1st January 1908, to smaller sale-proceeds of Ordnance Stores and to the inclusion in the accounts of the previous year of special refunds by the War Office on account of the Indian Troop Service and on account of pay of Indian Troops during furlough earned on Field Service in China and Somaliland. Marine receipts were also lower, but the decrease was nominal and due to recoveries from Local Governments and Departments and from the Royal Navy on account of labour and stores being taken by deduction from expenditure instead of being credited to receipts as formerly. The receipts from rents of buildings under Military Works showed a small increase.

14. Under Direct Demands on the Revenues there was a large decrease under Opium (£243,9) chiefly in reduced payments to cultivators owing to a diminished outturn of crops. Stamps, too, showed a decrease of £47,2 chiefly nominal and due to the cost of postage and unified stamps issued to the Post Office Department having been charged, under the orders of Government, to the Post Office Department by reduction of the charges under this head. These decreases were partly covered by increased charges due to the progressive development of the administrative machinery under most of the other heads, chiefly Land Revenue (£122,0) due to revision of scales of establishments in many of the provinces, to entertainment of temporary additional establishments in the United Provinces due to the Famine and to extensive Survey and Settlement operations in Eastern Bengal and Assam. The charges of the Excise and Registration Departments increased by £21,0 and £14,3 respectively. The Forest Department showed an increase of £31,4 due to purchase of elephants, to larger expenditure on construction and repairs and to the transfer of Khedda charges from the group Miscellaneous to this head in Burma, in terms of the Provincial Settlement.

15. There was an increase in the gross charge for Interest mainly due to additions to Debt, but there was a considerably higher deduction on account of interest charged to Railways and Irrigation and in the net, Interest on Ordinary Debt showed a decrease. Post Office charges shewed an increase due to the expansion of the Department, to the grant of grain compensation allowance and to the adjustment of the cost of stamps as already referred to. Under Telegraph the growth of expenditure due to expansion, was more than covered by a short outlay on works and by reduced purchase of English stores in order to keep down the balance of stores. The expenditure of the previous year also included heavier expenditure on the Central Persia and the Teheran Ardistan lines. In the Civil Departments, the accounts of the previous year included high Political charges on account of a larger amount of subsidy paid to His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan and on account of His Majesty's visit to India. The decrease (£269,8) under the head Political was, however, considerably more than covered by the development of the administrative machinery under almot all the other heads of account in this group. The chief increases occurred under General Administration (£96,9) due to the growth of Secretariat charges, to increased demand for English stores, chiefly Currency Notes and motor cars, and to expenditure on new Store Building for the India Office; under Courts of Law (£51,9) due to increased Law charges and to expansion of Civil and Sessions Courts; under Police (£282,2) due to the gradual introduction of reforms in all branches of the service; under Education (£174,2) due to a growth, more than usually rapid, owing to introduction of new University Regulations and to a desire for the wider diffusion of primary education; under Medical (£54,8) due chiefly to normal growth combined with heavy plague expenditure in the United Provinces and the Punjab; and under Scientific and other Minor Departments (£86,0) chiefly in the growth of the Survey of India and the Agricultural Departments. In the Miscellaneous Departments the increase was caused chiefly by the normal growth of Superannuation charges, by a rather rapid growth of the Stationery and Printing charges, and by an increase under Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances due to the adjustment to this head of privilege leave allowances paid during combined leave in England instead of being charged to the departments concerned, as they would have been, had they been paid in India. Under Famine, unfavourable agricultural conditions caused heavy increased outlay on direct relief in the Central Provinces and the United Provinces specially in the latter; and the expenditure on Construction of Protective Irrigation works was also higher. Grants to Provincial Governments to enable them to build up a reserve of credit with the Imperial Government for Famine Expenditure were made under Reduction or Avoidance of Debt to the extent of £250,0. In consequence of these increased items of expenditure, no Imperial appropriation for Reduction or Avoidance of Debt could be made; on the other hand, the charges exceeded the usual limit of £1,000,0 by £301,7. The increase shown against Railways occurred chiefly under Interest on Debt and on overdrawn capital of Railway Companies in consequence of increased capital employed. Irrigation charges were higher chiefly in working expenses and interest. Under Other Public Works the programme of works carried out in 1907-08 was larger than in the previous year. There was a very large decrease in the expenditure of the Military Services, chiefly in Army Charges (£1,010,3) partly in ordinary expenditure in India, but largely in reduced demand for English stores due to the gradual completion of Reorganisation measures. Marine charges showed a decline (£147,2) partly nominal being due to the change in the system of adjusting recoveries for supplies and services as explained on the receipt side and partly due to the inclusion in the accounts of 1906-07 of the balance of cost of the R. I. M. S. Northbrooke. There was an increase of £39,4 under Military Works partly covered by a decrease of £22,1 under Special Defences.

Comparison of Accounts with Budget Estimates of 1907-08.

17. Under Principal Heads of Revenue, a heavy fall (£1,471,8) under Land Revenue due to bad seasons, chiefly in the United Provinces, was partly covered by improvements mainly under Opium (£529,3), under Stamps (£143,7), under Customs (£410,0), and under Assessed Taxes (£70,9). Opium showed an increased revenue due to better prices fetched by Bengal Opium, viz., R13,50 per chest against R12,50 assumed in the Budget and to increased export of Malwa Opium ; at the same time there was a decrease in expenditure due to a diminished outturn of crops. Under Stamps a normal growth of revenue was aided by a reduction on the charge side due to the cost of stamps issued to the Post Office Department being debited to that Department. Under Customs the improvement occurred almost wholly in increased revenue chiefly from Sea Customs, Import Duties. Under Assessed Taxes the Budget did not sufficiently provide for the growth of revenue.

18. Under Interest, there was a heavy increase on the expenditure side due partly to additions to debt and to Discount on loans raised in England, but very largely to the introduction, after the framing of the Budget Estimates, of the revised system of allocation of interest charges explained in last year's report, under which a smaller proportion of the gross charges are now debited to Railways and Irrigation Revenue Accounts. Under Post Office the deterioration was nominal being due to the adjustment of the cost of stamps as already explained. Telegraph showed only a small improvement. Under Mints, profits from Bronze and Nickel coinage as also the percentages on rupee coinage were considerably higher. In the Civil Departments there were decreases in the net charges chiefly under Political (£138,5) due to the non-drawal of the Amir's subsidy and under Education (£45,9) due to a partial lapse of provisions for reforms; on the other hand there were excesses under Courts of Law (£71,1) due to increased charges for Law Officers and Civil and Sessions Courts and under Jails (£40,7) due chiefly to increased dietary charges and to contraction of manufactures. Under Miscellaneous a saving in the net pensionary charges due to the sale of certain debentures belonging to the Calcutta Police Superannuation Fund on its abolition, was more than covered by increases of Stationery and Printing Charges, by a reduced gain on account of Exchange and by increased charges of Special Commissions of Enquiry under Miscellaneous.

19. The total loss due to Famine has been brought together in the following table, based on estimates framed by the most competent local authorities, which may be accepted as giving approximately the loss of revenue assignable to Famine. Suspensions of Land Revenue and Provincial Rates, which are not final losses, have been distinguished from remissions under those heads. The total loss of revenue in 1907-08 assigned to Famine was 2,00,29 as shown below:—

20. When the Budget Estimate was framed, India, Bengal and Bombay were the only provinces where substantial sums were provided to meet expenditure on direct Famine Relief. Later on, the agricultural conditions in the Central Provinces, the United Provinces and the Punjab proved unfavourable, and provisions had to be made in the Revised Estimates of those provinces to meet expenditure for relief operations. Towards the close of the year, the circumstances somewhat improved in the Central Provinces, but in the United Provinces they got worse, and the result was that the actuals for Famine Relief exceeded the Budget by R85,14 or £567,6. Under Construction of Protective Railways the Budget was exceeded by R64 or £4,3, but there were savings under Construction of Protective Irrigation Works to the extent of R7,72 or £49,5, and under Reduction or Avoidance of Debt R33,11 or £220,7. Under the former head the saving occurred mainly in the United Provinces owing to the work on the Ken and Dassan Canals being retarded by the constant running of the Ken Canal to meet demands for water and to scarcity of labour on the Dassan Canal. The saving under Reduction or Avoidance of Debt represents that no balance of the Famine Insurance grant was left to be charged as an Imperial Appropriation owing to heavy charges on direct relief in the United Provinces. Besides the charges on actual relief, expenditure was incurred under other heads either in the actual purchases of food supplies for men and animals or in the grant of compensation for dearness of provisions. These charges have been estimated by the local authorities, and are brought together in the following table, and the total charges direct and indirect may be set down at about 1,75,33.

21. The total loss of revenue and increase of expenditure due to famine may therefore be put down at about 3,75,62.

22. Under Railways there was a considerable deterioration as compared with the Budget in spite of a considerable saving under Interest on Debt under the revised system of charging interest to Railways. The following statement shows the chief variations between the Budget and the actuals as regards the net result of the traffic receipts and working expenses :—

23. The Madras Railway on purchase has been merged in the South Indian Railway and the Madras Section (Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway). The generally unfavourable results were due to heavy working expenses, such as heavy renewals of permanent-way, locomotives and rolling stock, enhanced cost of coal, heavier expenditure on maintenance and renewal of permanent-way and structures, grant of grain compensation allowance, higher price of labour. In the cases of the Bengal-Nagpur, the Great Indian Peninsula and the Rajputana-Malwa Railways, the earnings were also somewhat overestimated.

24. Under Irrigation, there was a nominal increase of revenue by about £60,6 due to the transfer to this head of certain credits for land and water rates in Burma from the head 1—Land Revenue; there was also a saving of expenditure to the extent of £192,9, partly nominal and due to the reduction of interest charges under the new system as already explained and partly due to lapses of expenditure under Minor Works and Navigation chiefly in the special reserve of 8 lakhs. Other Public Works shewed an increase in the net charges due to an expansion of the programme of works.

25. Under Military Services, the improvement of £818,6 occurred £662,1 under Army, £26,4 under Marine, £100,7 under Military Works, and £29,4 under Special Defence. Under Army, there were large savings in the provision for special Reorganisation measures and also in the ordinary expenditure due to various causes, e.g., abolition of commands, short strength of British troops, suspension of training of Army reservists, less Railway charges owing partly to revision of Railway rates, smaller expenditure on grass and dairy farms, less charges for clothing establishments, supplies and services, etc. Under Marine the improvement was due to larger sale-proceeds of vessels, to less demand for English stores, and to savings in Dockyard charges partly counterbalanced by charges for Marine furlough and retired pay budgetted for under other heads. Under Military Works the reserve provision with the Government of India was not utilised. Under Special Defence also there was a surrender of funds.

26. The Budget provided for a deficit of £331,4 or R49,71 on the whole account, but as a sum of £443,3 or R66,49 out of the Provincial and Local expenditure was payable from past accumulations of balances, a net surplus of £774,7 or R1,16,20 was provided for in the Estimates on the Imperial Account. The accounts closed with a surplus on Imperial Account of £300,6 or R45,09 and a deficit on Provincial and Local Account of £865,3 or R1,29,79. The net Imperial Revenue was therefore worse by £774,7 − £300,6 = £474,1 or R71,11 and the net Provincial and Local receipts by £865,3 − £443,3 = £422,0 or R63,30. The decline in the Provincial and Local accounts occurred chiefly in the Central Provinces and the United Provinces due chiefly to Famine, in Bengal due to increased expenditure under Civil Departments and Other Public Works and in the Punjab due to a falling off under Land Revenue. The decline would have been considerably larger but for an Imperial grant of £274,7 or R41,17 to the United Provinces Government to bring up the Provincial balance to the prescribed minimum. On the other hand, the Provincial and Local balance in Madras showed an improvement due to increased receipts under the Principal Heads of Revenue and to reduced expenditure under Irrigation and Other Public Works.

27. The details of these fluctuations are given below, the sign + meaning better, and — worse, than the Estimate:—

28. The deterioration in the Provincial and Local sections occurred chiefly in reduced Land Revenue and Forest receipts partly set off by improvements under Stamps and Irrigation receipts; and in increased Famine Relief, Stationery and Printing and Other Public Works charges partly covered by savings in Irrigation charges.

30. The Budget grants have been exceeded under several heads. The excesses, distinguishing those requiring sanction from those for which extra grants have already been made, have been noticed under each head of expenditure, and the detailed reasons for the excess have been also there stated. The following table brings together the excesses under each head still requiring sanction:—

31. The total receipts in this Section fell short of the Budget Estimate by £641,0 or R96,15 and of the actuals of the previous year by £1,201,8 or R1,80,27. As compared with the Budget the decreases occurred under Land Revenue (£1,516,6 or R2,27,49) due to the unfavourable character of the season in most of the provinces, chiefly in the United Provinces; under Forest (£157,2 or R23,58) chiefly owing to bad prices, and a bad floating season in Burma, and under Tributes (£14,0 or R2,10). These deficiencies were partly covered by improvements under Opium (£393,9 or R59,09) due to better prices fetched by Bengal Opium and to larger exportation of Malwa Opium, under Salt (£49,0 or R7,35) due to a slight underestimate of the increase of consumption consequent on the reduction of duty in March 1907, under Stamps (£91,6 or R13,74) chiefly in the two Bengals and the United Provinces, under Excise (£6,5 or R97), under Provincial Rates (£1,4 or R21), under Customs (£409,0 or R61,34) chiefly in the imports of Cotton goods, Petroleum, Silver and other metals, and in the excise duty on cotton manufactures, under Assessed Taxes (£71,2 or R10,69) due to an underestimate of the growth of these revenues chiefly in Bombay and under Registration (£24,2 or R3,64) chiefly in Bengal. Compared with the previous year, there were decreases chiefly under Land Revenue (£1,075,9 or R1,61,38) largely in the United Provinces, under Opium (£415,5 or R62,33) due to a reduction both in the quantity and average price per chest of Bengal Opium, and under Salt (£1,023,7 or R1,53,55) due to the reduction of duty. These decreases were partly covered by the growth of revenue under most of the other heads chiefly. Customs (£652,8 or R97,92), Excise (£316,0 or R47,40) and Stamps (£229,3 or R34,39).

32. The total receipts showed a heavy decrease. Compared with the Budget Estimate it amounted to 2,27,49, chiefly under Ordinary Revenue, due to the unfavourable character of the season in most provinces and to the transfer of 9,13 on account of land and water rate in Burma, hitherto credited to this head, to the Public Works Department. Capitation Tax, etc., also showed a decline but this was more than made up by increased Miscellaneous Revenue and Sale of Proprietary Estates, etc. As compared with the actuals of the previous year there were decreases under Sale of Proprietary Estates, etc., and under Thathameda Tax in Burma, in addition to a heavy falling off under Ordinary Revenue. But these decreases were to a small extent set off by increased Miscellaneous Revenue, chiefly recoveries of survey and settlement charges in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal, and special receipts in Bombay.

33. Under Ordinary Land Revenue (including that due to irrigation) there was a deficiency of 2,29,06, the result of unfavourable seasons in most provinces. In India there was a deficiency of 1,64 partly in Ajmer (1,05) due to small collections in January 1908 consequent on the failure of the Kharif harvest of 1315 Fusli and partly in Baluchistan (58) due to bad crops and to the default of a contractor who had purchased revenue grain. In the Central Provinces the Budget Estimate based on the normal dues had to be considerably reduced in the Revised owing to partial failure of crops in several districts, but the actual collections proved still worse and there was a shortage of 16,21. In Burma there was a deficiency of 20,50 on the Budget Estimate. In Upper Burma the rains partially failed and were untimely, the rise of the Irrawady and Chindwin rivers was small and irrigation works gave short supplies of water; a sum of 9,13 on account of the share of land and water rate hitherto credited to this head was also transferred to the Public Works Department; the decrease would have been greater but for a bumper rice crop in Lower Burma. In Bengal the decrease (7,29) occurred under Fixed collections (4,36), Quit rents of Tributary States (30) and Collections from Government Estates (2,63), due chiefly to remissions and suspensions owing to bad harvests. In the United Provinces the Budget proved too high to the extent of 1,26,04 due to the early cessation of the monsoon resulting in the failure of the Kharif and necessitating large remissions and suspensions which, however, did not turn out quite as large as anticipated in the Revised Estimate. In the Punjab there was a deficiency of 24,80 which occurred 16,12 under fixed collections and 8,68 under fluctuating collections; the former was caused by the failure of the Kharif harvest of 1907 necessitating suspensions of revenue on a large scale, while the latter is due partly to failure of the Kharif and partly to large remissions made on the Chenab Canal in Rabi 1907. In Madras there was a deficiency of 7,01 due to the failure of the North-East Monsoon necessitating the grant of large season remissions and to the delay in the introduction of the resettlement rates in Chingleput and Tinnevelly. In Bombay the deficiency amounted to 28,03; the Budget was fixed rather high on the basis of the normal dues with the prospect of recovery of a certain amount of suspended revenue and in Sind the current demand was estimated at a higher figure than in past years owing to extensions of irrigation, but the unprecedentedly low inundation in Sind and the failure of both the Kharif and Rabi crops in the Presidency led to large remissions and suspensions.' The recovery in March 1908 from some of the Districts in the Northern Division of certain amounts due in April 1908, made the actual result somewhat better than was anticipated in the Revised Estimate. These large deficiencies were to a small extent set off by slight improvements in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,11) owing to the Budget Estimate having been framed on a less favourable season than was actually the case in Eastern Bengal and to the expansion of cultivation in Assam; and in the North-West Frontier Province (1,35) in the Hazara and Dera Ismail Khan Districts due to the new Jama and collections of arrears in the former and to an exceptionally good harvest in the latter.

34. Under Assessment of Alienated Lands less Quit Rents there was an improvement of 66 due to revision surveys in some of the districts in Bombay. The receipts under Sale of Proprietary right, etc., are of a fluctuating character and not susceptible of an accurate forecast. There was an increase of 1,98 on the whole, chiefly in Burma (24), in Bengal (21), in the United Provinces (16), in the Punjab (69) and in Madras (84), counterbalanced by a decrease of 17 in the Central Provinces. In Burma and the United Provinces, receipts on account of the capitalised value of the abatement of Land Revenue on land made over to Railways were not sufficiently allowed for in the Budget Estimate. In Bengal the increase was due to some small unexpected receipts in Calcutta, 24-Parganahs and Hazaribagh. In the Punjab the increase was due to greater purchases of proprietary rights in the Jhang and Multan Districts. In Madras the increase was due to the sale of large tracts of swamp lands and Surada reservior lands in the Ganjam Districts and of Salt pan lands and tank-bed lands in Godaveri; the Revised provided for the sale-proceeds of Konde and other estates in South Canara, but these were not credited till after the close of the year. Under Capitation Tax, etc., there was a decrease of 2,76 which occurred under Thathameda Tax in Burma owing to the general scarcity in Upper Burma and which would have been larger but for the transfer to this head in Burma of 42, the fluctuating collections levied in the Chin and other Hill tracts in lieu of Thathameda and hitherto credited to XI.—Tributes. In Eastern Bengal and Assam there was a slight increase (27) attributed to better conditions and normal expansion. Under Miscellaneous Land Revenue there was an increase of 3,01, the net result of somewhat large fluctuations in the several provinces. In India there was an increase of 38, chiefly due to higher receipts from cattle grazing fees, Tirni collections and royalty on coal and chromite in Baluchistan. In the Central Provinces there were higher receipts on account of quarries in the Balaghat, Bhandara and Nagpur Districts. In Burma the Budget was pitched rather high in view of the introduction of the assessment rates in Shwebo and Katha, but it proved too high to the extent of 5,09 due to poor prices obtained at auction sales of fisheries, to the restriction by the Burma Oil Co. of the output of petroleum, and to the suspension of payment of the second instalment of rent (1,00) due from the Ruby Mines Company. In Eastern Bengal and Assam there was an increase of 2,75 due chiefly to large recoveries on account of survey and settlement charges in Bakarganj, the receipts on this account having been poor in the previous year and to small increases under other minor heads owing to the favourable condition of the year. In Bengal there was a small deficiency due to the postponement of recoveries on account of Survey and Settlement charges in Ranchi. In the United Provinces a deficiency of 86 was caused by lower receipts from Malikana (18) and partition fees (68). In the Punjab the excess occurred partly under Mutation Fees (31) attributed to the plague mortality of the year and to attestation work in connection with the settlement operations in certain districts, and partly under sale-proceeds of Tirni or grazing dues (23) due to the fluctuating nature of the receipts. The North-West Frontier Province showed an increase of 84 due to increased mutation fees owing to the closing of settlement work, to increased recoveries of settlement charges and to increased Tirni collections. In Madras the decrease (43) was caused by the delay in the introduction of the Madras Proprietary Estates Village Service Act in many estates, partly counterbalanced by increased miscellaneous receipts. In Bombay there were special receipts in connection with Government interest in lands acquired for the City Improvement Trust and Port Trust, Bombay, and for Railways.

35. The explanation of the variations in the Portion of Land Revenue due to Irrigation is given in the Public Works portion of this report under the head Irrigation—vide paragraph 258.

37. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget by 59,09 but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 62,33. The variations occurred largely under sale of Bengal opium and 48,900 chests were sold at an average price of R1,350 per chest against 49,200 chests at R1,250 per chest estimated in the Budget and 52,800 chests at R1,391 per chest sold in the previous year. There has been no change in the rate of Bombay Opium Pass fees but 15,512 chests were passed against 15,000 anticipated in the Revised Estimate, 13,292 anticipated in the Budget and 13,792 passed in the previous year. The increase was due to larger exportation of Malwa opium to China in consequence of the restrictions placed upon the exportation of the Bengal drug as well as to easier prices owing to a good crop. The actual receipts thus exceeded the Budget by 13,32, and the actuals of the previous year by 10,32. Under Excise Opium the receipts increased largely in Bengal (1,37) attributed partly to increased consumption of licit opium and partly to increased purchases intended for smuggling into Burma when local sales declined by 1,13 owing to rigorous restrictions on sales. There was an increase also in Eastern Bengal and Assam due to increased consumption in the Assam Valley Districts. In Madras the Bengal opium was issued for the first time in March 1908. On the other hand, the consumption declined somewhat in the Central Provinces and in the United Provinces. Under Miscellaneous there was an increase, chiefly in Bombay, under Fines Compensation and Miscellaneous receipts.

40. The receipts fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 1,53,55 owing to the reduction of the duty by a third with effect from 20th March 1907; the consequent increase in the consumption was, however, underestimated in the Budget which was left behind by 7,35. Under Sale of Government Salt the stimulus to consumption was specially marked, the actuals of the previous year having been attained, in spite of the reduction of duty in India and in Bombay, while in Madras they were exceeded owing to a large demand for salt for fish-curing due to large catches of fish in South Canara and Malabar. Under Excise Duty on Local Manufacture there was an increase over the Budget in India (6,02), chiefly Sambhar (2,84), Mines (2,50) and Pachbudra (56). In Madras there was also a small increase of 96 which would have been larger but for the decline of cash sales towards the closing months as a result of the low price of Government paper. In Burma the Budget was not fully realized owing to unseasonable rains in some districts and to scarcity of fuel. Under Duty on Imported Salt there was large deficiency (3,03) as compared with the Budget, chiefly in Bengal (3,76) attributed to smaller consumption following the prevalence of famine in Upper India and the untimely failure of the monsoons in Bengal. In Burma there was an increase in the consumption of imported salt to make up for the deficiency in local manufactures. Under Miscellaneous the Budget was exceeded by 1,35, in Bombay (90) due chiefly to larger recoveries of bagging and sewing charges owing to up-country traders having made a greater use of the bags supplied by Government contractors at an uniform rate, in India (9) due to an increased sale under the Through Traffic System, in Bengal (15) due to the adjustment for the first time of certain receipts such as Salt Peons' Fees, hitherto credited to VII.—Customs, and in Madras (19) in receipts of a miscellaneous character underestimated in the Budget.

* Rate of duty reduced in all provinces, except Burma, from 18th March 1903 (vide Finance and Commerce Department Notification No. 1540-S. R., dated 18th March 1903); and two further reductions in the rate were made—one from 22nd March 1905 and the other from 20th March 1907.

all the heads, but chiefly under the head Court-fee Stamps. As compared with the Budget Estimate the actuals showed a growth greater than anticipated chiefly under Commercial and other Stamps and occurred in all the provinces except in Burma and in Bombay but very largely in Bengal attributed partly to the floating of a large number of limited companies.

42. Under Court-fee Stamps there were improvements over the Budget chiefly in the Central Provinces (1,26) ascribed to increase in litigation following the failure of cotton crops, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,50) and the United Provinces (2,37) to increase in litigation with the settlement operations as contributory causes, in the Punjab (1,25) to increased litigation consequent on the expiry of the extended period of limitation in the case of money claims in which proceedings had been deferred when the Loans Limitation Act was introduced, and in Madras (91) to increase in litigation. These improvements were to a great extent set off by defects in Burma (3,40) where the progressive growth anticipated in the Budget was checked by the scarcity in Upper Burma, and in Bengal 3,22 ascribed to the prevailing scarcity and high price of food grains. Under Commercial and other Stamps the Budget Estimates were left behind to the extent of 10,44, more or less, in all the provinces excepting Burma where the defect was small and in Bombay 99 due to a decline in Insurance business and in transactions involving sales and purchases of immoveable properties. The chief improvements occurred in the Central Provinces (84) ascribed to the failure of cotton crops, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (2,36) principally under " sale of impressed stamps " in the Dacca and Chittagong divisions and attributed to the execution of a large number of Kabuliats in view of the settlement operations in Faridpur and to the high prices of food grains and increased value of land having stimulated transfer deeds ; in Bengal (5,64) due to the floating of several limited companies and to the increase in transfer deeds consequent on the failure of harvests and high prices of food grains ; in the United Provinces, (1,95) due to increased transfers consequent on the bad seasons ; in the North-West Frontier Province (25) due to greater precautions taken by people in their lending transactions and in Madras (41) attributed to increase in monetary transactions. Under Fines and Penalties and Miscellaneous there was an improvement of 2,33 chiefly in India (42) under Vakils stamps due to the enrolment of a large number of district court pleaders as vakils of the High Court in consequence of the latter being permitted to wear distinctive gowns, in Bengal 1,46 due to the realization of 1,19 representing the duty on the Port Trust Debentures floated in the years 1900, 1903, and 1905-7 in a consolidated form and to increased duty for embossing stamps on Receipts and Cheque forms, in the United Provinces (14) due to increased fines and penalties, and in Bombay (35) chiefly under skeleton forms of Receipts and Cheques.

43. The actual receipts, as usual, considerably exceeded those of the previous year, but the Budget Estimates under each minor head were very closely realized on the whole, though there were some differences as between the Provinces. Under License and distillery fees, etc., the Budget was exceeded in India (1,00), in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,47), in Bengal (1,82), in Madras (18,02) and in Bombay (8,12); these excesses were counterbalanced by defects in the Central Provinces (14,69), in Burma (87), in the United Provinces (12,82), and in the Punjab (1,09). In India the excess occurred largely under country spirits. In Eastern Bengal and Assam the favourable results of distillery and opium shops for 1908-09 helped to swell the receipts and higher advance fees were realised. In Bengal there were increases both in license fees and in duty, the former due to settlement of shops at enhanced rates consequent on a keen competition and the latter chiefly under country spirits due to increased consumption and to enhancement of the rates of duty in contract areas. In Madras the improvement occurred mainly under Country Spirits (11,00), under Toddy Revenue (4,00) and under Foreign liquors and liquors and spirits made in India after European methods (3,00) and is attributed partly to the increase in the rate of duty levied in certain districts and partly to increased consumption due to favourable harvests. In Bombay the improvement was due to the enhancement of still-head duty in several districts, to increased consumption and to advance recoveries of part of Licensee's fees for 1908-09 consequent on the introduction from 1st April 1908 of the Separate Shop and Auction Vend System in 12 districts in place of the Minimum Guarantee System; there was also an increase in Toddy Shop License fees due to keener competition. In the Central Provinces the large decrease was due to the cessation of the system of taking advance collections from contractors and to the scarcity during the latter half of the year. In Burma the decline occurred both under Country Spirits and under Toddy. In the United Provinces the decline was caused chiefly by the prevalence of famine and distress necessitating in some cases suspensions of demands. In the Punjab there was a decrease in the outturn of the Sujanpur Distillery, while certain payments due in March were not paid till the following April. Under Opium there were improvements over the Budget chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (20) owing to larger consumption in the Assam Valley Districts, in Bengal (1,47) attributed to increased consumption of licit opium and to increased smuggling to Burma, in the Punjab (75) due to increased demand for Malwa Opium, in the North-West Frontier Province (23) due to the import of a considerable quantity of Afghan Opium, and in Madras (64) and in Bombay (22) due to larger consumption consequent on the cheapness of the drug during the greater part of the year. These improvements were, however, fully swallowed up by decreases in Burma (3,46) due to restriction of sales and to the late introduction of system of importation by Government of Shan Opium free of duty. Under Duty on Ganja, there were improvements over the Budget, in Bombay (58) attributed to larger exports to foreign countries, and in Eastern Bengal and Assam (23) due to increased consumption following the lowering of retail prices in some districts. These improvements were, however, nearly set off by deficiencies in the Central Provinces (18) due to adverse agricultural conditions and in Bengal (54) due to less export beyond the Province. Under Other Receipts an increase chiefly in the Central Provinces, due to the collection of cost price of Government liquor in the Mandla Division and to increased fines and penalties, was nearly set off by a decrease chiefly in Burma.

44. The total receipts under this head exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 7,81 chiefly in the growth of District and Local Rates and Cesses in Lower Burma, Bengal and Madras. The Budget Estimate was also exceeded by 20, an improvement under the head District and Local Rates and Cesses having been nearly set off by deficiencies under Village Service, etc., Cesses, chiefly in Madras and under Rate on Wards Estates in the United Provinces. Under District and Local Rates and Cesses, the Budget was exceeded chiefly in Burma (1,34), as the receipts represent 10 per cent. of the collections in Lower Burma only where there were good crops, in Bengal (1,09) attributed to ordinary fluctuations, in Madras (1,53) attributed to prompt collections of the current and arrear cesses, and in Bombay (1,14) owing to advance collections in some districts in March 1908; these improvements were partly set off by deficiencies chiefly in the Central Provinces (65), due to failure of crops, in the United Provinces (71) due to suspensions of revenue and in the Punjab (95) due to failure of the Kharif harvest. Under Village Service, Patwari and Chowkidari, Cesses, the Budget Estimates were not realised in the United Provinces due to famine, and in Madras owing to the introduction of the Proprietary Estates Village Service Act in a smaller number of estates than was contemplated in the Budget. The actuals under this head in the Punjab represented arrears of Patwari cess levied during the year. Under Rate on Wards Estates, the actuals fell short of the Budget chiefly on account of the unfavourable condition in the United Provinces.

45. The total receipts exceeded the Budget by 61,34 and the actuals of the previous year by 97,92 The Budget, as usual, provided for a growth over the previous year but the actual results proved considerably better chiefly under imports of cotton goods, petroleum, silver and other metals, etc., and under Excise duty on Cotton Manufactures, partly counterbalanced by a decrease under Sea-customs—Exports due to the unsatisfactory condition of the Indian rice trade.

46. Under Sea Customs—Import Duties, the Budget was largely exceeded in all the provinces concerned. In Burma the increase was the result of larger importations of goods under all heads, but chiefly under "Liquors," "Food and Drink," "Sugar," "Metals" and "Manufactured Articles." In Eastern Bengal and Assam the development of the Chittagong Port was faster than was anticipated. In Bengal the principal increase occurred under "Cotton Manufactures" (13,97), due partly to the market values of cotton piece goods imported during the year being the highest on record and partly to overtrading in the early part of the year succeeded by a slump; under "Petroleum" (3,91), due to Russia having renewed her importations as also to larger importations from the United States; under "Silver" (2,32), due to larger importation owing to an unforeseen fall in the price of the metal; under "Spirits and Liquors" (1,87), due to enhanced rate of duty and increased imports, and under Manufactured Articles (5,31), other Metals (4,67), Arms and Ammunitions (75) and Chemicals and Drugs (1,12), due to increased importations. In Madras the increase (4,80) occurred under spirits and liquor, cotton piece goods, metals and kerosine oil. In Bombay the increase (20,76) was due chiefly to large importations of "Silver Bullion and Coin" owing to low prices, "Petroleum," "Articles of Food and Drink", "Other Metals and Manufactures of Metals," "Manufactured Articles" and "Raw Materials, etc.," partly counterbalanced by decreases under "Spirits and Liquors" and "Sugar." Under Sea Customs—Export Duties there was a falling off of 15,17 as compared with the Budget Estimate. In Burma there was a shortage of 8,30 due to the scarcity in India which led to larger exports of rice thither, instead of to foreign ports; the bulk of the cheap Saigon rice found its way to Europe and the Far East partly displacing Burma rice. There were no exports of rice from Eastern Bengal and Assam as merchants preferred to keep their stock for sale in the country. In Bengal there was a heavy falling off in the exports due to untimely failure of the monsoons in Bengal and to the prevalence of famine in Upper India. Increased exports of Madras rice to Ceylon and Mauritius on account of the continued deficiency of Bengal and Assam rice caused an excess in Madras. Shortage of crops led to a decline in Bombay. Under Excise duty on Cotton Manufactures there was a greater demand for country-made cloths almost everywhere, but the increase was most marked in Bombay, where the production of woven goods was unprecedentedly large. Under Land Customs and Miscellaneous, there was a decrease (11) in Burma due to the transfer of warehousing business to the Rangoon Port Trust, but there were considerable improvements in Madras (31) due to larger imports of betelnuts and crackers and to larger exports of rice to Ceylon, and in Bombay (1,38) due to large imports of electrical appliances for the Cauvery Electric Power Works in the Mysore State, to large imports of cocoanuts, betelnuts and salted fish from Goa and to larger exports of rice to Goa from the Ghat districts.

47. The total receipts exceeded the Budget by 10,69 and the actuals of the previous year by 12,05. The excess over the actuals of the previous year represented the usual growth of revenue due to the expansion of trade, etc., to revisions of establishment and to more careful assessment, etc. The Budget estimate did not fully provide for this growth. In India the increase occurred chiefly in the salaries etc., paid in the Military and Public Works Departments; in Burma it was caused by normal growth an collection of arrears; in Eastern Bengal and Assam by the expansion of trade and by the careful revision of assessments and revision of establishments leading to the employment of a larger number of officers; in Bengal by more careful enquiry and assessment, by the rapid growth of trade and increased commercial prosperity, by the opening of new Coal Mines in Burdwan and by the flourishing state of the Coal and Mica industries and of the trade in Lac in the Chota Nagpur Division; in the United Provinces by large profits on sales of grain; in Madras by early assessment and prompt collections; in Bombay the Budget proved an underestimate under surplus profits of Railway Companies (10) due to improved traffic earnings, under Salaries and Pensions (1,01) due to enhanced salaries and to an increase in the number of employes owing to an improvement in trade, under Interest on Securities (52) due to large investments in public securities, under Profits of Companies (98) owing to the Budget having been framed on the reduced profits of the Mill Industry in the year 1906 and under Tax on other Sources of Income (3,12) due to a general expansion of trade and to a more careful and searching assessment. Partly counterbalancing these increases there were decreases in the Central Provinces due to overestimate and in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Provinces.

48. The India figures include, in addition to the collections made in the districts directly administered by the Government of India, the recoveries by the Non-Civil Departments from the salaries of Government Officers. The details are given below:—

49. The Indian expenditure fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 5,20 and of the Budget Estimate by 23,56. The deficiency was most prominent in Burma under all the heads due chiefly to bad prices and to a bad floating season. Deficiencies also occurred in India, the Central Provinces, the United Provinces and the Punjab, but Madras and Bombay showed improvements. The variations are referred to in detail below:—

50. Under Timber and other Produce removed by Government Agency,—there were considerable decreases in most of the Provinces. In India the actuals fell short of the Budget by 3,25, wholly in the Andamans, caused chiefly by a very low demand for Padouk timber due to the expiry of the American contract in September 1907 and by less receipts from grass and other minor produces. In the Central Provinces the decrease (54) was due to a failure of lac crop in Raipur, to deterioration by rain of grass stacked in Chanda, to less sales of scantlings and sleepers in Mandla and to want of suitable timber for colliery pit props. In Burma a large decrease of 10,08 was due to less extraction in the Thayetmyo and Henzada division, to a bad floating season, to a falling off in prices in some Divisions of the Pegu Circle, to failure on the part of contractors to deliver the full number of sleepers contracted for with the Burma Railway Company in the Pyinmana Division, to less revenue on Padouk timber in the Ruby Mines Division, to non-disposal of dry teak in the Minbu Division, and to a fall in the price of refuse teak in the Southern Circle. In Eastern Bengal and Assam the Budget Estimate was not realised to the extent of 87 partly owing to smaller receipts in the Goalpara and Jalpaiguri Divisions and partly owing to the price of departmentally tapped rubber in the Charduar and Kulsi Plantations not having been credited during the year. In the Punjab there was a shortage of 1,39, due partly to the departmental timber and fuel sales having been abandoned, sales of standing trees having been substituted for them, and partly to the shortage of Railway wagons having prevented the sale of the full stock of fuel available. In Bombay there was a deficiency of 2,10 which occurred principally in the Southern Circle and was due partly to the failure of contractors to bring to the depots the estimated quantity of timber and in time, to admit of the whole being disposed of within the year, and partly to the non-realization of outstandings from the Railway Company. These deficiencies were to some extent covered by improvements in the United Provinces (55), chiefly in the Western Circle, mainly due to increased sales of sleepers, firewood, turpentine, etc., and in Madras (1,13) due to larger extraction and supply of fuel from the Lower Godavari Division, to better sales in Guntur of fuel from the East Kurnool Division and to larger realizations from sale depots in several Districts of the Central Circle.

51. Under Timber and other Produce removed by consumers or Purchasers the actuals showed an advance over those of the previous year but the Budget was not realized to the extent of 2,39. The deficiencies occurred in Burma (7,52), in the United Provinces (3,21) and in the Central Provinces (2,53) and were largely set off by improvements in the other Provinces. In Burma 6,02 of the decrease occurred in the Northern Circle where owing to a bad floating season the lessees did not extract as much timber as was anticipated. The balance 1,50 occurred in the Pegu and Tennasserim circles and was due to less extraction of forest produce of all descriptions by purchase contractors. In the United Provinces the decrease was caused by a depression in the Deodar market, by the restriction of dry timber operations and by the prevalence of famine conditions, to a small extent set off by better sales of firewood and fodder. In the Central Provinces the remission of grazing, etc., dues, the opening of Government Forests for free extraction of firewood and grass owing to scarcity, less realizations from coupes in Balaghat, Nagpur and Wardha Divisions owing to scarcity, less sale of timber in Berar and lac and hurra in Raipur led to the decrease. On the other hand, there were improvements over the Budget, in India (21) chiefly on account of firewood and charcoal in Ajmer, cardamum in Coorg and timber in the unreserved forests in the Andamans; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (81) due to better receipts from sale of standing trees under permits in most of the Divisions specially in Jalpaiguri where the departmental sleeper operations were abandoned in favour of monopoly sale of standing trees; in Bengal (21) due to a slight underestimate; in the Punjab (57) due chiefly to realizations of arrear grazing dues in the Lahore Division and to sales of standing trees in the Multan Montgomery Divisions at favourable prices; in the North-West Frontier Province (43) due chiefly to sale of standing deodar and blue pine trees in Kagan, sanctioned in June 1907; in Madras (3,49) under timber (51) due to an increase in the number of fallen trees and trees on Darkhast lands removed by contractors, under firewood and charcoal (86) due to better prices realized in certain districts, under bamboos (31) due to larger demand for buildings and sugarcane gardens and to the leasing of bamboo coupes and under Other Minor Produce (1,63 due to better prices; and in Bombay (5,15) due to better prices obtained for coupes and teak trees on private lands, to greater demand for bamboos, to increased grazing and fodder grass receipts and to improved prices of Herda and Shikekai and other minor produce.

52. Other Receipts are more or less of a fluctuating nature and proved less than the Budget Estimate by 79. The largest decrease (1,76) occurred in Burma under drift and foreign timber (1,76) due to poor receipts in many divisions owing to deficient rainfall in the latter part of the floating season. The United Provinces also showed a deficiency of 24 due to smaller receipts from fines and forfeitures. On the other hand, there were increases over the Budget Estimate chiefly in India (14) due to special receipts in Coorg and the Andamans, in the Punjab (39) due partly to improved arrangements for collecting drift timber and partly to fines inflicted on purchasers of standing trees, in Madras (32) due to collections of arrear rents and of compounding fees and fines and in Bombay (41) due to higher compensation accepted from contractors, to greater number of forest offences disposed of and to heavier fines imposed in certain cases. Under the new head Khedda Receipts in Burma transferred from XXV.—Miscellaneous, the actuals fell short of the Budget by 84 owing partly to the prevalence of anthrax and partly to the operations of the department having been on a smaller scale than was anticipated.

53. The receipts exceeded the Budget by 3,64 and the actuals of the previous year by 5,34 chiefly under Fees for Registering Documents (3,11), as usual, due to a progressive growth not sufficiently allowed for in the Estimates. Under this head there were improvements over the Budget chiefly in the Central Provinces (27) and in the United Provinces (60) attributed to the execution of bonds for debts, etc., owing to the failure of crops; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (74) due to the growing popularity of Registration Law, to high prices of food grains and to the opening of new Registration offices, in Bengal (1,42) due to a brisk trade in Calcutta and to high prices of food grains, and in Madras (49) attributed partly to the failure of Messrs. Arbuthnot & Co. These improvements were partly counterbalanced by decreases in Burma (30) due partly to the contraction of the business of the chetties in 1907, and in the Punjab (19) due to the violence of the plague epidemic in the beginning of the year. Under Fees for copies of Registered Documents there were small increases in Bengal and Madras partly counterbalanced by a decrease in the Central Provinces. Under Other Receipts the Madras Budget was pitched too low.

54. The receipts under this head are for the most part fixed. The variations that occur arise generally either from non-payment of dues or from advance or arrear collections. The total receipts fell short of the Budget by 2,10 and the actuals of the previous year by 2,47. Under Tributes and Contributions of R50,000 and over, Nandgaon had paid the 1st instalment (35) for 1907-8 in 1906-7. Khairgarh did not pay one instalment (35) during the year; the full amount of subsidy has not been received from Kutch, pending final orders on the question of the recovery, (1,05) on account of the Native Infantry stationed at Bhuj; on the other hand, there were recoveries of arrears from Shan States and Baroda.

Section A.—PRINCIPAL HEADS OF REVENUE—concluded.

XI.—Tributes from Native States—concluded.

Under Contributions for Special Military forces the full amount was not recovered from Jowrah, but there were some arrear collections from native states in the south Mahratta country. Under Tributes and Contributions under R50,000 the full amount recoverable from the Dewas in India was not recovered. In Burma there was a decrease due mainly to the fluctuating collections levied from the Native chiefs in the Chin Hills, the Pakokku Hill Tracts and the Hill Tracts of the Upper Chindwin Districts having been credited to the head 1.—Land Revenue. In Bengal the tributes for the second half year due from Patna (4) and Gangpur (1) were not recovered. In Bombay certain dues were not paid during the year.

55. The total charges in this section fell short of the Budget Estimate by £318,1 or R47,72, and of the actuals of the previous year by £97,1 or R14,57. As compared with the Budget Estimate the largest saving occurred under Opium (£135,4 or R20,31) chiefly in the payments to cultivators owing to a diminished outturn of crops. Other savings occurred under Forest (£90,6 or R13,59) due to unfavourable seasons in Burma, to the substitution of sales of standing trees in place of departmental cutting in the Punjab, and to the non-payment of certain dues to the Maharaja of Tehri in the United Provinces; under Stamps (£52,1 or R7,81) due to the adjustment of the cost of stamps issued to the Post Office Department against that Department; under Land Revenue (£44,8 or R6,72) chiefly in the charges of the Survey and Settlement and Land Records and Agricultural Departments; under Excise (£19,3 or R2,89) chiefly in Burma; under Salt (£7,2 or 1,08) and under Customs (£1,0 or R15). These savings were partly counterbalanced by excesses under Refunds (£23,7 or R3,55) chiefly Customs Drawbacks, under Assignments (£3,2 or R48), under Registration (£4,6 or R69), under Provincial Rates (£5 or R7) and under Assessed Taxes (£3 or R4).

56. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, there was a large decrease under Opium (£243,9 or R36,59) as the outturn of crops had been much better in the previous year. There were also decreases under Stamps (£47,2 or R7,08) due to the adjustment of the cost of stamps issued to the Post Office Department as already mentioned, under Assignments (£2,7 or R41) and under Salt (£1,0 or R15). On the other hand, there were increases due to the progressive development of the administrative machinery under most of the other heads chiefly Land Revenue (£122,0 or R18,30), Excise (£21,0 or R3,15), Forest (£31,4 or R4,71), and Registration (£14,3 or R2,15).

57. The total charges exceeded the Budget by 2,56 and the actuals of the previous year by 22. As compared with the previous year a decrease under Customs Drawbacks, chiefly in Bengal and Bombay was nearly set off by increases under Land Revenue and other Revenue Refunds. Compared with the Budget the excess occurred chiefly in Customs Drawbacks. The excess occurred in Bengal (39), due mainly to increased refunds of differential duty on arms owing to the sale of arms by firms exceeding what was anticipated in the Budget and to increased refunds of duty on kerosine oil, due to a change in the procedure by which provisional duty was at once credited as revenue instead of being kept in deposit; in Madras (43) due to large refunds of duty collected on account of rice and paddy at Cocanada, on account of arms and manufactured articles at Madras and on account of petroleum at Cochin and Madras; and in Bombay (99) partly in consequence of the growth of revenue from seaborne trade and partly on account of re-exportation of goods to foreign ports, specially Jewellery, Til Seed, Tea, Tin Blocks, Copper Sheets and Silver Bullion. The actuals of the previous year under this head in Bengal and Bombay included heavy refunds on account of silver purchased by the Government of India.

58. Land Revenue Refunds exceeded the Budget by 82 chiefly in Burma (12), due to special refunds in the Pakokku, Thayetmyo and Prome Districts, in Bengal (17) due to the adjustment under this head of a write back of 15 credited as Land Revenue in 1906-07 on account of Government land required for the Public Works Department, in the Punjab (29) due to heavy refunds in the Lyallpur and Jhang districts and in Bombay (65) on account of Tagai instalments credited to Land Revenue in 1906-07 and since transferred. These excesses were partly counterbalanced by small savings in the United Provinces (11) and in Madras (24). Salt Refunds showed savings in India (7) due to overestimate and in Bengal (35) and Bombay (17) due to smaller Refunds owing to the reduction in the import duty on salt; but there was an excess of 19 in Madras on account of advance collections at the higher rate of duty in March 1907. Stamps and Assessed Taxes Refunds exceeded the Budget by 23 and 7 respectively, on the whole, the results of small variations in the several provinces due to the fluctuating nature of the charges. Other Revenue Refunds exceeded the Budget by 1,00 chiefly in Burma (39) due to special refunds of forest revenues and to remission of tributes, in Bengal (21) due to special excise refund on account of advance fees of country spirit shops, in Madras (17) due chiefly to correction in the closing months of the year of an erroneous credit of about 14 to VI—Provincial Rates in the accounts of the previous year, instead of to I—Land Revenue, and in Bombay (21) attributable to small increases under Forest, Registration and Provincial Rates Refunds.

59. The total charges exceeded the Budget by 48 but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 42. Under Land Revenue Compensations there were excesses in the United Provinces (9) due to larger payments on account of pensions in lieu of resumed lands and to excluded proprietors; in Madras (68) due to drawal of arrears of Malikana Pensions chiefly by the 1st Raja of Calicut and of pensions in lieu of resumed lands, and in Bombay (56) chiefly under Assessment of Alienated Lands due to revision surveys in certain districts. These excesses were partly set off by savings chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (65) owing to smaller Malikana payment and to the compensation of 50 due to the Bhutan Durbar not having been claimed during the year. Salt Compensations exceeded the Budget in India by 82 due to the increased royalty (58) paid to the Jodhpur and Jaipur States under the Sambhar Lake Treaty, corresponding to the increased sales of the preceding year at Sambhar, and to the payment of arrears of compensation to the Bhawalpur (20) and Datia (5) States. The excess was counterbalanced by a saving of 39 in Madras, due to the lapse of the provision of 38 for the payment of compensation to the Puddukottai State for the suppression of Earth Salt Manufacture. Excise Compensations fell short of the Budget by 19 chiefly owing to non-preferment of claims by certain Native States in Bombay. Under Miscellaneous Compensations there was a saving of 29 in India due to the non-payment of quit rent to His Highness the Khan of Khelat (25), and of the amount of compensation (2) due to the ruling family of Khetran. There were petty savings also in most of the other provinces except in the Punjab, where the Budget did not provide for an expenditure of 8 for the prevention of Cho torrents.

* Excess over reduced grant.

60. The total Indian charges showed a saving of 6,78 on the Budget but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 18,24. The savings on the Budget occurred chiefly in Bengal in the Behar Survey and Settlement Operations, in Madras due to delay in the introduction of the revised scale of village establishments in several proprietary estates, and in the Punjab and Bombay in the Land Records and Agriculture charges. The increase over the actuals of the previous year occurred in almost all the provinces and were caused by the progressive development of administrative machinery and operations, chiefly extensive traverse and settlement operations in Eastern Bengal and Assam and revision of scale of village establishments in Madras. Charges of District Administration exceeded the Budget by 1,83. The excesses occurred chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,21) due to underestimate and to the grant of grain compensation; in the United Provinces (1,47) due mainly to higher expenditure in additional officers establishments, etc., in consequence of famine; in the Punjab (45), partly under general establishment (16) due chiefly to the transfer of establishment and contingent charges of the Colonisation Officer, Lyallpur, from the head Survey and Settlement, to the control of the Deputy Commissioner under this head and partly under sub-divisional establishment (28) in salaries due chiefly to leave arrangements; and in Madras (63) under sub-divisional establishment due to the entertainment of temporary establishments in connection with re-surveys and revision of surveys of certain districts, and under general establishment on account of charges incurred in connection with the settlement of the boundary lines between Jeypore and Kalahandi estates, for which no provision was made either in the Budget or the Revised Estimates. These excesses were partly set off by savings chiefly in Burma (50), due to vacancies, leave arrangements, etc., in Bengal (1,22) due to the lump provision of 1,40 for increase of pay of ministerial establishments not having been fully utilized and in Bombay (32) in the provisions for survey of Talukdari villages and for payments to officers of other Provinces. Survey and Settlement charges showed a saving of 2,18 chiefly in Bengal (3,59) due to smaller expenditure on survey and settlement operations in Behar. Savings also occurred in India (17) due chiefly to the non-utilisation of the full grant for the settlement operations in Ajmer-Merwara, in the Central Provinces (17) due to the delay in the commencement of settlement operations in the Damoh District, in the North-West Frontier Province (11) following the contraction of settlement operations in the Hazara district, in Madras (20) under Revenue settlement parties, and in Bombay (21) due to smaller expenditure from the grants for Jamrao Colonization charges. On the other hand, there were excesses in Burma (18) due chiefly to larger expenditure on Demarcation Surveys and Revenue Surveys by Local Agencies; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,68) on account of extensive traverse and settlement work at Backerganj, Faridpur, etc.; in the United Provinces (16) under temporary establishment and in the Punjab (15), due to larger expenditure on Chenab Canal Rectangular survey which absorbed the saving due to the transfer of the charges of the Colonisation Officer, Lyallpur, to the head Charges of Districts Administration.

61. Under Land Records and Agriculture there was a saving of 4,24 chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (85), where a special provision of 1,00 for the maintenance of records in Chittagong was not utilised, in the Punjab (1,47) due partly to savings in the Patwari establishment charges and partly to the transfer of printing charges of Patwari forms to the head 30—Stationery and Printing, in the North-West Frontier Province (17) in Patwari charges, in Madras (93) due to delay in the introduction of the revised scale of village establishments in several proprietary estates and in Bombay (1,45) chiefly in district charges in Sind and in the provision for allowances to village servants useful to Government, the latter being presumably due to payments being largely in arrears. These savings were partially set off by excesses in the Central Provinces (23) due chiefly to the grants of grain compensation allowance and compensation to Patwaries for the abolition of the Patwari cess, in Burma (22) due to overestimate of probable savings and in Bengal (35) due to smaller recoveries on account of the share of the cost of the office of the Director of Land Records chargeable to Behar and other Imperial settlement operations (10) and to larger expenditure on the maintenance of record of rights in Orissa (26). Under Management of Government Estates there were excesses in the Central Provinces (13) due to improvement of tanks and estates in the Damoh, Hoshangabad and Nimar districts, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (51) due to underestimate chiefly under colonization of the Sunderbans, and in Bengal (80) due to an unadjusted balance of 23 under Road and Public Works cess payable by Government as holders, to payment of grain allowance (15) and to increased outlay on improvements (12), temporary establishments and contingencies. Under Commission on Collections savings in Burma (55) and in the Central Provinces (15) due to less realization of land revenue were nearly set off by excesses in India (7) due to payments of arrears and in Eastern Bengal and Assam (47) due to larger realization of arrear revenue in Assam. Under Allowances to District and Village Officers there were savings (2,13) almost entirely in Madras, due to delay in the introduction of the revised scale of village establishments in several proprietary estates Under Other Charges there were savings in the United Provinces in the grant for purchase money of estates and in Madras due to the completion of enfranchisement operations in certain districts and to the delay in starting work in other districts. In Madras the lump provision of 1,00 was meant for the constitution of other districts but was not utilised.

62. In England the cost of certain appeal cases were higher than was allowed for in the estimates.

63. The expenditure in India fell short of the Budget by 20,30 and of the actuals of the previous year by 36,58. Payments to Cultivators constitute the bulk of the charges and vary with the outturn of crops. These amounted to 21,436 maunds in the Behar Agency and 71,746 maunds in the Benares Agency against 32,375 and 69,000 estimated in the Budget and against 26,645 and 80,667 the outturns in the previous year. Under Superintendence there was an excess over the Budget in the Benares Agency due to the payment of privilege leave allowances. Under Opium Factory a decrease (80) in the Behar Agency under timber (65) and freight was partly set off by an increase (39) in the Benares Agency chiefly under freight (66) partly set off by savings in manufacturing charges (33). Districts Staff charges showed considerable savings in salaries (43) due to vacancies, etc., in establishment (39), in supplies and services (15) and in contingencies (4). The excess of 1 (Imperial) in India, and out of the excess of 3 (Imperial) in Bombay 2 has been sanctioned and 1 awaits sanction.

*Excess over reduced grant.

64. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 113 on the Budget Estimate due chiefly to the over-estimate of purchase and freight charges in Madras. The actuals of the previous year were closely followed on the whole.

65. Under Salaries, Establishment and Contingencies there was a saving of 24 in India chiefly under salaries (5), Preventive Establishment (12) and petty construction and repairs (6). On the other hand, there were excesses in Bengal due to the adjustment for the first time of charandar's fees (17) for which there was no provision in the Budget and in Bombay (10) due to payments of grain compensation allowance and to increased bagging and sewing charges. Under Manufacture and Excavation there was a saving of 22 in India chiefly in the Pachbadra Division under manufacture of salt, partly counterbalanced by higher excavation charges in the Cis-Indus and Kalabagh Mines Division. Under Purchase and Freight a saving of 1,29 in Madras due to overestimate was partly counterbalanced by an excess of 30 in Bombay in the Presidency Salt Department, owing to unusually large sales of Baragora salt and partly to the opening of new pans in the Pritchard Salt Works, in order to bring up the reserve to two years' supply.

66. In England the demand for stores was unusually high in the previous year.

67. The Indian charges fell short of the Budget Estimate by 8,47 and of the actuals of the previous year by 8,13, mainly the result of the deduction of 8,73 on account of the cost of postage stamps issued for postal purposes and of unified stamps issued for both postal and revenue purposes, including freight and incidental charges debited to the Postal Department by deduction from this head in accordance with Finance Department No. 2785-A., dated 12th May 1908.

68. Under Charges on Sale of Stamps including discount the Budget was exceeded by 35 chiefly in Bengal (12) and in Madras (19) due to larger payments of discount on the sale of stamps consequent on larger sales. Under Stamps supplied from Central Stores, the demands were larger than estimated chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (32) and in the United Provinces (25), but on the other hand, there were smaller issues to Bengal (43) and Bombay (12).

69. In England the demand for forms was higher than was estimated.

70. The total charges exceeded those of the previous year by 3,15 but fell short of the Budget Estimate by 2,89. As compared with the Budget the savings occurred in most of the provinces but the largest savings occurred in Burma (1,89) owing to the provision for revision of excise establishment not having been utilized and to smaller outlay on contingencies, secret service money and rewards in opium cases. Savings also occurred in the Central Provinces (12) due chiefly to the non-entertainment of the full staff provided for, in the United Provinces (42) to delay in the appointment of the full complement of the excise staff, in the Punjab (24) partly under establishment due chiefly to the provision of 15 for revision not having been utilized, and partly under rewards (6) and in Bombay (49) due to the delay in giving effect to the revision of the excise establishment in the Presidency and to the introduction of the scheme of combined establishment for the administration of salt and opium revenue in Sind. On the other hand, there was an excess of 28 in India, partly in the charges of the excise laboratory at Kasauli (9) and partly in district executive establishment (15) due to the retention of the appointment of the Commissioner of Excise, Central India, after 30th November 1907, up to which provision was made in the Budget. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the growth of the department necessitated additional cost in most provinces. The excesses of 2 (Imperial) in India, 1 (Imperial) and 2 (Provincial) in Bengal and 12 (Imperial) in Madras have been sanctioned, while the Imperial excesses 26 in India, 1 (over the reduced grant) in the Central Provinces, 3 in Madras and 1 (over reduced grant) in Bombay await sanction.

71. There was an excess of 7 only over the Budget and over the actuals of the previous year. The excesses over the Budget occurred in Burma (7) due to heavier payments of commission on collections on account of a bumper rice crop in Lower Burma, and in Bengal (24) due to the deduction on account of ½ share of recoveries of cost of collection of arrear cesses being considerably less than was estimated, owing to the abolition of the system of prepayments of cess process fees, partly counterbalanced by savings under process serving charges. On the other hand, there were savings in Eastern Bengal and Assam (16) due to partial lapse of a provision for revaluation work at Chittagong, and in Bombay (8) due to over-estimate. The excesses in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal (over reduced grants) and the excess in Burma have been sanctioned.

72. The charges in India exceeded those of the previous year by 89 but fell short of the Budget Estimate by 23. As compared with the Budget the savings occurred chiefly in the charges of the principal ports at Rangoon (10) in the provision for revision, and at Calcutta (34) under preventive establishment and under purchase and repair of preventive service boats. On the other hand, there were increased charges in Bombay (19) due to payment to officers of other provinces, grain compensation allowance to establishment and increased expenditure on overtime allowances to Customs officers in the Presidency and in Sind, partially covered by savings in the provision for revision of establishments.

73. In England the demand for stores was higher than estimated.

74. The charges closely followed the Budget and the actuals of the previous year. The excesses of 1 (Imperial) and 1 (Provincial) in the Central Provinces have been sanctioned, while the Imperial excesses of 1 (over reduced grant) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 1 in Bengal, 1 in Madras and 1 in Bombay together with 1 (Provincial) in Bombay await sanction.

* Excess over reduced grant.

75. The Indian expenditure fell short of the Budget Estimate by 13,51 but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 5,43. The saving compared with the Budget occurred under all the heads due chiefly to the restriction of operations in Burma owing to unfavourable circumstances, to smaller payments made to the Maharaja of Tehri in the United Provinces as his share on account of leased forests, to partial substitution of sales of standing trees for departmental cutting in the Punjab and to a partial lapse of provisions for reorganisation in Bombay. As compared with the actuals of last year there were excesses in the Central Provinces due to purchase of elephants and to larger expenditure on construction and repairs with the subsidiary object of supplying work for the people during scarcity and in Madras due to the extension of the departmental system of exploitation of forest produce; these excesses were partly counterbalanced by savings in the United Provinces due to smaller payments to the Raja of Tehri.

76. Under General Direction there was a saving in the Central Provinces due chiefly to the establishment budgetted for not having been fully entertained by the Chief Conservator. Under Timber and other produce removed from Forests by Government Agency there were large savings corresponding to a diminution in the receipts. In India the savings (53) occurred principally in the Andamans due to smaller export and to less cost of extraction of timber owing to slackness in the demand for Padouk. In Burma the savings amounted to 3,61 and were due to less extraction of timber in most of the divisions, to the non-payment to contractors in the Zigon division before the close of the year, to the non-utilisation of a provision of 1,32 for the mechanical haulage scheme of the Rangoon Timber Depôt, to the curtailment of working of refuse teak on account of a poor market and to the failure of contractors to supply the full number of Pyinkado sleepers in the Pyinmana Division. In Eastern Bengal and Assam departmental sleeper operations were carried out on a smaller scale than anticipated in the Budget, as there was a large balance in the Goalpara Division remaining undisposed of at the end of the previous year. In Bengal there was a continued reduction in departmental works. In the Punjab a saving of 97 was due chiefly to the substitution of sales of standing trees for departmental timber and fuel works, except in Lahore, where the failure of the supply of Railway wagons necessitated a reduction in the amount of fuel placed for sale. In the North-West Frontier Province the Budget Estimate was pitched too high. In Bombay there were savings in the provision for payments of royalty on teak trees on private lands but the Revised was too much an underestimate.

77. Under Timber and other produce removed by consumers, etc., there were savings (1,21) chiefly in the Central Provinces (29), due to less commission and remuneration paid to muccadams, license holders and village officials owing partly to small sales of forest produce and partly to the payment for 9 months only in Berar owing to a change in the year of calculation; in Burma (54) owing partly to less extraction of lessee's timber and consequently less payments to chiefs in the Southern Shan States Division and partly to the non-utilisation of the provision of 27 for the purchase of a launch; and in Bombay (41) due to short extraction chiefly in the northern circle owing to a smaller demand for Railway fuel and sleepers. On the other hand there was a small excess in Bengal due to increased cost of repairs to launches and cost of carriage of drinking water for coolies employed in coupes. Under Other Charges there were savings of (4,88) distributed more or less over all the provinces excepting Eastern Bengal and Assam where there was a larger outlay on communications and buildings and on account of the share of revenue on shared forests, and the Central Provinces which showed an excess of 1,47 owing to the non-realization of the deduction for probable savings on account of famine (82), to the purchase of three elephants for the Chief Conservator of Forests, to the furnishing of rest houses and of the Balaghat school, and to petty forest construction and repairs undertaken under orders of the Local Administration on account of scarcity. The savings occurred in India (37) due to less expenditure chiefly on the feed and keep of cattle and on forest surveys; in Burma (3,09) due to drift timber not having been salved to the extent estimated and to a restricted programme of road and building construction. In Bengal the savings (34) were due to a reduced programme of construction of roads and of divisional officers' quarters and to a decrease in the cost of planting works. In the United Provinces the savings (1,37) were due to smaller payments (1,48) made to the Maharaja of Tehri as his share of revenue from the leased forests, partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure on purchase of cattle. In the North-West Frontier Province the savings were due to smaller payments on seignorage and to curtailment of minor operations. In Madras the savings (75) occurred under live and dead stock (40), under roads and buildings (26) and under demarcation (9). In Bombay the savings (56) occurred under roads and buildings (34), under demarcation (54), partly counterbalanced by increased charges for live stock, etc. Under Establishment there were savings (2,94) chiefly in the Central Provinces (46) due to leave and vacancies; in Burma (1,44) due to the scheme for the reorganisation of the clerical and subordinate establishment not having come into force; in the Punjab (27) due to vacancies owing to paucity of recruits; in Madras (43) and in Bombay (85) due to partial lapse of provisions for reorganisation. These savings were partly set off by excesses chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (10) due to revision of establishment and to payments of grain compensation allowance, in Bengal (17) due to payments of grain compensation allowance and in the United Provinces (16) due to improved time scale pay of subordinate forest officers. Khedda Charges used formerly to be shown under 32.—Miscellaneous; the Revised was an overestimate.

78. In England the demand for stores was not high as anticipated. The demand for stores was especially high in the previous year.

79. The charges exceeded the Budget by 68 and the actuals of the previous year by 2,14, the variations occurring almost entirely under District Charges. Under Superintendence there was an excess of 7 in Eastern Bengal and Assam as the Budget Estimate did not include provisions for the appointment of a Special Officer and of a Second Inspector of Registration offices and for the revision of the office establishment of the Inspector General. Under District Charges the excesses over the Budget occurred chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (52) due to an increase in registration and to the opening of a number of new registration offices, and in Bengal (52) due to a reorganisation of the department, to larger payments of grain compensation allowance (19) and to the payment of rent of offices for sub-registrars sanctioned with retrospective effect from 1st October 1905. These excesses were partly set-off by savings in the Central Provinces (12) due to the non-utilization of 8 on account of improvement of the registration establishment and of 4 on account of petty construction and repairs; in the United Provinces (10) due to the non-introduction during the year of the system of fixed salaries to sub-registrars and in Bombay (18) due to the delay in the introduction of the revised scheme of fixed salaries of sub-registrars and their clerks which took effect from 1st September 1907.

80. The receipts in this section showed an improvement of £11,8 or R1,77 over the Budget, but a decline of £6,0 or R90 as compared with the actuals of the previous year. As compared with the Budget, there was an increase of £71,2 or R10,68 arising out of the investment of cash balances in England, but on the other hand there was a falling off in the Indian receipts to the extent of £59,4 or R8,91 under Interest on Loans to Native States (£15,6 or R2,34) principally in respect of the Kathiawar States in Bombay, under Interest on Loans to Presidency Corporations (£37,2 or R5,58) chiefly because a sum of £39,7 or R5,96 due from the Calcutta Port Trust in 1906-7, but expected to be paid in 1907-08, was actually paid in 1906-7, and under Interest on Loans to Municipalities, etc., (£7,3 or R1,10).

81. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the interest on the investment of cash balances in England was lower by £67,9 or R10,18, but this was nearly counterbalanced by an increase of £61,9 or R9,29 in the Indian receipts chiefly under Interest on Advances to Cultivators, etc., and on Overdrawn Capital of Railway Companies partly set off by a decline under Interest on Loans to Native States, chiefly in Bombay on account of the Kathiawar States.

82. The Indian receipts under this head arise mainly out of the Paper Currency Investment, and loans granted to Municipalities and other public bodies, Native States, and cultivators. No alteration was made in the amount of the first during the year.

84. Interest paid in 1907-08 by Local Governments to the Government of India on account of loans held on Provincial account amounted to R24,99 or £166,6, while the actual sum realized and credited to Provincial Revenues amounted in the aggregate to R25,18 or £167,9.

85. Interest on Loans to Native States showed a fall of 2,34 from the Budget, almost entirely in India (53) and Bombay (1,80). In India a recovery due from the Kotah State (40) in 1907-08 had been paid up in advance in 1906-07, while another recovery for 15 due from the Tonk State was postponed till April 1908. In Bombay the short recovery occurred mainly on account of the Native States in the Kathiawar Agency owing to a bad season.

86. There was a decrease of 5,58 under Interest on Loans to Presidency Corporations, etc., almost wholly in Bengal. A sum of 5,96 due from the Port Commissioners in 1906-07 was budgetted for recovery in arrears in 1907-08, but the recovery was actually effected in 1906-07. On the other hand, there was an increase in Bengal due to realization of penal interest (15) on account of Kidderpore Dock Loans not provided for in the Budget, and in Madras (22) on account of interest on the loan of 11½ lakhs taken during the year by the Madras Port Trust.

87. Under Interest on Loans to Municipal and other Public Corporations, there was a decrease of 1,10 chiefly in Bengal (33) due to overestimate, in the United Provinces (38) due to the partial utilisation of amounts placed at the disposal of the Local Government for loans, and to advance payments in 1906-07 of interest due in 1907-08 by the Nainital and Meerut Municipalities, partly counterbalanced by an advance payment of 7 in 1907-08 of interest due in the following year, and in Madras (65) partly by the adjustment by deduction from expenditure of the interest paid by the Kristna District Board on loans for the construction of the Bezwada-Masulipatam Railway and partly by the fact that District Boards and Municipalities did not take up loans from Government to the extent anticipated. These decreases were to a small extent made up by increases in the Central Provinces (8) due to unanticipated recovery of interest from the Nagpur and Jubbulpore Municipalities, in Burma (4) in Eastern Bengal and Assam (4) and in Bombay (11) due to the recovery of arrears from the Hubli Municipality.

88. Under Interest on Loans to Landholders and Notabilities there was a slight decrease in Bengal owing to the non-realization of interest from the Nawada State.

89. Under Interest on Advances to Cultivators, etc., the fall in the Central Provinces was due to suspension of recoveries on account of scarcity. In Burma the Budget was based on too low an estimate of the outstanding mean balance. In Bengal there were short realizations of interest on advances to cultivators (57) and on Drainage and Embankment advances (25). In the United Provinces the decrease was chiefly on account of short realizations from Bundelkhand Encumbered Estate caused by famine, partly counterbalanced by increased recoveries of interest on advances under the Agricultural Loans Act. The increase in the Punjab was caused by full recovery from defaulters with compound interest in certain cases, and that in Bombay was due to the extension on the Tagai System.

* Includes 59 on account of interest paid by the Kristna District Board on the loan granted by Government for the construction of the Bezwada Masulipatam Railway which has been adjusted by deduction from expenditure head.

Section B.—INTEREST—concluded.

XII.—Interest—concluded.

90. Under Interest on Securities of Provincial Funds the increase occurred chiefly in the United Provinces (9) due to increased receipts on account of securities held on behalf of Colleges and Schools, and in Madras (11) due to increased investment of Government Securities by District Boards out of the Railway cess receipts.

91. Under Interest on Overdrawn Capital of Railway Companies in India the actuals showed excess recoveries from Burma, Bengal-Nagpur and South Behar Railways, partly counterbalanced by short recoveries from Madras, Indian Midland and Southern Mahratta Railways.

92. Under Other Items the decline in Bengal caused by short realization of interest on arrears of Road and Public Works Cess, was almost entirely set off by an increase in Bombay in the interest on arrears of Land revenue and other revenues.

93. In England the increase (£71,2) was mainly due to the amount of cash balance available for investment having been larger and the rate of interest obtained higher than was anticipated in the Budget.

94. The total charges in this section exceeded the Budget by £7,52,5 or R1,12,88, but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by £96,8 or R14,52. A comparison of the Interest on Ordinary Debt with the Budget Estimate is vitiated by the introduction, after the framing of the Budget Estimate, of the revised system of charging interest on Railway and Irrigation works as explained in last year's report. The gross payment on account of interest exceeded the Budget by £114,7 or R17,20. There was an excess of £153,1 or R22,96 in England due to larger additions to Debts, Permanent and Temporary, and at higher rates of interest than contemplated in the Budget and to the absence of provision for discount on the new issues of stock. The excess was partly counterbalanced by a saving of £38,4 or R5,76 in India chiefly on account of unclaimed interest on the $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. loans.

95. As compared with the actuals of the previous year the gross payments of interest were £162,0 or R 24,31 higher, in England (£120,2 or R 18,03) and in India (£41,8 or R6,28) due chiefly to the additions to Debt. The charges under Interest on Ordinary Debt fell short of the previous year by £100,0 or R15,00, while those under Interest on Other Obligations exceeded the previous year by £ 3,2 or R48.

97. A 3½ per cent. Rupee loan of 300 lakhs to be raised in India was announced in the Budget for 1907-08, but in view of improvements expected in the Revenue receipts and also of the stringency prevailing in the money market, a reduced loan of 250 lakhs was raised on the 17th July 1907 at an average rate of R96-13-11·2. Of the loans previously notified for discharge, 56 was paid off consisting of 42 and 8 of the 4 and 3½ per cent. loans respectively, and 6 on account of the Rajputana-Malwa Debenture loan. Out of the 4 per cent. Gwalior Loan of 1887, 1200 was discharged in accordance with the terms of agreement with the Durbar.

98. In England the Budget Estimate provided for a 3 per cent. Sterling loan of £3,500,0, but in view of the tightness of money, the Budget programme was altered and 3½ per cent. India stock was raised at a fixed rate of £98½. A further 3½ per cent. Sterling loan of £5,000,0, not provided for in the Budget, was raised in January 1908, at a fixed rate of £99 in anticipation of the requirements of railway capital expenditure in 1908-09 and for discharging Railway Debentures maturing in that year. Of this £4,132,9 is included in £7,632,9 in the above table. The Secretary of State further incurred the liability for the Debentures (£2,144,8) of the Madras Railway Company on the purchase of the undertaking on 31st December 1907. India Bills for six months for £1,000,0 were issued in October 1907 under the East India Loan (Railway) Act of 1905 to replace the Debentures which were to have been raised by the Bengal-Nagpur and Burma Railway Companies.

100. This total amount was divided between Interest on Ordinary Debt and Interest on Debt for Railways and Irrigation as shown below:—

6,489,1	TOTAL .	7,390,9	6,809,1	6,751,1

101. The total payment of interest in India was less than the Budget by 5,76; but was more than the actuals of the previous years by 6,28, due principally in the former case to unclaimed interest on 3½ per cent. Loans, and in the latter to the addition to the Permanent Debt, partly set off by a saving under Discount on Loans and by the inclusion in the actuals of the previous year of 4,00 on account of interest on temporary advance from the Gold Standard Reserve. Under Discount on Loans and Miscellaneous the savings both as compared with the Budget (15) and the actuals of the previous year (4,09) were due chiefly to the smaller amount of Loan raised during the year. The variation from the Budget of the transfer of Interest to Railway Revenue and Irrigation Accounts was due to the introduction, after the Budget Estimate had been framed, of the new method of distribution as explained in the last year's Report. The actuals however, closely followed the Revised. The Provincial excesses in the Central Provinces, Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, the United Provinces and Bombay have been sanctioned, while the Imperial excess of 2,98,66 in India awaits sanction.

102. In England the excess £(153,1) was due partly to the additions to the Permanent Debt at a higher rate of interest than that provided for in the Budget, and partly to the absence of provision for discount on the issues of £3,500,0 India 3½ per cent. Stock in May 1907 and of £5,000,0 in January 1908.

103. The expenditure under this head exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 48 chiefly owing to the growth of Savings Bank deposits. There was a decrease of 31 on the Budget chiefly under Special Loans which showed a saving of 51 due partly to the interest on the Book Debt Loan on account of Madho Rao 27 having been provided in the Budget both in India and the United Provinces, the payment having been made in the latter province; and partly to the non-payment of certain Wasika Pensions in the United Provinces. Under Treasury Notes and Service Funds, there was an excess of 15, partly in India (10) on account of the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund and partly in Bombay (5) on account of the Bombay Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund and the Forest and the Police Officers Provident Funds. Under interest on Savings Bank deposits the actuals closely follow the Budget, but as usual, show a progressive growth over those of the previous year. Under Miscellaneous the actuals of the previous year in Bombay included certain special items of expenditure.

105. Under Post Office, the net receipts fell short of the Budget Estimate by £54,6 or R8,19, chiefly due to the cost of stamps issued to the Post Office Department having been adjusted in the accounts of that department instead of under Stamps in accordance with the orders of the Government of India, Finance Department, No. 2785-A., dated 12th May 1908. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the net receipts were worse by £96,9 or R14,54 due to the adjustment above mentioned, to reorganisations of establishment and to the grant of grain compensation allowance.

106. The net results of the transactions of the Post Office Department for the last five years are shown by the following figures:—

1903-04	15,59
1904-05	8,43
1905-06	11,34
1906-07	22,23

107. Under Telegraph, the net charges showed a saving of £10,5 or R1,57 on the Budget and a decline of £95,5 or R14,32 compared with the actuals of the previous year. The saving on the Budget was caused by enhanced receipts from rents of railway, canal and private lines, by increased receipts from the Imperial Ottoman Telegraph Administration on account of arrears of traffic balances, and by reduction of programme of construction, partly counterbalanced by additional expenditure under general charges, signalling and line maintenance. Compared with the previous year, there was an increased revenue both under message and rent of lines and a reduced expenditure chiefly in connection with stores and outlay on works.

108. Under Mint the net receipts were better than the Budget by £184,5 or R27,68, and the actuals of the previous year by £26,4 or R3,96. Compared with the Budget, the improvement was derived from a much larger issue of bronze and nickel coins than was anticipated, chiefly to meet famine demands in the United Provinces, and from a larger credit for percentage on new rupee coinage, slightly reduced by increase in temporary establishment and by larger purchase of stores.

109. The receipts under this head showed an advance of 10,93 over the actuals of the previous year due to the expansion of the department chiefly under Sale of Ordinary Postage Stamps and under Money Order Receipts. The Budget Estimates were also left behind by 4,24 chiefly in the Sale of Ordinary Postage Stamps, the loss due to a reduction in the postage rates having proved much smaller than was anticipated in the Budget. Money Order Receipts and Parcel and other Postage collected in Cash also exceeded the Budget by 72 and 14 respectively. On the other hand, the net payment to other Governments on account of Postal Exchange were higher by 1,09. The receipts under Mail Cart, Parcel Van, Passenger and Goods Service were somewhat overestimated. There was a trifling shortage in the sale of Service Postage Stamps.

110. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate by 12,52 and the actuals of the previous year by 25,69. As compared with the previous year the increase was caused by the adjustment of the cost (8,72) of postage and unified stamps issued to the Post Office Department and by the continued increase of charges for Direction, Account Offices, Presidency and District Offices and Conveyance of Mails due to the expansion of the department, partly counterbalanced by the abolition of the Discount on Sale of Stamps. As compared with the Budget the excess was caused by the adjustment of the cost of stamps already mentioned, by the grant of grain compensation allowance and by an under-estimate of Stationery and Printing charges, partly counterbalanced by a saving in Railway charges. Under Chief Office, Calcutta, a saving of 34 under Offices of Account and Audit due chiefly to partial lapses in the provision for additional establishment was reduced by an increase of 19 under Direction due to the grant of increments, house rent allowances and grain compensation allowance and to increased expenditure under travelling allowance and furniture. Under Presidency and District Offices the Budget was exceeded by 4,69 chiefly due to larger expenditure on Salaries (37) owing to an increase in the number of inspectors including the creation of new appointments of inspectors of sorting, on Establishments (1,33) chiefly in the salaries of Postmasters, Clerks, Postmen and village postmen, etc., on Allowances chiefly grain compensation allowance (2,59) and on Contingencies chiefly plague charges and purchase of furniture. Under Conveyance of Mails, Road Establishment and Contingencies an excess expenditure of 1,25 due chiefly to the grant of grain compensation allowance was more than covered by savings under Subsidies for conveyance of mails due partly to over-estimate, and partly to the transfer of about 75 on account of certain subsidies in Burma provided under this head, to the head Subsidies. Railway charges showed savings of 2,45, due to smaller payments to the Assam Bengal, Eastern Bengal, Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Great Indian Peninsula, North Western, Madras and Burma Railways and to smaller charges for special train hire. Under Subsidies the excess was due to the provision for Steam Service in Burma having been made under Road Establishment and Contingencies. Stationery and Printing charges were considerably underestimated. The excess under Miscellaneous was due mainly to the adjustment of 8,72 on account of the cost of postage and unified stamps issued to the Post Office Department in the accounts of that Department in accordance with the orders of the Government of India, Finance Department No. 2785-A, dated 12th May 1908. The excess under District post charges was due to the payment of arrears of pay of certain Postal Levy establishments in Baluchistan. Out of the excess of 12,53 (Imperial) over reduced grant in India 3,60 has been sanctioned and the balance 8,93 (8 civil over reduced grant and 8,85 Departmental) requires to be sanctioned.

111. The decrease in England was in the contribution towards the cost of the Eastern Mail Service partly reduced by an excess in the demand for stores.

112. As compared with the Budget Estimate, there is an improvement of 1,79 due to enhanced receipts from rents of railway, canal and private lines.

113. The rise of 6,99 as compared with the previous year occurred principally under (a) message revenue (4,89), (b) rent of wires and instruments leased to railways and canals (1,40), and (c) rent of local private lines (66). The increase under (a) was due mainly to the increases in inland and foreign private message revenue, as also in State messages. Under (b) and (c) the increase is accounted for by increased wire mileage.

Indo-European Telegraphs.

114. The actuals are better than the Budget Estimate for England by £4,3, mainly due to the receipts from the Imperial Ottoman Telegraph Administration on account of arrears of traffic balances being more than estimated.

115. The receipts in India exceed those of the previous year by 53, due to an increase in the message receipts from the Indian Telegraph Department and in cash collections in the Persian Gulf Section. The increase of £3,7 in England was due to an improvement in the realisations of the Common Purse account and message receipts, viâ Turkey, less larger out-payments on account of messages viâ Teheran.

116. The excess outlay of £33,7 as compared with the Budget Estimate was made up of an increase of £43,2 under Revenue and a lapse of £9,5 under Capital, of which £13,4 occurred in England, being counterbalanced to the extent of £3,9 by larger outlay in India. The short outlay under Capital was mainly due to a smaller programme of railway works having been carried out and to the non-issue of stores ordered late in the year. The excess under Revenue is chiefly accounted for by additional expenditure under (a) general charges, owing to decreased Capital expenditure thereby enhancing establishment charges under Revenue, (b) signalling due to larger signalling and clerical establishments being found necessary to cope with the growing traffic, and (c) line maintenance, due principally to heavier repairs to lines.

117. As compared with the previous year, the total expenditure shewed a lapse of £20,7, and was made up of a decrease of £92,6 under Capital and of an increase of £71,9 under Revenue. The short outlay under Capital was mainly due to purchases of stores in England being much smaller in order to keep down the balance of stores and also to less outlay on works, while the increase under Revenue occurred under general charges, signalling, and line maintenance as explained above, and was also due to heavier charges for printing and stationery.

Indo-European Telegraphs.

118. The lapse of £29,4 as compared with the Budget Estimate was chiefly due, under Capital, to short outlay on the construction of the Central Persia and Teheran Ardistan lines and to the abandonment of the construction of certain buildings in the Persian and Gulf sections, and under Revenue, to less expenditure on line and cable maintenance and smaller message outpayments in England, and to a reduction in the amount paid on account of the Joint Purse Guarantee owing to an increase in Indian traffic. As compared with the previous year, there was a lapse of £21,1 chiefly under Capital, in consequence of heavier expenditure having been incurred on the Central Persia and the Teheran Ardistan lines in the previous year, and to a reduction in the Stores suspense balance.

The excess of 4,46 (Imperial) in India was sanctioned.

119. The receipts under this head were better than the Budget by 29,80. Of this increase, 25,08 occurred under Profit on circulation of Bronze and Nickel Coinage and was due to a much larger issue of bronze and nickel coins than was anticipated in the Budget, chiefly to meet famine demands in the United Provinces. There was also a credit of 96 under Fees for Coining Silver on account of seignorage on dollar coinage for which the Budget contained no provision, and an increase of 2,96 under Other Receipts owing to a larger credit on account of the percentage on value of new rupee coinage charged to the Gold Standard Reserve. The decrease under Gain on Coinage Operations is nominal as the Budget provision under this head included 2,00 for profit on nickel coinage. Allowing for this, there was an increase of 80 due to heavier coinage of rupees.

120. The increase as compared with the previous year was made up of profit on the circulation of nickel anna pieces which commenced to be issued to the public from the 1st August 1907, and larger profit on the issues of bronze pieces, less a decrease in the percentage charged to the Gold Standard Reserve owing to a smaller coinage of rupees than in the previous year.

121. The Indian expenditure under this head exceeded the Budget by 1,89, but closely approximated the actuals of the previous year. Under Establishment the excess over the Budget was due mainly to the entertainment of a large staff of extra hands and higher payment of overtime allowance owing to heavier coinage operations in the earlier months of the year. The variations under Loss on Coinage are accounted for by a smaller coinage from withdrawn and uncurrent silver in Bombay and by a larger coinage in Calcutta. The excess under Other Charges was due to increased expenditure on the purchase of coal, coke, oil, etc., partly on account of larger purchases in view of heavier coinage and partly on account of an increase in the price of these articles. Out of the Imperial excess 2,82 in India, 1,11 was sanctioned and the balance 1,71 requires to be sanctioned.

122. The variations in the expenditure in England were unimportant.

123. The receipts under this section exceeded the Budget Estimate by £11,4 or R1,72. There were improved receipts under Police (£20,9 or R3,14) chiefly in Cattle Pound receipts in most of the provinces, under Education (£13,1 or R1,96) due partly to increased fees and contributions and partly to the clearance of stock in the Bombay Central Book Depot on abolition, and under Scientific and Other Minor Departments (£8,3 or R1,24). On the other hand, the Budget proved too high under Courts of Law (£8,5 or R1,28) chiefly in Magisterial fines, under Jails (£10,5 or R1,57) due chiefly to a slackness in the demand for Jail Manufactures in many of the provinces and to a restriction of operations in some of the Central Provinces and Berar and Madras Jails, under Ports and Pilotage (£11,6 or R1,75) chiefly due to an overestimate of the Pilotage receipts in Bengal and of the Coast Light dues in Burma, and under XX—Medical (£3 or R4).

124 As compared with the previous year, there was an improvement of (£33,6 or R5,04) chiefly under Police (£24,2 or R3,64) due to improved cattle Pound Receipts and under Education (£13,1 or R1,96) due to normal expansion.

125. The receipts fell short of the Budget Estimate by 1,28 and the actuals of the previous year by 1,04. A decline under Magisterial fines in most of the provinces is responsible chiefly for the decrease as compared with the Budget but receipts on account of Estates in the hands of the Administrator General, Bengal, in India, and of Kurk Amin's fees in the United Provinces also fell off. There was a slight increase under Other Receipts distributed over several Provinces. The receipts under Sale-proceeds of Unclaimed and Escheated Property fell considerably short of the Budget Estimate and of the actuals of the previous year almost entirely on account of Estates in the hands of the Administrator General, Bengal, in India. Under Court-fees realised in cash a decline occurred chiefly under Kurk Amin's fees in the United Provinces. Under General Fees, Fines and Forfeitures the variations occurred chiefly under Magisterial fines, a fluctuating item of receipt. The receipts fell short of the Budget Estimate in all the provinces excepting India, Central Provinces and the Eastern Bengal and Assam—the last named province alone showing an appreciable increase. A small increase (19) occurred under Other Receipts and was distributed between several provinces.

126. The Indian receipts fell short of the Budget Estimate by 1,57 partly on account of a slack ness in the demand for jail made articles and partly on account of certain restriction of operations in the Akola and Vellore Central Jails. The increase over the actuals of the previous year was nominal and amounted to 40 only.

127. The receipts under Sale-proceeds of Jail Manufactures fell short of the Budget Estimate in the Central Provinces and Berar (68), Eastern Bengal and Assam (46), Bengal (87), Punjab (5) and Madras (19). These defects were partly set off by improvements over the Budget Estimate in Burma (83), the United Provinces (37) and Bombay (17). In the Central Provinces and Berar the deficiency was due to the stoppage of the weaving industry in the Akola Jail and to the introduction of stone breaking and aloe pounding in the district Jails partially replacing manufactures. In Eastern Bengal and Assam a large stock of manufactured articles remained undisposed of and a large amount of outstanding debts remained unrealized at the end of the year. In Bengal there was a slackness in the demand for manufactured articles and the Budget was also somewhat overestimated. In Madras the deficiency was due to a slackness in the demand from Government consuming Departments, to the stoppage at the Vellore Central Jail for a time of the sandal and tent industries, and to the reduction in the price of Jail made tents. In Burma a part of the increase was nominal being made up by a defect under Other Receipts due to certain receipt for convict labour supplied to the Police Department for grinding wheat having been budgetted under Other Receipts but taken in the accounts under Jail Manufactures. The demands for Jail made articles were also greater in Burma, Bombay and the United Provinces; in the last named province, chiefly in the supply of a large number of baskets to the Public Works Department in connection with Famine Relief Works.

The net receipts under this head after deducting the corresponding charges under 19-B are given below:—

128. Under Other Receipts, the deficiency in Burma was nominal and has already been referred to. In Bombay the decline was due to a smaller average Jail population leading to a reduction chiefly in the number of prisoners of the Deccan Convict gang employed on works and at the Yeravda printing press.

129. The total receipts exceeded the Budget Estimate by 3,14 and the actuals of the previous year by 3,64. The improvement occurred almost entirely under Fees, Fines, and Forfeitures (Chiefly cattle pound Fees) in all the provinces. As compared with the Budget it was due in the Central Provinces (77) to cattle trespass fines (28), sale-proceeds of unclaimed cattle (30), recoveries of feeding charges (11) and Cattle Pound surplus receipts (14). In Burma the increase (39) occurred under slaughter house licenses, owing to keen competition for licenses and to the establishment of some new slaughter houses. In Eastern Bengal and Assam an item of 7 on account of petroleum license was not anticipated in the Budget Estimate, while Cattle Pound Fees also showed an increase of 7. In Bengal the increase (29) occurred under Cattle Pound receipts (16) and Steam Boiler Inspection Fees (11), in the United Provinces under Cattle Pound receipts, in the Punjab under sale of unclaimed stray Cattle, and in Madras and Bombay under sale of forfeited or impounded Cattle and under Boiler Inspection Fees. Under Police Supplied to Municipal etc. Funds, the Punjab Budget Estimate was reduced in the Revised chiefly on account of a contribution due from the Lahore Municipality having been remitted by Government. Under Police Supplied to Public Departments, etc., recoveries on account of Additional Police Forces employed under Section 15 of Act V of 1861 in certain districts after the Budget had been finally passed, brought in better receipts in Eastern Bengal and Assam. In the Punjab too the receipts were somewhat higher but in Bengal, there was a decrease in the recoveries on account of Police supplied to private persons. Under Presidency Police, recoveries in Madras on account of Police Supplied to private persons were made at the higher rate of pay sanctioned to Constables and caused an increase. In Bombay too there were larger receipts from employers of Ramosis which would have been still greater but for the transfer of the net receipts on account of Music Licenses and fees under the Motor Vehicles' Act to the Bombay Municipality under the terms of the City Police Act of 1907. Under Other Receipts the Budget Estimate was on the whole nearly realized. There was a deficiency in Bengal (20) due to smaller recoveries on account of Village Police, but this was set off by improvements in some of the other Provinces chiefly in Bombay (15) in the value of Ordnance Stores returned by the Police Department.

130. The receipts fell short of the Budget Estimate by 1,75 and the actuals of the previous year by 76, due chiefly to smaller revenue from Pilotage Receipts in Bengal and from Coast Light Dues in Burma. The former depends on the number and tonnage of vessels visiting the ports and was overestimated in the Budget. Under Coast Light Dues the Budget estimate anticipated that an increase in the number of vessels visiting the Burma Coasts would more than make up for the reduction from the previous year in the rate of dues, but this anticipation was not realized. Under Other Receipts a small increase in Burma due to hire of launches by the Postal and Military Departments was more than made up by a shortage in Bengal in the fees for Marine Survey.

131. The total receipts exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 1,96 the improvement being spread over all the heads. Under Fees from Schools and Colleges, the Budget Estimates were not realised in the Central Provinces and Berar, and Bombay, the former was due mainly to the lowering of the fee rates of the Schools in Berar and the latter to poor attendance. These deficiencies were more than made up by improvements in most of the other provinces; in Eastern Bengal and Assam due to the opening of new schools, in Bengal to normal expansion of both Colleges and Schools, in the United Provinces to higher receipts from fees of District Board Schools, in the Punjab partly to increased attendance and partly to the crediting of boarding house fees to Government, and in Madras to the opening of additional elementary schools by District Boards and to enhancement of fees under new educational rules. Contributions exceeded the Budget chiefly in the United Provinces, due to an increase in the contributions by Municipalities (36), in the Punjab due to contributions made by private persons for a new school at Moga, and in Eastern Bengal and Assam due to under-estimate. To a small extent setting off these improvements, the Budget was pitched somewhat too high in the Central Provinces and Berar. Under Other Receipts the Budget Estimate was considerably exceeded chiefly in Bombay (90) where the receipts of the Government Central Book depôt were estimated on a gradually diminishing basis as shown by past actuals, but the abolition of the depôt and the consequent clearance of stock led to a large excess. In Eastern Bengal and Assam and the Punjab there were improvements—the latter chiefly in the receipts from fees for the Vernacular Middle Examination held by the Education Department for the first time and for other departmental examinations. These improvements were to some extent set off by a deficiency in Bengal due partly to overestimate and partly to the transfer of the control of Students' Messes to the Calcutta University.

132. The Indian receipts closely followed the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year. There were some little variations in the details. There was a falling off (17) under Contributions in the United Provinces, mainly in the subscriptions from private persons for Dispensaries under the control of District Boards, but on the other hand the Estimates on this account were exceeded in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam. Under Other receipts, the receipts from sale of quinine were highly overestimated in the Eastern Bengal and Assam Budget, but the Budget estimates were exceeded in most of the other provinces chiefly United Provinces and Madras. The increase in the United Provinces was due to improved receipts from sale-proceeds of Lymph (3) and other miscellaneous receipts of District Boards dispensaries (5); while that in Madras was the result of small improvements in several items.

Section D.—RECEIPTS BY CIVIL DEPARTMENTS—concluded.

XXI.—Scientific and other Minor Departments—concluded.

133. The total receipts exceeded the Budget Estimate by 1,26 and the actuals of the previous year by 80, chiefly under Experimental Cultivation in Bengal, Madras and Bombay, under sale of Maps, etc., in India and under Miscellaneous receipts in Madras.

134. Receipts on account of Experimental Cultivation exceeded the Budget Estimate by 50 chiefly in Bengal (10), on account of the opening of new experimental stations at Sabour and Bankipur, in the United Provinces (6) on account of improved receipts from Cawnpore Farm Garden and Workshop and from seed Depôt at Sultanpur, in Madras (11) under "Farm and other receipts" realised by the Central Research and Teaching Institute, Coimbatore and under "District Farms", and in Bombay (15) owing to an extension of the area at the Surat, Manjri and other Farms. Under Botanical and other Public Garden Receipts, the Budget Estimate in the United Provinces proved too high, but on the other hand, the actuals exceeded the estimates in the Punjab. Under Cinchona Plantations the Budget Estimate in Bengal proved too high in respect of the sale proceeds of quinine but the deficiency on this account was nearly made up by Madras owing to a rise in the price of quinine. Improved receipts from cattle fairs in the Punjab led to an increase under Receipts on account of Public Exhibitions and Fairs. There was a falling off in Veterinary and Stallion Receipts in India due to fewer stallions having been available for sale. A diminution in the number of emigrants in Bengal caused a decline under Labour and Emigration. Receipts from Sale of Maps, etc., are of a fluctuating character and the actuals exceeded the Budget Estimate by 25 and those of the previous year by 21. Other Receipts shewed an increase, chiefly in Madras, due to the expansion of the Chrome—tanning Department and to large receipts from village officers' Special Test examination fees.

135. The charges in this section fell short of the Budget Estimate by £71,1 or R10,67 but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by £507,0 or R76,05. As compared with the Budget, there were savings under Ports and Pilotage (£13,3 or R2,00), chiefly in the lapse of a provision for a Pilot cruiser for Bengal; under Education (£32,8 or R4,92) chiefly in the grants provided for Primary and Technical Education; under Ecclesiastical (£8,4 or R1,26) due chiefly to absences on leave, &c., and to vacancies; under Political (£138,5 or R20,78) chiefly due to the full amount of subsidy due to the Amir not having been drawn, partly counterbalanced by arrear charges on account of the Amir's visit to India; and under Scientific and other Minor Departments (£25,8 or R3,87) chiefly in the provision for Experimental Cultivation. These savings were partly counterbalanced by excesses, under General Administration (£34,3 or R5,14) chiefly in Secretariat Charges; under Courts of Law (£62,6 or R9,39) chiefly in Law and Sessions Court Charges; under Jails (£30,2 or R4,53) due to high maintenance charges in some of the provinces due to scarcity; under Police (£14,7 or R2,21) due to certain recoveries from the Bombay Municipality on account of Police Hospitals being credited to Medical instead of to this head, partly counterbalanced by the provision for reforms not having been used in full; and under Medical (£5,9 or R89) due to increased charges for plague measures partly covered by the recovery on account of Police Hospitals referred to above.

136. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the continued expansion of the various Departments as well as gradual improvements of the administrative machinery led to an excess under almost all the heads, chiefly Police and Education. These excesses were partly set off by the considerably larger amount of subsidy paid to the Amir in the previous year and by the high charges incurred in the same year on account of the Amir's visit to India.

* Excess over the reduced grant.

137. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget by 4,97 and the actuals of the previous year by 6,32. The excess over the Budget Estimate occurred almost wholly in Secretariat charges (4,81) chiefly in the Government of India Secretariats and have been referred to in detail below. As compared with the previous year this head, as usual, showed a progressive growth even after covering the exceptionally high Tour charges of the previous year on account of the Agra Durbar.

138. Under Salaries of Governor-General, etc., there was a small increase of 3 in the Punjab on account of leave arrangements and one of 8 on account of the Commissioner in Sindh, chiefly in expenditure on Sumptuary allowance and payment of arrears on account of the Royal visit partially covered by savings in contingent charges. Staff and Household charges exceeded the Budget by 43, due chiefly to the furnishing of the Durbar and Ball room in Belvedere, and of the new Ball room at Lucknow and to increased furniture and Motor Car charges in the Punjab. These excesses were partly covered by savings chiefly in India under Hill journey charges, in the Central Provinces under Furniture, and in Eastern Bengal and Assam partly under Furniture and partly due to the transfer of certain travelling charges to the head Tour charges. Under Expenditure from Contract Allowance the saving of 8 in the United Provinces was nominal, as it was covered by an excess under Tour charges met from contract allowances. The excess under Durbar Fund has been reported to the Military Department with a view to the excess being refunded. Under Executive Council a saving of 15 in India, due to the pay of the member for the Commerce and Industry Department being reduced by the amount of his annuity, was nearly absorbed by excesses of 9 and 2 in Madras and Bombay—the former being on account of the absentee allowance of the senior member. Under Legislative Council there was a saving in the salaries and allowances of official and non-official members.

139. The Secretariat charges exceeded the Budget by 4,81. The chief excesses occurred in India (3,19), in Burma (41), in Eastern Bengal and Assam (55), and in the Punjab (36). The details of the India Secretariat charges are given below :—

140. The excess in the Financial Department was due to the privilege leave of the Secretary in the Ordinary Branch (12), to charges for the Inspector General of Excise and Salt (19), for which there was no Budget Provision, and to increased charges under Hill journey allowances (20) and under Establishment (18), due chiefly to leave arrangements and to the entertainment of a temporary Establishment in the Military Finance Branch. The Home Department excess was caused by the privilege leave of the Secretary and the Under Secretary, by an advance of pay made to the Deputy Secretary, by the appointment of an officer on special duty, by revision of Establishment and by increased telegram charges. In the Legislative Department the appointment of an officer on special duty and increased Hill journey charges caused an excess. In the Foreign Department the excess was due to appointment of officers on special duty (40) to revision of Establishment with retrospective effect (31) and to increased Hill journey charges (36). In the Revenue and Agriculture Department, the excess was caused by the creation of a Deputy Secretaryship (12) and by increased charges under Establishment (7) and Hill journey charges (13). In the Public Works Department the excess occurred chiefly under Salaries due to privilege leave of the Secretary and the Consulting Architect to the Government of India (10) and under Hill journey charges (7), In Burma the excess (41) occurred under Salaries (21) due to the posting of two officers on special duty, under Hill journey allowances (9) and under Contingencies (11). In Eastern Bengal and Assam the excess was due to the appointment of an officer on special duty (14), to the grant of Hill allowance to clerks (5), to the purchase of Law Books (10) and to an unusually high expenditure under office contingencies, specially telegram charges (30). The Punjab excess occurred under Salaries (22) due to appointment of officers on special duty and under Establishment, Allowances and Contingencies (14). Tour charges showed considerable savings in India, chiefly in the charges of the Staff and Household of His Excellency the Viceroy and would have shown larger savings but for the construction of an additional saloon for the Viceregal train. The Central Provinces too showed some savings, but these savings were more than absorbed by excesses in Eastern Bengal and Assam and the United Provinces, due chiefly to the transfer of charges from the heads Staff and Household and Expenditure from Contract allowances, respectively, in Bengal due to more extensive tours and in Madras due to the renewal of the camp equipment of His Excellency the Governor. Under Board of Revenue and Financial Commissioner the excess of 57 was distributed over the several provinces. In Burma the payment of the salary of the Hon'ble Mr. W.T. Hall, Additional Member of the Viceroy's Council, and the appointment of an officer on higher salary than budgetted for, caused an excess. In Eastern Bengal and Assam the excess was due chiefly to the appointment of the Excise Bill Committee and to revision of and larger outlay on the Steam Boat Establishment. The excess in the United Provinces was due chiefly to the privilege leave of a member. Under Commissioners there was a saving of 37 on the whole, but Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam showed excesses of 17 and 26. The former was due to the grant of privilege leave and to a Commissioner being put on special duty, and the latter was caused chiefly by the transfer of the charges of the steamer for the Commissioner, Assam Valley District, to this head from 21,—Ports and Pilotage. These excesses were, however, more than counterbalanced by savings in the other Provinces. In Bengal the savings (29), were due to the non-utilization of the provision of 10 for the division of the Patna Commissionership into two, and to the partial utilization of provisions for the revision of the Chowkidari Panchayet and for the increase of pay of ministerial officers, partly counterbalanced by increased charges for privilege leave arrangements. In the Punjab the savings (21) occurred chiefly under Petty constructions and repairs. In Bombay the savings (15) occurred in payments to officers of other Provinces and in salaries due to leave arrangements. Under Inspector General of Stamps, etc., there was an excess of 26 distributed over the several Provinces—the largest excess occurring in the United Provinces due to a higher rate of pay than budgetted for having been drawn by the Inspector General of Stamps, etc., and to the payment of his privilege leave allowances.

141. The total charges for Account and Currency Offices are shown below:—

142. The saving under Account Offices occurred chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal and Bombay, due mainly to partial lapses of provisions for increase of Establishment and to the abolition of the 2nd Chief Superintendentship in Eastern Bengal and Assam. Under Paper Currency office, excesses occurred both in the Calcutta and the Bombay offices, and were due to temporary Establishments, grant of grain compensation allowance and higher remittance charges. The progressive growth of Public Debt led to an increase under Allowances to Presidency Banks. Under General Establishment of Local Fund Offices, there was an excess of 26, chiefly in the United Provinces (22), due to the amalgamation of the Deputy Inspectors' offices with those of District Boards and to the transfer from 30—Stationery and Printing, to this head, of charges on account of stationery supplied to District Boards.

143. The excess of £1,1 in the expenditure in England was due to increased charges for Currency notes and motor cars, to the outfit allowances of the Governor of Bombay, to charges connected with Moore's Family Medicine of India and to the allowances of an officer on special duty relating to fisheries in Bengal, to a large extent covered by savings in the expenditure on new buildings at the India Store Depôt.

(a) Excess over reduced grant.

144. The Indian Expenditure exceeded the Budget by 9,43 and the actuals of the previous year by 7,81. The excesses occurred largely under Law Officers, due to considerable activity in criminal prosecutions with consequent payment of larger fees to pleaders, etc., and under Civil and Sessions Courts, due to the grant of grain compensation allowance, to reorganisations and to appointment of temporary additional Judges.

145. Under High Court, Chief Court and Judicial Commissioner the Budget was exceeded by 1,19. The excesses occurred in Burma (20) due to the temporary appointment of an additional Judge, to payment of privilege leave allowance and to enhanced municipal rates; in the United Provinces (13) due to the addition of a new Judge; in the Punjab (20) due to an additional Judge having been retained longer than was anticipated; in Madras (44) due to the appointment of a sixth Judge, to the payment of privilege leave allowance and to increased charges on account of translation and printing executed on behalf of suitors; and in Bombay (75), due to the creation of two temporary Judgeships and to the amalgamation of the District Court, Karachi, with the office of the Judicial Commissioner, Sindh. These excesses were partly set off by savings in the Central Provinces (15) due to a vacancy in the appointment of the second Additional Judicial Commissioner for a part of the year, and in Bengal (32) in the Salaries of Judges, chiefly in consequence of leave arrangements. Under Law Officers the Budget was exceeded by 4,37, the excess occurring in almost all the Provinces, due generally to increased payment of fees to pleaders, etc., chiefly in criminal cases. In India the increase was due chiefly to the grant of privilege leave allowances to and the strengthining of the establishment of the Administrator General; in Bengal the increase of the contract rate of the Government Solicitor and the payment of privilege leave allowances to the Legal Remembrancer augmented the excess caused by increased fees to pleaders, etc. In Bombay the excess due to the payment of increased fees was partly set off by savings in the lump provision for the revision of the establishment of the Legal Remembrancer. Under Civil and Sessions Courts there was an excess of 5,13 distributed over all the provinces excepting India, North-West Frontier Province and Bombay. In the Central Provinces there was an excess of 32 due to the grant of grain compensation allowance and to the non-realisation of the estimate for probable savings; in Burma the excess (92) was due to an increase in the pay and cadre of Divisional Judges, to the grant of privilege leave allowances, to the reorganisation of the Provincial Judicial Services with the necessary increase of establishment and to larger remuneration to copyists; in Eastern Bengal and Assam the excess (71) was due chiefly to the grant of grain compensation allowance; in Bengal also the excess (2,29) was caused chiefly by the grant of grain compensation allowance (1,23), and by the non realisation of a deduction of 91 on account of probable savings; in the United Provinces the grant of grain compensation allowance and the deputation of officers on special duty in connection with the redistribution of work in Civil Courts were the main causes of an excess of 72; in the Punjab there was an excess of 68, due chiefly to the appointment of temporary additional Divisional Judges and to the payment of grain compensation allowance; in Madras the excess of 50 occurred chiefly under Establishment of District and Sessions Judges (7), Salaries and Establishment of Subordinate Judges (16), Process-Serving Establishment (11), elephant charges (7) and diet and road money to prosecutors and witnesses (6). Partly counterbalancing these excesses, the North-West Frontier Province showed a saving of 10 and Bombay one of 91. The former was due chiefly to leave arrangements In Bombay the savings were due to the amalgamation of the District Court, Karachi, with the office of the Judicial Commissioner, to partial lapses in the provisions for the revision of Establishment, and to smaller charges for payments to Officers of other provinces and for Assistant Judges doing combined Revenue and Criminal duties. Under Courts of Small Causes the savings in India (6) were due to the payment of certain establishment and contingent charges in the Central India Agency by the Military Department with effect from 1st April 1907, consequent on the transfer of the charges of the Cantonment Magistrates to that Department. In Bengal, savings occurred in the Salaries of Judges. Under Criminal Courts there was an excess of 1,27 chiefly in India (17), Eastern Bengal and Assam (56), Bengal (44), the United Provinces (38), the Punjab (25) and the North-West Frontier Province (11), partly counterbalanced by a saving of 72 in Bombay. The excess in India occurred chiefly under Salaries of the officers of the Ajmer Commission; the other excesses mentioned appeared under several heads chiefly Salaries, Allowances, principally grain compensation allowance, Process Serving Establishment, etc. In Bombay on the other hand, a large number of absentees and a smaller amount of payments to officers of other Provinces caused a saving. Under Other Courts of Justice there was an excess of 14 in Bengal due to excesses under Salaries (5) and Contingencies (4) of the Presidency Magistrate's Court and to the charges on account of the Municipal Magistrate's Court (6), which used formerly to be borne by the Calcutta Municipal Fund. Under Refunds the actuals closely approximated the Budget on the whole, though owing to the fluctuating nature of the charge, the detail by provinces showed some differences.

146. In England the provision for the outfit of a Judge was not required.

19B.—Law and Justice—Jails—concluded.

147. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate by 4,63 and the actuals of the previous year by 1,79, chiefly on account of high maintenance charges of prisoners in the two Bengals and the United Provinces in consequence of the prevailing high prices of food grains. An excess on the same account would have appeared in India also under Convict Charges at Port Blair, etc., but was made up by the transfer of Forest supplies, hitherto charged to this head, to the Public Works Department. Charges under the head Jail Manufactures proved less than the Budget Estimate by 69. Savings occurred chiefly in the Central Provinces (87), under purchase of raw materials due to the stoppage of the weaving industry at the Akola Jail and to the restriction of manufactures in the district Jails; in the Punjab (15) under purchase of raw materials; and in Madras (62) owing to the restriction of operations; these savings were partly counterbalanced by excesses in Burma (59) under raw materials and freight and shipping and landing charges, in Bengal (34) under raw materials (14) and Europe Stores (19), and in the United Provinces (22), under raw materials (16) due to high prices and under contingencies (6). Other Jail Charges exceeded the Budget Estimate by 5,59. The excesses occurred in Eastern Bengal and Assam (2,05), Bengal (2,54), the United Provinces (1,93) and Madras (30), and were caused generally by the prevailing high prices of food grains, added in the case of the United Provinces, to an increase in the Jail population and to charges on account of petty construction and repairs formerly shown on Public Works Department books. The excesses were to some extent counterbalanced by savings in India (12) under maintenance charges; in the Central Provinces (32) owing to the reduction of the Akola Central Jail to the status of a District Jail and of the Elichpur sub-Jail to that of a Police lock-up; in Burma (40) owing principally to the non-utilisation of the provision for revision of pay of warders and to smaller charges on rations and hospital charges, partly counterbalanced by excess expenditure on moving prisoners and on maintaining them while in police custody; and in the Punjab (42) chiefly under Establishment and clothing and bedding charges. Convict Charges at Port Blair, etc., proved less than the Budget Estimate by 27, the net result of savings under Judicial establishment (9) due to junior officers having been on duty, under Police establishment (11) chiefly in the pay of constables, passage money and freight (69), and under Forest Supplies (1,15) due to supplies for Public Works purposes being debited to the Public Works Department, counterbalanced by excesses (1,74) under Commissariat supplies due to high price of provisions.

148. The saving in England was due to the demand for Stores having been estimated too high in the Budget.

* Excess over reduced grant.

149. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget by 2,11 and the actuals of the previous year by 42,21. There was an increase of about 5,00 in Bombay due to the recovery from the Bombay Municipality on account of the City Police having been credited to other heads, instead of being shown by deduction from the charges under this head. After allowing for this, there was a small saving on the Budget of about 2,80, due mainly to the lump provisions for reorganisations not having been utilised to the fullest extent. As compared with the actuals of the previous year the high prices of food grains and the introduction of reforms in all branches of the Police Service led to a large increase.

150. Presidency Police charges exceeded the Budget by 6,24 owing chiefly to the reorganisation of the Presidency Police in Madras and to the change of system in Bombay referred to under XVII—Police by which the recoveries from the Bombay Municipality on account of the City Police amounting to about 4 90 are no longer taken in reduction of the charges. Under Superintendence there was an excess of 1,16, in the Central Provinces (17), due to revision of establishment and to the non-realisation of estimated probable savings; in Bengal (21) under Establishment (5), Allowances (7) and Contingencies (8); in the Punjab (29) due chiefly to reorganisation; in the North-West Frontier Province (8) due to leave arrangements and payment of arrears; in Madras (13) on account of establishment and contingencies; and in Bombay (2·5) due to changes in personnel and additions sanctioned during the year, to increased travelling and plague allowances to establishment and purchase of gymnastic apparatus and tents. Municipal Police showed an excess of 3,31 as the actuals included 3,37 on account of Municipal Police in the Punjab, provision for which was made under District Executive Force. There was a saving of 12 in the North-West Frontier Province due to the partial lapse of the provision for revision. District Executive Force charges showed a saving of 1,11. There were excesses in Bengal (2,84) due to the grant of grain compensation allowance and in the United Provinces (3,40) due to reorganisation (85), to the grant of grain compensation allowance (1,36) and to the transfer of charges for petty construction and repairs (1,15) formerly carried out through the agency of the Public Works Department; but these excesses were more than counterbalanced by savings in Burma (1,90) due to delay in the introduction of Police Commission Reforms and to smaller expenditure on clothing; in the Punjab (3,86) due chiefly to the charges for Municipal Police being recorded under a distinct head as already mentioned and to savings in Salaries; and in Bombay (1,53) due to partial lapse of provision for Police Reforms, to minor savings in the grants for training school and payments to Officers of other provinces, etc. Under Government Railway Police, there was an excess of 86 chiefly in India (14) in the share of the Rajputana-Malwa Railway Police charges borne by the Civil Department, in the United Provinces (49) due to the adjustment against the Provincial Revenues of the whole instead of three-tenths of the cost of the salary and office establishment of the Deputy Inspector General and to higher outlay on account of reforms, etc., and in Madras (21) due to the recovery of the share of the cost of the Railway Police payable by the companies for the last quarter of 1907, not having been effected as anticipated. Village Police charges proved less than the Budget by 47, chiefly in Bengal (20) in the pay of Chaukidars and in the United Provinces (20) in rewards to Chaukidars, in the grant for good conduct allowance to rural Police and in the lump provision for extension of the rural Police rate to arrears hitherto free from it. Under Special Police there was a saving of 59 chiefly in Burma (46) due to the provision for three additional companies of Military Police for the Salween District not being fully utilised and to smaller expenditure on supplies, in the North-West Frontier Province (89) due mainly to the non-utilisation of the provision for the increase in the pay of sepoys, and in Bombay (46) owing to the recovery of arrears on account of Kathiawar Police and to savings in the grants for Deputy Superintendents of Mahi Kantha and Palanpur Police and Camel Levy; these savings were reduced by excesses chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,13) which would have been larger but for the non-utilisation of a grant for reorganisation and were due to high prices of food grains and the disturbances in the Eastern Bengal districts necessitating the despatch of sepoys from Assam. Cattle pound charges showed savings in Bombay (10) due to a slight overestimate and in the Central Provinces (24) due to transfer of 37 to 45—Civil Works on account of construction of District Fund Cattle Pounds, partly counterbalanced by increases under grain compensation allowance and feeding charges (12). Other charges exceeded the Budget by 1,04, chiefly in the charges of the Criminal Investigation Department, in India, Central Provinces, Eastern Bengal and Assam and the United Provinces and in those connected with the deputation of a special Officer in Burma to detect opium smuggling. There were some savings under Criminal Investigation Department in Bengal and the Punjab.

151. In England the excess was due to payment of arrears of Exchange Compensation Allowance to an officer and to the appointment of an Officer on special duty.

152. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 2,01 on the Budget mainly the result of the lapse of a provision of 4,00 for a Pilot cruiser for Bengal, counterbalanced by an excess in Burma under Marine Stores and Coal for Building and Repairs of ships, due to high price of coal and to laying in of stock. The actuals of the previous year were exceeded by 2,05 chiefly in Burma for the reasons mentioned.

153. Under Marine Survey and Establishment the Budget was exceeded by 6 chiefly on account of the appointment of an Engineer and Shipwright Surveyor together with the necessary establishment for the survey of vessels at Chittagong. Salaries and Allowances and Victualling of Officers and Men afloat showed a saving of 24, chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam, due to the transfer of the establishment charges of the Lieutenant-Governor's steamer and yacht to Other Charges, and all charges of the Assam valley Commissioner's launch and the Deputy Commissioner of Sylhet's launch to 18—General Administration and 3—Land Revenue respectively. Burma also showed some savings (6) due to an under-strength of the steam launch establishment but Bengal showed an excess of 9 on account of the pilot vessel "Fame" and the steamer cruiser "Fraser." Under Marine Stores, etc., there was an excess of 1,78, chiefly in Burma (1,41) owing chiefly to a rise in the price of coal and to large purchases of stock during the year of which a considerable balance remained in hand at the end of the year, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (10) due to special repairs to the Government Steamer "Brahmakhand"; and in Bengal (27) under coal supplied and repairs to steam launches and pilot vessels. Under Pilotage, Pilot Establishment and Vessels there were excesses in Eastern Bengal and Assam (40) on account of the purchase of a new steamer (13), share cost of the Port Officer's Office (16), higher expenditure on Purchase of stores, etc., (6) and the appointment of a River Survey establishment 3); and in Bengal (13) due to underestimate. Other Charges showed a saving of 4,14, chiefly owing to a provision of 4,00 in Bengal for the purchase of a second Pilot cruiser not being ulitised. The charges for purchase and hire of vessels were also less than estimated in Bengal and Burma; the saving (52) in the case of Burma caused by the non-utilisation of the provision for "Waterlily," sailing boat and Excise launches having been reduced by excess expenditure (35), partly in connection with the Viceroy's visit, and partly on account of the purchase of a godown and machinery for the Marine workshop at Mandalay. The excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam was caused by transfer of charges connected with the Lieutenant-Governor's steamer and yacht provided for in the Budget under Salaries and Allowances, etc.

154. The Indian expenditure was less than the Budget estimate by 5,18 but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 25,87. In addition to the usual provisions under each minor head, the Budget provided for a large net addition of 11,12, which was absorbed to the extent of 5,94 on account of excesses under the minor heads, chiefly Grants-in-aid and Payments by Results; the expenditure under this head exceeded the Budget by 5,96 chiefly in the two Bengals, and Madras. Government colleges also showed some excess (94), but on the other hand, Government schools showed considerable savings (4,60) spread over most of the provinces. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the expenditure marks, as usual, a progressive growth somewhat more than usually rapid, owing to the introduction of new University Regulations and to a desire for the wider diffusion of primary education.

155. Direction charges exceeded the Budget Estimate by 42 chiefly in India (7) due to privilege leave arrangements, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (19) due to the appointment of a special officer, to revision of establishment and to increased expenditure under Contingencies, in Bengal (23) due to the reorganisation of the Department and to the grant of grain compensation allowance, and in the United Provinces (9) due to under-estimate; these excesses were to some extent reduced by savings in Madras and Bombay due to vacancies and to appointment of junior men in temporary vacancies. Under Inspection all the provinces except Bengal showed savings; in the Central Provinces (7) due to junior officers being on duty, in Burma (29) to vacancies temporary and permanent as also to a provision for increased establishment not having been required; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (34) to a partial lapse of a provision of 60 for reorganisation; in the United Provinces (23) to the partial lapse of an allotment for new Inspectorships and to savings in the grant under the control of District Boards; and in Bombay (19) to delay in the revision of staff for which the Budget fully provided. These savings were, however, more than absorbed by an excess of 2,12 in Bengal due to an overestimate of savings and to the provision for the reorganisation of the department not having been included under this minor head. Under University there were additional grants, in Bengal (12) on account of transfer of students messes to the University, and in Madras (1,24) to make up a total grant of (3,34), 1,00 on account of the University Library, 2,24 for the aiding of private colleges and 10 for the payment of travelling allowance to Fellows. Government Colleges showed an excess of (94), chiefly in Bengal (98), due to increase under Salaries of the professors of the Sanskrit College, Calcutta, to larger expenditure under Furniture and Apparatus and to a deduction of 70 for probable savings not having been realised. There were excesses also in Burma (11) due to enhancement in the rates of municipal taxes on Government College buildings; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (33) due to promotion of officers in the Provincial Educational service with retrospective effect and to increased expenditure on instruments and Europe stores; in the Punjab (24) due to the appointment of additional professors and to increased charges under Salaries owing to accrual of increments and to increased expenditure under Supplies and Services and Contingencies; and in Madras (12) chiefly in the Teachers' College due to larger payments of stipends to students under training. On the other hand, there were savings in India (38) due to over-estimate, the charges for the superior staff of the Mayo College Fund having been provided for, in addition to an annual subvention in lieu thereof, provided under Grants-in-aid, and in Bombay (42) owing to the provision (4') for the revision of the staff of Training Schools not having been used, the expenditure having been booked under the head Government Schools, and to lower expenditure on Salarie in consequence of absences, etc., and on the equipment of the laboratory at the College of Science, Poona, partly counterbalanced by the non-receipt of the contribution for the Raj Kumar College staff. Government Schools showed a saving of 4,60 distributed over all the provinces except Bengal, the United Provinces and Madras which showed some excesses. In the Central Provinces the saving (90) was due chiefly to the transfer towards the end of the year, of the charges for petty construction and repairs of Local Fund School buildings to 45—Civil Works and to the non-utilisation of 12 for a school of handicrafts and of 6 for the improvement of special education, partly counterbalanced by an increase on account of grain compensation allowance not provided for in the Budget. In Burma, a gross saving of 50 due to vacancies and to partial lapse of provision owing to delay in opening some new schools and in completing the reorganisation of the Engineering School at Insein, was reduced by 16 on account of enhanced municipal rates on the Government Collegiate School building, Rangoon. In Eastern Bengal and Assam the entire amount budgetted for expenditure on Primary Education by District and Local Boards could not be spent. In the Punjab the saving (1,54) was made up of 49 under Government Schools-General, due chiefly to the intended reorganisation of the teaching and menial staff of the Government High Schools not having been fully carried out; of 44 under Government Schools-Special, in the provision for additional staff for Training Institutions, evening classes, Engineering School, and of 61 under Primary Schools. The saving (15) in the North-West Frontier Province occurred (4) under Government Schools—General, (3) under Government Schools—Special, (6) under Primary Schools, and (2) under Secondary Schools. In Bombay the savings amounted to 2,33, of which 70 occurred under Government Schools—General, on account of the discontinuance of the grant to the Bombay City Municipality for Primary Schools and 1,63 under Government Schools—Special—Technical Education from the lump grant for which allotments were placed at the disposal of the Public Works Department for works, and transfers were made to the head Grants-in-aid as grants to certain Technical Institutions; but for these transfers there would have been an excess due to the revision of the staff of the Training Schools, provision for which was made under Government Colleges. Of the excesses in Bengal the United Provinces and Madras, the first was small, due to normal variations ; the second (49) was on account of higher expenditure under High and Middle Schools—English (6), Middle Schools—Vernacular (16), and Low Schools—Boys (16), coupled with an outlay (15) on Industrial Schools by District Boards not provided for in the Budget: and the third (1,35) was due to special expenditure on the establishment and equipment of District Boards Schools specially elementary schools. Under Grants-in-aid and payments by results, the Budget was exceeded by 5,96, the largest excess (5,01) occurring in Bengal due to heavy grants to local colleges and schools (3,17), to Primary Schools (92), for educational buildings, furniture and apparatus (71), and to girls' schools maintained by District Boards (21). India showed an excess (1,12) due to arrear payments, of contribution of 12 per annum, to the Mayo College Fund, to arrear payments of grant-in-aid to European Boys and Girls' School at Bangalore and to an additional grant of 87 sanctioned for the Indian Institute of Science in Finance Department No. 1026 A., dated 19th Feburary 1908. The Eastern Bengal and Assam excess (1,60) was partly in consequence of expenditure due to the new University Regualtions and partly in consequence of special grants for buildings and furniture late in the year, in view of the savings under Government Schools, General. In the United Provinces some special additional grants were sanctioned by the Local Government and Chairmen, District Boards. In Madras the excess (1,35) was due to larger grants to Non-European Schools for furniture, apparatus and other special objects, and to larger teaching grants to elementary schools by District Boards. These excesses were to some extent counterbalanced by savings in the Central Provinces (21) due to the grant of 11 for technical schools not having been used and to short expenditure on account of building and apparatus ; in Burma (95) where the Budget provided for too large an increase in the expenditure on Primary education ; in the Punjab (88) due chiefly to the non-payment of 50 to the Aitchison College and to savings in the provision for building grants, and in Bombay (1,27) due to transfers of grants to the head "Contributions from Provincial to Local" and to savings in the provision for Primary School buildings in the City of Bombay. Under Scholarships the actuals closely followed the Budget Estimate being 5 less, due to small variations in the several provinces—excesses of 13 in Bengal due to an overestimate of probable savings, and of 8 in Madras on account of larger payments to Secondary Schools for boys, being more than counterbalanced by savings in the Central Provinces (7), the Punjab (8), Burma (4) and Bombay (4), due to normal causes, such as non-drawal of full amounts due, etc. Other Charges exceeded the Budget by 95—mainly the result of a large excess expenditure (1,30) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, due partly to an outlay of 19 for cost of land not provided for, but chiefly to unusually heavy miscellaneous charges of District funds towards the close of the year. Burma and Madras also exceeded the Budget to a small extent, the first due to heavier outlay on Pali and other examination charges, and the second, due chiefly to larger contributions to municipalities to enable them to pay grants-in-aid to schools under their management. On the other hand, there were savings in India (11) in the buildings and furniture grant in Bangalore, in Bengal (13) under rent of boarding houses due to transfer of control to the University, in the United Provinces (24) under purchase of stores for the Civil Engineering College Book Depôt and under grants to Municipalities for the extension of primary education, and in Bombay (11) due to the abolition of the Government Central Book Depôt.

156. The excess in England was caused by increased payments to Government scholars.

157. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 1,25 as compared with the Budget Estimate and was less than the actuals of the previous year by 35. The savings occurred as usual chiefly under Church of England which comprises the bulk of the expenditure more or less in most of the provinces, and were due generally to officers not having rendered the period of service qualifying for increased rates of pay as anticipated in the Budget, to the absence of Senior Chaplains on leave and to vacancies. Savings occurred for the same reasons under Church of Scotland chiefly in Bengal and Madras. The excess of 6 (Imperial) in the Punjab requires to be sanctioned.

* Excess over reduced grant.

158. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate by 1,43 and the actuals of the previous year by 9,00. The excesses would have been considerably larger but for the change in the system of classification in Bombay under which certain contributions by the Municipality amounting to about 4 lakhs for the maintenance of Police Hospitals are now taken in reduction of the charges under this head, instead of those under 20—Police. As compared with the Budget the increase occurred chiefly under Grants for Medical Purposes—expenses in connection with the Plague measures in Burma, the United Provinces and the Punjab. There were savings under Sanitation and Vaccination due chiefly to over-estimate in the Local Section in Madras, but these savings were more than counterbalanced by increased expenditure under Hospitals and Dispensaries (after making allowance for the change of classification in Bombay already referred to) chiefly in Burma, due to the opening of new hospitals, to additional grants, etc., and to the transfer to this head of Medical charges of Political Agencies hitherto shown under 25—Political. The normal expansion of departments combined with heavy Plague expenditure in the United Provinces and the Punjab explains the difference between the actuals of the two years.

159. Under Medical Establishments the actuals closely followed the Budget Estimate, but there were variations in the details by provinces. In India there was an excess (14), due chiefly to privilege leave of the Director-General. In the Central Provinces there was a saving (33) in the salaries of District Medical officers owing to junior officers having been on duty. In Burma the excess (27) was due to the transfer, with effect from April 1907, of all medical expenditure in the Political Agencies hitherto classed under 25—Political to this head, partly counterbalanced by the non-utilisation of the provision for a separate Civil Surgeon, Hanthawaddy District. In Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal there were savings due to the absence of officers on leave In the United Provinces the excess (40) was due chiefly to medical expenditure connected with Famine. In the Punjab and Madras the deductions for probable savings in the salaries of District Medical officers were over-estimated in the Budget In the North-West Frontier Province the excess (16) was due to officers on higher rates of salary having been on duty. In Bombay the Budget Estimate was reduced in the Revised in view of savings in the salaries of the Indian Medical Service and in payments to officers of other Provinces Under Hospitals and Dispensaries there was a saving of 1,52 on the Budget Estimate There was a special saving of about 4,00 in Bombay due to certain contributions by the Bombay Municipality for the maintenance of Police Hospitals, being now taken in reduction of the charges under this head, instead of those under 20—Police. Madras showed a saving of 23, due to over-estimate of expenditure in the Local Section. There was also a decrease of 9 in the Central Provinces due to the non-utilisation of the lump provision (6) for the revision of establishment and to a saving of (5) in the pay of Assistant Surgeons Partly counterbalancing these savings there were excesses in Burma (1,67), due chiefly to opening of new hospitals, to additional grants to hospitals and dispensaries, to equipment grants, to enhancement of Municipal taxes on Government house buildings, and to the transfer of political hospital charges from 25—Political to this head; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (36) due chiefly to new grants to dispensaries (24), to larger outlay on the purchase of Medical Store (7), and to allowances (3) for attending Educational Institutions not provided for in the Budget; in the Punjab (45), due chiefly to a payment of 26 for construction of Baba Lakhan Leper Asylum, and to additional grants for equipment and maintenance of hospitals and dispensaries in charge of Local Bodies, and in Bengal (29) due to grants (17) to hospitals and dispensaries and to a deduction of 12 for probable savings not having been realised. The Revised Estimate in Bengal included provisions for certain special grants, e g., to the Dublin University Mission for Zenana Hospital, which were not paid during the year. Under Sanitation and Vaccination there was a saving of 1,92 on the Budget Estimate The savings occurred chiefly in Madras (1,08), in Eastern Bengal and Assam (52), in the Central Provinces (44) and in the United Provinces (12) and were partly set off by excesses chiefly in Bengal (23) and India (6). The Madras saving was due to a considerable over-estimate of the expenditure in the Local Section, to a lapse in the provision for an Assistant Superintendent in the King's Institute, Madras, and to savings in the Supplies and Services and Contingencies in the Institute. In Eastern Bengal and Assam, the provision for popularising the sale of quinine was not utilised to the fullest extent In the Central Provinces the saving was due chiefly to the transfer of the grant (48) for Village Sanitation charges, Local, to 45—Civil works in charge of Civil officers. In the United Provinces there were savings in the grants provided in the District Board Budgets for Village Sanitary Improvements The excess in India was due chiefly to higher charges in connection with the investigation of dysentery in prisons, etc., while that in Bengal was due to the adjustment under this head of the charges on account of Clayton Apparatus for the Port of Calcutta, for which a provision of 20 was made under Grants for Medical purposes. Medical Schools and Colleges showed a saving of 37, chiefly in the salaries of professors of the Calcutta Medical College, Bengal, and of the Grant Medical College, Bombay. The expenditure on Lunatic Asylums exceeded the Budget Estimate by 61, chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam (8), Bengal (26), Punjab (12), due generally to high prices of food grains, and in Madras (8) to transfer of lunatics from Ceylon Under Grants for Medical Purposes the actuals exceeded the Budget Estimate by 4,43, due to heavy expenditure in connection with Plague measures in Burma, the United Provinces, the Punjab and the Central Provinces, to a small extent counterbalanced by savings on the same account in India, Madras and Bombay, by the non-utilisation of the grant of 20 under this head in Bengal for a Clayton Apparatus, the expenditure having been booked under another head, and by a lapse of ten in the grant for the Pasteur Institute, Coonoor. Under Other Charges the Budget was realised fairly closely on the whole, but there were variations as between the Provinces. There were savings in Burma and Bombay, the first due to the lapse in the provision for the equipment of a new laboratory, and the second to absentees in the Chemical Analyser's Department and to a lapse in the grant for apparatus for the Laboratory. On the other hand, there were excesses in the United Provinces and Madras, the first due chiefly to increased expenditure in the Chemical Examiner's Department, and the second to the refund of excess recoveries from Municipalities towards the cost of the buildings for the King's Institute.

160. The expenditure in England showed a saving of £3,7, as only £1,3 was paid to the Committee for Plague investigation against a provision of £5,0 in the Budget Estimate

* Excess over reduced grant.

161. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 21,30 on the Budget Estimate and was lower than the actuals of the previous year by 39,92. The saving on the Budget occurred chiefly under Political Subsidies, and was due to the fact that considerable arrears of subsidy due to the Amir of Afghanistan and provided for in the Budget remained undrawn at the end of the year. Charges on the North-West Frontier Province also showed some savings. On the other hand, Other charges exceeded the

25.—Political—concluded.

Budget considerably, due mainly to the adjustment of arrear charges in connection with the Amir's visit. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, Political Subsidies were higher in the previous year by 22,28 chiefly on account of a larger amount drawn by the Amir and Other charges by 19,33, chiefly on account of expenses in connection with the visit of the Amir of Afghanistan.

162. Under Political Agents the expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate by 48 only, on the whole, but there were variations in the details by provinces, excesses in India and the North-West Frontier Province being to a great extent counterbalanced by savings in Burma and Bombay. The excess in India (1,51) was caused by several factors of which may be mentioned the cost of steam launches for the Consuls Mohamera, Koweit and Bahrein, charges in connection with the Oil Syndicate at Ahwaz, higher charges for telegrams in Bushire and Kermansha, purchase of Motor Cars for the Agent to the Governor General, Rajputana and Staff, higher charges for pay and rations of the Police Escort Establishment in Persia, arrears of pay drawn by the Revenue Commissioner, Baluchistan, employment of an officer on special duty in connection with the completion of the Quetta settlement, increase in the salaries of the Assistant Residents, Bushire, and Consul Kerman due to higher rates of pay drawn and acting arrangements in privilege leave vacancies. The excess (67) in the North-West Frontier Province occurred chiefly in the Tochi and Wana Agencies. Of this excess about 17 occurred under Salaries and was nominal being due to the salaries of the Agency Medical officers being booked under this head, the Budget provision having been made under the head Charges on the N.-W. Frontier; the remainder of the excess occurred chiefly under Contingencies. The saving in Burma (86) was caused by the removal of the Police and Medical charges of the Political Agencies from this head. In Bombay the saving occurred chiefly in the provisions for the Political Officer at D'thala, telegram charges (Aden), salaries of officers and payments to officers of other provinces, while the recoveries of contribution on account of establishments in Foreign Service in the Kathiawar State also exceeded the estimate. Under Charges on the N.-W. Frontier, both India and the North-West Frontier Province showed savings. The saving in India (59) occurred partly in Baluchistan (41), due chiefly to the non-utilisation of the lump provision of 44 for the reorganisation of the Levy force, and partly in Seistan (45) in the charges for the Robat Escort, counterbalanced by excesses of 16 in Khorasan and 13 in Turbat i-Haidari due to miscellaneous causes. The saving in the North-West Frontier Province (84), was caused by the transfer of charges for the salaries of medical officers from this minor head as already mentioned, by the non-utilisation of the lump provision of 32 for the Inspector General of Militia etc., the charges being debited under the head 18—General Administration and by lower payments for guarding Hill passes and for the Kurram and Waziristan Militia. Charges on Tibet Frontier showed an excess of 55, chiefly in Sikkim and Bhutan Agency (17) and in the Gyantse Trade Agency (40). The first was due chiefly to charges incurred by the Political Officer in connection with the installation of the Bhutan Chief for which there was no provision in the Budget. The second was caused chiefly by higher expenditure on the maintenance of Dak and Telegraph lines. Under Political Subsidies, large savings occurred in the grant for subsidy to the Amir of Afghanistan. As usual, the Budget provided for the full amount due to the Amir of Afghanistan but the actual amount drawn depends on His Majesty's pleasure. Under Entertainment of Envoys and Chiefs, there were excesses in India (24) and Bombay (11), partly set off by a saving (15) in the North-West Frontier Province. The charges under this head depend on the number and position of guests entertained by the Supreme Government, by the Provincial Governments or Administrations or by Political Residents, and are not susceptible of an accurate forecast. Durbar Presents, etc., were somewhat over-estimated in India and Bombay. Under Refugees and State Prisoners there was a saving of 13 in the United Provinces due to the transfer to Burma of the allowances payable to the Pynmana Prince, and to savings in the charges on account of Afghan refugees deported from Persia. This saving was however nearly counterbalanced by small excesses in Burma, Bengal and the Punjab. Under Other Charges the Budget was exceeded by 3,77. The bulk of this excess occurred in India (3,31) and was due to arrear charges (2,59) in connection with the visit of the Amir of Afghanistan to India, to arrears (12) of Treaty Allowance paid to the Persian Government for the Mekran Telegraph line, to Demarcation of Boundary and Trans-frontier surveys, Baluchistan, to higher charges for the chapter of the Star of India and to special Political expenditure not provided for in the Budget. Excesses also occurred under this head in Burma (10) due to miscellaneous charges incurred in connection with His Excellency the Viceroy's visit, partly counterbalanced by savings in the provision for the Burma-China Boundary Mission, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (8) on account of travelling and other charges of some Lushai chiefs deputed to Assam, to learn lac industry and rubber cultivation, and in the North-West Frontier Province (30) on account of grant of rewards to chiefs in connection with the Zakka Khel Expedition.

163. The expenditure in England exceeded the Budget by £3,5, chiefly on account of unforeseen demand for stores.

* Excess over reduced grant.

164. The Indian expenditure exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 10,47 due to the expansions chiefly of the Survey of India and Agricultural Departments. The Budget Estimate however provided too liberally for the progressive growth of the Departments mentioned and proved too high by 4,02. The charges of the Survey of India Department fell short of the Budget Estimate by 64 chiefly in charges of the Survey Parties, partly counterbalanced by an increase under Head Quarter Staff.

165. Under Geological and other Surveys the Budget Estimate proved too high by 36, chiefly in India in the special charges on account of deputation of Dr. M. A. Stein for archæological research in Eastern Turkestan (20), and in diamond drilling charges in the Geological Survey Department. In Bengal no allowance was paid on account of Ethnographical Survey. There was an excess of 20 in the Meteorological Department chiefly in telegram charges (14) and in the payment of privilege leave allowances (4). Under Other Scientific Departments there was an excess of 64, chiefly in India (76), partly under Bacteriology (42) due to purchase of books for improving the library at Muktesar (21), to stable feed and keep (12) and to cultivation expenses (9), and partly under Central Research Institute (34) chiefly on account of the Typhoid, Enteric and Black Water Fever Investigation. There was also an excess in Madras due to a grant of 25 to the Victoria Technical Institute but this was covered by a saving of 32 in Bombay, as under the City of Bombay Municipal Act, a contribution to the Victoria and Albert Museum ceased and 25 out of 70 budgetted as a contribution for the Prince of Wales Museum were paid by the Municipality. Under Veterinary and Stallion Charges the Budget provided for a considerable growth over the actuals of the previous year, but a sum of 1,59 was saved on the whole. In Bengal the actual expansion cost more than estimated in the Budget by 41, but there were savings in most of the other provinces, chiefly in India (54) under Furlough and reserve officers, due to the full number provided for not having been entertained (7), under Hissar Cattle Farm charges (25), under Prizes for cattle show and for the encouragement of cattle-breeding (12) and under Camel Specialist (9) due to a temporary vacancy; in the Central Provinces (13) and in the United Provinces (14) spread over several detailed heads; in the Eastern Bengal and Assam (15) due to the deferment in the entertainment of certain establishments till the middle of the year; in the Punjab (21) due to lower rates of pay drawn by the Principal and Professors of the Veterinary College, to reduced charges for horse breeding operations and for country medicines; in Madras (29) due chiefly to the transfer to the Public Works Department of the provision of 26 for Hospitals and Dispensaries and in Bombay (49) chiefly in the salaries of officers owing to changes in the personnel, in the charges for the Northcote Cattle Farm, Charodi, and in those for purchase and keep, etc., of stallions and for supply of medicines. Under Experimental Cultivation also the Budget Estimate provided for a considerable advance over the actuals of the previous year and proved too high in most of the provinces. There were savings in India (11) due to smaller charges for Agricultural Experiments and for the Cotton Expert; in the Central Provinces (37) chiefly under Experimental Farm and Agricultural experiments due to reorganisation not having been fully given effect to; in the United Provinces (47) due to the partial utilisation of the reserve grant for agricultural developments, to transfers to the Public Works Department, to the non-entertainment of officers of the Provincial agricultural staff, partly counterbalanced by the debit to this head of charges on account of Deputy and Assistant Directors originally provided for under 3.—Land Revenue; in the Punjab (78) due to the provision for the development of the department not having been fully utilised; in Madras (20) due to a lapse in the lump provisions for the eradication of the palmyra disease in the Godavari District, and for other experiments, to the late organisation of the office of the Deputy Director of Southern Circle, and to the non-entertainment of the full sanctioned number of hands for the Farms, partly counterbalanced by an increase in the salary of the Director of Agriculture; and in Bombay (1,37) due to the non-utilisation of the lump provision of

1,00 for the Agricultural College, Poona, and to the transfer of the charges of the Agricultural School at Hyderabad to 3.—Land Revenue. These savings were to a small extent counterbalanced by exce-ses in Burma (30) due to an over-estimate of probable savings, and in Eastern Bengal and Assam (18) due to larger outlay on experimental farms, specially at Rangpur. Other Charges exceeded the Budget by 38, chiefly in the United Provinces (34) due to an additional grant sanctioned for the Macdonnell Park and to larger outlay on Provincial fairs chiefly Magh Mela, and in Madras (46) under Cinchona Plantations due to the purchase of a reserve stock of bark; the excesses were partly counterbalanced by savings chiefly in Bengal (20) under Salaries and Temporary Establishment of Cinchona Plantations, and in Bombay (16) under Botanical and other Public Gardens. Under Labour and Emigration there was a saving of 22 distributed over the several provinces chiefly in the charges of the Inland Labour Transport Fund in Eastern Bengal and Assam and in those of the Inspector of Factories in Bombay. Under Statistics there was an excess of 34 chiefly in India (9) under Establishment charges of the Bureau of Commercial Intelligence (6), and in Bengal (15) under salaries. Under Miscellaneous there was an excess of 18, the net result, chiefly of small variations in the several provinces. In India the purchase of books and office furniture for the Imperial Library somewhat exceeded the Budget. In the Central Provinces the Budget did not include provision for the Industrial Survey undertaken during the year (9). In Madras there was a saving of 14 due to lapses in the provision for the chrome-tanning and weaving departments on account of wages of workmen, materials and tools and plant; partly covered by a slight excess in "Examination" charges and by the transfer to this head from 32—Miscellaneous, of the charges on account of the Fishery Bureau.

166. In England there was an excess of £1,0. The account included £7,5 in respect of the Franco British Exhibition, but on the other hand there was a decrease of £6,7 in payment for the Imperial and Provincial Gazetteers of India. The demand for stores was also higher.

167. The receipts in this Section exceeded the Budget Estimate by £8,3 or R1,25 but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by £199,3 or R29,90. The improvement over the Budget occurred under Superannuation Receipts (£23,3 or R3,50) chiefly on account of the sale of the Calcutta Municipal Debentures belonging to the Calcutta Police Superannuation Fund, under Stationery and Printing (£15,0 or R2,25) due to the stoppage of certain free supplies by the Calcutta Central Press, and under Miscellaneous (£8,8 or R1,32) chiefly due to large lapses of unclaimed deposits which absorbed the loss due to the abolition of the recovery of audit fees from Local Funds. These increases were partly covered by a deficiency under Exchange (£38,8 or R5,82) due to reduced net receipts on account of the capital transactions of the Madras Railway.

168. As compared with the previous year, Superannuation and Stationery and Printing receipts were higher by £27,0 or R4,05 and £11,8 or R1,77 respectively for causes already mentioned. On the other hand Exchange receipts were lower by £95,5 or R14,33 chiefly owing to a lower average rate of the Secretary of State's bills, and Miscellaneous receipts were lower by £142,6 or R21,39 owing to two instalments of the Tibetan Indemnity and certain special receipts having been credited in the previous year, and to the abolition of the recovery of audit fees from Local Funds.

169. The receipts in India exceeded the Budget by 3,18 and the actuals of the previous year by 3,73, chiefly on account of the sale proceeds of the Calcutta Municipal Debentures belonging to the Calcutta Police Superannuation Fund (3,53). Under Subscriptions to the Military Orphan and Medical Retiring Funds the Budget was exceeded by 28 chiefly in the higher net proceeds of the Orphanganj Bazar at Kidderpore in Bengal, a fluctuating item of receipt; in Bombay marriage donations were rather high. Subscriptions under the Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations proved less than the Budget by 18, the result of minor fluctuations in the several provinces; the Budget in India was pitched too low and that in Bombay too high. Subscriptions to the Civil Funds fell short by 30 chiefly in the United Provinces (15) and in Madras (7) due to retirement of senior members, the fund being closed to new entrants. Under Contributions for Pensions and Gratuities the Budget in India was an overestimate, but the decrease on this account was more than made up by increases chiefly in Bengal due to a larger number of officers having been lent on Foreign Service, in the United Provinces due to increased pensionary contributions on behalf of District Board employés, and in the North-West Frontier Province due to special credits on account of capitalized value of Pensions of Local Fund employés. Under Other Items the Budget in India represented deductions on account of Marine Pension Fund. The high receipts in Bengal have already been explained.

170. The increase in England was on account of the Indian Civil Fund and the Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations due to larger payments of leave allowances in England, partly counterbalanced by a decrease in the subscriptions to the Military Funds.

XXIII.—Stationery and Printing—concluded.

171. The total receipts exceeded the Budget by 2,25, and the actuals of the previous year by 1,76 due chiefly to the abolition of free supply of types and other printing materials turned out by the Calcutta Central Press and to improved sale of Gazettes and other Publications in India and in the United Provinces. Under Receipts from Sale of Stationery the increase in India over the Budget Estimate was due to larger cash sales to District Boards in the United Provinces and to several new railways under construction; in the Punjab also, there were extra demands for new construction projects, and certain payments relating to the year 1906-07 were adjusted in 1907-08. On the other hand, in the United Provinces the receipts from supplies to State Railways were less than estimated. There were considerable improvements under Sale of Gazettes and other Publications in India and in the United Provinces, the latter chiefly on account of Miscellaneous forms and publications. Other Press Receipts exceeded the Budget by 72 chiefly in India on account of Provincial Government Presses and other Presses under the Government of India having been charged for the supply of type and other printing materials hitherto supplied free. On the other hand, there were smaller receipts from sale of rasid bahis in the Central Provinces.

172. The actuals under this head vary with the average rate of exchange and with the variations in the sterling transactions of the Railways.

173. The Budget was as usual calculated at an average rate of 16*d.* the Rupee, but the actual average rate proved to be better, viz, 16 0296*d.* This accounted for the net credit of 4,92 under Net Expenditure in England. Under Guaranteed Companies the Budget provided for a credit of 64 composed of a debit of 8,86 based on an estimated net receipt of £214,0 on the Capital account of the Madras Railway and a credit 9,50 for recoveries on account of stores used on Revenue Account. The Capital transactions in India of that Railway (excluding an item of £746,6 being the amount of sterling overdraft passed on to Railway Construction on the purchase of the Railway), however, resulted in a net receipt of £17,4 only and led to a net debit under Exchange on Capital transactions of 59. The Credit under Revenue Stores budgetted for was, however, almost realized being short by 36 only. The other changes represent normal fluctuations.

174. The Indian receipts fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 19,54 chiefly under Extraordinary Items, as the accounts of the previous year included two instalments of the Tibetan Indemnity against one in the year of report, and also included special receipts in Bombay. There were higher receipts in the previous year under Other Items and under Government Audit Fees, as all recoveries from Local Funds on account of Government audit were stopped from 1st April 1907. The Budget Estimate did not anticipate the abolition of these recoveries, but the loss was more than made up by increased recoveries on account of Unclaimed Deposits and Premium on Bills. On the whole, the Budget was left behind by 1,31.

175. The figures under Gain by Exchange on Transactions in India represented net gain by exchange on transactions in local currency in certain India Treasuries. Under Premium on Bills the Budget was exceeded by 1,11 chiefly on account of heavy bills drawn locally in Burma and by Calcutta on Burma to finance a bumper rice crop in Lower Burma; there was also a greater demand for transfers of Funds between Bombay and the other Presidency towns. The head Unclaimed Deposits is more or less an uncertain head as the lapses cannot be foreseen. The Budget was exceeded by 1,69 chiefly in the Central Provinces (58), where the unusually heavy lapses of the previous year have been maintained, in the United Provinces (91) in Civil Court Deposits, in the Punjab (46) and in the Bombay (25) due to large lapses of Revenue and Civil Court deposits in the East Khandesh and Surat Districts and to larger transfers to Government of lapsed property and assets by the Bombay Small Cause Court and the Administrator General. On the other hand, the lapses in Eastern Bengal and Assam were considerably less than were estimated. Under Government Audit Fees the decrease is explained by the remission of all recoveries from local bodies other than Court of Wards Estates for audit fees not paid prior to 1st April 1907. In Madras certain amounts realized after that date and before the receipt of the orders were refunded and charged to 32—Miscellaneous, instead of being taken in reduction of the charges under this head. Under Contributions the receipts fell short of the Budget by 12. In the Central Provinces (9) certain Wards Estates were relinquished; in Burma (8) the recovery of a temporary contribution of 30 from the Provincial Revenues to the Moulmein Municipality was ordered to be made in four instalments instead of in two as originally arranged. In Eastern Bengal and Assam the Budget provision represented recovery of Banking fees from local funds subsequently remitted under orders of Government. In Madras the decrease was due to the discontinuance of the recovery of contributions from District Municipalities on account of Local Audit Establishments. On the other hand, the Budget was exceeded in Bombay in the Local section on account of increased contributions from Municipalities and private persons, and in Bengal due to receipts from the Barasat-Basirhat Light Railway for which no provision was made in the Budget. Under Rents there was an increase of 55 over the Budget chiefly in Madras (72) and was caused by realization of arrears and by special receipts (46) on account of sale proceeds of certain Choultry lands in the Mannargudi Taluk and of occupancy rights in the gardens attached to a certain Chatram. There was an increase also in Burma (14) due to increased collection of bazar license fees due to a change in the date of collection; but on the other hand, there were decreases chiefly in the United Provinces due to lower rents from Nazul lands. Under Extraordinary Items the actuals represented the last instalment of the Tibetan Indemnity in India and adjustments on account of commutation value of Wasika pensions in the United Provinces and on account of Capitalized outstandings of the Bombay Port Trust Loans not bearing interest. Under Other Items increases in India, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Madras and Bombay were nearly counterbalanced by decreases in the Central Provinces, Bengal, the United Provinces and the Punjab. In India the increase (93) occurred chiefly in the value of currency notes written off (36), for which no provision was made in the Budget, and in increased recoveries for Percentages on Europe Stores (47). In Eastern Bengal and Assam the increase occurred in the recoveries on account of Percentage on Europe Stores and Law Charges. In Madras Pearl Fishery Receipts were higher by 18; there was a credit of 24 on account of the gain on the purchase of Government paper out of Railway cess receipts, and an excess credit of 13 on account of surpluses transferred from Provident Funds. In Bombay the increase occurred under Percentage on Europe Stores (12) and under Recovery of Famine Relief Expenditure (7). On the other hand, there were decreases in the Central Provinces on account of sale of plots of land for the Sitabuldi extension, in Bengal due to overestimate and in the United Provinces and the Punjab due to smaller receipts from sale of lands and houses.

176. In England the actuals of the previous year included specially heavy fines on contractors for stores.

177. The total charges in this Section exceeded the Budget Estimate by £127,1 or R19,07 and the actuals of the previous year by £230,0 or R34,50. The excess over the Budget occurred under Territorial and Political Pensions (£11,0 or R1,65) due chiefly to a special payment to Prince Victor Dhuleep Singh in England, under Civil Furlough and Absentee allowances (£9,1 or R1,37) due chiefly to payment of privilege leave allowances of officers on combined leave at Home, under Stationery and Printing (£89,9 or R13,49) chiefly on account of heavy purchases for the Central Stores, and under Miscellaneous (£38,5 or R5,77) chiefly in the charges of Special Commissions of Enquiry, partly counterbalanced by a saving (£21,4 or R3,21) in Superannuation charges due to the transfer of Marine Pensions to the Military Services.

178. Compared with the previous year, there were increases under all the heads. The increases under Territorial and Political Pensions, Civil Furlough and Absentee allowances and Stationery and Printing were due to causes already mentioned, as well as to an increase in the charges for Government Presses under the last mentioned head. There was also a growth in the Superannuation charges (£38,1 or R5,71). Miscellaneous charges where higher by £10,9 or R1,64 chiefly on account of Special Commissions of Enquiry, partly counterbalanced by the inclusion in the previous year's accounts of arrear charges due to the visit of the Prince of Wales and of Khedda charges in Burma transferred to Forest.

179. Under this head the expenditure in India fell short of the Budget Estimate by 29 but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 4. The saving on the Budget occurred chiefly in the United Provinces, Bengal and the Central Provinces caused by lapses and non-drawal of pensions, partly set off by an excess in Bombay due to payment of arrears of pension. Under Territoral and Political Pensions the chief variations were savings in the Central Provinces, Bengal and the United Provinces and excesses in India and Bombay. The savings in the Central Provinces were caused by lapses; in Bengal they were due to short payment of pensions to the Nizamat Family owing to death, and to non-drawal of pensions for four months of the year by Raja Makunda Deb of Khurda, partly reduced by an excess drawn by Prince Buktyar Shah for purchase of furniture. Non-drawal of a quarterly instalment of pension by the Maharaja of Benares (25) and an excess payment to Husain Mirza Khan and Mustafai Begam on account of arrear pensions (12) not provided for in the Budget but sanctioned by the Government of India, produced a saving in the United Provinces. The increase in Bombay was due chiefly to the payment of arrear pensions to the Angria Family. The small excess in India was the net result of increased payment of Pensions to the family of Sardar Mahomed Hosain Khan and to certain Carnatic stipendiaries and of short payment of Miscellaneous pensions not exceeding Rs. 5,000 per annum caused by transfer or death. The savings in the grants for Charitable Allowances were small and distributed over several provinces.

180. In England the excess was caused by a special payment to Prince Victor Duleep Singh.

183. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 88 on the Budget Estimate but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 5,57. The variations occurred, as usual, chiefly under Superannuation and Retired Allowances which form the bulk of the charges under this head. The progressive growth of these pensions owing to new admissions exceeding the lapses by death, etc., was fairly closely anticipated in the Budget Estimates in all the Provinces except in Bombay where the growth was allowed for at too liberal a rate, and in India where the allowance was too meagre. Imperial Marine Department Pensions hitherto charged under this head have been transferred to the Military group. The Budget in Bombay included 43 on this account.

184. The following statement shows the growth of pension charges during the last six years:—

1902-1903	1,16,58
1903-1904	1,21,75
1904-1905	1,28,38
1905-1906	1,33,20
1907-1908	1,43,29

185. Under Pensions of the Military Funds the Budget was pitched too high in the United Provinces. Under Other charges there was an unusually large refund in Bombay in March 1908 on account of pension contributions received from the members of the superior educational staff of the Raj Kumar College, Kathiawar.

186. The saving in England was caused by the transfer of Marine Pensions to the Military group. Allowing for this, there was an excess in the pensions of officers of the Uncovenanted Services, partly counterbalanced by savings in payments on account of Medical Funds and Civil Service Pensions.

187. The total Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget by 8,92 and the actuals of the previous year by 10,33 chiefly on account of heavier purchases of stationery, etc., for the Central Stores, Calcutta and Bombay. Charges on account of Government Presses also considerably exceeded those of the previous year. Under Stationery Office at the Presidency the Budget was exceeded by 17 chiefly due to the re-organisation of the establishment and to higher contingent charges of the office of the Controller of Stationery and Printing in India. An additional grant of 12 was sanctioned in Financial Department No. 1191A., dated 27th February 1908, to meet the excess. Under Purchase of Stationery the Budget was exceeded by 10,03 chiefly in India (8,74) on account of large purchases of stationery for the Central Stores for which additional grants aggregating 8,15 were sanctioned by the Government of India. Excesses also occurred in the purchases for the central stores in Madras (30) and in Bombay (1,12), the latter due partly to an increased demand and substitution of country-made azure laid paper for the imported article and partly to the failure by the manufacturers to supply printing papers to the presses before the end of the year 1906-07. Under Government Presses there were savings in India due to a larger deduction on account of printing work done for the Postal and Telegraph Departments, in Burma due to increased establishment not having been entertained in full and in Bombay due to the non-utilization of the provision for printing and binding charges of the Sind Gazetteer, and to smaller expenditure on raw material and freight. These savings were, however, more than counterbalanced by excesses in the Central Provinces due to the cost of stores and materials, the supply of which free of cost from the Central Stores, Calcutta had been stopped, to revision of and grant of grain compensation to establishments and to increased expenditure on overtime allowances and carriage of stationery; in Eastern Bengal and Assam due to the opening of the Jail Press at Dacca and to the expansion of the Government Press at Shillong; in Bengal chiefly in the charges of piece work establishment in the Bengal Secretariat and Presidency Jail Presses and in the grant of grain compensation allowance; and in the United Provinces due mainly to larger outlay on purchase of raw material (13) and Contingencies. Under Stationery Supplied from Central Stores the demands proved higher than the Budget in all Provinces excepting the North-West Frontier Province. In Bengal there was a considerable increase under Law and Justice and Police due chiefly to the supply of Pen Carbon and Kohinoor pencils for the first time; there was also an excess in Press expenditure. In the United Provinces extra supplies of paper were required by the Superintendent, Government Press. In Madras the excess was caused by the supply of a larger quantity of hand made paper to the Police and Registration Departments and of special printing paper to the Government Press and by the increased consumption of stationery by the Public Works and Army Departments. In Bombay there were heavy demands from the Yeravda Jail Press and increased supply of typewriters and accessories to Government Offices. In the other Provinces the excess is attributed to underestimate of the demands for stores by the Controller of Stationery and Printing. The value of stationery supplied for the Postal and Telegraph Departments was underestimated in the Budget. Under Other Charges the Budget was exceeded chiefly in the Central Provinces (21), mainly owing to (10) on account of Printing Kotwars' receipt books for which no provision existed and (8) on account of the purchase of Lithographic materials for the Amraoti Jail Press; and in the Punjab (30) due to the printing charges of Patwaris' forms having been debited to this head.

188. In England the Budget was considerably exceeded owing to heavier demands for stores.

(a) Excess over reduced grant.

32.—Miscellaneous—concluded.

189. The total Indian Charges exceeded the Budget Estimate by 4,18 chiefly in India due to charges for Special Commissions of Enquiry for which additional grants were sanctioned. The actuals of the previous year were greater by 74, as they included arrear charges in connection with the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales in India and Khedda charges in Burma transferred to 11—Forest in accordance with the terms of the Provincial Settlement, partly counterbalanced by higher charges on account of Special Commissions of Enquiry.

190. Allowances and Rewards exceeded the Budget chiefly on account of the grant of a large number of language rewards in Burma. Under Remittance Charges there were excesses due to heavy remittances from Bombay and Calcutta, but these were more than counterbalanced by savings in some of the other provinces chiefly in the Punjab due to over-estimate and in Madras due to the absence of heavy remittances to Calcutta and Bombay contemplated in the Budget. Under Charitable Donations, an increased grant of 36 budgeted for the Hospital Nurses Institution in Bengal was not drawn upon; in Bombay the Budget was pitched too high. On the other hand, there were excesses chiefly in the Punjab due to a building grant of 15 for the Strangers' Home and in the United Provinces on account of grants for charities and for maintenance of indigent persons in connection with the scarcity. There was a small excess under Rewards for Destruction of Wild Animals, chiefly the result of an enhancement in the rates of rewards in the United Provinces. Under Petty Establishments there was a saving of 39, made of excesses in the Central Provinces and Bombay, and savings chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam. In Eastern Bengal and Assam the saving was mainly due to the transfer of the subsidies for Tonga Service and the Assam Bengal Railway to the head Other Items. The increase in the Central Provinces was mainly on account of payment for Tonga Dak Establishment between Panchmarhi and Pinparia for the period 1st April 1906 to February 1908, while that in Bombay was in connection with petty Conservancy Establishments. There was a large excess under Special Commissions of Enquiry chiefly in India which included a provision of 14 for the Factory Labour Committee and a lump provision of 1,00. Against these, actual charges were incurred 44 on account of the Decentralisation Committee (for which an additional grant of 50 was sanctioned in Finance Department No. 1356 A. dated 4th March 1908), 1,10 on account of the Royal Commission on Decentralisation (for which an additional grant of 1,12 was sanctioned in Financial Department No. 1145 A., dated 24th February 1908), 1,25 on account of the Factory Labour Committee (for which an addittonal grant of 1,35 was sanctioned in Financial Department No. 7674 A., dated 23rd December 1907), 53 on account of the Civil Procedure Code Committee, 27 on account of the Telegraph Committee and 2 on account of the Excise Committee. In Bengal the excess was in connection with the Fisheries Enquiry In Eastern Bengal and Assam and the Punjab there were no Budget provisions, but expenditure on account of the Ministerial Officers' Committee and the Colonization Committee were charged to this head. In Madras the saving was due to the transfer of 43 on account of Fishery Bureau to 26—Scientific, etc. Departments, and to a lapse of 8 in the provision for the Public Works Establishment Committee. The increase under Irrecoverable Loans written-off (56) occurred in Burma, the Punjab and Bombay, partly counterbalanced by decreases in the Central Provinces and Eastern Bengal and Assam. The excess in Burma was due to advances made to Damin fishermen in Myaungmya District, and to Forest and Agricultural advance written off under orders of Government. The excess in the Punjab was due to an underestimate, and that in Bombay to large refunds and writes-back of loans to agriculturists. The decreases in the Central Provinces and Eastern Bengal and Assam were due to smaller amounts of loans and advances having been written off than budgeted for. Under Rents, Rates and Taxes there was an excess of 32, made up of excesses in India, Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam and a saving in Bombay. The excess in India was due to larger payments of municipal rates and taxes on Imperial buildings in Simla and Calcutta; that in Burma to enhanced rates of municipal taxes on Government buildings, and that in Eastern Bengal and Assam to an underestimate. The saving in Bombay was due to the tax payable to the Bombay municipality being calculated at a lower rate and to the provision for the arrears of 1904-05 to 1906-07 not being required. There was a net saving of 60 under Other Items. The saving in India was chiefly due to recovery of compensation paid in excess in the previous year in connection with the Delhi Arts Exhibition. In the Central Provinces a provision of 39 for payment to the Nagpur Municipality from the surplus sale proceeds of Nazul lands for the Sitabaldi extension lapsed, as the plots were not sold. The decrease in Bengal was chiefly due to savings under Khedda and Miscellaneous and Unforeseen Charges; the Revised provided for certain special refunds which however were not paid during the year. In Bombay the provision for grants-in-aid to municipalities in aid of sanitary projects was not fully utilized. Against these savings there were increases in Eastern Bengal and Assam, due to transfer of certain charges from the head Petty Establishments; in the Punjab due to refunds to the Municipal Committee of Amritsar on account of its share in the sale of Nazul property; in Madras chiefly due to arrear payments for foreign periodicals, to contributions to municipalities in aid of their balances and to the refund to the Madras Port Trust and Madras Corporations on account of audit fees recovered but subsequently remitted by the Government of India.

191. The increased charges in England were chiefly due to payments in connection with probationers for the Indian Civil Service, and to large expenditure on account of Special Commissions and Committees.

192. As a result of unfavourable agricultural conditions in the Central Provinces and the United Provinces the actuals under direct Famine Relief exceeded the Budget by £567,6 or R85,14. Protective Railways showed an excess of (R64 or £4,3) but Protective Irrigation works showed savings of R7,42 or £49,5. A sum of R37,50 or £250,0 was assigned to the several Provincial Govenments in order to enable them to build up a reserve of credit with the Imperial Government in accordance with the arrangements described in paragraphs 49—54 of the Financial Statement for 1907-08. The total Famine Insurance grant was exceeded by £301,7 or R45,25 and no Imperial Appropriation for Reduction or Avoidance of Debt was made.

193. The following statement shows the total amount chargeable to this grant, and its distribution.

194. There was a large excess due to the unfavourable agricultural conditions in the Central Provinces and the United Provinces. In the Central Provinces the circumstances improved somewhat towards the end of the year but in the United Provinces they got worse. Out of the civil excesses, 12 (Imperial) in India, 268 (Imperial) and 268 (Provincial) in the United Provinces, 23 (Imperial) and 16 (Local) in the Punjab and of the Departmental excesses 631 (Imperial) in India await sanction.

196. The outlay in India fell short of the Budget Estimate by 7,90, the decreases occurring chiefly in the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, and Bombay, and under India (Reserve), partly counterbalanced by heavier outlay in Bengal. The decrease in the Central Provinces was mainly due to survey operations having been brought to a close in several districts earlier than anticipated, in the United Provinces to short outlay on the Ken and Dassan Canals, due to progress of work on the former being retarded owing to constant running of the canal to meet the demand for water, and on the latter, to great scarcity of labour and in Bombay to progress of work on the Chankapur tank having been hindered by an epidemic of pneumonia and fever, and to a decrease in establishment charges. The excess in Bengal is accounted for by the vigorous prosecution of work on the Tribeni Canal. The actuals of the year exceeded those of the previous year by 8,04, due chiefly to larger expenditure on the Ramtek Reservoir and Wara tank in the Central Provinces, on the Tribeni Canal in Bengal, and on the Godaveri Canal, Chankapur Tank, and the preparation of projects for inclusion in Famine Relief programmes in Bombay, partly counterbalanced by a lapse in Madras owing to suspension of work on the Mopad project and to investigation work having been practically discontinued during 1907-08.

197. The provincial grants represent the annual assignments made to Local Governments in accordance with the revised arrangements for Provincial Expenditure on Famine Relief described in paragraphs 49 to 54 of the Financial Statement for 1907-08. Owing to the heavy charges for direct Famine Relief in the United Provinces the Famine Insurance grant was exceeded and no appropriation was made for Reduction on Avoidance of Debt against India.

199. The above figures show that the net result of the working of all railways was a gain of £1,572,5 after meeting all charges for interest, annuities, etc., which compared with the gain in the previous year shows a decrease of £740,9 or R1,11,14. Under Receipts there was an increase of £1,288,4 or R1,93,26 due mainly to the opening of additional mileage, development of passenger traffic, larger coal traffic on the East Indian Railway and movements of food grains to Famine districts on the East Indian, Tirhoot, Oudh and Rohilkhand and North Western Railways. The total charges were more by £2,029,4 or R3,04,41 made up of an increase of £1,735,1 or R2,60,27 in working expenses due to increased train mileage, higher cost of coal, heavier renewals of Permanent-way, engines and vehicles, increased pay of station and train staff, and the grant of grain compensation allowances, and an increase of £294,3 or R44,14 in charges for interest, annuities, etc., consequent on the increased capital employed.

201. State Railways.—The gross receipts under India for the year 1907-08 show an increase compared with the actuals of the previous year of 2,28,31. The variations on the more important railways were as under:—

202. There was thus without exception an improvement in the earnings of all the more important railway systems.

203. The principal increases were due:—On the Bengal-Nagpur Railway (9,93) chiefly to improved coaching wheat and manganese ore traffic; on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway (10,44) to development of 3rd class passenger traffic and fluctuations in suspense; on the Burma Railways (16,17) to improved rice and paddy traffic and the opening of new extensions; on the Eastern Bengal Railway (12,21) to general development and diversion of traffic from the East Indian Railway consequent on the strike; East Indian Railway (19,75) to development of passenger and coal traffic and imports of rice from Burma for despatch to famine districts; on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway (6,00) to adjustment of freights carried in previous years in the accounts for the year under review; on the Indian Midland Railway (1,55) to carriage of grain for famine districts; on the North-Western Railway (58,63) to the opening of the Shahdara-Sangla Railway and improved wheat traffic to Karachi and famine districts; on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway (16,89) to import of food grains from Burma and the Punjab consequent on famine; on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway (2,20) to improved 3rd class traffic and fluctuations in outstandings; on the South Indian Railway (22,12) due to the reconstitution of the system and general development; on the Southern Mahratta Railway (15,14) to the reconstitution of the system and improved traffic in cotton, oil seeds and manganese ore; and on the Tirhoot State Railway (9,88) to the opening of the additional mileage and the prevalence of famine conditions in the United Provinces.

204. Compared with the Budget Estimate there was a net gain of 82,88 made up as follows:—

Gains (+)		Losses (−)
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	1,21	Bengal-Nagpur	6,19
Burma	10,89	Great Indian Peninsula	16,47

Other Railways—Imperial	2,82

205. The above results were due generally to the same causes as account for the variations compared with the actuals of the previous year, the losses being due to an overestimate of what the railways would earn above the previous year's actuals.

206. Guaranteed railways.—The actuals show a decrease compared with those of the previous year owing to the transactions from 1st January 1908 having been included in the reconstituted South Indian and Southern Mahratta Railway Systems after purchase of the old Madras Railway.

STATE RAILWAYS—IMPERIAL.

Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

1906-7. Accounts. R		1907-8. Budget. R	1907-8. Revised. R	1907-8. Accounts. R

6,11	Miscellaneous and Suspense	10,00	6,75	8,03
2,73,88	TOTAL	2,90,00	2,80,00	2,83,81

207. The receipts exceeded those of the previous year by 9,93 due chiefly to development of coaching traffic, larger exports of wheat from the Satpura and Chhatisgarh Districts, development of manganese ore traffic, and additional open mileage. The decrease of 6,19 compared with the Budget Estimate was mainly due to the failure of the rice and paddy crops consequent on the premature ending of the monsoon and to the floods in Orissa.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India.

2,00,77	TOTAL	2,10,00	2,10,00	2,11,21

208. The increase of 10,44 compared with the actuals of the previous year was due to development of ordinary 3rd class passenger traffic consequent on reduction in fares and to fluctuations in suspense. The increase was to a certain extent counterbalanced, by a decrease in Goods Traffic consequent on the falling off in bookings of cotton grain and oil-seeds owing to failure of crops and reduced freights on coal.

Burma Railways.

1,58,72	TOTAL	1,64,00	1,73,00	1,74,89

209. The increase of 16,17 compared with the actuals of the previous year was due to general development of traffic on the main line and the opening of the new extensions, the increase under Goods Traffic chiefly in rice and paddy being particularly noticeable. The increase of 10,89 on the Budget Estimate is attributable generally to the same causes.

Eastern Bengal Railway.

2,53,83	TOTAL	2,60,00	2,65,00	2,66,04

7,98,58	TOTAL	8,10,03	8,25,03	8,18,33

211. The increase of 19,75 compared with the actuals of the previous year was due to development of passenger traffic and to larger goods traffic chiefly in coal and rice imported from Burma for despatch to famine districts. The increase would have been much larger but for the strike that occurred in November 1907, by which there was an estimated loss of about 15 lakhs. Development of passenger traffic also accounts chiefly for the increase of 8,30 over the Budget Estimate.

Great Indian Peninsula Railway.

5,07,53	TOTAL	5,30,00	5,23,00	5,13,53

212. The increase of 6,00 compared with the actuals of the previous year occurred chiefly under Suspense, due largely to freight on traffic carried during previous years adjusted during the year under review. Under Goods Traffic there was a falling off of 11,15 due to failure of export traffic in cotton, linseed and other seeds. The decrease of 16,47 compared with the Budget Estimate was due to the falling off in goods traffic.

6,36,09	TOTAL	6,60,00	7,10,00	6,94,72

214. The increase of 58,63 compared with the actuals of the previous year was due to the inclusion of the Kalka-Simla Railway in the North Western Railway system, to a large increase in 3rd class passenger traffic attributable to the opening of the Shahdara-Sangla Railway and to increases in wheat and grain traffic to Karachi, and in a lesser degree to famine stricken districts. The increase was to a certain extent anticipated and provided for in the Budget Estimate.

215. The increase of 16,89 compared with the actuals of the previous year occurred wholly under goods traffic due to import of food grain from Rangoon, the Punjab, and other trade centres consequent on the famine. The increase of 11,45 compared with the Budget Estimate was due to the same cause.

Under goods traffic there was a decrease of 6,39 due to a falling off in bookings of food grains and salt. The decrease of 9,20 compared with the Budget Estimate was due to the falling off in goods traffic.

The earnings of the Southern Mahratta Railway itself showed an improvement in traffic in raw cotton, oil seeds and manganese ore. 220. Compared with the actuals of the previous year there was a net increase in receipts of 26,34 made up of increases aggregating 55,08 and decreases 28,74. The principal increases were 2,21 on the Assam Bengal Railway due to general development of passenger and goods traffic, 1,24 on the Bhopal State Railway due to movements of wheat and other food grains to Famine Districts, 4,20 due to opening to traffic of the Burma Railway Extensions, 38,79 on the Madras Section, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, due to the inclusion of the transactions for the 3 months January to March 1908 under this head, 4,24 on the Mysore State Railway due to improved traffic in cotton and oil-seeds, 1,45 on the Nagda Muttra Railway due to opening of the railway to traffic and 1,19 on the Tinnevelly-Quilon Railway due to general development of traffic.

221. The principal decreases were 3,37 (nominal) on the Guntakul Mysore Frontier Railway due to the inclusion of the transactions for the period January to March 1908 with those of the Southern Mahratta Railway, 7,58 (nominal) on the Kalka-Simla Railway due to the absorption of this line in the North Western Railway system and 15,80 (nominal) on the North East line Madras Railway due to the inclusion of the figures for 3 months, January to March 1908, with those of the Madras Section, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway.

The recovery from the Mysore Durbar is in settlement of the net charge for interest paid to the Southern Mahratta Railway Company, in connection with the Mysore Railway. The details of the amounts are as follows:—

The recovery from the Travancore Durbar is on account of—

(i) interest on so much of the South Indian Railway debentures as have been raised for the Native State Section of the Tinnevelly-Quilon Railway, and

(ii) interest on Government advances, i.e., on outlay in excess of the amount of debenture capital raised in respect of the section.

The recovery due from the Ahmedabad-Dholka Railway Company represents interest and dividends on the shares aggregating R59,900 allotted to Government in respect of survey expenditure, and the value of famine earthwork at normal rates, which is treated as a Government share in the undertaking.

226. The credits under England represent the amounts received from the Rohilkhand-Kumaon and Southern Punjab Railway Companies, in settlement of the Government share of the surplus profits of those Railways.

227. The details of these amounts by individual railways are given on pages 17 and 18. An explanation of the variations compared with the actuals of the previous year and figures of the Budget Estimate is given below. Of the excess of 2,26,98 under Imperial 1,58,60 has been sanctioned and 68,37 requires to be sanctioned. Under Provincial the excess of 10 in Eastern Bengal and Assam has been sanctioned by the Local Government.

228. Compared with the actuals of the previous year there was an increase in working expenses of 15,74 due mainly to higher price of coal, heavier repairs and renewals of engines and boilers, the fitting of coaching vehicles with passenger communication and latrine accommodation, repairs to goods vehicles damaged in accidents, revision of scale of pay and allowances of station and train staff, grant of grain compensation allowance, and generally to the larger traffic worked. The increase of 5,63 compared with the Budget Estimate is attributable to the same causes.

229. The increase in working expenses of 2,91 compared with the actuals of the previous year was due to the relaying of 40 miles of permanent way in the Bombay Division with 90lb rails. The increase would have been larger but for the discontinuance of the pooling arrangement necessitating certain writes-back of expenditure to the Rajputana-Malwa Railway. The increase of 4,15 over the Budget provision is attributable generally to the same cause.

230. The increase of 6,21 in working expenses compared with the actuals of the previous year was due to larger expenditure on renewals of locomotives and rolling stock, increased train mileage and rise in the price of coal. Also to the appointment of additional staff necessary to cope with the increased traffic. The increase of 8,80 compared with the Budget Estimate is attributable to the same causes.

232. The increase of 24,43 in working expenses compared with the actuals of the previous year occurred chiefly under Locomotive and Traffic due to increased engine mileage consequent on the heavier traffic worked, and to the appointment of additional staff, increases in grade pay, and bonuses to staff for extra work done during the strike. Heavier repairs of goods stock and payment of grain compensation allowance also contributed to the increase. The increase of 36,20 compared with the Budget Estimate is attributable generally to the same causes.

A larger share of these charges than were anticipated in the Budget Estimate fell to the Tirhoot Railway owing to its increased earnings.

252. The total outlay under Imperial is more than that of the previous year by 6,27. No useful comparison can be made between the outlay of the two years by individual projects, as surveys are being completed and new surveys are being started every year. The actuals under Imperial exceed the Budget Estimate by 4,40. Of this excess 2,70 are covered by reappropriation from head "40" under the Railway Board's sanction and 1,70 requires to be sanctioned.

255. The decrease as compared with the actuals of the previous year occurs principally under "XXIX.—Direct Receipts" in the Punjab and the United Provinces, due, in the former, to the revenue receipts having been abnormally high in 1906-07, and in the latter, mainly to the Rabi of 1906-07 not having been so favourable as the Rabi of 1905-06. The increase as compared with the Budget Estimate occurs principally under "XXX.—Minor Works and Navigation" in Burma, due to the share of land revenue and water rates hitherto classified as indirect revenue being treated as direct receipts.

XXIX and 42.—Major Works—concluded.

Direct Receipts—Imperial Works.

256. The actuals of the year show a falling off of 1,86 as compared with the Budget Estimate. This is made up mainly of increases in Burma (1,40), United Provinces (·81), N.-W. Frontier Province (1,59), Madras (1,21), and Bombay (·55), less a decrease in the Punjab (7,48). In Burma the improvement is due to the realisation of arrears outstanding at end of 1906-07 on the Mandalay Canal; in the United Provinces, to the extension of irrigation on the Betwa Canal and to the transfer of the Dun and Bijnor Canals to major works; in the North-West Frontier Province, to the transfer of the Kabul River Canal to the category of Productive Works and to better irrigation on the Lower Swat River Canal; in Madras, to water rate collections on the Kurnool Cuddapah having exceeded anticipations, consequent on the introduction of resettlement rates and a large sale of babool trees on the canal; and in Bombay to the collection of arrears of water-rate assessments on the Nira Canal and Shetphal tanks and of assessments for the Kharif season. In the Punjab the falling off is ascribed chiefly to the failure of certain crops on the Lower Chenab Canal and to the prevalence of plague on the Lower Jhelum. As compared with the previous year, there is a set-back of 6,43, made up chiefly of a decrease of 12,45 in the Punjab, due to the receipts having been abnormally high in 1906-07, counterbalanced to some extent by increases in Burma, due to development of irrigation and collection of arrears; in the North-West Frontier Province, to the transfer of the Kabul River Canal from minor to major works; in Madras, to the reasons above explained and the transfer of certain systems to major works; and in Bombay, to the recovery of arrears on the Nira Canal and Shetphal tanks.

Direct Receipts—Provincial Works.

257. As compared with the Budget Estimate the actuals show a small increase of R18 made up chiefly of increases in Bengal (1,82), the United Provinces (2,28), and Bombay (·55), less a decrease in the Punjab (4,47). The increase in Bengal is due to the expansion of irrigation on the Sone Canal and that in the United Provinces to the transfer of the Dun and Bijnor Canals to major works and to increase in the Kharif on account of a greater demand for canal water after the failure of the rains. The increase and decrease in Bombay and the Punjab, respectively, are explained under Imperial. Compared with the actuals of the past year, there is a drop of 13,70, which chiefly occurs in the United Provinces (8,09) and in the Punjab (7,47), partly counterbalanced by increases in Bombay (1,02) and Bengal (·84). The causes leading to these variations in the case of the Punjab and Bombay are explained above. In the United Provinces the decrease is due mainly to the rabi of 1906-07 not having been so favourable as the rabi of 1905-06, in which year the assessments on account of water rates were much higher, while the increase in Bengal is due to the expansion of irrigation on the Sone and Dhaka Canals and to the realisation of arrears on the latter.

258. The increase of 1,32 as compared with the Budget Estimate is made up chiefly of increases in he United Provinces (·96), the Punjab (1·16), and Madras (8,31), less a decrease in Bombay (8,88). In Madras the improvement is mainly due to the transfer of certain minor works to the category of major works from 1st April 1907, while the falling off in Bombay is ascribed to less cultivation owing to deficiency of water in certain canals in Sind and to scarcity of labour on the Jamrao Canal. Compared with the actuals of 1906-07 there was an improvement of 5,03 due to the transfer of the minor works above referred to in the case of Madras, less a decrease in Bombay owing to deficiency of water caused by unfavourable inundation.

N. B.—Under Revised and Accounts, 1907-08, the total revenue is divisible in the ratio of ⅗ths Imperial and ⅖ths Provincial for the Punjab, and of ½ Imperial and ½ Provincial in the case of Bombay.

Imperial Works.

259. The falling off of 56 as compared with the Budget Estimate is made up chiefly of a decrease of 1,45 in the North-West Frontier Province, due to the transfer of the Kabul River Canal from minor to major works from 1st April 1907 and of an increase in the Punjab (·63), owing to better irrigation on the Muzaffargarh, Lower Sutlej, and Chenab Inundation Canals. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the revenue is worse by 1,42, and occurs mainly in the North-West Frontier Province due to the reason above explained, and in India, (Baluchistan) owing to no recoveries of water rates due to a bad season.

Provincial and Local Works.

260. The actuals are better than the Budget Estimate by R10,02, made up mainly of increases in Burma (9,92) and Bengal (·72), less a decrease in the United Provinces (1,27). In Burma, the improvement is due to the share of land revenue and water rates hitherto accounted for in the Civil Department being brought on the books of the Public Works Department as direct receipts, while in Bengal the increase is due to better realisations under navigation and miscellaneous receipts. The decrease in the United Provinces is chiefly owing to the transfer of the Dun and Bijnor Canals to the category of major works from 1st April 1907. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the revenue is better to the extent of 8,67, being made up of an increase in Burma and a decrease in the United Provinces, attributable to the causes mentioned above.

Imperial Works.

262. The actuals exceed the Budget Estimate by 3,10 which is made up chiefly of increased outlay in the Punjab (4,08), North-West Frontier Province (1,17), Madras (1,63), less decreases in Burma (63) and 3,51 in Reserve under Budget. The excess in the Punjab is due to extensive repairs to the head works of the Western Jumna and Upper Bari Doab Canals having been found necessary and also to meet outlay on certain works on the Sirhind Canal, in the North-West Frontier Province to the transfer of the Kabul River Canal to major works and the opening of the Paharpur Canal, and in Madras to the transfer of 5 minor works to major works not taken into account when the Budget was prepared. The lapse in Burma was due to the requirements having been over-estimated. Compared with the previous year, the actuals show an excess of R6,02, which occurs principally in Burma (68), due to heavier maintenance charges on the Shwebo Canal consequent on its approaching completion, in the United Provinces ('65) owing to the opening of the Ken Canal, in the Punjab ('98), North-West Frontier Province (1,12) and Madras (2,25) to the reasons explained above. Of the Imperial excess over the Budget 14 requires to be sanctioned.

Provincial Works.

263. The actuals show an increase of 7,68 as compared with the Budget Estimate, which occurs in Bengal (3,21), the United Provinces (1,82), and the Punjab (2,44). The excess in Bengal is due to heavier charges for maintenance, repairs, and establishment on the Sone and Orissa Canals, in the United Provinces to increased cost of maintenance and establishment, and in the Punjab to reasons explained under Imperial. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there is an excess of 2,88, which occurs principally in Bengal (2,36), owing to larger expenditure having been found necessary for the upkeep and maintenance of the canals, for repairs of damages caused by floods, and on account of establishment owing to the transfer of certain officers from the Provincial to the Imperial Service, and in the Punjab ('59), which has been explained under Imperial.

The increase as compared with the actuals of the previous year is due to additional Capital outlay being taken into account although the rate of interest for 1906-07 was 3·437 per cent. against 3·412 per cent. for 1907-08.

266. The actuals fell short of those of the previous year by 1,44, which is made up chiefly of decreases in the United Provinces (1,60), the North-West Frontier Province (1,74), and Madras (2,36), counterbalanced partly by increases in the Central Provinces (1,42) and in Bombay (2,81). The lapses abovementioned are due to the transfer of the Dun and Bijnor Canals in the United Provinces, of the Kabul River Canal in the North-West Frontier Province, and of 5 systems in Madras from head "43" to "49" from 1st April 1907. In the Central Provinces the excess is due to a larger programme of works having been carried out, and in Bombay, chiefly to larger outlay on the survey of the proposed Rohri-Hyderabad Canal and to the construction of loops to the Sukkur-Begari and Hajipur Bunds. The lapse of 18,42 as compared with the Budget Estimate was mainly due to the full amount of the special reserve of 8 lakhs not having been utilised, and to lapses in Burma (2,12) due to requirements having been over-estimated, in Madras (3,45), due to the transfer of the 5 systems above referred to, and in Bombay (1,49) chiefly to the provision made for the construction of additional storage reservoirs for the Mutha Canal not having been utilised as the project was not sanctioned in time. The civil excesses of 1 (Imperial) in India and 2 (Local) in the N.-W. Frontier Province await sanction.

267. The improvement on the Budget Estimate is due chiefly to increased recoveries from rents of buildings, ferry receipts, sale of coal and sales of lands and houses. The decrease on the actuals of the previous year is due to a write back to Revenue in Bengal and to a decrease in receipts from the Royal Indian Engineering College, Cooper's Hill.

XXXI.—Civil Works—concluded.

Imperial Works.

268. The revenue realised by Departmental Officers was less than that of the previous year and the Budget Estimate and is due chiefly to a minus credit to Revenue in Bengal on account of certain machinery and stores received from the late Cooper's Hill College adjusted under "England" in 1906-07 and written back in 1907-08 under India as the machinery, etc., were distributed to Local Governments free of cost.

Provincial Works.

269. Compared with the Budget Estimate the actuals show an increase of 2,11 under Departmental Officers being mainly due in Eastern Bengal and Assam (27) to rents of buildings and sales of old material, in Bengal (66) to rents of building, fines, refunds, etc., and rents from Strand Bank and Maidan, in the Punjab (17), to rents of buildings and sale of materials, and in Bombay (79), to a receipt for the general mews and site taken over by the Bombay City Improvement Trust, sale of materials and tolls on roads. The increase of 2,04 on the actuals of 1906-07 is due in the Central Provinces (96) to sale of coal from the Bellarpur Colliery, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (29) chiefly to rents of buildings and ferry receipts, in Bengal (21) to rents of buildings and in Bombay (69) to the same causes mentioned above.

Local Works.

270. The revenue realised by Civil Officers exceeded the Budget Estimate by R2,23 being due in Eastern Bengal and Assam to ferry receipts and miscellaneous, in Bengal to tolls on ferries and contributions from private persons, in the Punjab to ferry receipts and sales of lands and houses and in Madras to sales of avenue clippings under "Miscellaneous." Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there is an improvement of 1,44, due in Eastern Bengal and Assam to canal and ferry receipts and fines, refunds and miscellaneous, in Bengal to tolls on ferries and contributions from private persons, in the Punjab to sales of land and houses and in Madras to sales of avenue clippings.

Imperial Works.

274. The actuals under Departmental Officers show an increase of 11,56, over those of the previous year and are due in Burma (3,40) to the terms of the new Provincial Settlement extending the classification of works as Imperial which, anterior to 1st April 1907, were Provincial, in the United Provinces (1,12), to increased outlay on Original Works, in the Punjab (4,65) to a more extensive programme of works, in the North-West Frontier Province (1,31) to outlay on metalled roads, and in Bombay (69) to outlay on the new General Post Office. These increases were counterbalanced by a decrease in Bengal (3,06) consequent upon outlay on account of land for the new Imperial Secretariat buildings being incurred in 1906-07, new Salt Golahs, Sulkea, and the new Agricultural College buildings at Pusa. The actuals have fallen short of the Budget Estimate by 32. This is made up of a decrease of 13,22 under "India which is due to the Budget figure, including a sum of 10,13 as a Reserve with the Government of India and to decreased expenditure in the Military Works Services (2,10). This decrease is counterbalanced by increased expenditure in the United Provinces (4,41), Punjab (5,37) and the North-West Frontier Province (2,75). Of the Imperial excess, 199 (Departmental) and 29 (Civil in E. B. and Assam) requires to be sanctioned.

Provincial Works.

275. The expenditure incurred by Departmental Officers exceeded that of the previous year by 41,43. The principal increases were in the Central Provinces (10,50) due chiefly to outlay on the new Secretariat building at Nagpur, engine for the Bellarpur Colliery, new District Court House, Nagpur, and on roads, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (12,27) to the construction of office and residential buildings at Dacca and improvements to roads and bridges, in Bengal (5,61) to extension of the High Court buildings, land for Government brick field, construction of a ward in the Campbell Hospital, land for extension of the Campbell Hospital and acquisition of property at Howrah for a site for the Reserve Police Barracks, in Madras (4,16) to the construction of several costly buildings and to increases under Establishment and "Suspense" and in Bombay (11,62) to several new works being undertaken during the year. These increases were counterbalanced by a reduction in the Punjab (4,72) due to curtailment of expenditure on account of unfavourable agricultural conditions. Compared with the Budget Estimate there is an increase of 14,60, due in the Central Provinces (9,21) mainly to expenditure on communications, in Burma (5,54) chiefly to expenditure on Police Works, in Eastern Bengal and Assam (3,89) to expenditure on Communications and Miscellaneous Public Improvements, in Bengal (2,54) to acquisition of property for a site for the Reserve Police at Howrah, and in Bombay (6,99) to several new works being undertaken during the year. These excesses were counterbalanced by lapses, in the United Provinces (3,35) and in the Punjab (5,20), due to curtailment of expenditure owing to unfavourable agricultural conditions, and in Madras (5,02) to short outlay on the Coimbatore water-supply, Madura drainage works, extension of water-supply, Tuticorin, and sinking town wells in Bezwada, Salem and Berhampore.

276. The expenditure incurred by Civil Officers was less than that of the previous year by 9,03 and is due in Eastern Bengal and Assam (2,41) to short outlay on Miscellaneous Public Improvements, in the United Provinces (3,68) to a decrease under Miscellaneous outlay, and in Madras (4,52) to short outlay on Miscellaneous Public Improvements. These were partially counterbalanced by an excess, in Bengal (2,17) under Miscellaneous Public Improvements. Compared with the Budget Estimate there was a lapse of 4,03, made up chiefly of lapses in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,67) and Bengal (3,96) counterbalanced by an excess, in the Punjab (1,11). The lapse in Eastern Bengal and Assam occurred under Civil Buildings and that in Bengal under Miscellaneous Public Improvements; the excess in the Punjab occurred mainly under Miscellaneous Public Improvements.

Local Works.

277. The expenditure incurred by Departmental Officers exceeded that of the previous year by R5,93 made up chiefly in the Punjab (3,18) and Bombay (3,58) counterbalanced by short outlay in the United Provinces (1,80). In the Punjab the excess is due to a larger programme of works being undertaken and in Bombay to expenditure on roads; the short outlay in the United Provinces is made up of small lapses under several items. On the Budget Estimate there was an increase of R1,23 only.

278. The expenditure incurred by Civil Officers exceeded that of the previous year by R20,45 being chiefly made up of excesses in the Central Provinces (2,73), Burma (1,32), Bengal (1,92), the United Provinces (1,82), the Punjab (4,57), Madras (5,92), and Bombay (3,60), against a lapse in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,39). On the Budget Estimate there was an excess of (9,45), which occurred principally in the Central Provinces (1,38), Bengal (6,75), the Punjab (5,29) and Bombay (1,38) counterbalanced by lapses in Burma (2,14) and Madras (3,10). The excesses of 4 in India, 2,10 in the Punjab, 10 in the N.-W. Frontier Province and 1,76 (over the reduced grant) in Bombay await sanction.

280. The receipts in India fell short of the Budget Estimate by R4,41 or £29,4, and the actuals of the previous year by R27,25 or £181,7. Compared with the Budget the decrease was due to a falling off of R8,57 or £57,2 under Army, partly covered by increases of R2,89 or £19,3 under Marine and of R1,27 or £8,5 under Military Works. The decrease under Army was chiefly due to small sales of malt liquor and dairy produce, of clothing and materials to Native troops, and of unserviceable and obsolete Ordnance stores from Arsenals; and to less recoveries of contributions towards the Indian Military Service Family Pensions; partly counterbalanced by large sales of Supply and Transport stores, provisions and rum, and of clothing necessaries to British troops; by heavy sales of old metal and leather cuttings from ordnance factories; and by more receipts on account of Special Services. The increase under Marine was due chiefly to the value of imported coal supplied to His Majesty's ships in the Persian Gulf having been credited to receipts, instead of being deducted from expenditure, as before and to large realizations from the sale of Royal Indian Marine vessels. Increased recoveries from rents of buildings accounted for the increase under Military Works. Compared with the actuals of the previous year there were decreases of R19,36 or £129,1 under Army and of

R8,83 or £58,9 under Marine, and an increase of R94 or £6,3 under Military Works. Under Army the decrease was chiefly due to smaller sales of malt liquor owing to the fact that malt liquor was sold to troops on payment for the whole of the previous year, whereas in the year under report the supply was made for nine months only; to smaller sale proceeds of unserviceable and obsolete Ordnance stores, and smaller issues on payment to Native States and to a special refund in 1906-07 by the War Office of pay of Native troops during furlough earned on field service in China and Somaliland. The decrease under Marine was chiefly due to recoveries from Local Governments and Departments and from the Royal Navy on account of labour and locally purchased stores having been deducted from expenditure in the accounts for 1907-08 instead of being credited to receipts as was formerly the practice, partly counterbalanced by the sale of a larger number of vessels and by the value of imported coal supplied from depôt to His Majesty's ships in the Persian Gulf being taken as a credit instead of being deducted from expenditure. The increase under Military Works was chiefly due to increased recoveries from rents of buildings.

281. The receipts in England exceeded the Budget Estimate by £15,9 owing chiefly to more receipts from the Imperial Government in respect of the Capitation Rate payable on account of Indian Native Regiments lent for service in the colonies, and to an increase in the sale-proceeds of unserviceable stores and in the Sandhurst Fees of King's India Cadets, etc.

282. The receipts of the previous year were higher by £66,0 as they included a special refund by the War Office on account of the Indian Troop Service.

283. The following statement shows separately the ordinary and special charges included under Army charges in India:—

284. The total Budget provision and the actual expenditure for Special Services are shown in detail below:—

Tibet Mission	4,79	6,29
Aden Delimitation Commission	1,10	1,04
Bazar Valley Field Force	...	4,20
	8,61	13,49

285. The increase of 1,50 under Tibet Mission was chiefly due to replacement of reserve stock owing to heavy losses and condemnation of stores. The expenditure under Bazar Valley Field Force was not provided for in the Budget, but was anticipated in the Revised Estimate. The saving of 76 under Gilgit Agency was chiefly due to lower rates of food supplies than anticipated, to reduction in the strength of troops, and to the issue of stores from stock without replacement; that of 6 under Aden Delimitation Commission to the withdrawal of troops from the Aden Hinterland.

Section L.—MILITARY RECEIPTS AND SERVICES—

286. The details of the saving of 97,12 in the ordinary expenditure, as compared with the Budget, are shown by the following figures :—

	1907-8. Budget.	1907-8. Accounts.	Excess +. Savings —.
Army and Garrison Staff	63,55	62,76	—79
Regimental Pay	10,75,85	10,34,78	—41,07

TOTAL	21,80,42	20,83,30	—97,12

287. The saving under Ordinary expenditure was mainly due to lapses and savings amounting to about 57 lakhs in the provision made for schedule reorganisation measures, of which the more important items were: —re-armament of horse and field artillery ; formation of a native cavalry regiment ; increase of the Native army reserve ; reorganisation of horse and field batteries and ammunition columns ; conversion of two bullock draught heavy batteries into horsed batteries ; addition of two Native mountain battaries ; additional mule corps and cadres ; addition of 350 officers to the Indian Army ; increase in reserves of artillery ammunition, of small arms ammunition and of rifles ; Native troops' lines ; and land for lines of Native troops. The saving of another 40 lakhs may be accounted for by decreases, chiefly short strength of British troops ; savings in pay and allowance of regimental officers ; short strength of supernumerary and unattached list officers ; mustering out of the two Moplah regiments partly covered by the raising of a Gurkha battalion in place of one of them ; suspension of training of Native Army reservists ; less kit money and clothing allowance to Native troops ; less charges of the Supply Transport Corps, owing partly to the abolition of commands and to the reorganisation and reunification of the Supply and Transport Corps ; less purchases of malt liquor, less conveyance charges of troops and stores by road and sea ; less railway charges partly owing to revision of rates ; smaller expenditure on grass and dairy farms ; less purchases of ordnance mules ; less charges under clothing establishments, supplies and services ; reduction in the strength of the Army Bearer Corps ; less expenditure on medical supplies ; larger credits for Ordnance stores issued to other departments ; and less non-effective charges. These savings were to some extent counterbalanced by increased expenditure on food supplies and compensation in consequence of rise in rates.

288. The grant heads under which the expenditure exceeded the Budget were :—

Administrative Staff	33
Ecclesiastical	5
Sea Transport Charges	26
Volunteer Corps	71
Family Pensions and Compassionate Allowances, etc.	11
Departmental Pensions and Gratuities	81

289. Of the excesses, 11 under Administrative Staff, 5 under Ecclesiastical, 45 under Volunteer Corps and 48 under Departmental Pensions, still require the sanction of the Government of India. The balances under Administrative Staff, Volunteer Corps and Departmental Pensions and Gratuities and the whole of the excesses under Sea Transport Charges and Family Pensions and Compassionate Allowances, etc., have been covered by re-appropriations and additional grants.

290. Under Marine Expenditure there was an excess of R46 or £3,0 chiefly due to the payment of Marine pensions, provision for which was made under 29—Superannuation Allowances and Pensions.

291. Under Military Works Expenditure there was a saving of R20,37 or £135,8 in India owing chiefly to the reserve with the Government of India not having been utilised.

292. Under Special Defences Expenditure in India, there was a lapse of R4,54 or £3,03 due to the surrender of funds during the year which could not be utilised.

293. As compared with the Budget, there was a saving in the expenditure in England of £54,1 made up of savings under Army (£88,5) and Marine (£10,1) and increases under Military Works (£43,6) and Special Defences (£9). Under Army the saving was chiefly due to less payments to War Office in respect of British Forces serving in India; to less charges for the Indian Troop Service; to smaller demands of stores for India; and to less payments of pay and pensions of Non-effective Colonels of Royal Artillery and retired officers of the Indian Service, partly counterbalanced by increased charges for furlough allowances and payments to War Office for retired pay, etc., by the purchase of horses, mules and donkeys for which there was no Budget provision; and by increased miscellaneous pension payments. The saving under Marine and the increases under Military Works and Special Defences were all mainly due in connection with the demand for stores; the saving in the case of the Marine Department would have been larger but for the transfer of Marine Department Furlough and Retired pay to this head, the provisions for which had been made under 28—Civil Furlough, etc., and 29—Superannuations, etc.

294. As compared with the actuals of the previous year there was a decrease in the Indian expenditure of 24,08 under Army Charges made up of an increase of 1,50 under Special Services and a decrease of 25,58 under Ordinary Expenditure. Under Special Services the increase was chiefly due to charges incurred in 1907-08 on account of the Bazar Valley Field Force; and to more charges on account of Tibet Mission; partly counterbalanced by less expenditure on account of the Gilgit Agency and the Aden Delimitation Commission. Of the decrease of 25,58 under Ordinary Expenditure, 1,27 under Regimental Pay, etc., was chiefly due to less charges for service pay to British soldiers, to the actual strength of British troops having been smaller in 1907-08 than in the previous year, to fewer supernumerary and unattached list officers, to suspension of training of reservists, and to less expenditure on the construction of lines for native troops under the Reorganisation scheme; partly counterbalanced by increased rate of kit money to recruits, by the introduction of revised pension rules for the Native army, by the raising of a new Gurkha Battalion and of two Native Mountain Batteries, and by charges for boot allowance having been incurred for the whole of 1907-08 against half the year in 1906-07; 14,38 under Supply and Transport was mainly due to the abolition of Commands, to smaller consumption of malt liquor, to smaller consignments of ordnance stores, to reduction in railway rates, to charges on account of working expenses connected with the supply of water to troops having been borne by the Military Works Department and to smaller purchases of animals and less feed charges. 708 under Remount and Veterinary was mainly due to less schedule expenditure partly counterbalanced by maintenance charges of a large number of young stock and ordnance mules at depôts and by the purchase of a large number of stallions; 143 under Clothing was chiefly due to less charges for marking clothing and to smaller payments of compensation to British troops. 276 under Barrack Establishment was mainly due to charges of Mechanical punkha-pulling having been borne by Military Works Services and to smaller purchases of barrack bedding. 63 under Medical was chiefly due to the abolition of Commands and to reduction in the strength of the Army Bearer Corps, partly counterbalanced by additions to and changes in staff and establishments. 1,41 under Sea Transport Charges was mainly due to less charges of passage money of officers and others; 605 under Miscellaneous Services to the inclusion in the previous year of expenditure on account of concentration of troops at Agra on the occasion of the visit to India of His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan; lastly 2,26 under Non-effective Charges was mainly due to less payments of wound pensions to Europeans, to less payments of gratuities to Native soldiers, and to less payments of grain compensation in the Secunderabad Division. There was a decrease of 4,89 under Marine Charges chiefly due to a change in the method of accounting by which recoveries for works executed for other Departments and Local Governments hitherto credited to receipts were deducted from expenditure in the accounts for 1907-08. Under Military Works the expenditure exceeded by 4,16 chiefly due to greater expansion of reorganisation measures; to larger expenditure on repairs and accommodation of British troops at Rangoon, Meiktila and Maymyo; partly counterbalanced by the suspension of certain works till the completion of the Reorganisation scheme. There was a small increase of 20 under Special Defences.

295. There were decreases in the expenditure in England to the extent of £972,8 made up of decreases under Army (£849,8), under Marine (£111,3), and under Special Defences (£23,4) and of an increase under Military Works (£11,7). Army Charges showed a decrease of £874,5 under Effective Services and an increase of £24,7 under Non-effective Services. Under Effective Services the decrease was chiefly due to smaller demands of stores and to less payments to War Office in respect of British Forces serving in India. Under Non-effective Services the increase was mainly due to increased payments to War Office for Retired Pay, etc., of British Forces for service in India, and more payments of miscellaneous and Indian Military Service Family Pensions. Under Marine Charges and Special Defences the decreases were chiefly due to smaller demands for stores partly covered by the transfer of Marine Furlough and Retired Pay to this head, from 28—Civil Furlough, etc., and 29—Superannuations, etc. Larger demands for stores than in the previous year caused an increase under Military Works.

296. The receipts in India fell short of the Budget Estimate by 8,57. The principal decreases occurred under Supply and Transport, Clothing Establishments, Supplies and Services, Administration of martial Law, Medical Establishments and Family Pensions and Compassionate Allowances to Europeans partly counterbalanced by increases under Regimental Pay Allowances and Charges, Ordnance Establishments, etc., and Miscellaneous Services. They were chiefly due to smaller sales of malt liquor and dairy produce; to less sales of clothing and materials to native troops; to smaller sales of unserviceable and obsolete Ordnance stores from arsenals, and to less recoveries on account of contributions towards the Indian Military Service Family Pensions; partly counterbalanced by larger sales of Supply and Transport stores, provisions and rum and of clothing necessaries to British troops; by heavy sales of old metals and leather cuttings from Ordnance Factories, and by more receipts on account of Tibet Mission and the Bazar Valley Field Force. The principal variations are noted below.

XXXII.—Army Receipts—concluded.

297. The increase of 30 under Regimental Pay, etc., was chiefly due to a larger number of soldiers having purchased their discharge, and to more recoveries on account of fines for drunkenness. The decrease under Supply and Transport (8,60) was mainly due to smaller sales of malt liquor; to less realizations by sale of dairy produce, etc., and to less receipts on account of fodder sold from grass farms owing to scarcity of fodder; partly counterbalanced by larger sales of provisions, stores and rum; and by larger recoveries on account of hire of transport. Under Remount and Veterinary, etc., the decrease of 14 was due chiefly to smaller number of horses having been cast and sold, and to the sale of a small number of chargers to officers; partly counterbalanced by recoveries for hire of chargers. The decrease of 84 under Clothing Establishments, etc., was mainly due to smaller sales of clothing and materials to native troops, and to less realizations from sales of condemned articles; partly counterbalanced by larger sales of necessaries, and by receipts on account of liveries supplied to the Civil Department and to His Excellency the Viceroy's household. Under Administration of Martial Law the decrease (56) was due to less receipts and recoveries on account of Cantonment Magistrate's Department, and to the contribution by the Secunderabad Abkari Fund having been adjusted by deduction from expenditure instead of by a credit under Receipts. The decrease of 28 under Medical Establishments, etc., was chiefly due to less demands from civil medical institutions, and by more recoveries on account of issues to cantonment and private hospitals. The increase of 1,16 under Ordnance Establishments, etc., was mainly due to heavy sales of old metals and leather cuttings from factories, and to the adjustment of the value of peace equipment stores taken to Somaliland and China by the 33rd Punjabis and 76th Punjabis respectively; partly counterbalanced by smaller sales of unserviceable and obsolete stores from arsenals, by smaller issues to Civil Departments, and by the adjustment of the value of Europe Stores brought back from Somaliland by the 33rd Punjabis. Under Miscellaneous Services the increase (1,22) was chiefly due to the adjustment of the capitalized value of special promotions granted to certain men for service in China and Africa, to larger credits on account of unpaid family remittances to England, to more receipts on account of Tibet Mission, and to more recoveries on account of Bazar Valley Field Force for which there was no Budget provision. The decrease of 94 under Family Pensions and Compassionate allowances to Europeans was mainly due to a temporary reduction in the rates of contribution towards the Indian Military Service Family Pensions; partly counterbalanced by an increase in the number of subscribers.

298. The receipts in England under Effective Services exceeded the Budget Estimate by £16,3 due to receipts from the Imperial Government in respect of the capitation rate payable on account of Indian native regiments lent for service in the Colonies; to an increase in the sale proceeds of unserviceable stores and in the Sandhurst Fees of King's India Cadets, etc., partly counterbalanced by less receipts on account of the Indian Troop Service.

299. The Indian receipts exceeded the Budget Estimate by 2,89, but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 8,83. The increase of 1,24 under Sale proceeds of vessels and stores was chiefly due to the sale of three vessels and three torpedo boats instead of only one vessel contemplated in the Budget; that of 1,66 under Other receipts, mainly due to the adjustment of the value of imported oal supplied from coal depôts to His Majesty's ships in the Persian Gulf by credit to this head, instead of by deduction from expenditure as was formerly done. The increase of 23 under Pensions was chiefly due to the deductions for Marine Pension Fund having been provided for in the Budget under XII—Receipts in aid of Superannuation, etc. Against these increases, there was a decrease of 24 under Dockyard Services due chiefly to smaller recoveries owing to a change in the programme of works partly counterbalanced by increased recoveries on account of hire of Royal Indian Marine Vessels.

300. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the decrease was chiefly due to recoveries from Local Governments and Departments and from the Royal Navy on account of labour and locally purchased stores having been deducted from expenditure instead of being credited to receipts, as was the practice in the former years; partly counterbalanced by increased recoveries owing to the employment of the Royal Indian Marine vessels on a larger scale; by the sale of a larger number of vessels, by the value of coal supplied from depôts having been credited as a separate receipt instead of by deduction from expenditure, and by large sales of obsolete stores.

302. As compared with the Budget, there was a net saving of 79 under this head due chiefly to the abolition of the Northern, Eastern and Western Commands from 1st June 1907, and to less charges for Hill Sanitaria. The decreases under Lieutenant General Commanding the Forces (2,48), Adjutant General (2,02), Artillery Branch (1,22) and Quarter Master General (30), were mainly due to the abolition of commands, partly counterbalanced by excesses under Chief of the Staff (98), owing to additional officers and men having been sanctioned in consequence of the abolition of commands and to a special additional grant of 20 having been sanctioned; under Divisional Brigade Commands and Staff (2,51), owing to the creation of additional appointments of Brigade Commanders and Staff; under Garrison and Station Staff (27) owing to the increased rates of pay sanctioned for Station Staff Officers and to the seconding of officers for a part of the year, and under General Officers Commanding the Northern and Southern Armies (3,04) owing to the creation of these armies on the abolition of commands.

303. The Budget Estimate was exceeded by 33 chiefly under Inspections, Special Duties and Probationers (23) due to more officers having been present and employed on special duties; and under Controller of Military Accounts, Accounts Branch (10), Ordnance and Clothing Branches (24) due mainly to expenses in connection with the reorganisation of the Military Accounts Department involving the transfer of clerks from one office to another. These excesses were partly set off by savings under Personal Staff, etc, (15) owing to temporary vacancies, and under Controller of Military Accounts, Central Branch, (13) owing to temporary vacancy in the Assistant Controllership, to a partial lapse in provision for leave and training reserves and to the salary of an officer for a part of the year having been drawn in advance in March 1907. There were also savings consequent on the changes introduced in the system of paying pensions in the Secunderabad Division, but these were covered by the deduction for probable savings.

304. As compared with the Budget, the decrease under European Army was due chiefly to lapses and savings in the provision for schedule measures in connection with the reorganisation of Royal Horse and Field Artillery and of the existing ammuntion columns of Royal Horse and Field Artillery and the formation of additional ammunition columns; to the conversion of two bullock draught heavy batteries into fully horsed batteries; to short strength of British troops, and to few supernumerary and Unattached List officers having been present and to certain Lieutenant-Colonels having been permitted to reside out of India; partly counterbalanced by more charges for pay of officers owing to the deduction in the Budget for probable savings not having been fully realised and to more charges for service or proficiency pay to British Soldiers. The decrease under the Native Army was also due to lapses and savings in the provision for schedule measures in connection with the addition of two batteries of Native Mountain Artillery, to the addition of 3,50 officers to the Indian Army, to the formation of a Native Cavalry Regiment from the nucleus afforded by the Deoli and Erinpura Squadrons and to the construction of lines of native troops: to the mustering out of two Moplah regiments and to the suspension of the training of reservists. These decreases were to some extent made up by more charges on account of the new Gurkha battalion raised in place of one of the two disbanded Moplah regiments; by more charges for good service and good-conduct pay to Natives; by the deduction for savings in connection with the revised pension rules for the Native Army not having been fully realised; and by smaller recoveries for hospital stoppages.

306. There were decreases under all the sub-heads of the European Army. Under Artillery the decrease (15,59) was chiefly due to lapses and savings in the provision for schedule measures connected with the reorganisation of Royal Horse and Field Artillery and of existing ammunition columns of Royal Horses and Field Artillery and formation of additional ammunition columns and the conversion of two bullock draught heavy batteries into fully horsed batteries. The decrease under Cavalry (42) was due to less charges for service or proficiency pay to British Soldiers, to short strength of Native followers and to the insufficient deduction for probable savings, partly counterbalanced by more charges for the excess strength of warrant and non-commissioned officers. Less charges for pay, Command and Staff allowances of officers brought about a small saving of 15 under Engineers. The decrease under Infantry (6,50) was mainly due to short strength of troops partly counterbalanced by excess charges for service or proficiency pay and to the deduction for probable savings having been partially realized. The decrease of 1,55 under Officers of the Indian Army, etc., was due to there having been few supernumerary and Unattached List Officers and to certain Lieutenant-Colonels having been permitted to reside out of India. Under Other charges the decrease (40) was mainly due to less schedule expenditure in connection with the reorganisation of ammunition columns of Royal Horse and Field Artillery, partly counterbalanced by more charges for hutting money and family allowances.

307. The details of the principal sub-heads under the Native Army are as follows :—

1906-7. Accounts.		1907-8. Budget.	1907-8. Revised.	1907-8. Accounts.
8,65	Artillery	14,14	9,10	8,81

5,29,33	TOTAL	5,51,13	5,34,81	5,34,70

308. There were savings under all the sub-heads except Sappers and Miners and Infantry. The decrease under Artillery (5,33) was chiefly due to the partial utilization of the lump provision for addition of two batteries of Native Mountain Artillery. That under Cavalry (2,78) was due to less charges for pay, Command, staff and horse Allowance owing to the deduction for probable savings having proved insufficient, to a saving in the provision for the addition of 3,50 officers to the Indian

Army and to the lapse of the special provision for the formation of a Native Cavalry regiment from the nucleus afforded by the Deoli and Erinpura Squadrons. Under Kit money for recruits the saving of 1,47 was chiefly due to less expenditure on account of the schedule item of revised pension rules for the Native Army. The saving under Hutting Money (3,27) was chiefly due to a partial lapse of the special provision for Native troops' lines under the Reorganisation Scheme, and that under Reserve Forces (3,91) to the suspension of training of reservists. The decrease of 27 under Indian Sub-Marine Mining Corps was chiefly due to short strength of officers and men. Under Other Charges the saving was mainly attributable to less clothing allowance charges. Against these savings there were increases under Sappers and Miners (36) and Infantry (61). Under the former head the increase was chiefly due to good service and good-conduct pay to natives and to the insufficiency of the deduction in the Budget for probable savings; that under the latter head to the withdrawal of debits raised in the previous year against the War Office on account of furlough pay of two native infantry regiments, serving at Hong Kong.

309. Under Native Army the actuals exceeded those of the previous year by 5,37 due chiefly to the grant of increased rate of kit money to recruits and of foot gear allowance for the whole year instead of for a part of the previous year, and to the introduction of revised pension rules for the Native Army.

310. The savings of 19,68 in this grant occurred under all the heads except Supplies. The saving under Establishment (4,85) was chiefly due to less charges for pay of officers and establishments owing partially to the abolition of Commands and to the reorganisation and reunification of the Supply and Transport Corps, to short strength of Transport establishments, to the disbandment of the 58th Silladar Camel Corps, and to lapses and savings in the provision for Reorganisation schedule expenditure. Under Services the saving of 13,42 was caused chiefly by less charges for conveyance of both European and Native troops and Supply and Transport and Ordnance stores, due in a measure to the extended use of Government transport and to a reduction in railway rates, by less charges for grain and fodder and hire of cattle or purchase of butter owing to smaller demands; by the discontinuance of special allowances to officers in charge of farms; by the non-purchase of mules owing to transfer of battery baggage mules; by the non-replacement to the full extent of issues from the reserve of fodder; and by less charges for green grass and hay and dry bedding making operations. The saving under Transport Branch (0,84) was mainly due to less charges for purchase and feed of animals; to small purchases of fodder owing to higher prices; to a reduction in the scale of grain ration and to less charges for purchase and repair of doolies, gear and carts and equipment owing to the introduction of wheeled stretchers. The decrease of 74 under Special Services was chiefly due to less charges on account of the Gilgit Agency owing to lower rates of food supplies, to short strength of troops, and to issue of stores from stock without replacement. Against these savings, there was an increase of 6,17 under Supplies chiefly due to higher rates of articles of food and grain and forage owing to scarcity, partly counterbalanced by small consumption of malt liquor.

312. The saving under Supervising Staff (3,49) was chiefly due to the reunification of the Supply and Transport Corps causing a reduction in the number of officers at the Army Head Quarters and to the abolition of Commands from 1st June 1907. Under Transport, the decrease (2,41) was chiefly due to less charges for cattle establishments and marching allowances; to short strength of officers and native establishments and of the reserve of mule drivers and artificers; to less charges for clothing and travelling allowances and to less expenditure for rewards and khilats to registration assistants and native officers. Less charges for Regimental and Quarter Master's establishment brought about a saving of 23 under Subordinate Establishment. Against these decreases, there was an increase of 1,48 under Executive Establishment chiefly due to more charges for salaries owing to the reorganisation and reunification of the Supply and Transport Corps on the abolition of Commands, partly counterbalanced by less charges for contingencies. The increase under Other Heads was chiefly due to increased recoveries by the Agent for Government Consignments on account of large quantities of stores landed for other departments.

313. Under Supplies the details are as follow :—

1906-7. Accounts.		1907-8. Budget.	1907-8. Revised.	1907-8. Accounts.
1,03,12	Provisions for Europeans	1,04,97	1,03,04	1,03,84

2,00,74	TOTAL	1,98,89	2,03,70	2,05,06

314. The increases under Provisions for Natives (1,16), Compensation to Natives for dearness of provisions (11,74) and Compensation to Natives for dearness of forage (1,42) were mainly due to higher rates of articles of food and of grain and fodder; to the replacement of issues from stock to the Robat Escort; to the retention of the 81st Pioneers at Aden and to the issue of rice in kind in lieu of compensation for dearness of provisions to native troops and followers at Secunderabad, Madras and Wellington. Against these increases there were savings under all other heads. The decrease under Provision for Europeans (1,13) was due to less charges for messing allowance and less expenditure in connection with the supply of meat and ration articles other than bread owing to short strength of British Soldiers; and to less schedule expenditure, partly counterbalanced by increased charges in connection with the supply of bread owing to higher prices and compensation in lieu of rations. The savings under Purchase of Reserve Stock (52), Malt liquor purchased locally (5,57) and Rum (7) were all due to smaller purchases. The increase in the deduction for Value of Supplies, etc., (85) was chiefly due to credit for stores issued from stock to the Robat Escort and to North China; and to larger issues to the Civil Department.

315. Under Services the following are the details :—

1906-7. Accounts.		1907-8. Budget.	1907-8. Revised.	1907-8. Accounts.
4,08	Hire of Transport	5,38	4,67	4,04
4,78	Sea and Inland Water Charges	4,79	4,56	3,81
56,01	Railway Charges	59,79	53,06	53,94
30,86	Dairy Farms, Piggeries and Grass Farms	35,10	34,09	31,97
40,12	Feed of Horses, Battery Mules, Yaboos, and Bullocks.	41,48	39,31	40,39
90	Regimental Equipment and Camp Contingencies	83	77	65
4,01	Implements, Godown Furniture, etc.	3,90	3,50	3,82
11,86	Other Heads	7,20	7,31	6,43
1,52,62	TOTAL	1,58,47	1,47,27	1,45,05

316. Under Services there were savings under all the heads. The decreases under Hire of Transport (1,34), Sea and Inland Water Charges (98) and Railway Charges (5,85) were due to less charges for conveyance of European and Native troops, Supply and Transport, and Ordnance Stores due, to some extent, to the extended use of Government transport. The savings of 3,13 under Dairy Farms, etc., were chiefly due to savings in the pay of establishments; to less charges for grain and fodder owing to short complement of cattle; to smaller demands for milk and butter and to the Bangalore dairy farm not being in full working order. Under Feed of Horses, etc., the decrease (1,09) was chiefly due to less charges for feed of horses and ponies owing to less Reorganisation schedule expenditure, partly counterbalanced by more charges for feed of mules and yaboos owing to rise in rates. Smaller condemnations and consequently smaller replacements caused a saving of 18 under Regimental Equipment and Camp Contingencies. The saving under Other Heads (77) was mainly due to non-purchase of mules owing to transfer of battery baggage mules; to less purchases of battery bullocks; and to the non-replacement in full of the issues of fodder from reserve, counterbalanced to some extent by increased charges for clothing allowance to native troops and followers when proceeding by sea beyond Indian limits, and for renewals of clothing for mobilization reserves.

317. The details of the charges in the Transport Branch are as follows:—

1906-7. Accounts.		1907-8. Budget.	1907-8. Revised.	1907-8. Accounts.
21,41	Unorganized Transport	18,14	17,65	17,29
19,10	Mule Corps	22,33	19,40	17,58
4,99	Mule Cadres	4,36	4,21	4,15
1,20	Silladar Camel Corps	1,74	98	1,24
33	Pony Cart Train Cadres	35	35	18
2	Service Grantee Camel Corps	1	1	1
11	Mechanical Transport	...	3	3
31	Transport charges connected with Army Bearer Corps	66	33	27
47,47	TOTAL	47,59	42,96	40,75

318. The large saving of 4,75 under Mule Corps and of 21 under Mule Cadres were mainly due to less charges for purchase and feed of animals owing to short strength of animals and to less purchases and repairs of gear and equipment and of carts. Less schedule expenditure and the transfer of battery baggage mules to the Supply and Transport Corps resulted in a saving of 85 under Unorganized Transport. Under Silladar Camel Corps the saving of 50 was mainly due to the disbandment of 58th Silladar Camel Corps, and to less charges for feed of animals owing to camels having been allowed to graze freely for a longer period. The saving under Pony Cart Train Cadres (17) was due to less purchases of animals and to less feeding charges owing to a reduction in the scale of grain ration. Under Transport Charges connected with Army Bearer Corps the saving of 39 was mainly due to the introduction of wheeled stretchers which replaced the use of doolies to a certain extent.

319. The saving under Purchase of Remounts (3,35) was chiefly due to less charges for purchase of remounts, young mules, ponies for mounted infantry schools and of ordnance mules owing to payments made in England for ordnance mules purchased in America; partly counterbalanced by the payment of a bonus to shippers of Australian horses for purchases made in the previous year. The savings under Remount and Veterinary—concluded.

Depôt Establishments (36) and Horse Mule and Donkey Breeding Operations (85) were mainly due to less charges for salaries owing to vacancies, to less Reorganisation schedule expenditure, and to less charges for purchase, feed and road expenses of animals. Under Miscellaneous the saving (1,41) was chiefly due to less road expenses of cattle and remounts, to less cultivation expenses; to less charges for veterinary medicines and appliances, and to less schedule expenditure mainly in connection with the reorganization of ammunition columns; partly counterbalanced by increased charges for cattle gear and rolling stock owing to larger purchases at the Sargodha Depôt. The decrease under Veterinary Inspection (50) was due to abolition of commands from 1st June 1907, partly counterbalanced by the creation of the appointments of Deputy Principal Veterinary Officer; while that under Station Veterinary Hospitals (33), was due to less charges for salaries owing to the appointment of certain Senior Station Veterinary Officers to the charge of Divisions, sanctioned from 1st June 1907, the expenditure on whose account (93) was compiled under a new head Veterinary Divisional Staff. Against the savings there was an increase under Feed of Cattle and Remounts (1,06) chiefly due to more charges for feed of cattle and remounts and of young stock at depôts owing to more schedule expenditure in connection with the reorganization of ammunition columns; partly counterbalanced by less charges for feed and keep of ordnance mules at depôts owing to short complement of animals.

320. The savings of 14 under Superintending Establishments and of 11 under Manufacturing and Store Establishments were chiefly due to less charges for salaries owing to the absence of the Director of Army Clothing and of an Assistant Superintendent and certain European employés on leave; to less travelling expenses; and to savings in the pay of cutters and trimmers. The decrease under Supplies and Services—Factories (2,12) was mainly due to less charges for making clothing, great-coats, etc., for European and Native troops; and to less schedule expenditure; and that under Supplies and Services—Regimental (1,30) to less charges for making, completing and fitting clothing at head-quarters of regiments and for reserve forces. The increase in the deduction for Value of Stores, etc. (14) was chiefly due to the adjustment of the value of clothing stores issued from stock to North China.

321. The saving of 15 under Subordinate Establishments was mainly due to less charges for hot weather establishments and to the employment of smaller Conservancy establishments at certain stations partly counterbalanced by the payment of contribution to the Bangalore Municipality for conservancy arrangements. Under Barrack bedding the saving (59) was chiefly due to less purchases of barrack bedding owing to less renewals and first issues falling due, to issues from stock of the previous year, and to the lapse of the schedule provision for reorganisation of house and field batteries Smaller condemnations and replacements of lamps and component parts, partly counterbalanced by more charges for oil caused a saving of 6 under Lighting charges other than by Electricity. Against these savings there was an increase of 72 under Miscellaneous chiefly due to a rise in rates of chimney fuel, to purchases for stock and to the location of an additional Gurkha Battalion at Quetta; partly counterbalanced by less miscellaneous supplies for barracks and hospitals, and less establishment charges for working wells and supply of water owing to the introduction of pipe water at certain stations. The increase (3) in the deduction for Value of Supplies, etc., was due chiefly to the adjustment of the value of stores issued from stock to North China.

322. The decrease of 29 in this grant was chiefly due to the absence of a senior officer on furlough, to the contributions by the Secunderabad Abkari Fund having been adjusted by deduction from expenditure instead of having been treated as receipts, as provided for in the Budget and to less prison charges.

Medical Establishments—concluded.

323. The saving of 1,31 under Medical Establishment—Head Quarters and Commands was chiefly due to the abolition of Commands from June 1907 which, on the other hand, effected an increase of 2,70 under Medical Establishment—Divisions and Brigades owing to more charges for salaries, Exchange Compensation allowance and travelling allowance in consequence of additions to and changes in Staff and establishments; and to the deduction for probable savings not having been realized. The saving of 9 under Nursing Service was due to short strength of nursing sisters; that of 25 under Sanitation of Cantonments and Cantonment Hospitals to salaries of Sanitary officers having been compiled under Divisions and Brigades, partly counterbalanced by more charges for special grants-in-aid to Cantonment funds and hospitals; and that of 1,65 under Army Bearer Corps to less charges for salaries, travelling, kit money and clothing allowance owing to a reduction in the strength of Corps. Under Medical Supplies the saving of 1,64 was chiefly due to less charges for dieting sick owing to few patients having been in hospital, to small condemnations of hospital equipment, and to less hospital supplies mainly of artificial teeth to British soldiers, and of Medical and Surgical stores. In the Department of Military Supply the saving of 11 under Miscellaneous was due chiefly to the small number of Military pupils under tuition at Medical Colleges; and that of 78 under Medical Supplies to less demands of Medical and Surgical stores from civil and military hospitals, and to less schedule expenditure. The decrease of 7 in the deduction for Issues to other Departments was chiefly due to small issues of local stores to civil institutions.

324. There were savings under all the heads except Establishments—Arsenals and Depots and Camp Equipage which showed but slight increases. The saving of 48 under Establishments—Supervising Staff occurred in the charges for salaries and travelling allowance due to variations in Army rank of certain officers and to less schedule expenditure in connection with the creation of the appointment of Inspector General of Ordnance Factories and in connection with the Committee on Ordnance Factory Accounts. Under Establishments—Factories the decrease of 2,44 was chiefly due to less charges, for salaries owing to the deduction for probable savings having proved insufficient, and to less schedule expenditure on account of personnel for the Rifle Factory and Cordite Factory, and for extra temporary artificers and others in connection with the rearmament of horse and field artillery and increases in reserves of artillery ammunition and of rifles; partly counterbalanced by large outturn of ordinary work, and by more schedule expenditure for working the new Ordnance Factories. The decrease of 3,19 under Stores—For Arsenals and Depots was chiefly due to lapses of the Budget provision for schedule measures for increase of the native army reserves, and to less schedule expenditure connected with the reorganisation of the existing and the formation of additional ammunition columns; that of 8,85 under Stores—For Factories to less purchases of local stores for the Gun and Shell Factory, Cordite Factory, Rifle Factory, Gun Carriage Factories, Madras and Jubbulpore, and Ammunition Factories due to less Reorganisation schedule expenditure; partly counterbalanced by more purchases of local stores for the Harness and Saddlery Factory, Cawnpore, and workshops, Perumbur. A decrease of 19 under Freight due to smaller consignment was partly set off by an increase of 12 under Camp Equipage due to more schedule expenditure. In the Army Department, the saving of 7 under Fort Armaments was due to less charges for salaries, contingencies and travelling; and that of 1,04 under Stores to the expenditure for schedule measures udner this head, being incurred at Home. There was no charge under Line gear, due to transfer to Regimental Pay, Allowances and Charges. The increased credit of 1,95 under Supplies to Other Departments was chiefly due to larger issues to Civil Departments; to the adjustment of the net value of local stores taken to and returned from Somaliland by the 33rd Punjabis; and to the adjustment of the value of local stores issued to North China and of peace equipment taken to North China by the 76th Punjabis. The increase in the actuals as compared with the preceding year was chiefly due to larger schedule expenditure under extra labour; to larger purchases of stores for Arsenals to meet ordinary demands; and for the Harness and Saddlery Factory, Cawnpore, and workshops, Perumbur, and Ammunition Factories, partly counterbalanced by smaller purchases of stores for the Gun and Shell Factory and stores and timber for the Gun Carriage Factory, Jubbulpore.

Other Effective Charges.

325. The saving of 15 under Education was mainly due to less charges for books, materials, etc., for Army Schools and to the payment of the fixed annual grant for the orphan girls of the Lawrence Asylum, Ootacamund, for 1907-08 in the following year. Against this saving there was an increase of 5 under Ecclesiastical, of 26 under Sea Transport Charges and of 71 under Volunteer Corps. Under the first head the increase was chiefly due to higher rates of pay drawn by Scottish Chaplains, and to more charges or allowances to Roman Catholic Chaplains; under the second head to more charges for passage money of officers, etc., proceeding from port to port in India, to the employment of the R. I. M. Northbrook for the conveyance of troops to England, and to the supply of coal to the transport Rewa, partly counterbalanced by less charges on account of passage money of officers and others to and from Europe; and under the last head, to more charges for travelling of establishments and to more Capitation grants.

326. The figures under Miscellaneous Services may be sub-divided as follows:—

9,64	Special Charges	5,89	14,45	11,53
22,01	Other Items	22,67	16,60	15,96
31,65	TOTAL	28,56	31,05	27,49

327. The variations under Special Charges have been explained in paragraph 285. Under Other Items the saving of 6,71 was chiefly due to less charges for Moonshee allowance to officers and men on passing in Native languages and for travelling allowances to officers and men; to less charges on account of debit note telegrams and of camps of exercise, manoeuvres and instruction; to less arrear charges on account of concentration of troops at Agra on the occasion of the visit to India of His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan; and to partial lapse of schedule provision under purchase and rent of lands and buildings.

Non-Effective Charges.

328. There was a saving of 29 under Rewards for Military Services, chiefly due to less charges for annuities and gratuities for meritorious service, Order of British India, and decorations and medals. The saving under Military Pensions to Europeans (89) was chiefly due to less payments of pensions of commissioned officers and departmental warrant officers, partly counterbalanced by more charges for pensions of departmental officers with honorary rank. The decrease of 23,0 under Military Pensions to Natives was mainly due to less charges for pensions to Native commissioned and non-commissioned officers and soldiers; and to less payments on account of gratuities to men of the active reserve. Against these savings there was an increase of 11 under Family Pensions and Compassionate allowances, etc, and of 81 under Departmental Pensions and Gratuities. Under the former head the increase was due to more charges for Indian Military Service Family pensions; that under the latter, to an increase in the number of pensioners and to more charges on account of gratuities, owing partly to reduction in the strength of the Army Bearer Corps and the disbandment of the 58th Silladar Camel Corps.

Expenditure in England.

329. As compared with the Budget the English Expenditure showed savings of £77,1 and £11,4 under Effective Charges and Non-Effective Charges respectively. The savings under Effective Charges occurred under all the heads except Furlough Allowances of Officers of the Indian Service and Miscellaneous. The saving of £25,2 under Home Charges of British Forces serving in India was chiefly due to alterations in the War Office System of rendering accounts, by which amounts over-advanced were refunded earlier than under the system in existence when the Budget Estimate was framed partly counterbalanced by an increase in furlough allowances. The decrease under Indian Troop Service (£14,4) was mainly due to lower rates of hire for transports, to the reduction in expenditure on fittings owing to the re-engagement of the same transports as in the previous year, and to incidence of payments. Under Passage of Officers and Troops otherwise than in Troopship, the saving of £9 was due to fewer officers being provided with passages otherwise than in transports. The decrease of £142,6 under Stores for India was mainly due to a falling off under Clothing, Medical and Ordnance Stores. Against these savings the increase under Furlough Allowances of Officers of the Indian Service (£41,8) was chiefly due to there being more officers at home during the year, and to furlough pay of Cantonment Magistrates hitherto charged in the Civil Accounts. Under Miscellaneous, the increase of £64,2 was due to the purchase of mules and donkeys in the United States for which there was no Budget provision, to allowances to officers deputed to India in connection with the Committee on Ordnance Factory Accounts and to payments on account of the Medical Service. Under Non-Effective Charges there was a saving of £28,3 under Pay and Pensions of Non-Effective and Retired Officers of the Indian Service owing to less payments than was expected. On the other hand, there was an increase of £10,1 under Retired Pay, etc., of British Forces for Service in India, chiefly due to the excess in the War Office Claim, and to the payment of the balance due in respect of the previous year. The increase of £7,2 under Miscellaneous Pensions, etc., was mainly due to a large increase in the payments for special pensions granted to soldiers for service in the Mutiny.

330. The expenditure in India exceeded the Budget Estimate by 46 and fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 4,89. The saving of 84 under Dockyards was principally due to less payments of wages to artificers and labourers, both in the Kidderpore and Bombay Dockyards, owing to the suspension of certain works of construction and repairs for the Royal Indian Marine provided for in the Budget; and to less establishment charges. The decrease under Marine Stores and Coal for building and repairs of ships (1,04) was chiefly due to expenditure on ordinary works for the Royal Indian Marine having been less than anticipated, and to the cost of water supplied from Dockyards having been charged to the head Salaries and Allowances and Victualling of Officers and Men afloat, which showed an increase of 72 partly owing to this cause and partly to payments of arrear charges for 1906-7 and to the rise in prices of food supplies in consequence of scarcity. The increase under Other Charges (1,00) was mainly due to heavy repairs undertaken for the Sphinx, the Irrawaddy, and the Sladen; and to large issues of coal to His Majesty's Ships in the Persian Gulf. The increase under Pensions was chiefly due to the provision in the Budget having been made under 29—Superannuation Allowances and Pensions.

331. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the falling off (4,89) was chiefly due to a change in the method of accounting by which recoveries for works executed for other Departments and Local Governments, hitherto credited to receipts, were deducted from expenditure partly counterbalanced by more schedule expenditure on account of maintenance of the Northbrook and the Investigator and by large issues of coal to His Majesty's ships from Muscat and Bushire Coal Depots.

332. As compared with the Budget Estimate there was a saving of £10,1 in the English expenditure. Under Effective Services the saving was mainly due to smaller demand of stores for India; while the increase under Non-Effective Services was due chiefly to payments of the Royal Indian Marine Retired Pay, provision for which, to the extent of £2,00, was made in the Budget under 29—Superannuation Pensions, etc.

Section L.—MILITARY RECEIPTS AND SERVICES—concluded.

47.—Military Works—concluded.

333. The expenditure of the year exceeded that of the previous year under India by 4,16. The principal increases are Military Works Services.—Reorganisation 8,47, due to a greater expansion of reorganisation measures, Ordinary 2,96, due mainly to increased. outlay under repairs, and Burma—Ordinary 1,80, due principally to larger expenditure on accommodation for British and Native Troops at Rangoon, Meiktila and Maymyo, on metal collection for roads in the Rangoon Cantonment and on water-supply at Rangoon These increases were counterbalanced by reductions under Military Works Services, special demands (4,67) due to the suspension of certain works till the completion of the Reorganization Scheme, under Burma, special demands (2,20) to no expenditure having been incurred on accommodation for Native Troops at Rangoon and to less expenditure on officers' quarters and mess houses, Maymyo, and on water-supply at Rangoon and Maymyo Cantonments; and under Reorganisation (1,50), due to no expenditure having been incurred under this section during the year under review. The lapse of 20,37 as compared with the Budge Estimate under India was due chiefly to the reserve with the Government of India not having been utilized

The excess 1,91 over reduced grant awaits the sanction of the Government of India.

(a) Differs from last year's closing balance by 1,92 owing to the merging of the Central Book Depot Local Fund into the Provincial Revenues.

335. The figures shown under this head represent the surplus or deficit of each Provincial Government in respect of the revenues and charges assigned to it, including the

Incorporated Local Funds. The revenue and expenditure under the various major heads have been shown in detail in the foregoing pages, and the share of these, pertaining to the Provincial and Local sections of the accounts for the several groups, is given below separately for each Province.

336. The Budget provided for a reduction of R77,25 or £515,0 from the Provincial balances and an increase of R10,76 or £71,7 in the Local balances, but the accounts show a deterioration of R76,39 or £509,2 compared with the Budget for Provincial balances and an improvement of R13,09 or £87.2 in the Local balances aggregating a decrease of R63.30 or £ 422,0 in the Provincial and Local balances together, from what was estimated for in the Budget.

337. The unfavourable result occurred in the Central Provinces (R21,16), Burma (R6,86) Eastern Bengal and Assam (R7,16), Bengal (R10,93), United Provinces (R27,08), Punjab (R16,12) and Bombay (R60) counterbalanced by improvements in India (4), North-West Frontier Province (25), and Madras (R26,32). United Provinces of Agra and Oudh would have shown a worse result but for an Imperial grant of R41,17 to bring up the Provincial balance to the prescribed minimum.

These were made up as follows:—

338. In the Central Provinces, Provincial Section, there were considerable decreases in Land and Excise revenues and an increase in the Civil Works Expenditure. In Burma, Provincial Section, there were decreased receipts under Land Revenue, Stamps, Excise and Forest and increased expenditure under Civil Works partly counterbalanced by an Imperial contribution of 10,00 for proposed river training works in the Port of Rangoon; in the Local Section there was reduced expenditure under Civil Works. In Eastern Bengal and Assam, Provincial Section, minor increases of Stamp, Excise and Registration revenues were more than made up by increased charges under Civil Departments chiefly General Administration, Law and Justice, Police and Education and under Civil Works; in the Local Section there was an improvement under Civil Works. In Bengal, Provincial Section, there were increased charges under Law and Justice, Police, Education and Stationery and Printing partly set off by savings under Ports and Pilotage and Civil Works; in the Local Section there were increased charges under Civil Works. In the United Provinces, Provincial Section, heavy charges on direct Famine Relief, as well as losses of revenue due to famine, were the chief reasons for the unfavourable result after absorbing an Imperial Grant of 41,17 to bring up the Provincial balance to the fixed minimum; in the Local Section there were reduced charges under Education and Civil Works. In the Punjab, Provincial Section, there was a decrease under Land Revenue combined with increased transfers to Local but partly covered by reduced expenditure under Civil Works; in the Local Section increased charges under

Civil Works more than absorbed the increased transfer from Provincial. In Madras, Provincial Section, there were improvements under most of the principal heads of Revenue chiefly Excise, and reduced expenditure under Irrigation and Civil Works partly covered by increased transfers to Local; in the Local Section increased transfers from Provincial combined with reduced expenditure under Land Revenue, Civil Departments and Civil Works. In Bombay, Provincial Section, excess expenditure under Civil Works was more than covered by savings under Irrigation and Civil Departments; in the Local Section there was an excess under Civil Works.

342. Comparing the outlay for 1907-08 with the Budget Estimate as regards lines under construction the excess of R5,98 on the Azikhal Mangalore was due chiefly to the anticipated credits to stores by sales not having been effected, the excess of R8,34 on the Burma Railway Extensions was due to much more work having been done than the Budget provided for owing to curtailment of expenditure in the previous year and works that should have been executed in that year being thrown forward to the current year, the excess of R4,41 on the Coonoor Ootacamund was due to large debits from other Railways for rolling stock and other works, the decrease of R6,02 on the Golakganj Gauhati was due to the gradual completion of works and the reduction of store balances, the increase of R5,74 on the Katihar-Godagiri was due to the anticipated reduction in the suspense balances not having been fully effected, the increase of R10,54 on the Lodran-Khanewal was due to an additional grant having been allotted which raised the budget to R25,96 leaving a trifling excess over grant, the increase of R9,78 on the Nagda-Muttra was due to an increased demand for London stores, the increase of R11,92 on the Shilman Branch was due to heavy expenditure on ballast permanent way and formation, the decrease of R3,62 on the Shorkot Road Chikoki was due to expenditure not being incurred as anticipated owing to the late arrival of stores for the line, the increase of R4,41 on the Thal-Parachinar and Kohat-Thal Conversion was due to the inclusion of English stores for the line in the estimate for the Khushalgarh-Kohat Conversion and Indus Bridge which was treated as an Indian purchase and consequently amalgamated with the outlay of the line under construction.

343. As regards Open Lines the more important increases were R52,01 on the East Indian Railway due to heavy expenditure on the purchase of Indian and English stores and large cash outlay on works and workshop labour; R65,74 on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway due to the net result of an increase in outlay on Final Heads of Capital Account and under Suspense, R22,13 on the North Western Railway due to heavy expenditure on works agreed to after the Budget was passed; R27,68 on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway due to the extra purchase of rolling stock for which no provision existed in the Budget; R13,10 on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway due to heavy outlay on Rolling Stock and Suspense Charges; R8,80 on the Tirhoot State Railway and Extensions due to provision under Final Heads of Account having been underestimated in the Budget. The large excess on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway was due to the adjustment against the head "48.—State Railways—Construction" by credit to "Capital Account of Indian Railway Companies" of the over draft (£7,466) of the Madras Railway, and of the advance of £2,129,9 and overdrawn capital amounting to £624 of the Southern Mahratta Railway Company as at 31st December 1907. The more important lapses were R26,66 on the Assam Bengal Railway (Part II) due to Capital having been raised during the year by the Company and to outlay being charged in consequence against Company's Capital. The lapses of R1,18, and 7,99, respectively, on the Nilgiri, and North East Line (Madras) Railways were due principally to the reconstitution of the Railway Systems in Southern India. The decrease of R3,98 on the Rohri-Samasata Doubling was due to the transfer of certain stores to the North Western Railway that were lying at debit of works. The lapse of 1,66,28 under Stores and Suspense was merely a nominal one, the amount in question having been distributed during the year where it was most likely of being utilised.

The excess of 4,06,51 awaits the sanction of the Government of India.

344. The outlay during 1907-08 exceeded that of the previous year by R7,22, which was made up of excesses in the Punjab (13,76), the North-West Frontier Province (2,16), and Bombay (1,48), and lapses in Madras (5,76), the United Provinces (2,58), and Burma (1,82). In the Punjab the excess is due to the continued prosecution of work on the Triple Canal Project comprising the Upper Chenab, Upper Jhelum, and Lower Bari Doab Canals, and to larger outlay on open capital works on the Upper Bari Doab Canal; in the North-West Frontier Province, chiefly to the construction of the Upper Swat River Canal (a new work) having been taken in hand, and in Bombay to the large outlay on the construction of the Choi Branch and a new regulator on the Begari Canal. The lapse in Madras is due principally to a smaller programme of works having been undertaken on the Periyar, Godavari, Cauvery, and Divi Projects; in the United Provinces to the same cause as regards the Ganges and Agra Canals, and in Burma mainly to suspension of work on the Ye-u Canal as its alignment had not been fixed. Compared with the Budget Estimate there is an excess of R1,86, made up of increased outlay in the Punjab (4,15), the North-West Frontier Province (4,70), Madras (3,92), and Burma ('94), less decreases in the United Provinces (3,87) and Bombay (2,94), and the provision under Reserve (5,00). The excess in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province occurs on the Triple Canal Project and the Upper Swat River Canal above referred to, and in Madras is due chiefly to the non-inclusion in the Budget of the 5 systems transferred from '43' to '49' and in Burma to larger expenditure on the Shwebo Canal. The short outlay in the United Provinces is due to the unavoidable postponement of certain works, the non-adjustment of land charges which were expected to be made, and to expenditure provided for famine relief purposes not being spent, and in Bombay chiefly to the revised Mahiwah Project not having been sanctioned, the construction of certain distributaries on the Begari Canal having been deferred, and to larger recoveries on account of previous expenditure on watercourses.

345. As explained in former reports, these are all net sums representing excess of receipts over payments. The Indian figures represent the difference between the advances taken by the Companies, and the credits received chiefly on account of stores used on Revenue account. The English figures represent the difference between the Capital deposited by the Companies with the Secretary of State and the withdrawals for expenditure on Stores, Establishment Charges, etc. These figures are necessarily liable to great fluctuations, but the following general explanations are furnished:—

346. Guaranteed Companies, Madras Railway—

The variations are small and call for no remarks.

347. In India under Assisted Companies the excess of £17,13 on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway was due to heavy expenditure on the purchase of rolling stock; the excess of £13,6 on the Burma Railway was due to heavy expenditure on works and stores not provided for originally but subsequently found necessary; the lapse of 97,0 on the Indian Midland Railway was due to the original Budget programme having been modified during the year and a large reduction made in the allotments for sanctioned works; the lapse of 16,8 on the Lucknow-Bareilly Railway was due chiefly to certain large works not having been commenced though provided for in the Budget; the large lapse on the Southern Mahratta Railway has been explained under "48.—State Railways."

348. The Branch Line Companies deposit capital in the Government Treasury and draw against these deposits for expenditure on construction according to requirements. During the year 3,1 was deposited and 8,6 withdrawn as against 15,4 and 15,9 provided in the Budget Estimate.

350. The net debit under Special Loans is composed of an adjustment of 3 on account of the commutation value of lapsed Wasika Pensions and of a charge of 3 on account of the value of pensions commuted in 1907-08. The improvement under Deposits of Service Funds resulted chiefly from the transactions of the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund owing to less drawings.

351. The details of Savings Bank transactions are as follows:—

352. The net receipts under Post Office Savings Banks showed a heavy fall mainly in consequence of larger withdrawals attributed to the Famine. Under State Railway Provident Institutions the estimate was too cautious in view of the low actuals of the year 1905-06, but there was a recovery in the following year ; there was a further growth in the year under report. The fall in the net receipts under Civil Engineers' Provident Fund was mainly caused by the retirement of a number of subscribers with large balances at credit. In view of the increased popularity of the Postal Life Insurance Fund the Budget anticipated large expansion of the system and provided 7,50 under Life Insurance and Guarantee Fund, but the actuals came up to 6,91.

353. The net credits under Provincial Balances and Appropriation for Reduction or Avoidance of Debt have been explained in paragraphs 335 to 338 and 192 respectively.

354. The net receipts in the actuals under Excluded Local Funds closely followed the Budget Estimate on the whole; there were fluctuations of minor importance as between provinces. The net increased outgoings under Railway Funds were caused by the closing of the Guarantee and Contractors, Security Fund and Provident Fund without a balance on the transfer of the Madras Railway to State from 1st January 1908. The net debit under Gold Standard Reserve represents the amount paid to the Reserve during the year under report in excess of one half of the profits on new coinage which accrued to the credit of the Reserve during the year. The amount due to the Fund from the Treasury balances at the end of the year was £3. The character and magnitude of the transactions under Departmental and Judicial Deposits render an accurate forecast impossible. The Budget anticipated total net outgoings to the extent of 3,58 but the actuals produced a net receipt of 56,60. The more prominent variations were increased net receipts in India, Bengal and Madras and increased net outgoings in the United Provinces and Bombay.

355. The net figures entered against the head Advances may be divided as follows :—

357. The net debit under Other Advances is the final outcome of a number of transactions; the cause of the net debit of R15,13 or £100,9 is, however, brought out by the following figures :—

Section Q.—DEPOSITS AND ADVANCES—concluded.

358. Under Special Advances the net debit occurred mainly in the United Provinces on account of advances made to the landholders for village relief works in famine districts and in the Punjab for advances to the disinfection depôt at Jullunder. The net debit under Permanant Advances occurred also in the United Provinces and to a small extent in the Central Provinces on account of famine partly counterbalanced by a net credit in Bengal owing to larger recoveries of famine expenditure in Darbhanga. The net debit under Account with Foreign States was due chiefly to payments on behalf of the Federated Malay State for investment in Government Securities. The net credit under Other Advances occurred chiefly in Madras under Stock Account—Opium.

359. The net credit under Suspense Accounts occurred chiefly in the Public Works Cash Balances The variations under Exchange on Remittance Accounts depend mainly in the rate of exchange on Secretary of State's Bills.

360. The larger credit in England occurred in the transactions of the Gold Standard Reserve.

362. The transactions in connection with Imperial Loans and Advances resulted in a net receipt of £400,7 or R60,10 against an estimate of £61,6 or R9,25. The improvement was caused by increased repayments and short advances. In the Budget there was a reserve provision of 35,00 for advances in case of emergencies, but this provision was not drawn upon. Under Loans to Native State the increased repayment was due chiefly to larger repayments by the Bundi, Kota, Karauli States and Jaisalmer Durbar in India, partly counterbalanced by short recoveries in the Kathiawar and Bijapur Agencies in Bombay. Under Loans to Presidency Corporations and Port Trust there was a provision of 14,50 in the Budget for advances to the Madras Municipal Corporation (5,00) which was not taken up, and to the Madras Port Trust (9,50), the actual amount advanced to the latter being 11,50. Under Regimental and other Loans, Military and under Advances to cultivators, the fluctuations were due to normal causes.

365. In the advances there were savings in all the provinces but largely in the United Provinces (10,20) due to a partial utilisation of the grant placed at the disposal of the Local Government for Loans to Municipalities. The increase in repayments (1,68) was spread over almost all the provinces except Eastern Bengal and Assam. In Bombay there was an excess of 1,10 owing to large repayments by the Poona, Hubli and Satara Municipalities Under Loans to Port Funds, the actual advances exceeded the Budget by 13 in Eastern Bengal and Assam but a provision of 30 in Bombay was not required. Under Loans to District Committees there was a saving of 1,13 in advances. In Bengal the saving (35) was on account of the Mogra Hat Drainage Scheme; and in Madras the amount advanced for outlay on the Bezwada-Masulipatam Railway fell short of the Budget anticipations by 92. These savings were partially set off by an increase of 10 in Eastern Bengal and Assam, the amount advanced to the Bogra District Board. The increase in repayments was chiefly due to a repayment of 21 in Eastern Bengal and Assam, by the Dinajpur and Rungpur District Boards. The large increase in advances under Loans to Landholders, etc., was mainly due to a loan of 14,00 made to the Nawab of Dacca, and of 25,00 to the Ajudhia Estate not having been provided for in Eastern Bengal and Assam and the United Provinces Budget Estimates. Against these increases there was a small saving of 51 in Burma owing to the provision for repayment of mortgages in the Katha District not having been required. Under Advances under Special Laws, there was an increase in the United Provinces (2,06) principally relating to the transactions under the Section RR.—PROVINCIAL LOANS AND ADVANCES—concluded.

Bundelkhand Encumbered Estates Act; that in the Punjab (16) to excess advances to the Jhelum and Chenab Colonists; and that in Bombay (23) to settle the debts of the Gujarat Talukdars on a cash down basis. Against these increases there was a saving in Bengal (97) owing to smaller payments of advances in Hooghly (31) Midnapore (42) and 24-Parganas (19) as also to the non-utilization of the Reserve provision of 5. There was an excess in the receipts in Burma (16) owing to repayments by the Damin Fishermen, not anticipated in the Budget; in Bengal (43) chiefly to larger recoveries on account of Embankment advances in 24-Parganas (21) and Rajapur Drainage Advances (14), and in the Punjab (26) to excess recoveries from the Jhelum Colonists; partly set off by a decrease of 17 in the United Provinces in the transactions under the Bundelkhand Encumbered Estates Act.

366. Under Advances to Cultivators, the following are the details:—

	Budget, 1907-8.		Accounts, 1907-8.		Excess (+), Deficiency (—)

367. There were increased advances in all the provinces except Madras and Bombay. Of these the most prominent increases occurred in the Central Provinces, Bengal and the United Provinces and were due to prevailing distress. Increased advances in the Central Provinces and the United Provinces led to some increases in the repayments. Owing to the prevailing scarcity the receipts were smaller in Bombay than were expected.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 11th March 1909, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Precipitation occurred on most days of the week in Kashmir and rainfall was reported from the extreme south of the Peninsula on the 8th and 9th : with the exception of a few thunderstorms in Assam there was no rain in any other part of the country. The chief feature in the weather of the week was the extreme dryness of the air, especially during the last four days when abnormally low pressure conditions along the eastern Himalayas favoured the prevalence of dry westerly winds over the greater part of northern India. Temperature was on the whole higher than usual in the United Provinces and in the province of Bengal.

Burma.—Skies were almost free from cloud and temperature was approximately normal.

North-east India, including Orissa.—Sibsagar reported a light fall of rain on the 9th and Dibrugarh on the 11th. Skies were clear or lightly clouded. Day temperature was higher than usual up to the 10th when it became normal, but night temperature was nearly normal throughout the week.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies were generally clear. Weather was warmer than usual from the 5th to the 8th, but from the 9th to the end of the week temperature differed little from the normal.

North-west India.—Peshawar recorded a light fall of rain on the 5th and precipitation occurred during the week at most stations in Kashmir. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded in Kashmir and clear or only lightly clouded elsewhere. Temperature was generally normal or in defect in the west of the division and normal or in excess in the east.

The Peninsula.—Rainfall occurred at a few stations in the extreme south on the 8th and 9th. Skies were clear or only lightly clouded, except on the 8th when heavy cloud was reported from south India. Temperature conditions were nearly normal.

The rainfall of the week was very scanty, and the percentages of defect in seasonal rainfall are generally larger and those of excess generally smaller than they were a week ago.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 6th March 1909.

Burma.—Light showers of rain fell during the week in Tavoy and Mergui. Threshing and winnowing of the winter rice crop have been nearly completed. In Upper Burma cultivation of spring crops is progressing well and some miscellaneous crops are being harvested. Standing crops are in good condition. The price of unhusked rice has risen in three districts and fallen in five.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—There was no rain during the week. Prospects of standing crops are fair but rain is badly needed for them. Preparation and cultivation of soil for jute and other autumn crops is still going on but sowing is likely to be retarded for want of moisture. Harvesting of tobacco, pressing of sugarcane and planting of potato still continue. Fields are being ploughed up for winter rice crops. The numbers on test relief works are :—2,948 in Dinajpur and 880 in Rangpur ; total 3,828 Cattle disease prevails in Dacca, Backarganj, Noakhali, Rajshahi, Pubna, Sylhet, Kamrup and Darrang. The average price of common rice has fallen by about 1 per cent.

Bengal.—There was no rain during the week except in the Gumla sub-division of the Ranchi district, where a fall of 1·60 inches has been recorded. More rain is wanted in Jessore and North Bihar for preparation of lands for the next season's crops. Pressing of sugarcane and harvesting of oil seeds and pulses are in progress. Lancing of poppy in Shahabad and sowing of Sumatrana indigo in Saran continue. Some damage has been done to mango and mahua blossoms by hailstorms in Ranchi. Prospects of spring crops continue unfavourable in the unirrigated tracts of North Bihar. The price of common rice has risen in Gaya, Hazaribagh and Ranchi, has fallen in Bankura and Balasore and has been stationary in the remaining districts. Cattle disease is reported from Burdwan, Birbhum, Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Patna, Monghyr, Purnea, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau. Fodder is insufficient in parts of Darbhanga, Monghyr, Purnea and the Sonthal Parganas. The water supply is getting scarce in many parts of North Bihar. 27,406 persons attended test-works in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur and Purnea. 13,188 persons were given gratuitous relief in Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea and Palamau and 563 in Puri. The number of persons on famine relief-works in Darbhanga was 32,267.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—District Darbhanga.—Workers exclusive of dependants 32,267 ; on gratuitous relief (a) dependants of workers 2,949 ; (b) poor houses or kitchens 1,698 ; and (c) village doles or other relief 5,110. Total gratuitously relieved 9,757. Grand total on relief 42,024. These do not include figures for thanas Darbhanga, Madhubani and Khajauli, in which famine has just been declared. The number on works in these thanas was 20,297. Prices 12 to 13 seers per rupee. Distress is increasing in the Madhubani sub-division. Relief measures are adequate. More works are being provided. People on works are in fair condition. Emaciation is noticeable. There is no wandering. Land Improvement loans continue to be given out, and several aided works are in progress.

United Provinces.—No rain fell during the week. Harvesting of spring crops has begun in a number of districts. In Kheri, in the dry tracts of Hardoi and Moradabad and in parts of Bahraich where three test-works are in progress prospects are not satisfactory but in the province as a whole and with the exception of the above mentioned small areas standing crops are in excellent condition and prospects are distinctly good. Cattle disease is reported from twelve districts. Fodder is adequate except in the Mat tahsil of the Muttra district. Supplies are sufficient. Prices have risen in 3 districts ; have fallen in 18 ; and are stationary elsewhere.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Scarcity has been declared from the 1st March in the northern portion of the Domariaganj tahsil in the Basti district, where ten works are in progress with 2,112 labourers. The condition of labourers in this and in the famine areas of parganas Bijaigarh and Kera Mangraur is satisfactory. Crime is normal. One civil, seven aided works and one unaided work are in progress and one poor house is open in Bijaigarh. The numbers on works have risen in Bijaigarh and fallen in Kera Mangraur. The numbers on relief are:—on civil works 5,337; on aided works 10,473 ; on unaided works 161 ; on gratuitous relief 3,247 ; in poor houses 113 ; dependants of workers 647 ; total 19,978. Prices:—Bijaigarh 10½ ; Kera Mangraur 15 ; and Basti 16 seers per rupee.

Punjab.—No rain of importance fell during the week. Standing irrigated crops are generally in good to fair condition while unirrigated crops are average to fair except in Rohtak, Jullundur, Gujranwala and Mianwali where they are below the average. Rain is still needed in Rohtak, Ambala and Mianwali. Extra spring crops and sugarcane are being sown in several districts. Prices are high but have fallen slightly in some districts. Cattle are generally in good condition. Fodder is sufficient except in Lahore, Amritsar, Sialkot, Gujranwala, Mianwali, Lyallpur, Jhang, Multan and parts of Gurgaon, Shahpur and Rawalpindi.

North-West Frontier Province.—Showers fell during the week all over the province and have been beneficial to standing crops. More rain would be useful. Standing crops are generally in good condition on irrigated and average on unirrigated lands. Sugarcane is still being pressed in the Peshawar and Bannu districts and the outturn is reported to be average. Sugarcane planting is in progress in Bannu. Extra spring sowings are being made. The water supply in canals is sufficient. Irrigation from the Paharpur canal in the Dera Ismail Khan district continues. Fodder is scarce in the Bannu district. The condition of cattle is generally good except in one village of the Mardan tahsil in the Peshawar district. The public health is generally good. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat $8\frac{3}{16}$ to $9\frac{1}{2}$; gram $9\frac{1}{16}$ to $10\frac{1}{2}$; maize $12\frac{1}{2}$ to $16\frac{1}{2}$; and bajra $12\frac{1}{4}$ to $13\frac{3}{4}$ seers per rupee.

Kashmir.—The weather is rainy and a little colder than last week. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are unchanged.

Rajputana.—Standing crops are thriving. Harvesting of gram and barley is in progress in a few places. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen in Partabgarh, Shahpura, Bundi and Karauli.

Central India.—Rainfall nil. Spring crops are doing well almost everywhere. Agricultural stock are satisfactory. Prices are high but stationary. Extraction of opium is progressing in Indore.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been clear. The days are getting hot but the nights and mornings continue to be cool. Only Chhindwara and Seoni had a slight fall of rain during the week. Threshing and winnowing of autumn crops and picking of cotton have been completed all over the provinces. Harvesting of spring crops is in full swing. Prospects are generally good except in Chanda, Akola and Buldana where the condition of spring crops is reported to be only fair. Construction and repairs to field embankments have been commenced in the principal rice-growing districts and preparation of land for sowing of next autumn crops is being undertaken. Agricultural stock are in good condition. Fodder and water are adequate. Prices:—wheat became cheaper in Mandla by 3 seers and gram in Damoh and Narsinghpur by 2 seers per rupee. Elsewhere the prices of staple food grains remained stationary or fluctuated slightly exhibiting a tendency to fall. The number of weaver, on relief was 1,599.

Bombay.—Standing spring crops have been slightly damaged by frost in parts of the Upper Sind Frontier and Ahmedabad, by insects and locusts in parts of Karachi, and by disease in parts of Poona and are suffering from want of moisture in parts of Thar and Parkar and Sholapur. Cotton has been damaged by frost in parts of Ahmedabad. Standing crops are generally in fair to good condition elsewhere. Threshing of autumn crops is nearly completed in Colaba and continues in parts of Kanara, East and West Khandesh and Nasik. Harvesting of spring crops is generally in progress. Cotton picking continues in parts of Gujarat, the Karnatak, Kathiawar, Baroda, Cutch, Rewa Kantha and Kolhapur. Lands are being prepared for next season in parts of the Deccan and Belgaum. The supply of fodder is adequate except in parts of West Khandesh, Bijapur, Belgaum and Kolhapur. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and Cutch and are generally in good condition. The supply of drinking water is sufficient except in parts of West Khandesh, Nasik, Belgaum and Kolhapur. Water for irrigation is sufficient except in parts of Thar and Parkar, West Khandesh and Nasik. Prices of food-grains continue high. They have fallen in Sholapur, have risen in Larkana and are generally stationary in other districts. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 25 to 40 per cent.; in Gujarat 15 to 62 per cent.; in the Konkan 9 to 25 per cent.; in the Deccan 17 to 47 per cent.; and in the Karnatak 32 to 91 per cent. less than the normal. Madras.—Light rain fell during the week in the Vizagapatam Agency and nil elsewhere. RESOLUTION.—In view of the practical difficulty of always arranging for the existence of means of communication between the Guard and every passenger vehicle on a mixed train, owing to the absence of horizontal hand-rails and foot-boards on many coaches, as well as to the large proportion of unbraked and unpiped goods vehicles still running on most railways: and considering the fact that the speed of mixed trains is comparatively slow and that these trains stop at every station, the Railway Board have decided to make the provision of means of communication between the Guard and every passenger vehicle on a mixed train permissive in certain cases, instead of compulsory, as at present.

2. In exercise, therefore, of the powers conferred by the notification of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 801, dated the 24th March 1905, read in the preamble above, the Railway Board sanction, under section 47, sub-sections (1) and (4), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), as in force in British India or as locally applied, and in supersession of the modification promulgated with Railway Board's resolution No. 2171 R. T., dated the 11th December 1908, and published under their notification No. 25, dated the 15th January 1909, the adoption, by the administrations of all lines of railway administered by the Government, of the modification specified in the annexure hereto in the General Rules for working open lines of railway, which were promulgated with Railway Board's circular No. R. T. 89A/8, dated the 8th September 1906.

3. The Railway Board also desire that the said modification may be brought to the notice of the administrations of the several railways not administered by the Government and which are under the control of the Local Government / your control, and that the Agents and Managers of those railways may be invited to submit formal applications for the adoption of the said modification. They also desire that the Agents and Managers of other lines will submit similar applications.

ORDER.—Ordered that this circular, with the accompanying modification, be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India, as required by section 47, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and that a copy of the modified General Rule be kept open for inspection at railway stations as directed by sub-section (6) of the same section; also that a copy of this circular and of its enclosure be communicated to the Local Governments, Administration and the Officers noted on the magin, for information and guidance, and to the Senior Government Inspectors of Railways, Madras, Bombay (Circles Nos. 5 and 6), Calcutta (Circles Nos. 1 and 2), Lucknow and Lahore, and the Secretary, Indian Railway Conference Association, for information.

Rule 64, Chapter III.—For this rule substitute the following rule :—

64. No passenger train or mixed train shall be despatched from any station unless it be provided with means by which a Guard can communicate with, or get access to, every passenger carriage in the train; or the Guard can be communicated with from every passenger carriage in the train by means of an apparatus provided for this purpose.

NOTE.—In a mixed train when an unpiped vehicle intervenes between the engine and any vacuum braked coaching stock this rule will not apply.

NOTIFICATION.

Quetta, the 11th March 1909.

No. 751.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 65 of the Excise Act, 1896, (XII of 1896), the Honourable the Chief Commissioner of British Baluchistan is pleased to make the following rules for the grant of licenses for the sale, wholesale and retail, of foreign spirits and foreign fermented liquors with effect from the 1st April 1909:—

1. The sale of foreign and country liquor on the same premises is strictly prohibited.
2. There shall be the following kinds of licenses :—

(1) Wholesale licenses.

Wholesale licenses shall be granted in form A on payment of fixed fees varying from R50 to R300 per annum, according to local circumstances. Additional fees of R50 to R100 should be charged for the privilege of bottling and of R250 to R500 for the privilege of compounding.

(2) Retail licenses for consumption off the premises only.

Licenses should be granted in form B to respectable persons on payment of fixed annual fees as follows :—

(a) Pishin District—
1st class	R 100 per annum.
2nd class	„ 50 „
(b) Sibi	„ 150 „
(e) Ziarat	„ 12 „

Licenses of this kind should be confined to cases where the business done at the shop is chiefly in single bottles or, in other words, where such business competes with that of the holders of "on" licenses and the minimum quantity to be sold under such a license shall be a full pint bottle corked and capsuled.

Fees for licenses at places other than those specified above shall be determined by the Revenue Commissioner.

(3) Licenses for consumption on the premises only.

Only one license in form C may be granted in the town of Quetta and the fee for such license shall be determined by public auction to be held annually. If the bid is lower than R600 a year no such license shall be granted.

(4) Licenses for the sale of fermented liquors only for consumption on the premises.

Licenses should be granted in form D on the payment of a fee of R300 a year.

(5) Hotel, Refreshment room (other than Railway Refreshment room) and Billiard room licenses.

Licenses in form E should be granted on payment of a fixed annual fee as under :—

1st class	R300
3rd class	„ 100

Sales for consumption on the premises under such a license should be restricted to persons using the premises for bonâ fide purposes, viz., (a) persons resident in an hotel, (b) persons taking their food in a refreshment room, or (c) persons playing or watching billiards in a billiard room. Where sale for removal is allowed the licensee should be required to take out a separate wholesale or retailsale license, or both, in respect of such sales on payment of the prescribed fee.

(6) Railway Refreshment room and dining cars licenses.

Licenses in forms F and G respectively should be granted on payment of a fixed fee which may vary from R25 to R250 a year. Care should be taken that holders of licenses confine their business to legitimate limits. They should not be allowed to establish a bar for sale to persons other than travellers or to conduct a wholesale or a retail business on the refreshment room premises except under a license of the class requisite to cover the business done.

(7) Staging bungalow licenses.

Licenses in form E with such modifications as may be necessary should be granted on payment of fees varying from R12 to R25 a year. The Deputy Commissioner may, for special reasons, which should be reported to the Revenue Commissioner, reduce the fee in unfrequented places where the amount of liquor sold is very small.

(8) Occasional bar licenses for consumption on the premises.

Occasional licenses, e.g., licenses for short periods for sales at entertainments or sports should be granted in form H but they should not be issued as a matter of course and should be strictly confined to the purposes for which they are granted. The minimum fee shall be R4 per day.

(9) Licenses to Contractors under the Military Canteen tenant system.

These licenses shall be in form E referred to in rule 2 (5) with such modifications as may be necessary on payment of the following fee :—

NOTE.—Whenever the licensee desires to perform the operation of bottling or compounding, he must apply to the Deputy Commissioner to arrange for the attendance of an Excise Officer or other officer specified by the Deputy Commissioner for purposes of supervision.

4. The licenses prescribed in rule 2 will be granted by the Deputy Commissioner except dining car licenses which will be granted by the Revenue Commissioner in Baluchistan, subject to the provisions of these rules, the infraction of any of which or any of the provisions of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896), by the licensee or by any person employed by him, or acting under his orders, or by his authority, or with his knowledge or consent shall render the licensee liable to forfeiture by order of the Deputy Commissioner without prejudice to any penalty to which the licensee or the person committing such infraction may be liable under sections 49, 50 and 52 of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896).

5. Excepting occasional bar licenses paragraph 2 (8) which shall not be issued for any period exceeding 6 days no such license shall be issued for a period of more than one year or less than a quarter of a year calculated in all cases from the first day of one of the months of January, April, July or October and the fees in all cases shall be payable in advance.

NOTIFICATION.

Quetta, the 11th March 1909.

No. 752.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 65 of the Excise Act, 1896, (XII of 1896), as applied to the territories administered by the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan as such Agent, the said Agent is pleased to make the following rules for the grant of licenses for the sale, wholesale and retail, of foreign spirits and foreign fermented liquors with effect from the 1st April 1909.

1. The sale of foreign and country liquor on the same premises is strictly prohibited.

2. There shall be the following kinds of licenses:—

(1) Wholesale licenses.

Wholesale licenses shall be granted in form A on payment of fixed fees varying from R50 to R300 per annum, according to local circumstances. Additional fees of R50 to R100 should be charged for the privilege of bottling and of R250 to R500 for the privilege of compounding.

(2) Retail licenses for consumption off the premises only.

Licenses should be granted in form B to respectable persons on payment of fixed annual fees as follows:—

(a) Quetta town—

1st class	R500 per annum.
2nd "	" 300 ditto.
3rd "	" 150 ditto.

(b) Loralai and Fort Sandeman . . . . " 150 ditto.

Licenses of this kind should be confined to cases where the business done at the shop is chiefly in single bottles, or in other words where such business competes with that of the holders of 'on' licenses and the minimum quantity to be sold under such a license shall be a full pint bottle corked and capsuled.

Fees for licenses at places other than those specified above shall be determined by the Revenue Commissioner.

(3) Licenses for consumption on the premises only.

Only one license in form C may be granted in the town of Quetta and the fee for such license shall be determined by public auction to be held annually. If the bid is lower than R600 a year, no such license shall be granted.

(4) Licenses for the sale of fermented liquors only for consumption on the premises.

Licenses should be granted in form D on the payment of a fee of R300 a year.

(5) Hotel, Refreshment Room (other than Railway Refreshment Room) and Billiard Room licenses.

Licenses in form E should be granted on payment of a fixed annual fee as under:—

1st class	R300
3rd "	" 100

Sales for consumption on the premises under such a license should be restricted to persons using the premises for bonâ-fide purposes, viz., (a) persons resident in an hotel, (b) persons taking their food in a refreshment room, or (c) persons playing or watching billiards in a billiard room. Where sale for removal is allowed, the licensee should be required to take out a separate wholesale or retail sale license, or both, in respect of such sales on payment of the prescribed fee.

(6) Railway Refreshment Room and dining car licenses.

Licenses in forms F and G respectively should be granted on payment of a fixed fee which may vary from R25 to R250 a year. Care should be taken that holders of licenses confine their business to legitimate limits. They should not be allowed to establish a bar for sale to persons other than travellers or to conduct a wholesale or a retail business on the refreshment room premises except under a license of the class requisite to cover the business done.

(7) Staging Bungalow Licenses.

Licenses in form E with such modifications as may be necessary should be granted on payment of fees varying from R12 to R25 a year. The Political Agent may for special reasons, which should be reported to the Revenue Commissioner, reduce the fee in unfrequented places where the amount of liquor sold is very small.

(8) Occasional bar licenses for consumption on the premises.

Occasional licenses, e.g., licenses for short periods for sales at entertainments or sports, should be granted in form H but they should not be issued as a matter of course and should be strictly confined to the purposes for which they are granted. The minimum fee shall be R4 per day.

(9) Licenses to Contractors under the Military canteen tenant system.

These licenses shall be in form E referred to in rule 2 (5) with such modifications as may be necessary on payment of the following fee:—

NOTE.—Whenever the licensee desires to perform the operation of bottling or compounding, he must apply to the Political Agent to arrange for the attendance of an Excise officer or other officer specified by the Political Agent for purposes of supervision.

4. The licenses prescribed in rule 2 will be granted by the Political Agent, except dining car licenses which will be granted by the Revenue Commissioner in Baluchistan, subject to the provisions of these rules, the infraction of any of which or any of the provisions of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896), by the licensee or by any person employed by him, or acting under his orders, or by his authority, or with his knowledge or consent, shall render the license liable to forfeiture by order of the Political Agent without prejudice to any penalty to which the licensee or the person committing such infraction may be liable under sections 49, 50 and 52 of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896).

5. Excepting occasional bar licenses [para. 2 (8)] which shall not be issued for any period exceeding 6 days no such license shall be issued for a period of more than one year or less than a quarter of a year calculated in all cases from the 1st day of one of the months of January, April, July or October and the fees in all cases shall be payable in advance.

8. The licensee shall keep an account of his sales in such form as may be prescribed by the Revenue Commissioner in this behalf, and shall when required to do so produce his license and accounts for the inspection of the Political Agent or of any person generally or specially authorised by him in this behalf and shall give entry to the premises to any Police or Excise Officer exercising powers not inferior to those of a Sub-Inspector of Police at any time of the day or night.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 18th March 1909, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

A depression from Persia gave light precipitation in Baluchistan and Kashmir, but no rainfall occurred in any other part of the country. As was the case last week, the chief feature in the general weather conditions was the extreme dryness of the air: on the morning of the 12th the moisture in the air at Calcutta was only 28 per cent. of saturation, the normal value being 81. From the 12th to the 14th temperature was in general defect in northern India, the deficiency being shown chiefly at night.

Burma.—Skies were clear and temperature was normal.

North-east India, including Orissa.—Skies were almost free from cloud, except on the 18th when cloud was reported from most stations. The nights were cooler than usual.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies were clear or lightly clouded and during the first part of the week minimum temperature was in defect.

North-west India.—Light rain was reported from Baluchistan on the 14th, and light snow from Kashmir on the 15th and 17th. Kashmir and the Punjab Himalayas were the only areas where skies were at all heavily clouded: in the rest of north-west India they were clear on most days of the week. The minimum temperatures recorded on the 12th, 13th and 14th were lower than usual.

The Peninsula.—Skies were clear and temperature was more or less in excess in the north-west of the division. In the Madras Presidency skies were lightly clouded and temperature was normal or in defect

The deficiencies shown last week in seasonal rainfall have increased and the excesses have diminished.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 13th March 1909.

Burma.—No rain fell during the week. Threshing and winnowing of winter rice have been completed in all but two districts. Harvesting of miscellaneous crops and transplanting of spring rice are in progress in the districts of Upper Burma. Standing crops are in good condition. The price of unhusked rice has risen in three districts and fallen in three.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Only Sibsagar and Lakhimpur had very light showers of rain during the week More rain is needed for standing crops and for preparation and cultivation of jute and other autumn crops which are in progress. Prospects of standing crops on the whole are fair, but are being affected by continued drought. Gathering of mustard still continues in some places and harvesting of tobacco and sugarcane and planting of potato are going on. Fields are being ploughed for winter rice. Sowing of jute and autumn rice has commenced in some places on low-lands. The number on test relief works are:—5,035 in Dinajpur and 626 in Rangpur; total 5,661. The average price of common rice has risen by about 1 per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Backarganj, Noakhali, Pabna, Malda, Sylhet, Kamrup and Nowgong.

Bengal.—There was no rain during the week. More rain is urgently wanted in Jessore, Cooch Behar and North Bihar for preparation of lands for the next season's crops. Pressing of sugarcane and harvesting of spring crops continue. Planting of sugarcane and ploughing of lands are going on. Lancing of poppy in Shahabad and sowing of Sumatrana indigo in Saran are in progress. Mahua has commenced falling in Palamau and Manbhum. Spring crops are very unfavourable in the unirrigated tracts of North Bihar. The price of common rice has risen in Champaran, Puri and Cooch Behar and has fallen in Burdwan, Birbhum, the 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Jessore, Patna, Gaya, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore and Ranchi. Cattle disease is reported from Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad, Patna, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Purnea, Sambalpur and Chota Nagpur (Singhbhum excepted). The fodder and water supply is reported to be insufficient in Monghyr, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas and Cooch Behar. Water is also getting scarce in parts of Murshidabad, Jessore, Muzaffarpur and Champaran. 4,389 persons were on test works in Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur and Purnea and 39,060 persons were on famine relief-works in Darbhanga. Gratuitous relief was given to 15,443 persons in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea and Palamau and 557 in Puri.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:— District Darbhanga.—Workers exclusive of dependants 39,060; on gratuitous relief (a) dependants of workers 3,216; (b) poor-houses or kitchens 3,183; and (c) village doles or other relief 6,257; total gratuitously relieved 12,656. Grand total on relief 51,716. These include the figures for the recently declared thanas of Darbhanga, Khajauli and Madhubani. Numbers on relief works have decreased on account of the spring harvest which is affording some temporary labour, but will rise again shortly when the harvesting is over. The outturn of the spring crops is very poor. Distress continues to be severe. Relief measures are adequate. People on works are in fair condition. Emaciation is noticeable at places. There is no wandering. Land Improvement loans are being freely taken and advantageously utilised. Takavi loans are being applied for and lists are under preparation. The public health is fair. Prices 12 to 13 seers per rupee.

United Provinces.—Slight rain fell during the week in Almora. Harvesting of spring crops is now in progress in a large number of districts. In Kheri and in parts of Bahraich, Sitapur, Saharanpur and Pilibhit standing crops are not good. Some damage has been caused to the crops by westerly winds in some of the Western and Oudh districts. In the provinces as a whole however standing crops are doing very well and prospects are good. Cattle disease is reported from twelve districts but the condition of agricultural stock generally is good. Fodder is ample except in the Mat Tahsil of the Muttra district. Water is reported to be deficient in parts of Bara Banki, Fyzabad and Mirzapur; elsewhere water and supplies are adequate. Prices have risen in 4 districts; have fallen in 21; and are stationary elsewhere.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The condition of labourers is good. One civil work, 8 aided works and one unaided work are in progress and one poor-house is open in pargana Bijaigarh. In Basti nine works are open. Standing irrigated crops are generally in good to fair condition and unirrigated crops are average to fair except in Rohtak, Jullundur, Gujranwala, Mianwali and Multan, where they are below the average. Rain is still needed in Rohtak, Ambala, Sialkot and Mianwali and would be useful everywhere. Harvesting of rape-seed has commenced in Gurgaon and Ludhiana. Extra spring and autumn crops are being sown in some districts. Prices are high but have fallen slightly in some districts. Cattle are generally in good condition. Fodder is sufficient except in Lahore, Amritsar, Sialkot, Lyallpur, Jhang and Multan and parts of Gurgaon, Shahpur and Mianwali.

North-West Frontier Province.—No rain fell during the week except 24 cents in Hazara. Rain is badly wanted all over the province especially for standing crops which are generally good on irrigated lands and average elsewhere. Sugarcane is still being pressed in the Peshawar and Bannu districts and the outturn is reported to be average. Sowings of extra spring crops and sugarcane are in progress. The water supply in canals is sufficient Irrigation from the Paharpur canal in the Dera Ismail Khan district continues. Fodder is scarce in Bannu. The condition of cattle is generally good except in one village each of Charsadda and Nowshera tahsils in the Peshawar district. The public health is generally good. Prices show a slight tendency to fall. Prices:—wheat $8\frac{5}{16}$ to 10; gram $10\frac{5}{16}$ to $11\frac{1}{8}$; maize $12\frac{1}{2}$ to $16\frac{1}{2}$; and bajra $12\frac{1}{2}$ to $13\frac{3}{4}$ seers per rupee.

The number of weavers on relief was 1,599.

Feudatory States.—There was no rain during the week. Harvesting of spring crops, construction of field embankments and preparation of land for sowings of autumn crops continue. Prospects are generally good. Fodder and water are adequate. The prices of wheat in Khairagarh, Raj-Nandgaon and Sarangarh fell by 2 to 3 seers per rupee and were steady elsewhere.

Bombay.—Standing spring crops have been slightly damaged by wind in parts of the Upper Sind Frontier, by frost in parts of Ahmedabad, by insects in parts of Karachi and by disease in parts of Poona; and are suffering from want of moisture in parts of Thar and Parkar. Cotton has been damaged by frost in parts of Ahmedabad. Standing crops are generally in fair to good condition elsewhere. COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE DEPARTMENT, INDIA

Calcutta, March 18, 1909.

SECOND GENERAL MEMORANDUM ON THE WHEAT CROP OF THE SASON 1908-09.

The provinces dealt with in this memorandum contain on an average 99·7 per cent of the total reported area under wheat in India.

No estimates of outturn are yet available although some provinces report in percentages of the normal what the yield per acre is expected to be.

The total area sown is now reported to be 25,985,200 acres which is to be compared with the 21,675,800 acres of last year and with the 27,068,900 acres forming the average of the five years ending 1906-07. As compared with last year there is therefore an increase of 4,309,400 acres or 19·9 per cent, whereas the acreage still falls short of the older average by 1,078,700 acres.

On the whole, the condition of the crop is reported to be satisfactory, but the unirrigated crop in the United Provinces is said to be poor, and in many places further rainfall was greatly wanted at the time of making the report.

The following is a summary of the provincial reports. The figures in brackets following the name of each province, indicate what percentage of the total area under wheat in India is ordinarily cultivated in that province; the ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage in the province is also stated.

Panjab (29·5%. Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 51·6%).—The revised estimate of the area sown in British districts is 8,306,900 acres (irrigated 4,780,900 acres) compared with 6,458,300 acres at this date last year (an increase of 28·6 per cent) and 7,187,300 acres finally returned that year. The present estimate, however, falls considerably short of the record area of 9,100,100 acres of 1906-07, and is probably pitched a little too low. Native States report a total area of 1,027,800 acres as compared with 750,500 acres reported at this date last year and 1,081,200 acres finally returned that year. The winter rains opened with light but useful showers in the fourth week of December in the Salt Range, the submontane districts and in parts of Lahore, Amritsar and Gujranwala. The January rainfall was very disappointing, being almost confined to two light falls on about the 10th and 27th in the submontane and adjoining districts from Sialkot southwards, and in the Jumna valley. The character of the February rainfall was again unsatisfactory up to the 20th and 21st when there was precipitation which appears to have been fairly heavy and almost if not quite general. Before this rain the outlook for the dry crop was distinctly gloomy. It has been ascertained that good rain has fallen throughout the Salt Range where the dry wheat area is very extensive. This should remove all anxiety for the present. At the date of report (24th February) prospects greatly improved and may be described as good. Further showers are required in this month (March), but it must not be forgotten that with the abundance of moisture which was left in the soil after the last monsoon, a smaller quantity of rain than usual will suffice to mature the standing crop.

United Provinces (26·4%. Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 51·3%).—Figures of acreage actually sown are not yet available; in the December forecast the total area sown was roughly estimated at 5,500,000 acres, being 25 per cent more than last year's area, and no change has been made in the present report. December was almost entirely rainless. In January the weather was disturbed, but the rain which fell was insufficient over a large part of the province. The hill districts and the western plains had as a rule adequate general falls which benefited the crops; but elsewhere the falls were too light and local to be satisfactory, though they did good where they occurred. Slight damage from white ants has been reported from a number of places. So far there is no reason to anticipate injury from rust. Prospects of the irrigated crop are reported to be good, but the dry crop is poor. For the province as a whole the outturn is at present estimated at 85 per cent of the normal compared with 75 per cent last year (normal = 1,050 lbs. per acre on the average).

Central Provinces and Berar (12·1%. Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 1 per cent).—The total area sown is now estimated to be 2,977,200 acres (2,668,100 in the Central Provinces and 309,100 in Berar) which is 10 per cent more than last year's area. In December rainfall was fairly well distributed except in several districts. The weather was practically dry throughout the province in January and the rainfall was about 78 per cent in defect. Light rain was received in the first fortnight of February. The winter showers, though scanty, greatly benefited the crop. For the Central Provinces and Berar as a whole the outturn is at present estimated at 94 per cent of the normal (normal = 597 lbs. per acre). The areas under wheat in the Native States of Khairagarh and Rajnandgaon are estimated to be 29 per cent less and 10 per cent more respectively than the preceding year when the areas were 70,000 and 33,000 acres respectively. Prospects of the crop are reported to be generally fair.

Bombay and Sind (8·7%. Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 11·2 % in Bombay and 87 % in Sind).—According to the latest reports the total area comes to 2,029,600 acres (1,517,900 in British districts and 511,700 in Native States) which is 4·5 per cent below last year's area. There has practically been little rain after sowing and the crop suffered in many places, particularly in the lighter soils in East Deccan and Karnátak. The irrigated crop is fairly good everywhere. The dry crop is fair in South Gujarat, Western Karnátak, and parts of Deccan, but poor elsewhere. Harvesting of the dry crop has commenced in places in the Presidency proper. In Sind the crop is still young and is reported to be fair.

Bengal (4·8%).—The total area sown is reported to be 1,234,900 acres as against 1,00?,100 acres last year—an increase of 23 per cent. The increase is stated to be due to the cultivation of wheat on low lands in Bihar where, for want of sufficient moisture, rice could not be sown. Sowings began under favourable circumstances, but the absence of rain since the second week of October hindered progress and affected the growth of the early sown crop. The rainfall in the latter part of January did much good, but it was too scanty in Bihar where the crop is most important. For the province as a whole the outturn is at present estimated at 60 per cent of the normal (normal = 958 lbs. per acre).

North-West Frontier Province (3·6 % Ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 25·8 %).—The total area sown is estimated at 1,003,000 acres (irrigated 251,400 acres) as compared with 977,700 acres last year—an increase of 2·6 per cent. The winter rains set in in the third week of December, but their amount was much less than that in the previous year. The prospects of the crop are reported to be generally good, but rain is urgently required.

Eastern Bengal (0·6%).—The area is estimated to be 77,700 acres against 92,300 acres last year—a decrease of nearly 16 per cent, attributed to deficient moisture in the soil at sowing time in certain districts. Light scattered showers have fallen, but in general the crop has suffered from want of rain, and the outturn is expected to be only 52 per cent of the normal (normal = 784 lbs. per acre).

Central India (7·1 %).—The total area sown is reported to be 1,948,000 acres as compared with 1,677,000 acres last year—an increase of 16 per cent. The crop is reported to be in fair to good condition.

Hyderabad (3·6 %) reports the area sown to be 1,015,800 acres as against 900,700 acres last year—an increase of nearly 13 per cent. The season was favourable at sowing time. The crop would have been a better one if there had been a little more late rain; but on the whole the estimated outturn works out to 61 per cent of the normal as against 40 per cent last year (normal = 320 lbs. per acre).

Rajputana (3·3 %).—The total area is reported to be 863,000 acres as compared with 582,000 acres last year—an increase of 48 per cent. The crop is reported to be generally in fair to good condition.

Mysore (0·02 %) reports 1,300 acres against 2,500 acres last year—a decrease of 48 per cent. The failure of the north-east monsoon has greatly affected the crop.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1909-1910.

PART I.

Introductory.

I present to the Council the Financial Statement for 1909-1910. It deals, according to the regular practice, with the closed accounts of last year, with the revised estimates of the year now ending, and with the Budget for the year which begins on the 1st of April next.

2. With 1907-1908 ended a decade of remarkable prosperity in our Indian finances. Nothing that occurred during the ten previous years checked the steady progress of our revenues; and even the famine of 1900 failed to interrupt the long series of surpluses which it has been the good fortune of my predecessors to declare. But in the middle of 1907 the position changed with the failure of the south-west monsoon, and when the year closed our revenues showed only a small margin of £306,046 to the good. The present year inherited a legacy of famine and its sequels. The spring harvest had been seriously reduced by drought; the yield of wheat being estimated at 27 per cent. below the average, and the oilseed crop being at least 60 per cent. in defect. Trade was dull; the foreign demand for jute had been seriously curtailed; the cotton crop had been weak; and quite one-third of the exports of Burma rice had been diverted to feed the famine areas in India. But, though such was the position at the moment, there appeared to be hope of a speedy recovery. There had been an almost immediate resilience after each of the disastrous years of 1897 and 1900; and with a normal monsoon in 1908, there seemed no reason why the vitality of our resources should not again assert itself after the famine of 1907-1908. The number of persons in receipt of relief at the end of March was less than half of what it had been at the same stage of each of the previous famines. In the latter half of 1908-1909, large suspensions of land revenue were due for recovery; and on the assumption that normal conditions would be re-established in the autumn, it was anticipated that our railway earnings would revive, and our other chief sources of income improve. Sir Edward Baker accordingly budgeted for a surplus of £5[illegible]1,500.

3. The situation unfortunately has altered materially for the worse since his Budget was framed; and instead of a small surplus, the year has ended with a large deficit. For this there are two outstanding reasons. The first is the protracted weakness in the agricultural conditions of the year. The area under the spring crops of 1908-1909 was small; and though the winter rains were good if late, the outturn of the harvest in most of the affected provinces was not more than two-thirds of the normal. The areas most seriously affected were the United Provinces and the neighbouring States of Central India, but relief measures were also required in parts of the Central Provinces, Bombay and Bengal, and to a small extent in the Punjab and Madras. On the 1st April 1908, there were $1\frac{1}{4}$ million persons in receipt of State relief in British India and nearly 150,000 in Native States. The total did not fall below a million till the beginning of July. The monsoon rains were generally favourable and well distributed, and relief works were closed in most provinces by the end of September. On the whole, the autumn harvest was a good one, but the hopes which were at one time entertained of an unusually excellent harvest were partly disappointed by the early cessation of the rains. Sowings for the harvest now in hand were somewhat retarded by the dryness of the soil and the absence of rain during October and November. But a still more serious factor in the year's misfortunes was the severe outbreak of malarial fever in Northern India, which caused considerable mortality in some tracts and greatly debilitated the agricultural population, hampering the harvesting of the autumn and the sowing of the spring crops. Taken as a whole therefore, the rural prosperity of the year fell much short of what had been hoped for.

4. It is not however entirely to the agricultural conditions of 1908 that our reverses of fortune in the current year are attributable. They are partly also the outcome of a grave depression in trade,—not a depression which is local or peculiar to India, but one of those great reactions which periodically affect the whole of the civilized world. It is on our railway returns therefore that the characteristics of the year are most clearly impressed. The external trade of India has advanced during the last twelve years by rapid and continuous strides. In 1896-1897 the aggregate value of our imports and exports by sea was 198 crores of rupees; in 1907-1908 it was 362 crores; and in every single one of the intermediate years the figure was higher than in the preceding year. It has thus been the experience of India, after recovery from each of the last two great famines, to find itself in the steadily flowing tide of commercial prosperity. On this occasion, the tide has turned, and we have emerged from the famine to find ourselves swimming against the ebb. During the first ten months of the current year, the value of our external trade receded by 15 per cent.; and the internal commerce of the country has been correspondingly depressed. The earnings of our railways, which are the collecting agency for our exports and the distributing agency for our imports, have as a consequence been most seriously affected. Other departments of Government, which also in their degree reflect the fluctuations of trade activity, have suffered similarly,—particularly the forests, customs, posts and telegraphs, and the mints.

5. The net result of these two factors—the harvest failures within India itself and our exposure to an adverse tide in the world's commerce has been that we expect to close the year with a deficit of £3,720,500. I will presently examine this figure in greater detail; it is the result of a large number of plus and minus variations, of which, however, by far the greatest is the drop in our net railway receipts, which has reached the high figure of £3,674,200. The estimates for the other heads of revenue and expenditure which were framed a year ago have been closely justified on the whole, and apart from the railway returns, we should have closed the year practically at equilibrium. If we could also eliminate certain unexpected military charges to which reference will subsequently be made, our budgeted surplus would have been realized. The figures however must of course be taken as a whole, and I have no wish to underrate the gravity of the result. It has entailed wholesale retrenchment; it has imposed a severe strain upon our cash balances; and it has prevented that expansion in our programme of railway capital expenditure to which we looked forward in 1909-1910, and which we confidently hope will be possible in better years. There are three considerations however to mitigate the not unnatural disappointment with which I place these results before the Council. One is the consolation that we find in the misfortunes of our friends; for several of the wealthiest nations of the world are to-day in the same plight as ourselves in having to face heavy deficits. Another is that the present deficit is the first that has occurred in India since 1897-1898, when there was a shortage of over £3½ millions. The third consolation presents itself when we turn to the anticipated results of the coming year.

6 In 1909-1910 we have reason to expect a fairly satisfactory spring harvest, though the winter rains were very late in arrival and below the normal in most provinces. The agricultural prospects are thus decidedly better than they were at this time last year. Unfortunately, however, they still leave something to be desired, and I have to record some exceptions to the generally favourable outlook. The most important of these is North Bihar, where the monsoon rainfall was only about half the normal, and practically no rain fell in the cold weather. The monsoon crops were bad, and the outturn of the spring harvest will be poor. Regular relief operations have already been started in one district, and will probably be required shortly in some adjoining districts. The rainfall has also been deficient in Mirzapur and in some of the districts of Northern Oudh which suffered severely last year, as well as in portions of the Eastern Bengal districts adjoining Bihar. Relief works have already been opened in these tracts, and further measures will probably be necessary during the hot weather. It is hoped, however, that famine relief will not be required on any considerable scale except in the limited areas mentioned, and if the coming monsoon is favourable, those parts of the country which were afflicted last year should be restored to their normal condition.

7. Apart from the agricultural outlook, there are other features in the coming year which make caution imperative. We shall lose another slice of the opium revenue which we are sacrificing in order to assist China in her great scheme of moral reform. Our markets continue overloaded with imports which the country has not yet digested; prices are still high; and the revival in trade which we all hope for will probably be slow. Finally, some of the Local Governments have not yet had time to adapt their scale of expenditure to the change in the general prosperity, and must work to deficits which, in one case at least, means a large overdraft upon Imperial funds. In all these circumstances, the framing of the budget has been no easy task. The occasion is one not for cheery optimism, but for circumspection and economy; and retrenchment is never wholly agreeable. With the cordial assistance, however, of my colleagues who control the great spending Departments and of the various Local Governments, I am in a position to budget for a surplus of £230,900, without asking for a rupee of extra taxation. This result has been arrived at by close economy in every direction, and is based on a temperate estimate of revenue, with the usual assumption of a normal monsoon. The surplus is extremely small, for it has been the practice to approximate a crore of rupees (£667,000). With our reduced cash balances, it involves the taking of no inconsiderable risk to budget for a margin of such narrow dimensions. In my judgment, however, so long as we believe that our difficulties are merely temporary, it is wiser to take that risk than it would be to add to the burdens of the people or to borrow for the daily administrative work of the Government.

8. There has been no change in the form of the accounts since last year, and I am able to present the figures without any preliminary qualifications. For the three years which we are considering today, they stand as follows, after the exclusion of all Capital, Debt and Remittance transactions :—

	1907-1908 Accounts. £
Revenue	71,003,275
Expenditure charged to Revenue	70,697,229

Accounts of 1907-1908.

9. When the last Financial Statement was being prepared, we estimated that the year 1907-1908 would close with an Imperial surplus of £235,400. The actual ascertained surplus was £306,046. In the Provincial section, the revenue and expenditure were both somewhat higher than we had estimated : but the net result was not materially different. In the Imperial figures, however, there was a shortage of £109,129 in revenue, covered by a larger reduction of £179,775 in expenditure.

10. The decline in revenue is fully explained by the Railway results. The gross earnings of State railways fell short of our estimate by £131,047, and there was an increase of £291,084 in working expenses. The sharp decline in traffic during March on the East Indian, Great Indian Peninsula, and North-Western Railways was accompanied by special activity in renewals towards the end of the year upon most of the main lines. The drop in net railway revenue was partly counterbalanced, however, by an improvement of £95,571 in the Imperial share of Land Revenue, the result of better collections in the United Provinces and advance realizations in several Bombay districts. We had also taken a cautious estimate of the revenue from Customs, Exchange and Irrigation, and the actual receipts were £40,494, £34,511 and £36,491 respectively in excess of our figures.

11. The diminution of expenditure occurred mainly under Military charges, where larger savings were effected than we had foreseen, partly in the accounts of the Bazar Valley Field Force; the total reduction in comparison with our Revised Estimate under this head being £104,713. There was also an improvement under Stationery and Printing, where the actual charges (Imperial share) were £40,404 lower than we had taken, and under the head of Interest chargeable against Railway Companies on advances, where the drop was £32,438. The figures for both these heads depend to a considerable degree on adjustments made at or after the close of the year. On the other hand, the expenditure on the famine in the United Provinces was heavier than our latest information had indicated, and the figure for Famine Relief (Imperial share) was exceeded by £51,329.

The Comptroller General's Appropriation Report, which has just been published, gives full details of the 1907-1908 accounts as closed and finally audited. They are also examined in Part II of this Statement.

Revised Estimate for 1908-1909.

12. I proceed now to explain in more detail the current year's figures, and in particular to examine the deterioration which has led to an anticipated surplus of £571,500 being converted into a probable deficit of £3,720,500. There has been a total decrease of £3,810,300 in revenue, and a total increase of £718,700 in expenditure: but £237,000 of the latter has been met by Provincial Governments drawing on their own balances or overdrawing on ours.

As I have already indicated, the drop in revenue is largely accounted for by the falling-off of £3,674,200 in net railway earnings The other chief shortages as compared with the Budget Estimate of revenue are given below: but they have been more than counterbalanced by an improvement of £1,041,300 under Opium :—

Land Revenue	264,100
Salt	185,500
Customs	148,000
Forests	141,100
Interest	88,500
Post Office	78,000
Telegraph	85,900
Mint	148,900
Irrigation	72,100

13. The failure of the winter rains in Bombay, and the partial drought in Upper Burma which experienced one of the worst seasons for many years, explain the short collections of Land revenue, which would have been still worse had the United Provinces and the Central Provinces not succeeded in getting in a larger share of their famine suspensions than had been expected. On the Forest revenue also, famine left its direct mark, in the decreased demand for building timber and firewood; though a variety of other and more local causes were simultaneously at work to weaken the market for forest produce. On the other hand, a saving of £39,500 is expected in Forest expenditure.

14. The third great revenue head which scarcity affected directly is Salt. Ever since the recent series of reductions in duty began six years ago, there has been a steady annual increase in consumption. A point however seems now to have been reached at which the purchasing power of the people is affected much more by agricultural conditions than by the purely nominal rate of duty. Under the stress of famine an appreciable curtailment in the issues of salt began in April last and continued until August, the decline in these five months being 23½ lakhs of maunds as compared with the same period in 1907. When the adequacy of the monsoon seemed assured in September, there was a great rush to replenish stocks, and during the last seven months of the year we expect that the issues will be 25 lakhs of maunds better than in 1907-1908. There will thus be, on the whole year, a small improvement in consumption by about 1½ lakhs of maunds. We had budgeted however for an increase of 28⅓ lakhs, and hence the defect in receipts which we now anticipate. Another head of revenue which has suffered from climatic conditions, though in a different manner, is Irrigation; the main reason which has interfered with it being the heavy rain in August in the United Provinces and Punjab, and the consequent ability of the autumn crops to dispense with canal water.

15. Under Customs, the fluctuations in detail as compared with the Budget Estimate have been very large; the two great disturbing factors being piece-goods and metals. The market for piece-goods became seriously congested, and a sharp set-back has occurred in imports; we expect a shortage of £200,000 on the original estimate, which followed closely the figures of the previous year. On the other hand, we did not foresee the enormous stimulus which the heavy fall in the price of silver and copper gave to the Indian demand for these metals. The case of bar silver is dealt with in a subsequent paragraph; but the increase in the purchase of copper has also been remarkable, and there has been a striking advance in the imports of steel and machinery, both electrical and textile. On the whole we anticipate that the duty on metals will yield £166 700 in excess of our estimate. The market for petroleum has been better than we expected, as well as for sugar, of which large quantities were imported from Java to supplement a short crop in India. On the other hand, the deficiency in last year's rice harvest in Upper Burma, combined with the heavy shipments from Lower Burma to India, have resulted in a decline of £140,000 in our export duties.

16. The other chief losses in revenue may be disposed of in few words. The decline under Post Office and Telegraph is due, partly to trade depression, and partly, in the case of Telegraph, to the greater facilities which were given by administrative improvements for cheap messages. We are hardly in a position yet to estimate the effect of the great change in the telegraph rates which took place on the 1st of January. The fall in Mint revenue followed the total cessation of coinage from new silver, and the loss of seignorage thereon; bronze coinage and its profits being also curtailed by the large return of bronze from circulation after the stoppage of famine relief works. The fall in Interest receipts is attributable to the Secretary of State having smaller balances available in London for deposit at interest, and to the lower rates of interest which he obtained for them.

17. Absorbing all these minor deficiencies in revenue, stands the great increase of £1,041,300 which we now expect in our Opium receipts for the year. About a fourth part of this has been gained by the high prices obtained for our Bengal opium; as we budgeted with caution for an average sale price of R1,300 a chest, and we have realized R1,384. But the great bulk of the improvement arises from a remarkable movement in the Malwa trade. The Budget assumed that 15,100 chests of Malwa opium would pay pass duty during the financial year. It is now probable that the number will be nearer 35,000 chests. In accordance with our arrangements with China, we fixed 15,100 chests as the permissible export of Malwa opium for the calendar year 1908, and 13,600 chests for 1909. The limit for 1908 was reached at the end of August; and then began a wild rush to get opium down to the Bombay warehouse, in order to secure priority for the 1909 shipments, and under the stimulus of the high prices which were then prevailing in the China market. Our warehouses were filled to overflowing, and large quantities of opium paid duty in advance without ever leaving Malwa. The permissible export for 1909 has virtually been completed, but the trade has shown no desire to remove the balance of duty-paid opium from our warehouses, which is now being held against the shipments for 1910, and the amount of refunds has been inconsiderable. Simultaneously with this windfall under revenue, we have had (see paragraph 20) a large reduction in opium expenditure, owing to an unexpectedly sharp decline in the poppy area for which licenses were taken out in 1908, and to a comparatively weak out-put in the last harvest.

18. I turn next to the mournful tale of our Railway results during the current year. We budgeted for gross earnings of roughly £29 millions, and for working expenses of £15 millions: the probable actuals are £26⅔ millions and £16⅓ millions respectively. The budget was based on the assumption of good seasons and returning prosperity; it made the usual allowance for increased mileage and the improvement of backward lines; and it set apart 51½ per cent. of the earnings for the cost of working, — a ratio which was somewhat lower than in the previous year, but quite up to the ordinary requirements of the past. The year began dull, owing to the weak wheat harvest; but up to July there seemed no special cause for anxiety, and we looked to jute and cotton to pull us through. Both these staples disappointed us however; and from August onwards, right up to the end of January, we had a series of depressing traffic returns. The exports from Northern India had practically ceased, and the great accumulation of imported goods at the coast showed no disposition to move up-country. When January closed, we were about £2,120,000 behind the budget proportion. Good winter rains and a satisfactory agricultural outlook might have brought a belated rally; but the rain had been unequal and late, and the scarcity in Bihar was already beginning to be felt. No marked improvement can be looked for until the big wheat harvest in the Punjab begins to move.

19. We have been doubly unfortunate through having to meet specially heavy working expenses in the face of a falling revenue. Recent labour troubles have necessitated revision in the pay of the staff; high prices entailed heavy expenditure on grain compensation; and the charges for coal on most lines were considerably heavier than we had budgeted for. The North-Western Railway suffered severely from the August floods, and substantial expenditure was required on repairs and temporary diversions. Generally speaking also there was unusual activity in betterment and renewals, which the railway authorities considered necessary for the safety and efficiency of the lines, and for which the lightness of the traffic afforded a favourable opportunity. The subject is further examined in paragraph 55, and details for individual lines will be found in Part II of this Statement.

20. On the Expenditure side, the chief variations which we expect from the Budget figures are as follows :—

Increases—
Land Revenue	92,000
Interest	169,800
Post Office	96,900
Salaries and Expenses of Civil Departments	432,300
Miscellaneous Civil Charges	259,100
Famine Relief	132,200
Irrigation	69,400
Civil Works	92,400
Decreases—
Opium	239,600
Telegraphs	61 500
Railways : Interest and other charges	91,300
Military Services	196,700

21. The excess expenditure is wholly Provincial. There is a small saving of £58,300 on the Imperial allotments; but the provinces, taken as a whole, have outrun their grants by £777,000. This heavy extra outlay by Local Governments has added to the difficulties of the year. I say so in no tone of disparagement or complaint. The reverse in our fortunes came upon us before Local Governments had time to prepare for it. The large element of recurring expenditure in their finances hampers them in retrenching with the necessary promptitude; and most of them have had troubles of their own,—high prices, famine in some provinces, and the cost of dealing with sedition or anarchy in others. We have now, however, impressed on all Local Governments the paramount importance of economy, and I trust that in the future we shall have their co-operation in full measure.

22. The compensation to low-paid Government servants for the dearness of food grains has been a heavy drain on the Budget. The payments thus made are estimated at £597,900 (excluding the Army), and they are distributed among nearly all the heads which show an increase of expenditure in paragraph 20. To this has to be added the Royal bonus in commemoration of the assumption of the Government of India by the Crown. It took the form of one week's pay to all permanent civil employés on pay of R50 a month or under; and is estimated to have cost £140,200. Apart from these general causes, large excess expenditure has occurred under Courts of Law and Police, in consequence of the special measures that have been necessary for detecting and trying seditious offences. The excess under Irrigation is explained by higher maintenance charges, and by monsoon flood damage in the Punjab.

23. The charges for famine relief were unexpectedly swollen by the protracted distress in the United Provinces, and by the recrudescence of scarcity in parts of the same province and in Bengal. There was also a small excess in the Central Provinces: but I am glad of this opportunity of acknowledging the great economy with which the famine has been combated in that province. A charge of a kindred nature which had not appeared in the Budget is £68,700 for the remission of irrecoverable agricultural advances in famine areas in the United Provinces.

24. Among the charges for which the Imperial Government is directly responsible, the heaviest excess occurs under Interest, in consequence of the issue of India Bills for a larger amount than we had anticipated. We have not had to meet the discount, underwriting and other miscellaneous charges of the £7½ million loan which the Secretary of State floated in January last; as, instead of debiting them against the year's revenues, he has created a sinking fund for their liquidation. Another excess over the Budget is £60,000, which His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan drew out of his subsidy account, in addition to the £166,700 which we had provided for. The other chief unforeseen expenditure of the year comes under Military charges. As a result of the enquiry by Lord Romer's Committee into our payments for the British troops employed in India, our liability has been increased by £300,000 a year; and, as the change takes effect from the 1st May 1908, the additional burden on this year's accounts will be £275,000. The pay of the Indian Army has also been substantially increased from the 1st January last, and the additional charge which this entails is £73,300 during the last quarter of the current year.

25. Against these excesses over the Budget, we can set large savings which have been effected under the group "Military Services," and for which we are indebted to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief's ready assistance in enforcing all possible economy. The operations against the Mohmands cost us £126,700 for which we had not provided, and the continued high prices of food and forage exceeded our Budget allotments by the large figure of £140,000. In addition to these demands came the extra charges for British troops to which allusion has already been made, and the rise in the pay of the Indian Army A large number of counterbalancing economies were effected, of which a more precise narrative is given in Appendix II, and in particular a number of the special measures for the re-organization and re-distribution of the Army were restricted or deferred in view of the general financial situation. The net result is the reduction on the budgeted expenditure which is shown above

26. The economy under the Railway head is partly the result of the Railway Companies having deposited smaller capital with us than we had hoped, thus reducing the amount of interest which we had expected to have to pay them. But it is also partly nominal, as the average rate by which we calculate the interest of that portion of our debt which is chargeable to railways was worked out at a lower figure than we had assumed in the Budget. The saving under Telegraph is mainly in capital expenditure of the Indian Telegraph Department.

27. The balancing figure at the end of the accounts which represents the surpluses or deficits of Local Governments indicates that the net Provincial deficits are £237,000 greater than we had budgeted for. The Punjab and Madras alone had anticipated a surplus; and, if we leave the special case of the United Provinces out of account, Madras alone can claim the credit of realizing one; the majority of the provinces working to much larger deficits than they had foreseen. This, however, is only part of the truth. In three provinces—Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal and the United Provinces—the deficits would have been very much greater, if it had not been for large assignments given from Imperial revenues. The total amount so given without budget provision was £654,200, and it was to this that I referred in paragraph 21 as materially adding to the difficulties of the year. The subsidy to the United Provinces was made partly to replenish balances which had been entirely depleted by famine, and partly in the form of an initial grant for the new financial settlement, so that, by virtue of this assistance, the province closes with a small surplus. The assignments to the other two provinces were in aid of their balances, which plague, famine and other causes had worn down to vanishing point.

Budget Estimate for 1909-1910.

28. After a year like the present, it would be clearly imprudent to speculate on too rapid a recovery in revenue, and it is obviously imperative to enforce all possible economies. The result has been a sharp arrest of expenditure, both Imperial and Provincial, at no small discomfort to ourselves as well as to Local Governments; and in some cases at a temporary sacrifice of administrative efficiency. But the only alternative was increased taxation; and this, in our opinion, would have been a greater evil. Our fervent hope is that favourable seasons in the coming year will justify our decision to work on a narrow margin and with a punctilious regard to economy, rather than on more liberal revenues with an enlarged basis of taxation.

29. The estimated revenue for the year is £73,750,900, and the estimated expenditure is £73,720,500. But as £200,500 (net) of the latter will be met from Provincial balances, the Imperial section of the budget will show a surplus of £230,900. As compared with the probable actuals of the current year, there is thus an anticipated recovery of £4,122,300 in revenue, and an increase in expenditure of only £170,900. The chief sources from which we expect this improvement in our position are Railways and Land Revenue. Nearly all the other principal heads of revenue, and in particular Stamps, Excise, Customs and Post Office, contribute their quota to the increase in receipts; but all that they can yield is absorbed by a great reaction in Opium revenue. On the Expenditure side there is a large rise in the Interest charges and a small increase for Military Services. But these are more than met by the decline in Famine charges and by heavy retrenchment on Civil Works. The other variations are less important and are mainly reductions, except notably under Police and Medical.

30. The Land Revenue receipts are expected to be high in Northern India, where large famine arrears will be due for recovery in addition to the current demand of the year. A careful estimate places the increase over the current year at £1,202,700: of which Bombay contributes £385,700, the Punjab £342,500, and the United Provinces £211,300. But more than the whole of this advantage accrues in the Imperial section, mainly owing to the cessation of the large special assignments described in paragraph 27. For railway earnings we take a figure £2½ millions above that of the current year. This does no more than place our railway activity where it would have been in 1908-1909 if conditions had been normal, with a small extra margin for the increased mileage. The provision for working expenses is roughly 54 per cent of the gross receipts, which postulates cheaper coal and a less active programme of renewals and repairs than most of the railways have pursued in the current year.

31. Under Excise, a head which usually suffers in famine years, we expect a substantial increase, mainly as the result of improved control, higher rates of duty and the continued substitution of licit for illicit consumption. Forest is another head where we expect a recovery from a temporary set-back. In the receipts from Customs we assume a subsidence under silver but heavy payments on the export of Burma rice and a moderate revival in the general import trade. Better trade conditions should give us the improvement of £129,700 for which we budget under Post Office; but the Telegraph figure provides for no rise over the current year, in consequence of the uncertainty of the effects of the new tariff. The Miscellaneous head gains by £60,000 which we expect the Port Commissioners of Calcutta to pay us for a piece of the Mint land, and by about £31,500 from the sale of cloth which was made for Government by weavers on famine relief in the Central Provinces. Moderate improvements under Salt, Stamps and Interest are taken as incidents of more normal conditions.

32. Our Opium policy in the coming year will be in consistent adherence to our promise to China, and our exports will again be reduced by ten per cent. The very unsettled prospects of the industry, the repeated alarms of local monopolies in China, and the speculative character of much of the Malwa trade, make it very difficult to forecast our receipts. We intend however to sell 42,300 chests of Bengal opium during the financial year, for which we assume an average price of R1,350 a chest. In Malwa we surmise that between 8,000 and 9,000 chests will pay pass duty in preparation for the shipments of 1911. The net result is a very heavy drop of £1,468,200 in total receipts as compared with the artificially inflated income of the current year. For the future the position remains as described by Sir Edward Baker in last year's Financial Statement. We continue to reduce our exports until 1910, when the whole question will be re-examined with reference to the progress which China has made in its reforms. While bearing evidence to the strength of a genuine anti-opium movement in certain classes of Chinese society, the reports which we receive are conflicting as regards the curtailment of cultivation and production in China. The matter however has been under the enquiry of the International Commission which sat at Shanghai last month, and at which the interests of India were represented by Mr. J. B. Brunyate. The proceedings of the Commission have not yet reached the Government of India: but in the meanwhile it is well that we should be prepared, as far as possible, for the possibility of further losses in our opium revenue. Fortunately there is some hope that the change will not affect the landed interest in Bengal and the United Provinces so seriously as at one time we feared. The profits of other high cropping show some tendency to oust the poppy, especially in Behar, and a large contraction in area seems practicable without very grave detriment to rural well-being. For the next poppy season accordingly we are arranging to license a maximum of 600,000 bighas,—a very material reduction from the 900,000 odd bighas which were cultivated only three years ago, when this question first arose. In parts at least of the Native territory where Malwa opium is grown, the problem of the falling China trade is a more difficult one, and it is now engaging our sympathetic attention.

33. I turn next to the estimate of expenditure for 1909-1910. The outstanding feature is the great saving which we expect under Famine charges, both direct and indirect. For direct relief the only provisions of any importance that we have made are £121,800 in Bengal and £55,000 in the United Provinces; the total being less by £808,300 than in the current year. One of the indirect results of a more favourable agricultural position will be, we hope, a fall in the price of food grains, in consequence of which we budget for considerable economies in all our departments, both civil and military. But in practically all our civil departments except Police, Education, Medical, and Scientific, retrenchment of a general nature is being enforced, e.g., under Stationery and Printing, where we expect a saving of £64,500. The main contraction of expenditure however occurs under Civil Works, where the allotments are £303,600 less than the probable expenditure of the current year, in consequence of the efforts of Local Governments to restore their finances to equilibrium. Under Opium there is a saving of £156,600, owing to the reduced area and production as explained in the preceding paragraph.

34. Enhanced expenditure is inevitable under Interest, as a consequence of firstly, the growth of our public debt; secondly, the larger amount of capital which we hope the Railway Companies will raise and deposit with Government; and thirdly, the new annuities issued in purchase of the Madras Railway, the full charges on which will be payable for the first time next year. Another considerable increase of expenditure is provided for under Protective Works. Their claim to liberal treatment is indefeasible, and the funds available for them were limited during the current year. The progress of reorganization is responsible for the growth in Police charges. Increased outlay upon primary instruction in Bombay and upon secondary schools in Burma combine, with the Dacca Training College, to raise the figures under Education; while the Medical charges are enhanced by a more active programme of sanitation.

35. There remains the group head "Military Services," which shows a net increase of £150,500. The rise in the pay of the Indian Army would alone account for an increase of £353,300, the full year's payment of roughly £426,600 being provided for; so that there have been extensive savings in other directions, and the Army has taken its full share in helping us to face a lean year.

36. The part which Provincial revenues have played in the retrenchments of the budget will have been apparent from the foregoing remarks. The result is that five provinces now estimate a small surplus on the year's working; while of the others, Eastern Bengal and Assam alone shows a serious deficit. It has exhausted its balances and heavily overdrawn upon Imperial resources,—an exceptional position to which we have assented partly on the ground of the special difficulties which attend the administration of the new province, and partly because it is working under a temporary financial settlement which stands admittedly in need of revision.

37. The tenuity of our surplus has made it clearly impossible to embark on any special expenditure or to indulge in any remissions of taxation. The only grants for general purposes which we propose to allot to Local Governments are in aid of police reform, and constitute one of the closing instalments of the subsidy of 1½ crores which was promised for the furtherance of the reform schemes initiated on the advice of the Police Commission. For next year the amounts which we have provided are :—

Bombay	3,00,000
Bengal	2,50,000
Eastern Bengal and Assam	1,50,000
United Provinces	4,00,000
Central Provinces	50,000
	11,50,000

Burma and Madras have already received, at the recent revision of their settlements, their full quota of the all-India grant. The same had been our intention in revising the United Provinces settlement: but the Secretary of State decided that the grants for this province should be given as required, and not incorporated in the settlement arrangements. The Punjab has already obtained its full share of the assignments.

Military Expenditure.

38. I append the usual statement showing the total expenditure on Military services under their various heads during the past five years.

39. In paragraphs 60 to 67 of his Financial Statement for 1907-1908, my predecessor explained the origin of the system which has prevailed in the last five years of financing large schemes of military expenditure from a special annual grant. For some years prior to 1904-1905 a large amount of expenditure had been incurred on special measures designed to improve the efficiency of the army, but the funds available fluctuated widely from year to year, and the objects to which they were devoted were not selected on any settled plan. In 1904 His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief put forward a definite programme for the reorganisation and redistribution of the army, and in order to ensure the economical completion of this programme it was decided to provide for five years in succession an annual grant of £2,000,000 (subsequently increased, by the inclusion of Military Works expenditure, to £2,167,000) for special military expenditure.

40. This grant was, however, to provide not only for the Commander-in-Chief's programme, but also for all other special expenditure (excepting petty items) connected with the army that might be required in the five years. Further the grant was not confined to new expenditure, but had also to meet the recurring cost of all special measures carried out from 1904-1905 onwards. The amount available for new projects was thus automatically reduced with the completion of each special measure which involves recurring expenditure. In considering the aggregate expenditure incurred from the special grant, the cumulative effect of the inclusion of recurring expenditure has to be borne in mind.

41. The actual expenditure from the special grant up to the end of the year 1908-1909 is expected to amount to £8,216,000, and the permanent increase of expenditure so far attained on the measures which are expected to be completed at the close of that year is £655,100 a year. Of the above sums only about £3,688,400 have been spent on measures included in the Commander-in-Chief's original programme, and about £271,400, or less than half, of the recurring expenditure, is attributable to such measures. The balance of the expenditure has been incurred on other measures which in any modern army are constantly arising, and must eventually be met.

42 It may be of interest to compare these figures with the expenditure of the preceding five years. Previous to 1904-1905 the savings derived from the absence of troops in China and South Africa had been devoted to the improvement of the Army, and large sums were spent on the re-armament of the Indian Army, the expansion of ordnance factories, and various other special projects. The allotments made for special military expenditure in the five years ending 1903-1904 aggregated £5,951,000, but these did not include any provision for recurring expenditure on measures previously carried out. For the purpose of comparison with the expenditure from the special grant in the last five years, it is necessary to deduct £1,217,000 from the sums charged to the grant on account of recurring expenditure brought forward from previous years. It will then be seen that the allotments for special expenditure in the earlier period were only £1,048,000 less than the amount spent on similar objects in the five years during which the Commander-in-Chief's programme has been in progress.

43. That programme is still incomplete but the improvement in the political position has enabled us to proceed with our military reforms more leisurely and to modify the original scheme in several respects. At the same time the cost of maintaining the army in India and of obtaining recruits from England has recently been increased—from causes beyond our control, and quite unconnected with the Commander-in-Chief's reorganization scheme—and these extra charges, coupled with a decline in general revenues, have rendered it necessary to reduce our special military expenditure.

44. It has now been decided to abolish the special grant and practically to revert to the system which was in force prior to 1904-1905. We have thus arrived at the close of an important chapter in the history of military finance in India, and I therefore give below a brief summary of the principal reforms which have been carried out in the last five years.

45. As regards personnel, the strength of the Army has been increased by 8 Royal Horse Artillery and Royal Field Artillery Ammunition Columns, 2 batteries of Indian Mountain Artillery and 1 Railway Company of Sappers and Miners, and the Royal Horse Artillery and Royal Field Artillery establishments have been considerably augmented in consequence of the introduction of new quick-firing guns; the Mountain and Howitzer Artillery units have been reorganised and placed on a more efficient footing; several battalions of Gurkhas have been raised in replacement of other classes of battalions; the Indian Army Reserve has been substantially augmented; and 350 British Officers have been added to the Indian Army.

46. As regards equipment, the rearmament of our Royal Horse and Field Artillery with 13 and 18-pr. quick-firing guns, is nearly completed; and our stocks of artillery and small arms ammunition, maxim guns, rifles, and war equipment generally, have been considerably augmented. The manufacturing power of our Ordnance Factories has been largely expanded. Our transport has been strengthened by the addition of 13 mule units and a reserve of 4,000 carts. A reserve of cavalry horses has been provided. Our medical equipment has been much improved, and 56 Field and 11 General Hospitals and 15 sets of X-ray apparatus have been added to our mobilisation stores. Our veterinary equipment has been similarly improved, and 6 additional Field Hospitals and 1 Store Depôt have been organised and equipped.

47. To provide for the withdrawal of troops from outlying stations and their concentration at strategical centres, additional accommodation has been constructed at Quetta, Nowshera, Abbottabad, Jubbulpore, Ahmednagar, Jhelum, Sialkot, Jullundur, Ambala, Dehra Dun, Lansdowne, Meerut, Delhi, Jhansi, Belgaum and Maymyo.

48. Among other miscellaneous measures, a Staff College has been established at Quetta; a new arsenal has been located at Kirkee; electricity has been installed at several barracks for British troops; the operations of dairy farms have been considerably extended; a new troopship (the R. I. M. S. Northbrook) and five smaller boats have been provided in replacement of obsolete vessels of the Royal Indian Marine; and the programme of Special Defences at our chief ports has been practically completed.

49. During the course of the current year it became necessary to restrict expenditure in order to meet several unforeseen charges, which coincided with a falling off in general revenues. The Revised Estimates include £149,000 for the cost of food and forage over and above the exceptionally large provision made in the Budget, £275,000 for an additional payment to the War Office in respect of the cost of obtaining recruits and reliefs for the British Army in India, and £73,300 on account of the increase of pay and free firewood granted to the Indian Army from 1st January 1909.

50. In the Budget Estimates for 1909-1910, as compared with those for the current year, we have had to provide for an increased expenditure of £818,300 on account of the three items specified in the preceding paragraph. Notwithstanding these heavy additional charges we have been able to keep our total military expenditure within its present limits by the realisation of economies effected in recent years, by retarding the rate of progress on new buildings, and by a careful reconsideration and economical restriction of demands under all military heads. The gross expenditure in the Budget Estimates for 1909-1910 is £46,200 less than in the Budget Estimates for the current year, and the net expenditure shows a reduction of £84,700.

Railway Construction and Earnings.

51. The following statement gives the capital expenditure on railways during the past five years and according to the estimate for 1909-1910, whether incurred directly by the State or through the agency of Guaranteed or Assisted Companies:—

52. On the 31st March 1908 the total length of open lines was 30,206·25 miles classified according to gauge as follows:—

5′ 6″ gauge	15,931·52
Metre „	12,784·81
Special gauges (2′ 6″ and 2′)	1,489·92
TOTAL .	30,206·25

53. During the current year we have added to these approximately the following mileage:—

5′ 6″ gauge	141·72
Metre „	398·33
Special gauges (2′ 6″ and 2′)	234·21
TOTAL .	774·26

During the ensuing year we hope to increase this length by 731·61 miles more.

54. In the current year the return on the Capital at charge amounts to 3·69 per cent, as compared with 4·75 per cent in 1907-1908 and 5·38 per cent in 1906-1907. The rate of interest which we have taken for the year on the debt chargeable to railways is 3·31 per cent: but we have also annuities and sinking funds payments to meet, besides the cost of land and other minor debits to our railway revenue account. A calculation which takes all these factors into consideration shows that, for the first time since 1898-1899, our railway system has been worked at a net loss to the State.

55. The conditions which have led to this result are, we hope, exceptional and temporary; and the only point which requires further explanation is the high ratio of working expenses. Our expert advisers have in recent years pressed upon us the urgent necessity of raising the standard of our existing railways in order to enable them to deal adequately with traffic. The demand of trade on railways for transport facilities has increased so largely and so rapidly in recent years that it has been difficult for our lines to meet it efficiently. This was strongly urged in the report of the recent Committee on Indian Railway Finance and Administration The type of permanent-way and girders laid down many years ago has in a number of cases become obsolete. Present day working requires more frequent train services, with heavier loads and more powerful engines than sufficed to meet the traffic requirements of even ten years ago, when the earnings of our railways were little more than half of what they are now. This involves the renewal of rails and girders that have proved too light for the loads they have to carry; and in other respects the rapid development of Indian commerce and industry is casting increased liabilities upon our railway administrations. We have a right to hope that, when these renewals have been carried to completion, they will outlast a further considerable growth of traffic for years to come, and that the fruits of the present activity will be reaped in the future in a lower percentage of working expenses. For the present however it would be futile to conceal how serious an anxiety the recent activity in repairs and renewals has caused us, in the face of a heavy decline in our revenue. It will clearly be necessary to relax the pace at which these improvements are being carried out. We cannot allow our railways to become again, even temporarily, a net burden on the general tax-payer.

56. One of the unfortunate results of the heavy outlay on repairs and renewals has been to reduce our cash balances to a point which renders it impossible for us to make any substantial contribution from our current revenues towards the capital cost of railway development next year. The committee on Indian Railway Finance and Administration advised an annual expenditure of £12½ millions as railway capital. We find ourselves unable to act upon that advice for the coming year. We are prepared to borrow as much as we prudently can, but the depletion of our cash balances, owing mainly to the results of our railway working in the current year, debars us from supplementing our borrowing to the same extent as we should ordinarily endeavour to do. The consequence is that our railway programme for 1909-1910 has had to be kept down to £10 millions. We recognize that this must be a disappointment to those who believe that railway extension is one of the outstanding economic needs of the country; but we trust that a more liberal scale of expenditure will not be long deferred.

58.* On the 31st March 1908, 53,677 miles of main and branch canals and distributaries had been constructed, commanding 46 million acres of culturable land, the area irrigated in 1907-1908 being 20,964,531 acres. The productive works during that year yielded a net return of 8·20 per cent on the capital outlay of 4,047 lakhs of rupees after paying all charges exclusive of interest. The net profit to the State was 196 lakhs.

59.* The revised estimate for 1908-1909 shows a net profit of 200 lakhs on productive works and a net return on capital outlay of 8·11 per cent. On the 31st March 1909 we expect to have 54,942 miles of main and branch canals and distributaries constructed to command 47,300,000 acres of culturable land, and we hope actually to irrigate close on 22 million acres during the year.

60. In addition to the canals in operation, there are altogether 42 projects which are either under construction or awaiting sanction or being examined by the professional advisers of the Government. Of these 14 are productive and 24 protective. They are designed to irrigate 3·24 million acres and 3·71 million acres, respectively, at a total capital cost of 14½ and 29 crores, respectively. The former are expected to yield a net return of 8½ per cent on the outlay.

61. The most important work in progress is the Triple Canal Project of the Punjab, which fully utilises all the available labour in the northern part of that province. The progress continues to be satisfactory and is in advance of that contemplated in the project estimate. It is expected that two of these three large canals will be opened within three years' time. On the Upper Swat Canal, the hydro-electric works for supplying power to drive the drills for the Malakand tunnel are approaching completion. The Nar Nullah irrigation work in Baluchistan was sanctioned during the year and has been begun. The reservoir of this work will store 420 million cubic feet and irrigate on an average 3,268 acres annually, besides being very largely utilized for the improvement of Quetta Cantonment.

62. Of the works which are awaiting sanction, the most important is the Tendula Project in the Central Provinces. This project provides for the construction of a reservoir to store about 9,000 million cubic feet of water, with the necessary canal and distributaries for the irrigation of 263,400 acres annually, at a capital cost of nearly 100 lakhs. The tract which the work will serve has suffered severely in the past from drought, and the work is one which will possess great protective value.

63. In the Punjab, surveys are in progress in connection with the proposal to utilise the surplus water of the Sutlej for the irrigation of both British territory and Native State territories in Bahawalpur and Bikanir. Two other schemes of great importance are also being investigated, viz., the Sardah-Ganges-Jumna Feeder and the Sind Triple Canal Scheme. The former contemplates the irrigation of parts of the Moradabad and Badaon Districts, which have not hitherto been irrigated; it will also increase the irrigation on the Upper and Lower Ganges and Agra Canals, and provide an additional supply for the Western Jumna Canal in the Punjab. The scheme, which promises to be productive, is likely to bring 1,200,000 acres under irrigation and to involve an outlay of about 7 crores of rupees.

64. A reference to the Sind project was made in paragraph 81 of last year's Financial Statement. Preliminary forecasts show that the portion of this scheme in British territory will cost from 10 to 12½ crores. The work promises to be highly remunerative, and its inception is due to the great need for extended irrigation in Sind and the precarious character of the present system of irrigating by inundation.

Ways and Means.

65. The Ways and Means of the coming year are discussed in detail in Part II of this Statement. Put in its simplest form, our calculation may be described as follows. On one hand, our means consist of our net revenue; our prospective loans, both permanent and temporary; the amount which we take from the Famine grant and use for capital expenditure; the additions during the year to our unfunded debt to the post office savings bank, etc.; certain miscellaneous deposits and remittances which, broadly speaking, are available for investment; and the sums which railway companies may be able to borrow in England for the State lines which they work. On the other side we take, as the demands upon our resources, the capital expenditure on railways and major irrigation works; the discharge of permanent or floating debt; and our net outgoings in loans and advances to public bodies, agriculturists, and the like.

66. For 1909-1910 our requirements will be £11,000,000 for capital outlay on railways and irrigation works, and £308,600 for the discharge of permanent debt. Thanks to the recovery of famine advances, our loan and advance account will bring us a net receipt of £282,300: which may accordingly be set off against our liabilities, thus reducing them to £11,026,300. As provision for this amount, we have the £230,900 of surplus revenue; £295,600 which we appropriate from the famine grant; £2,823,700 which the Secretary of State has still to receive out of the sterling loan floated by him in January; £853,500 of unfunded debt; and £416,500 of net deposits and remittances. These items total to £4,620,200 and leave us still to find £6,406,100. This we intend to do by borrowing 2½ crores of rupees or £1,666,700 in India, and by raising £2,400,000 through companies in England. The remainder, viz., £2,339,400, will accrue by a reduction in our general cash balances. We have to build up our treasury resources in India: but our balance in England is at present high, owing to the recent sterling loan. We expect to close on the 31st March 1910 with £12,262,523 in our treasury in India and £3,328,689 in England.

67. The announcement regarding borrowings is made subject to the usual reservation, and the Government of India retain full discretion to vary the programme, as now declared, in any way and to any extent that may be thought advisable.

68. The present intention of the Secretary of State is to draw bills on India for £16,200,000, but this also is subject to a similar reservation. The figure represents a forecast of the Secretary of State's requirements; but additional bills will be sold, so far as may be, if needed to meet the demands of trade.

Note Circulation.

69. The statements below give the usual information concerning the note circulation and the Government balances with the Presidency Banks. The first of the two statements shows separately (1) the gross circulation, or the total value of the notes against which we hold coin, bullion or securities, and (2) the so-called net circulation, which excludes the notes held by the Reserve Treasuries, and by the Presidency Banks at their head offices.

70. The last occasion on which there was a fall in both the gross and the net circulation was in 1897-1898, and the last drop in the net circulation alone occurred in 1901-1902; both of these having been famine years. In the current year the same features recur: the true circulation is affected by the withdrawal of notes from hoarding, while the lowness of our general balances has compelled a reduction in the amount which we keep in our reserve treasuries. There is no reason to fear any weakening in the popularity of our paper currency; indeed, the demands are all for its extension and greater elasticity. We have recently been able to do a little in this direction by bringing Burma within the range of the universal five-rupee note, and proposals for a further advance are now engaging the attention of the Government.

Coinage and the Mints.

71. The gross outturn of the rupees at the Mints during each of the last five years has been as follows :—

Lakhs.

فضائل الصلوة - مواقيت الصلوة - الشروط و اركان الصلوة - المساجد و مواضع

الصلوة - ما يبلح فى الصلوة و ما يكره - فضائل الجماعة - الزكوة و فضلها ·

As soon as exchange began to set against us in November 1907, and the sale of Council Bills to decline, the output of the Mints was curtailed; the purchase of further silver had been stopped some months before. The coinage of bullion already in store provided a certain amount of work until the beginning of April 1908, when all work—both on purchased silver and the re-minting of withdrawn rupees—was closed. Since then, there has been no coining of new silver; though the heavy accumulation of uncurrent coin in our treasuries compelled us to start re-minting them last October. Most of the uncurrent coin has been now worked off; and the Mints must remain idle, so far as rupee coinage is concerned, for some time to come.

72. During the earlier part of the year, the Calcutta Mint was busily engaged on the coinage of bronze, for which there was a great demand in the areas of famine relief. With the closing of relief works, the coins began to return from circulation, and there is very little doing at present. In the Bombay Mint the production of the one-anna nickel has been actively continued, and the output for the year is expected to be 20 millions of pieces. The demand for this useful coin is well maintained, though there has been a slight reaction in the United Provinces after the large issues for famine relief outlay last year. Up to the end of January 15 millions of pieces with a face value of 9⅓ lakhs of rupees, had been taken at our treasuries. Bombay is our chief customer, but most of the other parts of India—and now Bengal in particular—are taking kindly to the coin. A groundless rumour that Government meant to withdraw the one-anna piece checked the circulation in Burma for a time; and counterfeits are occasionally found, but they are usually poor attempts and easy of detection. We recently caused enquiries to be made as to the possibility of a half-anna nickel, though Government has no intention of taking any further steps in the matter until the popularity of the existing coin is thoroughly established.

Exchange.

73. In the Financial Statement of a year ago, my predecessor narrated the startling events which in the autumn of 1907 broke the even course that the exchange value of the rupee had pursued during the preceding decade. He traced the recovery of exchange after the shock which the markets of the world had sustained from the crisis in America, and he explained the measures which had been taken by the Government of India to support it. It seemed at the time to have steadied at gold point or over; but its natural position was one of great weakness; for the balance of trade had already become unfavourable to India. The general financial depression in America and elsewhere had seriously checked the foreign demand for our manufactured jute; the exports of the new crop of raw jute had been disappointing; and our cotton had turned out badly. Mainly owing to the weakness of these great staples, the last six months of the financial year 1907-1908 showed a net import of the value of 3·22 crores, whereas for the same half of 1906-1907 the weight had been entirely in the opposite scale, with net exports of the value of 16·15 crores. The trade demand for rupees had ceased in consequence and a demand for gold was bound to take its place. During February 1908 the Secretary of State had remitted only 1¼ crores to India, against 6¾ crores in February 1907; and instead of selling 4 crores of bills or more, as he frequently does in March, his drawings for that month dropped to the negligible figure of 26 lakhs. Had India been fortunate in a good spring harvest, recovery might still have been possible. But the bad monsoon of 1907 now began to exercise its malign influence upon our foreign trade. The export of oil-seeds in January and February was less than half of what it had been a twelvemonth earlier. The spring harvest of food grains in Northern India was short; high prices pointed to depleted stocks; and there would clearly be no wheat to spare for export in the following autumn. To these changed conditions the import trade had not yet had time to adjust itself, and the inrush of piece goods, metals, sugar and treasure continued, as well as heavy arrivals of railway material. Everything thus combined to pull down exchange, and on the 25th of March, 1908, it dropped below specie point. The arrangement which my predecessor described at once came into operation; and on the following morning a notice was published that the Government of India were prepared to sell sterling bills on London at 1*s*. 3$\frac{29}{32}$d., up to a limit of £500,000. The offer was continued until the close of the famine and the improved agricultural prospects restored exchange to normal health. The practice was to offer £500,000 every week, raising the amount to £1,000,000 on occasions when the market seemed to require additional assistance. There were only two weeks in which the tenders exceeded our allotments, and it is believed that the requirements of all genuine remitters were adequately met. Applications for bills stopped in the middle of August, although we kept our offer open as a precautionary measure for another month; and in September the Secretary of State began to remit substantial amounts in the opposite direction.

74. During the five months (April to August 1908) of our fight against the fall in exchange, we sold sterling bills for a total amount of £8,058,000.* The par value of the bills was paid into the silver branch of the Gold Standard Reserve in India; the Secretary of State making corresponding withdrawals of gold from the Reserve in London,—a process which necessitated the selling out of securities with a face value of £8,100,497, besides the disbursement of all accruing interest. During the first five months of the current year therefore we withdrew 12 crores of rupees from circulation in India; but we did so at the cost of reducing our gold reserve in London (exclusive of our currency gold) to under £6½ millions. It is most sincerely to be hoped that a succession of better years will enable us to recoup this very serious depletion, and to place our Gold Standard Reserve on a sound footing.

75. One of the minor influences which aggravated the effects of the adverse balance of trade was a heavy import of bar silver on private account. When it became clear in the autumn of 1907 that the Government of India would require no more silver for coinage in the near future, there was a sharp fall in the price of the metal. China, the other great consumer, was experiencing a surfeit of silver for the time being; and the United States, France and Germany were not buying in appreciable quantities. The rate dropped from 32 pence an ounce in August to 24 pence in December, 1907; there was then a slight recovery; but during the whole of the current year it has been weak with a downward tendency, having for some time touched 22 pence, the lowest quotation since January 1903. The result has been a remarkable stimulus to the import trade in silver; in October last, London despatched to Bombay the largest shipment, I am told, which had ever left England for India; and this record was again broken in December. It is generally believed that the supply outran the genuine demand. But, be that as it may, the fact remains that, despite the presence of famine in the land, the value of imports of silver on private account has been greater than in any of the ten preceding years. Up to the end of January it was 13 crores of rupees against 9⅓ crores in the same 10 months of 1907-1908, while the actual volume of metal was 76½ million ounces against 46 million. Its effect was of course to swell the imports at a time when there was virtually no outward trade to pay for them, and thus to protract the weakness of exchange.

*It is an interesting coincidence that, during the same five months, our foreign sea-borne trade showed a net decline in exports of 12·07 crores as compared with the corresponding period in 1907.

76. From September onwards, however, we fortunately found ourselves in smoother waters. The rush of piece goods was at last checked; and although there was a disquieting excess of imports in October (chiefly owing to heavy arrivals of silver) which almost stopped the Secretary of State's drawings for a few weeks, the balance of trade became decidedly more favourable towards the end of November, and in December there was a material change for the better. It is true that the improvement was due mainly to a tardy curtailment in imports; but there was also a revival in the outward trade; and the prospects of the spring crops were good. Exchange moved up to 1*s.* $3\frac{15}{16}$d., and the weekly drawings at the India Office rose on the 30th of December to the high figure of 150 lakhs, the heaviest regular allotment on record. This did not of course continue, and during the long period of waiting for the winter rains, there were some signs of nervousness; but the Secretary of State has been able to sell steadily up to now, and the rate of exchange shows no signs of again receding from 1*s.* $3\frac{29}{32}$d.

77. A regrettable, though entirely natural, feature of the period which I am now reviewing has been the exhaustion of the Government supply of gold in India. Complaints are frequently heard of the scarcity of gold in circulation, and I have seen it seriously suggested that Government has stopped the manufacture of sovereigns in India because they found it not profitable enough! The fact of course is that no gold is coined in India, and that we are wholly dependent on the ordinary operations of trade for our supply of sovereigns and half-sovereigns. When our exports are active and exchange strong, there is a free natural flow of gold into India, the sovereigns coming mostly from Australia in the course of a triangular adjustment of her liabilities in Europe. When, on the contrary, export is dull and imports abundant, the tendency would be for gold to flow out of India on balance. The latter has been the condition of affairs in the current year. The import of gold bullion has declined, though not more than might be expected from the large competitive purchases of bar silver. But the inflow of sovereigns has virtually stopped. During the last five years, the annual average import was £$6\frac{2}{3}$ millions; up to the end of December of this year, it was barely £$\frac{3}{4}$ millions. The natural result was a run upon the stock held by Government. The tendency to demand sovereigns for export was checked by the freedom with which we sold gold bills on London. But gold for internal use was drawn out from our currency offices until we could give no more. In October 1907, when our troubles began, we held £$4\frac{1}{4}$ millions in our currency chests, treasuries, and mints in India; in April last, our stock had fallen to £$2\frac{1}{2}$ millions; in September, it dropped below £1 million; and it is now roughly at the negligible figure of £100,000. So long as we issue sovereigns at par, and they sell in the bazaar at a premium, the result could not be otherwise. We are receiving practically no fresh supplies from outside, and the consequence is that we have been compelled to stop further issues. No additions to the gold in circulation can now be expected until a revival in exchange stimulates the natural import. I may note incidentally the significance of the steadiness shewn by the export figures during all this period of low exchange. Except for some small amounts of sovereigns which were taken from us ostensibly for export, there has practically been no increase in the outflow of gold, in the form either of coins or of bullion; partly of course because the inflow has stopped, but also because the comparative absence of the banking habit in the country makes it impracticable to collect with promptitude large quantities of gold, even when they could be exported at a profit.

78. The Council will not expect me to dwell on the obvious lessons to be drawn from the events of the year. Whatever else they have taught us, they have, I trust, demonstrated that the Secretary of State and the Government of India recognise the prime importance of supporting exchange to the extent of our available resources. And they point to the necessity for husbanding and developing those resources, and particularly to the duty of building up our stock of gold at the earliest opportunity, and of substantially adding to it in favourable years.

Conversion of the Three per cent Rupee Loan.

79. An interesting episode of the current financial year has been the offer which we made at the beginning of last November to the holders of our Three per cent loan of 1896-1897. The conversion of the interest on national debt from a lower to a higher rate is a reversal of the process at which Governments ordinarily aim, although it has once before been found necessary in India, when the 3½ per cent loan of 1853-1854 was absorbed in the 4 and 4½ per cent loans which were raised in 1856 and subsequent years. But unusual though the operation was, we determined with the Secretary of State's approval to embark upon it, in the interests of the holders of our Three per cent stock.

80. The history of our 3 per cent loan has been a curious one. Before 1893, except for one abortive attempt forty years earlier, our borrowings in India had been at 4 per cent and over. In that year, we floated our first 3½ per cent loan, and in 1894 we converted the great bulk of our older debt into three-and-a-halfs. These were the halcyon days of gilt-edged securities, and conversion was in the air. Consols were rising, in spite of their reduction from 3 to 2¾ per cent in 1889, until eight years later they touched 114. In India, our 4 per cents rose from par in 1889 to over 107 in 1893, and the 3½ per cents which then took their place rushed up from 97 to 110 in 1896. The time seemed to be ripe for a further reduction of interest, and the first step in this direction was taken by issuing the annual loan in 1896—4 crores on this occasion—at 3 per cent. The loan was a great success, being subscribed several times over, and taken up at an average price of 103. On the strength of this, several outstanding 3½ per cent loans, for the duration of which there had been no guarantee, were converted in 1894 into 3 per cent stock, to the extent of about 5 crores; and subsequently 2 crores more of 3 per cent paper were issued and put in the Paper Currency Reserve. These operations were barely completed when the situation changed. The great famine of 1896-1897 was followed by plague and earthquake. Money became extremely dear. The Bank of Bengal rate bounded up, in the last half of 1896, from 3 per cent to 10 per cent, where it stood without interruption from Christmas 1896 till June 1897. The result was a serious fall in the price of securities. Within a year after the flotation of our 3 per cent loan, our 3½ per cent stock was down to par, and our 3 per cents were quoted at 95 in a falling market. Government were thus compelled to revert to 3½ per cent for their annual loan in 1897, and we have never borrowed at 3 per cent in India again.

81. Excepting for a temporary recovery in 1899, the 3 per cent securities have steadily declined in value. The time has passed when the public were satisfied with this rate of interest. Moreover, the stock is comparatively small in amount. Much of it is tied up in reserves, trustee investments, charitable endowments, and the like. There is no immediate prospect of our being able to add to it by further borrowing at 3 per cent. As a consequence there is not a natural market for the stock, and whatever popularity it enjoyed has wholly disappeared. The price fell to 78 or 79, and has recently fluctuated between that and 80 or 81; and even these quotations were nominal, as sales were often effected with difficulty and only for small amounts. We had cases in which our own officers, acting as trustees of charitable funds, were unable to realize holdings of 3 per cent paper without delay and resultant hardship. The unmarketable condition of the stock gave rise to much discontent; and it was clearly undesirable that any class of our public securities should fall into such general discredit.

82. The matter came to a head last hot weather, when we were addressed by the Chambers of Commerce of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, Karachi, and Upper India, with a unanimous request that we should give holders of 3 per cents the option of converting into 3½ per cents. To these weighty opinions was added a memorial from a highly influential body of large investors and dealers in Government securities in Calcutta, headed by the Bank of Bengal, in which an almost identical proposal was put forward. It was felt that the movement was a reasonable one in the peculiar circumstances, and that a rigid adherence to our legal rights would be inexpedient and ungracious. No time was lost therefore in placing our recommendations before the Secretary of State; and on the 3rd of November we published an offer of conversion, to take effect in India and England simultaneously on the 19th of that month.

83. The terms of the conversion are simple and intelligible; their object being to give the holder the necessary quantity of stock of the new denomination to yield him, by way of interest, exactly the same income as he is entitled to upon his present holding. In exchange therefore for all 3 per cent paper tendered to us we deliver 3½ per cent paper having a face value which is six-sevenths of the face value of the Notes which were tendered. As we give paper only in multiples of R100, any remainder is adjusted either by the tenderer receiving Notes or, if he so prefers, paying cash. I would invite the special attention of the Council to the fact that, for all practical purposes, these were the conditions which the Chambers of Commerce and the memorial from the mercantile community of Calcutta urged us to put forward. That they have been considered satisfactory, may be assumed from the steady progress which the conversion has made. We estimate that by the end of this month we shall have received 3 per cent paper for R1·20 crores net, and issued in exchange 3½ per cent paper for R1·03 crores, receiving cash payments of R18,000 on balance. It is our intention to keep the offer open for so long as there is an evident desire to take advantage of it; and it will not in any case be withdrawn without six months' previous notice. Meanwhile, the holders have the satisfaction of knowing that their stock can be made negotiable whenever they wish. Their income from interests will be unimpaired; and as their new holdings, even at R93-6-0, will be worth as much in the market as their former holdings were at R80, we may trust that the value of their capital will in time be substantially appreciated.

84. It is to be regretted that the attempt to put a Government loan on the Indian market at 3 per cent has ended in this manner. The great change however that has taken place during recent years in the value of first-class securities has made it useless to offer a lower rate of interest than 3½ per cent for the time being; and it was clearly inadvisable that our credit should be hampered by the results of an experiment which must now be regarded as having been premature.

The Public Debt of India.

85. With the heavy programmes of capital expenditure which we now aim at financing, attention naturally turns to the growth of the national debt of India. Fifty years ago, when the Government was taken over by the Crown, the public debt (putting the rupee at two shillings) was £71·7 millions. During the thirty years that followed,—a period of rapid railway development, which included also the Afghan War and the great famine of 1877-1878—that figure was doubled; and the movement thereafter is given at quinquennial intervals in the statement below:—

[Millions of £ Sterling.]

	Held in sterling.	Held in rupees (converted into sterling at R15=£1).	Total.	Interest payable.
	1	2	3	4
On 31st March—
1888 . . .	84·1	65·4	149·5	6·2
1893 . . .	106·7	68·6	175·3	6·7
1898	123·3	74·4	197·7	6·7
1903	133·8	78·2	212·0	7·1
1908 . . .	156·5	88·5	245·0	8·0

(The figures exclude temporary debt.)

86. The volume of our debt has thus augmented by 64 per cent in twenty years; and the interest charges, in spite of cheaper money, by nearly 30 per cent. So far however from imposing any additional burden on the tax-payer, this increase has had exactly the opposite effect; the reason lying of course in the growing proportion to our total debt of that part which represents profitable investment in railways and irrigation works. The following table discriminates between our productive, and our ordinary or non-productive, debt :—

[Millions of £ Sterling.]

	Ordinary debt.	Public Works Debt.			Grand total of debt (columns 1+4).
		Railways.	Irrigation.	Total.
	1	2	3	4	5
On 31st March—
1888	73·0	59·2	17·3	76·5	149·5
1893	65·0	91·0	19·3	110·3	175·3
1898	70·0	106·0	21·7	127·7	197·7
1903	59·1	128·1	24·8	152·9	212·0
1908	37·4	177·7	29·9	207·6	245·0

(These figures do not altogether correspond with those given in the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the years in question, except 1907-1908; the adjustments are explained in paragraph 25 of last year's Financial Statement.)

87. Our unremunerative debt has thus shrunk, in the last twenty years, from being nearly one-half to being just over one-seventh of the total volume of our outstanding loans. The reduction, as has often been explained before, reflects approximately the extent to which, during this period, current revenues have been devoted to capital expenditure.

88. To determine the actual burden of our debt charges, it is necessary to ascertain :—

(a) the interest on ordinary debt;

(b) the interest on Railway debt, as compared with the net ordinary receipts from railways; that is, gross receipts less working expenses and other charges against the Railway revenue account;

(c) the interest on the Irrigation debt, as compared with the net ordinary receipts from Major Irrigation works.

This is done in the following statement, which also shows the total net interest charge on the whole debt after deduction of the net receipts from Railways and Canals :—

Year.	Interest on Ordinary Debt.	Interest on Railway Debt.	Net receipts from Railways (that is, gross receipts less working expenses and other charges).	Interest on Irrigation Debt. Actual net interest on Public Works Debt (column 7 less column 8).	Total net Interest charges (columns 2 and 9).

A minus sign denotes excess of net Railway and Irrigation receipts over interest charges.

It will thus be seen that, though originally the net ordinary receipts from Railways and Major Irrigation Works failed to meet the interest charge, they now show an aggregate net surplus of 1·7 millions, as against a burden of 1·3 millions which the service of the ordinary debt imposes on the tax-payer. Consequently, on the 31st March 1908, our Public Works borrowings had enabled us to pay the interest on our whole debt, and to secure a net surplus of 0·4 millions, whereas in 1887-1888 the actual net burden of debt was 4·8 millions.

89. In dealing with these figures, I have not taken into consideration :—

(a) our obligations on account of savings banks and other repayable deposits.

(b) the debts due to Government on account of advances to Native States, local bodies, agriculturists, and so forth.

These two classes of liabilities with the interest payable on them, almost balance each other.

90. I append a statement showing the national debts of a number of the chief countries of the world, arranged in the order of the weight of debt per inhabitant. Had it been practicable, it would have been of interest to divide these into productive and non-productive, as has been done in the case of India, but it has not been possible to obtain the necessary statistics. It is well known however that in most countries the proportion which the productive debt (where any exists) bears to the whole is far smaller than in India. Even if no allowance be made for this highly important factor, the figures bring out the strength of India's position in regard to the relative smallness of her debt, and the lightness of the interest charge in proportion to her population and revenues. I have obtained figures showing the annual charge sustained by each country in respect of its debt, but the arrangements in regard to redemption and sinking funds vary so widely that it would be misleading to exhibit them in a comparative form. It may, however, be of interest to mention that the gross charge of £8 millions borne by India represents only 8*d.* per head of the population, and is less than one-sixth of the corresponding burden borne by the individual citizen of any other country in the list.

91. I have held office for but five months, too brief a period to admit of my expressing an authoritative opinion on the financial position in India. I concede that the immediate situation precludes any indulgence in optimism; I recognise that estimating in this country is largely a gamble in rain, and I have no desire to minimise the difficulties, which it would be folly to ignore, attaching to Currency and Exchange, to the present position of the Gold Standard Reserve and the weakness of our cash balances. But on the other hand I find no evidence of any adequate cause for pessimism, and I can see no reason why, with a due regard for economy, favourable harvests and a period of peace, we should not look forward to a return of that prosperity which has characterised former years.

PART II

BEING A MEMORANDUM BY THE FINANCIAL SECRETARY EXAMINING THE DETAILS OF THE ACCOUNTS AND ESTIMATES.

Section I.—The Accounts of 1907-1908.

Introductory.

92. The figures of revenue and expenditure for 1907-1908, entered in the Financial Statement and its appendices, as well as the figures for 1905-1906 and 1906-1907 entered in Section IV below, differ from those given in the published Finance and Revenue Accounts. The reason is that while the latter include Local transactions, the figures now given exclude them, except in the case of certain funds which were not truly of a local character and which were absorbed in the general revenues with effect from the 1st April 1908. The necessity for this re-arrangement of the figures was explained in paragraph 101 of last year's Financial Statement.

93. The variations between the figures finally entering into the Finance and Revenue Accounts for 1907-1908 and the corresponding figures taken in the Budget and Revised Estimates of the year are fully explained in the Appropriation Report published in the Gazette of India of the 13th instant. The more important variations between the re-arranged figures of the Revised Estimate and of the final Accounts of the year are briefly noticed below.

1907-1908. Statement of the general result.

94. The following is a general comparison of the Revised Estimates with the Accounts of the year:—

	Revised.	Accounts.	Accounts, better.	Accounts, worse.
	£	£	£	£
Total Revenue, Imperial and Provincial	70,989,200	71,003,275	14,075	...
Total Expenditure, Imperial and Provincial	71,780,800	71,718,415	62,385	...
Adjustment of Provincial Surplus + or Deficit — . . .	—1,027,000	—1,021,186	...	5,814
NET .	70,753,800	70,697,229	56,571	...
SURPLUS .	235,400	306,046	70,646	...

95. The revenue was higher, and the total expenditure smaller, than the Revised Estimate, the net improvement being £76,460. Of this £5,814 occurred in the Provincial Section of the accounts, and £70,646 in the Imperial Section.

1907-1908. Variations in revenue.

96. The more important items which contributed to the increase of £14,075 in revenue are: Land Revenue (including that due to Irrigation—(£203,055), Opium (£22,086), Stamps (£24,349), Excise (£29,210), Customs (£40,494), Assessed Taxes (£22,013), Tributes (£25,920), Exchange (£34,511), Direct Receipts of Major Irrigation Works (£26,714) and Military Receipts (£20,833); while there was a falling off of £430,069 under Railways, besides smaller sums under other heads.

97. The variation under Land Revenue was caused by the allowance made in the Revised Estimate for the effect of the unfavourable agricultural conditions on the collections in March 1908 having proved too large in some of the provinces and too small in others; in Bombay and the United Provinces, the collections exceeded the Revised Estimate by £173,115 and £95,938 respectively, while in Madras and the Punjab they fell short of expectation by £26,145 and £17,818. The duty proferred on Malwa opium during March was exceptionally heavy owing to an unusually good crop and to the general belief that limits were about to be imposed on the exports from Bombay (the orders actually issued on the 27th of March). The improvement under Stamps took place chiefly in Madras and the United Provinces; and that under Assessed Taxes in Bengal and Bombay. Of the increase under Excise, £22,440 occurred in Bombay and was caused by the advance recovery of license fees for the following year. The increase in Customs was largest under the excise duty on cotton and the import duty on silver, other metals and cotton manufactures. The improvement under Tributes was due to an unexpected recovery of arrears and to the postponement till the following year of certain remissions which were intended to be adjusted during the year. The greater part of the increase under Exchange was caused by the average rate at which remittances were made to the Secretary of State being somewhat better than was anticipated. The improvement in the Direct Receipts of Major Irrigation Works was due to the realisation of arrears in Burma, and to the loss of revenue from the failure of certain crops on the Lower Chenab Canal in the Punjab being smaller than was apprehended. The enhancement under Army was mainly the result of an increased receipt from the Imperial Government on account of the capitation rate payable in respect of Indian regiments lent for service in the Colonies.

98. The large decrease under Railways was caused chiefly by a falling off in the net traffic receipts of the following lines: North Western (£141,200), East Indian (£112,700), Great Indian Peninsula (£81,100), Eastern Bengal (£63,900) and Oudh and Rohilkhand (£30,500). The effect of the famine on the gross receipts of the first three lines proved larger than was anticipated; while in the case of the East Indian and the last two lines the expenditure on renewals and repairs towards the close of the year exceeded expectation.

1907-1908. Variations in expenditure.

99. The saving in expenditure was the net result of decreases and increases under a number of heads. The more important decreases occurred under Land Revenue (£21,160), Stamps (£56,591), Interest on the public debt (£34,403), Miscellaneous (£51,125), and Military Services (£104,713), and the more important increases under Post Office (£55,620), Police (£28,354), Education (£39,492) and Famine Relief (£106,262).

100. The decrease under Land Revenue charges was caused chiefly by smaller expenditure on Survey and Settlement operations in Bengal. The estimate of the total Interest payments in March also proved somewhat excessive. The decrease under Stamps, and the increase under Post Office, were mainly brought about by a change in the method of accounting under which the cost of postage stamps used for postal purposes (£58,163) was recorded under the latter, instead of under the former head. Of the saving under Miscellaneous, £40,683 occurred in the United Provinces, where smaller contributions in aid of balances were required by District Boards, owing to their having received larger grants for educational and other specific purposes which were recorded in the accounts under the appropriate heads. The decrease under Military Services was chiefly due to short outlay in India on the special measures for the improvement of the Army and to lapses in the provision for the purchase of marine stores in England.

101. The large increase in Famine Relief expenditure occurred almost wholly in the United Provinces. That under Education was due to larger grants to District Boards in the United Provinces and to heavier expenditure, towards the close of the year, on grants-in-aid in Bengal. Police expenditure was under-estimated in Burma, the United Provinces and the Punjab.

1907-1908. Reduction in the Provincial Deficit.

102. The reduction of £5,814 in the Provincial deficit was the result of increases of £123,204 and £117,390 in revenue and expenditure respectively. The former represents mainly the provincial share of the increases under Land Revenue, Stamps and Excise mentioned in paragraph 97. Of the increase in expenditure, about half is explained by the provincial share of the excess under Famine Relief. The rest was made up of the variations under Police, Education and Miscellaneous mentioned above, together with an excess of £47,288 over the estimate for Stationery and Printing.

Section II.—The Revised Estimate of 1908-1909.

1908-1909. Statement of the gross figures.

103. The following is a general comparison of the Revised Estimate with the Budget Estimate of 1908-1909:—

	Budget.	Revised.	Revised better.	Revised worse.
	£	£	£	£
Total Revenue . . .	73,438,900	69,628,600	...	3,810,300
Total Expenditure . . .	73,392,500	74,111,200	...	718,700
Adjustment of Provincial Surplus or Deficit	—525,100	—762,100	237,000	...
Net . .	72,867,400	73,349,100	...	481,700
Surplus (+) or Deficit (—) .	+571,500	—3,720,500	...	4,292,000

1908-1909. General.

104. It is now anticipated that the total revenue will be less than the total expenditure by £4,482,600; of this deficiency £762,100 will appear in the Provincial section of the estimates and the Imperial deficit will amount to £3,720,500. The heavy deterioration of £4,292,000, as compared with the surplus of the Budget, is the net result of decreases of £4,350,300 and £58,300 respectively in the Imperial revenue and expenditure. Under Provincial, there are increases of £540,000 and £777,000 in the revenue and expenditure respectively, so that the Local Governments will draw from their Provincial balances £237,000 more than was anticipated in the Budget. As a whole, therefore, the Revised Estimate shows a deterioration of £4,529,000.

105. The increase in the revenue of Provincial Governments is, however, due wholly to assignments from Imperial revenues in excess of the amounts provided in the Budget, which have led to a reduction in the Imperial share of Land Revenue receipts by a corresponding increase in the Provincial share. If these assignments were eliminated, the true decrease of revenue in the Imperial section would be £3,576,400 and the improvement in the Provincial section would be transformed into a decrease of £233,900. The excess transfer of Imperial revenue to Provincial Governments has thus amounted to £773,900. Of this £587,500 represents the special assignments in aid of the provincial balances in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal and the United Provinces, and £66,700 is the special grant to the last-named province in connection with the revision of its financial settlement (vide Section VI); £91,600 is the aggregate of the subventions given to the various Provincial Governments to cover the special expenditure on account of the bonus given to certain classes of Government servants in connection with the fiftieth anniversary of the assumption of the Government of India by the Crown; and the remaining £28,100 is the net result of a number of miscellaneous adjustments between Imperial and Provincial revenues in the various provinces.

1908-1909. Variations in Revenue.

106. The more important of the variations resulting in the large decrease of revenue are the following:—

1908-1909 Railways.

107. The predominating feature of the estimates is the heavy decline in the net receipts of State Railways. This is in itself responsible for nearly the whole of the large deterioration in the revenue, and apart from it the other variations now anticipated in the figures of the Budget Estimate for the current year almost counterbalance one another. The total decrease of £3,692,000 under the head is made up of a falling-off of £2,414,100 (3,62·11 lakhs) in the gross receipts and an increase of £1,410,300 (2,11·55 lakhs) in the working expenses, counterbalanced to the extent of £132,400 (19·86 lakhs) by a consequential decrease in the payment of profits to working companies. The chief variations occur in the following lines:—

	INCREASE + ; DECREASE —.
	Gross Receipts.	Working Expenses (including payment of profits).	Net Receipts.
	Lakhs.	Lakhs.	Lakhs.
North Western Railway .	—160·00	+95·00	—255·00

Great Indian Peninsula Railway	— 45·00	+ 7·90	— 52·90

Eastern Bengal Railway .	— 2·00	+28·35	— 30·35
Bengal Nagpur Railway .	— 35·00	— 6·05	— 28·95
Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway . . .	— 13·00	+ 2·75	—15·75
Indian Midland Railway .	— 14·68	+ ·28	—14·96

As explained in Part I, the large falling-off in the Gross Receipts is generally due to the effects of the famine being more persistent than was anticipated when the Budget Estimates were framed and to a stagnation in trade which is not confined to India alone. The principal causes which have contributed to the increase in working expenses are a further rise in the price of coal, larger payment of grain compensation allowance owing to the continued dearness in the price of food grains and higher outlay on renewals of permanent way, bridges and rolling stock. In the case of both the North-Western and the Eastern Bengal lines, the expenditure has been considerably swelled by the arrear adjustment of cost of materials received from England too late for adjustment in the preceding year's accounts, while in the case of the former line the heavy breaches caused by the floods in August have involved a considerable amount of expenditure in repairs and excessive running expenses owing to the diversion of traffic to longer routes. The activity of the coal traffic combined with the congestion of piece-goods at the ports has also had its influence on the figures in the case of the East Indian and certain other lines.

1908-1909. Land Revenue

108. Under Land Revenue, there are decreases of 42·72 lakhs in Bombay, 6·47 lakhs in Bengal and 4·10 lakhs in Eastern Bengal and Assam, due chiefly to the deterioration which has taken place in the agricultural prospects in certain areas of these provinces in consequence of a deficiency in the winter rainfall. In Burma and the Punjab also, the collections are expected to fall short of the Budget Estimate by 11·70 and 8·53 lakhs respectively; in the case of the former province the allowance made in the Budget for the effect of the failure of last year's crops in Upper Burma, has proved inadequate, while in the latter the recovery of suspended revenue is likely to be less than was anticipated. On the other hand, there is an excess of 27·73 lakhs in the United Provinces owing to larger recovery of suspended and arrear revenue, and a smaller excess of 3·48 lakhs in the Central Provinces from a similar cause. In Madras also, there is an increase of 2·59 lakhs over the Budget Estimate, caused mainly by the extension of irrigation in certain districts of the Presidency. It will be understood that these figures include the share of Land Revenue due to Irrigation.

Of the total decrease of Land Revenue amounting to 37·55 lakhs, 17·96 lakhs should ordinarily have appeared in the Imperial section and the remaining 19·59 lakhs in the Provincial section. As a result of the special assignments from Imperial to Provincial revenues mentioned in paragraph 105, there is however an actual increase of 96·49 lakhs in the Provincial share of the revenue under this head and a decrease of 1,34·04 lakhs in the Imperial share.

1908-1909. Salt, Mint, and Customs receipts.

109. The effect of the famine on the Salt revenue has been somewhat greater than was allowed for in the Budget Estimate, and the reduction of £185,500 is distributed over all the provinces in which the revenue is realised excepting Burma. The comparatively large decrease under Mint is due chiefly to the suspension of the coinage of new rupees and the consequent absence of any receipts from seignorage, as well as to a large return from circulation of bronze coin, on the closing of famine relief works, which has reduced the profit derived from their issue. The decline in the Customs revenue is the net result of variations under a number of tariff heads which will be apparent from the table above paragraph 157. The principal decreases occur (1) in the import duty on cotton manufactures (30 lakhs), the imports of piece-goods having been checked by the heavy stocks held at the close of last year and the reduced demands from consuming districts in consequence of the famine, and (2) in the export duty on rice (21 lakhs), the famine and the consequent high prices ruling in India throughout the year having diminished the exports from Bengal and also led to the diversion of a large portion of the Burma produce from foreign to Indian ports. These large decreases have been counterbalanced to some extent by increased receipts from the import duty on silver (21 lakhs), and sugar (7·5 lakhs). As already mentioned in paragraph 75 the imports of silver on private account were unusually high.

1908-1909. Forest, Major Irrigation Works, and Interest.

110. Under Forest, there is a decrease of revenue in all the provinces except Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal, where small improvements aggregating R48,000 are expected; the decline is largest in Burma (10 lakhs) and is due to a general depression in the timber trade and also to a more rapid curtailment of departmental operations than was anticipated. The bulk of the decrease under Direct Receipts of Major Irrigation Works occurs in the Punjab (13·18 lakhs) and is due to a short supply of water during the spring of 1908 and to the abnormal rainfall in the succeeding autumn which reduced the demand for canal water: decreases of smaller magnitude are also expected in the United Provinces (3·99 lakhs) and Bombay (1·06 lakhs) but these are almost wholly counterbalanced by small improvements in the other provinces. Of the decrease under Interest 9·03 lakhs appear in the Imperial section and 4·25 lakhs in the Provincial section. The former is caused by a reduction in the amount expected to be received from Railway Companies in respect of overdrafts of capital and in the interest obtained on the investment of the cash balances in England; the latter is chiefly due to smaller realisation of interest on takavi loans in the United Provinces.

1908-1909. Post Office, Telegraph and Army.

111. The falling-off in the Postal and Telegraph revenue is a concomitant of the general stagnation in trade which has characterised the year; a portion of the decline under the latter head is attributed to the revised tariff introduced with effect from the 1st January 1909; and there has been a decrease in the number of urgent telegrams caused by the acceleration in the disposal of those of the cheapest class. The principal factor contributing to the decrease in the Army receipts is the credit under Marine of a portion of the capitation payments by the Imperial Government on account of the Indian native regiments serving in the colonies, the whole of which was in the Budget Estimate entered under this head.

1908-1909. Increase in Revenue, Opium and Marine.

112. The only improvement of any importance in Imperial revenue occurs under Opium. The receipts from the pass duty on Malwa opium are expected to exceed the Budget Estimate by 119·40 lakhs, the fine opium harvest in Malwa in the spring of 1907 and the restriction imposed on the exports having led to a remarkable activity in the advance payment of duty, with the object of securing priority of exportation in 1909 and 1910. The sale-proceeds of Bengal opium have also exceeded the Budget Estimate by 38·47 lakhs, the average price obtained at the monthly sales being R1,384 per chest against R1,300 assumed in the Budget. On the other hand, a decrease of 1·67 lakhs is likely to take place in the cost price of opium sold for local consumption and other miscellaneous receipts recorded under the head. The increase under Marine has been explained in the last paragraph.

1908-1909. Variations in Expenditure.

113. The important variations in expenditure are the following :—

1908-1909. Interest charges.

114. The charges for Interest on the public debt as a whole are in excess of the Budget by 17·92 lakhs. An additional sum of £5,000,000 was actually borrowed during the year on the security of India Bills against a provision of only £500,000 in the Budget Estimate and this has led to an extra payment of 19·02 lakhs. The discount on the issue of £5,000,000 India 3½ per cent. stock in January 1908 also exceeded the estimate by ·90 lakh. In India there is, on the other hand, a decrease of 2 lakhs. A saving of 3·17 lakhs occurs in the Budget provision for interest and discount on the new rupee loan of the year, consequent on the reduction of its amount from three to two crores; but this has been partly utilised in payment of interest on the temporary loans taken from the Gold Standard Reserve. The discount and other charges in connection with the recent issue of £7,500,000 India 3½ per cent. stock have amounted to £326,300, but it has been decided to spread the adjustment of this large sum over a number of years, by the creation of a discount sinking fund, so as to avoid throwing such a heavy charge on the revenues of a single year. The increase under State Railways—Interest on Debt has been caused by the transfer to this head, owing to the purchase of the Southern Mahratta Railway, of a charge which in the Budget Estimates was taken under Interest chargeable against Companies on advances. Taking the two heads together, there is a small decrease in the burden of interest transferred to the Railway section of the accounts. This is mainly explained by the fact that, in the case of debt not specifically raised for railways, the calculation of the interest to be so transferred in the estimates is made with reference to the actual payments made in the latest year for which final accounts are available.

1908-1909. Courts of Law.

115. The increase under Courts of Law is chiefly due to additional expenditure in Bengal and some of the other provinces in connection with the prosecution of offences against the public safety, to the payment of the special bonus to certain low-paid servants of Government in connection with the fiftieth anniversary of the assumption of the Government of India by the Crown, and to higher payments of grain compensation allowances in most of the provinces.

1908-1909. Famine Relief.

116. Famine Relief expenditure in 1908-1909 is now expected to amount to 151·90 lakhs. The distribution by provinces and the comparison with the Budget Estimates are as follows:—

	Budget Estimate.	Revised Estimate.	Increase (+) Decrease (—).
	Lakhs.	Lakhs.	Lakhs.
Central Provinces and Berar .	10·00	11·30	+ 1·30
Eastern Bengal and Assam .	...	·25	+ ·25
Bengal	10·00	11·50	+ 1·50
United Provinces . . .	100·00	125·23	+25·23
Punjab	3·00	1·35	— 1·65
Madras	2·50	·15	— 2·35
Bombay	5·00	1·83	— 3·17
Minor Provinces (chiefly Ajmer)	1·57	·29	— 1·28
TOTAL .	132·07	151·90	+19·83

The expenditure in Eastern Bengal and the increased expenditure in Bengal have been brought about by the deficiency in the winter rainfall in certain districts in these provinces. In the other provinces, the variations from the Budget Estimate are generally due to an over-estimate or under-estimate of the requirements in connection with the famine in 1908. In accordance with the arrangements for the distribution of Famine Relief expenditure between Imperial and Provincial Revenues described in paragraphs 48 to 56 of the Financial Statement for 1907-1908, half the expenditure in the United Provinces and 2·62 lakhs of that in Bengal appear in the Provincial section of the estimates; so does the whole of the expenditure in Eastern Bengal and Assam, as that province was excluded from the scope of the new arrangements. The total Imperial expenditure under the head therefore amounts to 86·42 lakhs.

1908-1909. Military Services.

117. The increase in Army expenditure and the decreases under Military Works and Special Defences are explained in detail in Appendix II. The whole of the decrease under the last two heads occurs in "special" expenditure; while under Army there is a decrease of 10·57 lakhs in "special" expenditure and an increase of 29·70 lakhs in ordinary expenditure, the principal item contributing to this increase being the additional payment of £275,000 to the War Office in respect of British forces serving in India, as decided upon the recommendations of the Romer Committee. Important increases of ordinary expenditure have also taken place in connection with the Mohmand Field Force, the cost of which has amounted to 19 lakhs, and under food supplies and compensation for dearness of food and forage (21 lakhs) owing mainly to a continuance of high prices; but these have been more than counterbalanced by lapses in the ordinary grants under various heads.

1908-1909. Stationery and Printing, Political, Police, and Post Office.

118. The greater portion of the increase under Stationery and Printing occurs in the charges for stores purchased in England as well as in the country. The increase in Political expenditure has been caused by an unexpected heavy drawing of arrears of subsidy by His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan and by the payment of rewards and compensation in connection with the operations against the Mohmands. Under Police, the expenditure in connection with the special bonus amounts to 5·93 lakhs, and the payments of grain compensation allowance exceed the Budget Estimate by 11·92 lakhs; a portion of the excess expenditure has, however, been met in some of the provinces from the allotments for police reform. Of the increase under Post Office, 8·8 lakhs represent the cost of postage stamps used for postal purposes transferred to this head from Stamps; the expenditure in connection with the special bonus amounts to 2·2 lakhs, and the payments of grain compensation allowance are expected to exceed the Budget Estimate by 3·46 lakhs.

1908-1909. Civil Works, Land Revenue, Major Irrigation Works and Miscellaneous.

119. Under Civil Works there are large increases in the Provincial expenditure in the Punjab, Eastern Bengal, Bombay, and Central Provinces counterbalanced to some extent by lapses in the Budget grants in Madras, Burma and the United Provinces. Payment of the special bonus and increased payment of grain compensation allowance account for the bulk of the increase under Land Revenue charges; expenditure on survey and settlement operations in Madras, the Punjab and Eastern Bengal is also likely to exceed the Budget Estimate, while in the United Provinces additional establishments had to be entertained in district offices in connection with the famine. The increase in the working expenses of Major Irrigation Works occurs chiefly in the Punjab, where it has been necessary to undertake certain repairs, not provided for in the Budget, owing to heavy damages caused by excessive rainfall. That under Miscellaneous mainly represents the write-off of irrecoverable balances of agricultural loans granted in the United Provinces to cultivators during the famine.

1908-1909. Minor increases in expenditure.

120. The bulk of the increase under Ports and Pilotage occurs in Bengal and represents charges for which provision was made in the Revised Estimates for 1907-1908, but which were not adjusted in the accounts of that year. That under Jails is caused by a larger jail population and by the continued high prices of food grains and raw materials. Under Education, there is an excess of 6·49 lakhs in Bengal owing chiefly to larger payments of grants-in-aid to colleges and schools and to the re-organisation of the subordinate inspecting agency; smaller increases are also likely to take place in the Punjab and some other provinces, but these will be counterbalanced to a great extent by decreases in Bombay and the United Provinces. Of the increase under Refunds and Drawbacks, 4·88 lakhs are in Bombay, where refunds of Opium pass fees are likely to be made to the extent of 2·50 lakhs, while the charges under several other heads have also been specially heavy. The expenditure provided under Exchange in the Revised Estimates represents the loss incurred in connection with the remittance of funds to England to meet the disbursements of the Home Treasury, the rate obtained for Bills and Transfers drawn by the Secretary of State having been less than 16*d*. per rupee; the loss would have been higher but for the gain realised on the sale of sterling demand drafts in the opposite direction.

1908-1909. Decrease in expenditure.

121. The decrease in Opium expenditure results from a shortage in the outturn of the crop of 1907-1908 and from a larger contraction in the poppy-growing area in Bengal than was allowed for in the Budget Estimate. The decrease under Medical has been caused by lapses, in all the provinces except Madras and the United Provinces, in the special grants from Imperial revenues for the improvement of sanitation, and by smaller plague expenditure in the Punjab; in the United Provinces alone, is there likely to be any material excess over the Budget Estimate owing to special expenditure in connection with the famine and the recent outbreak of malaria. Under Telegraph, there is a large lapse of 11·85 lakhs in the grants for capital expenditure, but on the other hand there will be some increase in the revenue expenditure of the Indian Department, mainly in consequence of the recent re-organisation of the signalling establishment. The decrease in the charges for Interest on capital deposited by Railway Companies is chiefly due to renewal of debentures at a lower rate of interest, and to the raising of additional capital by certain companies having taken place later in the year than was assumed in the Budget Estimate. More rapid curtailment of departmental operations in Burma, already mentioned in paragraph 110, accounts for the greater portion of the decrease under Forest. Under Stamps the decrease of 8·80 lakhs caused by the transfer to the head Post Office of the cost of stamps used for postal purposes has been to some extent counterbalanced by increased outlay on stores in England.

1908-1909. Imperial and Provincial figures.

122. The figures of the Budget and Revised Estimates are shown in the following table so as to compare the Imperial and Provincial results separately:—

1908-1909. Variations in Provincial Revenue.

123. All the important variations which have contributed to the large deterioration of 6,43·79 lakhs under Imperial have been explained in the preceding paragraphs. Under Provincial, the increase of 81·01 lakhs in revenue occurs chiefly in the following heads:—

	Lakhs.
Increases—
Land Revenue (including share due to Irrigation)	96·49
Other heads (net)	·82
Decreases—
Forest	9·58
Direct Receipts of Major Irrigation Works	6·72

The increase in the Provincial share of Land Revenue has been explained in paragraph 109. The differences under Forest and Irrigation receipts have also been already noticed in paragraph 110.

1908-1909. Variations in Provincial Expenditure.

124. The increase of 1,16·56 lakhs in Provincial expenditure is the net result of the following variations :—

	Lakhs.
Increases—
Courts of Law	22·30
Police	15·66
Famine Relief	13·92
Land Revenue	13·24
Civil Works	13·10
Miscellaneous	12·49
Working expenses of Major Irrigation Works	7·90
Jails	7·87
Education	7·71
Ports and Pilotage	6·20
Stationery and Printing	4·68
General Administration	2·18
Scientific and Minor Departments	2·17
Registration	2·15
Other heads (net)	4·37
Decreases—
Medical	17·02
Forest	2·36

All the important variations have already been explained in paragraphs 115 to 121. The excess under General Administration is the net result of a number of unimportant variations in several provinces. Under Registration, the increase is distributed over all the provinces; the only excesses of any importance occur in Madras and Bengal and are caused by reorganisation of establishment, as well as in the former province by expenditure on grain compensation allowance for which the Budget did not make any provision. Under Scientific and Minor Departments, the ordinary lapses in the grants have in several provinces fallen short of the allowance made on this account in the Budget Estimates and there has been an excess in the expenditure in connection with agricultural farms in the Punjab.

Section III.—The Budget Estimate of 1909-1910.

1909-1910. General.

126. The estimates are generally based on the expectation of a normal monsoon next year and of a revival of trade. Credit has been taken for a large improvement in the gross receipts of railways and for the recovery of a portion of the land revenue suspended during the current year in consequence of the famine, while the remissions of land revenue are taken at a much lower figure than in the current year. Some provision is unfortunately necessary for direct expenditure on famine relief owing to the failure of this year's winter rains in Behar and certain other tracts of the country; but the total expenditure on famine relief and insurance is not likely to exceed the prescribed grant of £1,000,000, thus giving a saving of £676,100. Smaller provision has also been made for the payment of grain compensation allowance and for the cost of food-supplies in the case of the army, in the anticipation that with the return of normal agricultural conditions a fall in the price of food-grains will take place in the course of next year. The absence of the special expenditure in the current year in connection with the bonus to certain low-paid servants of Government, on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the assumption of the government of India by the Crown, will lead to a saving of £140,200. In view of the financial position, steps have moreover been taken to curtail as far as possible the growth of expenditure, both Imperial and Provincial. On the other hand, allowance has been made for a further loss of Opium revenue owing to a greater restriction of exports to China. As shown above, the estimates work up to a small surplus of £230,900. It has not been possible to provide for any reduction of taxation or for any large grants to Provincial Governments in aid of administrative developments. The only special assignment from Imperial to Provincial revenues of any importance for which provision has been made in next year's Budget is one of 11·5 lakhs for the further prosecution of police reform. This has been distributed as follows:—

	Lakhs.
Bombay	3·00
Bengal	2·50
United Provinces	4·00
Eastern Bengal and Assam	1·50
Central Provinces	·50
	11·50

Burma, Madras and Punjab do not share in the present allotment for the reasons given in paragraph 64 of the Financial Statement for 1908-1909. In the United Provinces also, it was originally contemplated to make full provision in the new financial settlement for the cost of police reforms; but a modification was eventually made and the settlement as approved by the Secretary of State includes provision for the grants aggregating 14·75 lakhs allotted from Imperial revenues to the end of 1907-1908.

1909-1910. Main Heads of Revenue.

127. The following Table shows the most important heads of revenue as well as those under which large variations are anticipated between the Budget Estimates for next year and the Revised Estimates for the current year:—

1909-1910. Land Revenue.

128. The estimates of Land Revenue show an increase in almost all the Provinces. Improvements of considerable magnitude are taken in Bombay (58·03 lakhs), the Punjab (49·22 lakhs), the United Provinces (31·70 lakhs) and the Central Provinces (20·10 lakhs), in the expectation that the return of normal agricultural conditions will greatly reduce the amount of remissions and suspensions and will also permit of the active collection of arrears. In Madras, Bengal, Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam also, smaller improvements are anticipated to the extent of 9·12, 6·11, 3·41 and 2·10 lakhs respectively. It is only in the North-West Frontier Province and in the other minor provinces that there will be a small decline aggregating ·66 lakh.

Of the total improvement of 179·13 lakhs, 79·71 lakhs represent the portion which under the terms of the current financial settlements would have fallen to the share of the Provincial Governments. But owing mainly to the absence of the special non-recurring assignments aggregating 126·69 lakhs made from Imperial to Provincial revenues during the current year (vide paragraph 66 of Financial Statement for 1908-1909 and paragraph 105 above), there is an actual decrease of 45·30 lakhs in the Provincial revenue and an increase of 224·43 lakhs in the Imperial revenue under this head.

1909-1910. Railways.

129. The large improvement under Railways is made up of an increase of 378·54 lakhs (£2,523,600) in the Gross Receipts and a decrease of 86·34 lakhs (£575,600) in the Working Expenses (including payment of profits to Companies, etc.). The estimate of receipts is based on the expectation that the seasons will be propitious next year, and that there will be a revival of trade; while under Working Expenses an abnormal growth of expenditure has taken place in the current year and the financial position has made it necessary to effect the closest economy next year and to restrict avoidable expenditure as much as possible. The following table shows the chief variations in the Gross Receipts and Working Expenses between the Revised Estimates of the current year and the Budget Estimates of next year:—

	INCREASE + DECREASE—
	Gross Receipts.	Working Expenses (including payment of profits).	Net Earnings.
	Lakhs.	Lakhs.	Lakhs.
North Western	+1,50·00	—55·00	+2,05·00
East Indian	+ 17·00	—27·00	+ 44·00
Oudh and Rohilkhand	+ 23·00	—17·50	+ 40·50
Rajputana-Malwa	+ 38·00	— 1·50	+ 39·50
Bengal-Nagpur	+ 40·00	+ 7·55	+ 32·45
Eastern Bengal	+ 22·00	— 6·85	+ 28·85
Great Indian Peninsula	+ 40·00	+14·80	+ 25·20
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	+ 13·00	— 2·75	+ 15·75

130. The largest increase is expected in the earnings of the North Western Railway where the decline in the current year has been specially heavy. There has been an excellent wheat crop in the Punjab, and there is every reason to assume that with normal conditions next year, the earnings will return to the level reached in 1907-08. With the exception of the Eastern Bengal Railway, all the other lines, in which important improvements in gross receipts are counted on next year, traverse tracts of country which suffered badly from famine in 1908. In the case of the Oudh and Rohilkhand and Rajputana-Malwa lines the Budget Estimate of revenue is taken lower than the figure actually realised in 1907-08; while in the case of the Great Indian Peninsula and Bombay Baroda lines moderate increases of 8·79 and 11·47 lakhs, respectively, over the figures for 1907-08 have been assumed. A portion of the increase in the case of the Bengal-Nagpur and the Eastern Bengal Railways will accrue from the opening of additional lengths of line to public traffic. The increase of expenditure on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway is due to special outlay on the relaying of the Ghat and the Itarsi-Jubbulpore Sections, the reconstruction of the Tapti Bridge, and strengthening of girders on weak bridges generally.

1909-1910. Opium Revenue.

131. The decrease in the Opium revenue is the result of smaller exports to China in pursuance of our present policy. Of Bengal opium, the Budget provides for a total sale in 1909-1910 of 42,300 chests at an average price of R1,350 per chest. The average price obtained in 1908-1909 has been R1,384 per chest; and it is hoped that the restriction imposed on the exports will tend to check any material decline in the average price, though there may be a temporary sagging at the beginning of the year and towards its end caused by the outrush of the Malwa exports. As regards Malwa opium, credit has been taken for duty on the full number of chests for which warehouse accommodation will be available in Bombay, as it is expected that imports from Malwa will commence again, as soon as the crop now on the ground has been gathered, with a view to secure priority of export in 1910 and subsequent years.

1909-1910. Excise and Stamps revenue.

132. With returning prosperity, Excise revenue is expected to show its usual growth, while the measures adopted in the several provinces to give effect to the accepted recommendations of the Excise Committee will also benefit the revenue to some extent. The total improvement of 55·48 lakhs is distributed over all the provinces, the more important increases being 14 lakhs in the Central Provinces and Berar, where the revenue has suffered badly from the famine in the current year, 10 lakhs each in Madras and the United Provinces, and 7 lakhs in Bengal. Under Stamps the expansion is largest in Bengal (8 lakhs), but Eastern Bengal and Assam and Madras also contribute 4 lakhs each to the general rise.

1909-1910. Salt and Customs revenue.

133. Under Salt the Budget Estimate anticipates a moderate increase in consumption of approximately 2·2 million maunds distributed over the various provinces. But allowance had to be made for the probable effect of the introduction in Bengal of arrangements, under Act X of 1908, permitting of the payment of duty on salt on a system of limited credit instead of in cash; and the improvement in revenue has been taken at 15·50 lakhs only. The diversion of Burma rice to Indian ports to meet famine demands in 1907-1908 and 1908-1909 has led to a large reduction in the Customs revenue derived from this source in the two years. But conditions are expected to improve next year, and the recent harvest in Burma has been an excellent one; an increase of 31 lakhs over the Revised Estimate has, therefore, been allowed for under this tariff head. On the other hand, a decrease of 21·5 lakhs has been provided for in the import duty on silver, as it is not safe to count on a continuance of heavy imports next year. The balance of the improvement is spread over a number of tariff heads.

1909-1910. Irrigation, Forest, Assessed Taxes, and Interest.

134. Under Irrigation there is a decrease of 5·06 lakhs in the United Provinces owing to a reduced demand for canal water in connection with the rabi crops now on the ground; but this is to some extent counterbalanced by an improvement expected in the Punjab where the demand for canal water was affected in the current year by the heavy rains in August. The growth in Forest revenue is distributed over all the provinces except the Punjab, where a slight decline is anticipated. It is assumed that there will be some recovery in the timber trade next year, but on the other hand allowance has been made for the gradual curtailment of departmental operations, chiefly in Burma and the Punjab. The increase of 6·79 lakhs under Assessed Taxes is general, the greatest rise being 2·7 lakhs in Bengal. Heavy issues of takavi loans in famine-stricken areas during 1908-1909 account chiefly for an increase of 10·87 lakhs under Interest receipts in India, and an increase of 2·97 lakhs is expected in the receipts in England, derived mainly from the temporary investment of the cash balance of the Home Treasury.

1909-1910. Post Office, Telegraph and Miscellaneous.

135. The improvement under Post Office represents normal growth, mainly under sale of Postage stamps. It has not been considered prudent to count on any growth of revenue under Telegraph in view of the uncertainty about the effect of the revised tariff. Under Miscellaneous, a special provision of 9 lakhs has been made in the Budget on account of the probable proceeds of the sale to the Calcutta Port Commissioners of certain lands belonging to the Government; and a sum of 4·72 lakhs is expected to be realised in the Central Provinces by the sale of cloth manufactured for Government by weavers in receipt of relief during the last famine.

1909-1910. Army and Marine.

136. The increase in Army receipts and the decrease under Marine are explained in Appendix II. The bulk of the variation in both cases occurs in the recoveries from the Imperial Government in respect of the charges of Indian Native Regiments lent for service in the Colonies.

1909-1910. Army and Military Works.

138. The variations under Army and Military Works are explained in detail in Appendix II. The decrease under the latter head is chiefly due to a smaller programme of special works being contemplated in 1909-1910. The principal item of increase under the former head is the cost of the concessions to officers and men of the Indian Army granted on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the assumption of the Government of India by the Crown and announced on the 1st of January 1909; this is estimated at 64 lakhs for a full year against 11 lakhs in the last three months of the current year. The principal item of decrease is the absence of the special expenditure (19 lakhs) incurred in the current year on account of the Mohmand Field Force.

1909-1910. Interest charges.

139. Of the increase in the total Interest expenditure amounting to 42·68 lakhs, 30·69 lakhs occur in England and are explained chiefly by the provision for the payment of interest and discount sinking fund charges on the new £7,500,000 India 3½ per cent. stock issued in February 1909. Necessary provision has also been made in the Budget for a full year's interest on the rupee loan of 2 crores raised in the current year and for the service of the new rupee loan announced in paragraph 66. The share of interest chargeable to the Railway and Irrigation works, respectively, is expected to exceed the corresponding charges of the current year by 24·07 and 7·21 lakhs, respectively. The portion chargeable to ordinary debt, therefore, shows an increase of 11·38 lakhs only.

1909-1910. Railway expenditure other than Working Expenses and Interest charges.

140. The increase under Railways is made up principally of 28·84 lakhs in the charges for Interest on Capital deposited by Companies and of 13·44 lakhs in Annuity charges. The former is distributed over several Railways and is due generally to the estimate for next year allowing for a full year's interest on capital raised in the current year and for part interest on the additional capital intended to be raised next year. The latter is due to the Budget Estimate providing for the full amount of the annuity payable on account of the Madras Railway against a payment in 1908-1909 of only three-quarters of this sum plus a half-year's annuity to certain holders (vide paragraph 146 of Financial Statement for 1908-1909).

1909-1910. Police.

141. The increase in the Police charges is caused mainly by further progress in the introduction of the reforms recommended by the Police Commission. If we omit from both the Revised and the Budget Estimates the provision for grain compensation allowance, as well as from the former the expenditure on account of the special bonus, the real growth in these charges next year amounts to about 28·33 lakhs.

1909-1910. Civil Works.

142. Almost the whole of the decrease of 45·55 lakhs under Civil Works appears in the Provincial section of the estimates. The unfavourable financial position and the exhaustion of the Provincial balances have necessitated a large curtailment of the programme of Civil Works in Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Bengal, and the Budget grants for next year have been taken respectively at 25·08, 7·92 and 8·55 lakhs less than the Revised Estimates for the current year. It is only in Madras, where the Provincial balances are ample, that any material increase (viz., of 9·70 lakhs) is contemplated next year over the current year's standard of expenditure.

1909-1910. Land Revenue, Post Office, Courts of Law and Superannuation.

143. Absence of the expenditure on account of the special bonus and smaller provision for payment of grain compensation allowance account for the small increases under Land Revenue and Post Office charges. Apart from these special items the Budget Estimates for the two heads exceed the Revised Estimates for the current year by 10·95 lakhs and 8·15 lakhs, respectively, the increases representing normal growth of expenditure. The decrease under Courts of Law is due to similar causes; it is also hoped that the special conditions which have contributed to an abnormal increase in the expenditure under this head in Bengal and some other provinces will gradually disappear next year. The increase in Superannuation charges represents the usual growth of the retired list.

1909-1910. Irrigation, Education and Administration.

144. Absence of the special expenditure which had to be incurred in the Punjab during the current year in repairing damages caused by floods and a smaller programme of works next year account for the small decrease in Irrigation expenditure; provision has been made under Minor Works for the usual Imperial grant of 5 lakhs in aid of special expenditure entailed by the recommendations of the Irrigation Commission. Of the increase of 4·94 lakhs under Education, 4·13 lakhs occur in Bombay where a provision of 3·56 lakhs has been made for the extension of primary education. Under General Administration there is a decrease of 6·91 lakhs in the provision for the purchase of stores in England; but this is to some extent counterbalanced by an increase of 1·81 lakhs in India, chiefly in the expenditure of Provincial Governments.

1909-1910. Opium and Telegraph.

145. The decrease in Opium expenditure is due chiefly to a further reduction in the poppy-growing area in Bengal. The increase under Telegraph occurs mainly in the Indo-European section and is due partly to normal growth of expenditure and partly to larger provision for purchase of stores and for the construction of buildings in connection with the new Central Persia line.

1909-1910. Assignments, Medical and Forest.

146. The charges entered under Assignments and Compensations generally consist of fixed payments which do not usually show any material variations from year to year. Under Medical, provision has been made in all the provinces for heavier outlay on sanitary projects out of the recurring Imperial grants-in-aid of sanitation sanctioned last year; but a saving of 1·36 lakhs in the total expenditure is estimated in the United Provinces mainly in consequence of smaller famine demands. Of the increase in Forest expenditure, 4 lakhs are expected in Madras where higher outlay is contemplated on the improvement and extension of forests.

1909-1910. Famine Relief expenditure and Protective Irrigation Works.

147. The decrease of 121·25 lakhs in actual famine relief expenditure occurs almost wholly in the United Provinces. Famine has again been declared in some districts of those Provinces, but the extent of the calamity is not expected to be large and a provision of 8·25 lakhs has been made in the Budget against a Revised Estimate of 123·23 lakhs. In Bengal, however, distress has arisen in parts of Behar and a provision of 18·27 lakhs in the Budget Estimate is considered necessary. A provision of 3·01 lakhs has also been made in Eastern Bengal and Assam, in certain districts of which relief works have already been opened. In Bombay, the Central Provinces, Madras and Punjab, some small expenditure may be necessary and has been provided for, the aggregate provision in the three provinces amounting to only 1·12 lakhs. The expenditure in the Central Provinces is required wholly in connection with the relief of weavers.

Half the expenditure in Bengal and the United Provinces, and the whole of that in Eastern Bengal appear, under the standing arrangements, in the Provincial section of the estimates; and the provision in the Imperial section consequently amounts to 14·37 lakhs only.

The decrease in Famine Relief expenditure has made it possible to allot the full moiety of the Famine Relief and Insurance grant for expenditure on Protective works. This explains the increase of 10·00 lakhs in the provision for outlay on Protective Irrigation works.

151. The estimates for the current year assumed large recoveries of the arrears of revenue which had been suspended in the provinces afflicted by the famine and also a rapid extension of the revenue-paying area in Burma. Scarcity of rain in Upper Burma interfered with the collections, the crops in many parts of that area having been a total failure; and for the province as a whole the revenue showed a large shortage. In Bombay also the results have been disappointing: the collections at the beginning of the year were weak and the absence of later rain has affected the crops for which the revenue is coming in during this month. In the United Provinces, on the other hand, the collections of the heavy famine arrears were actively pursued, and the Budget estimate has been exceeded. For next year, these Provinces and Bombay again estimate a large recovery of arrears; and the same cause, though in a minor degree, swells the figures of the Central Provinces and Punjab. In the other provinces, normal conditions are assumed

On the expenditure side, the compensation for dearness of grain has far outrun the Budget provision, owing to the persistence of high prices. The Royal bonus accounts for most of the rest of the excess, and there were also unexpectedly heavy charges for survey and settlement operations in the Punjab and Madras. In next year's Budget, the bonus payments will be absent, and provision for grain compensation has been made in most provinces for only a part of the year, and altogether omitted in others. The savings on these accounts however have been partly counterbalanced by the extended programme of survey and record revision in the two Bengals.

152. The remarkable fluctuations under this head have already been discussed in paragraphs 112 and 131. The price of Bengal opium touched Rs. 1,500 a chest in May, but except for a partly speculative rise in October and November it has ruled under Rs. 1,400, and there has been a falling tendency towards the end of the year in consequence of the heavy exports from Bombay in January. The average, however, has been Rs. 84 a chest better than the Budget, and the result is an improvement of 38½ lakhs in the total receipts. The rush of Malwa opium to pay duty, which followed the announcement of the limitation of exports, caused an enormous excess over our budgeted receipts. In the single month of September a larger number of chests passed the scales than had paid duty in the whole of 1905-1906 or 1906-1907. Nearly the full amount for which we anticipate that export will be permissible in 1910 has already been passed for duty.

During the remainder of the calendar year we expect to sell 3,600 chests of Bengal opium every month, reduced to 3,300 chests in the first quarter of 1910. On the figures of previous years an average price of Rs. 1,350 is anticipated. The Malwa receipts will show a sharp re-action after the current year's activity.

The expenditure of the department is falling much more rapidly than we had expected, owing to the great curtailment in cultivation, particularly in Bihar, where it is being voluntarily abandoned.

153. The consumption declined very materially during the first half of the year, but recovered later, and is now expected to be slightly in excess of the consumption in 1907-1908. Owing to the greater employment of the credit system, however, there is a decrease in the year's receipts, and the improvement which was expected in the Budget has not been realized. In next year, the credit system will be open to all India for adoption, instead of being restricted to Madras and Bombay as at present; but it is not expected that the revenue will thereby be materially postponed except in Bengal. Elsewhere an increased consumption is anticipated as the result of revived prosperity,—particularly in Northern India and Bombay.

154. The Budget of the current year provided for the usual large advance in Stamp revenue, which was not fully realized, however, in Burma and Bengal, owing mainly to the dullness of trade. In the Central Provinces the estimate, which was pitched low on account of famine, proved unduly cautious, and in the Punjab increased litigation and the rising price of land enhanced the receipts beyond expectation. For next year, a considerable recovery is assumed in Bengal, with normal progress in the rest of India. In the current year's Budget, the value of stamps supplied to the Postal Department was shown under this head, but the charge has now been classified in its proper place. The English charges in the present year have been unusually high, in consequence of heavy indents necessitated by the decision to use postage stamps on telegrams.

155. Indifferent seasons and high prices kept down the excise revenue in most provinces, particularly in the Central Provinces, where there was also an active temperance propaganda at work. In Madras, on the other hand, the characteristic vigour of the revenue control led to a still further rise in receipts, chiefly from toddy and country spirits; and in Bombay the scarcity does not seem to have checked the consumption. A still further increase is expected next year in these two Presidencies, with a recovery from the effects of famine in the Central Provinces and United Provinces, to which in the former will be added an enhancement in the rates of duty. The rise in Bengal and the Punjab is largely the result of progressive administration. The same cause is also responsible for the increase of expenditure, which is common to all the provinces except Madras and Bombay.

157. The great activity of imports which characterized last year continued into the first half of the current year. But the rush slackened in the autumn, and the market for piece-goods became exceptionally dull. Silver was vigorous under the stimulus of very low prices. Petroleum exceeded expectations, and sugar was attracted by the shortage of the crop in the country. Otherwise the receipts tended to fall short of the Budget figure. This was particularly the case with the export duty, in consequence of a weakish Burma crop in the previous year and the increased demand for rice for home consumption. For next year the estimate is a cautious one, especially under piece-goods and silver; though the bumper rice crop, which is now being marketed in Burma, should give a large addition to our export duties. The Budget estimate of expenditure includes provision for re-organising the preventive establishments in three provinces.

In Bengal and the United Provinces the estimate for the current year was over-cautious, the profits of the previous year in speculation and produce-dealing having entered into the basis of assessment. In the other provinces the returns were dull: but recovery is expected for next year upon a return to normal conditions of trade.

159. There has been a heavy, though it is believed only a temporary, set back in most of the provinces, particularly in Burma, where the depressed state of the timber trade and the decline of the refuse teak operations curtailed the revenue substantially. In the United Provinces famine affected the revenue; in the Andamans there was no export of Padouk timber; and in the Central Provinces a poor market for firewood and bamboos, lower grazing fees, and a poor yield of lac, kept down the receipts. For next year, better markets and more active exploitation are looked for; and the only province that anticipates a fall in revenue is the Punjab, where the sale of standing trees instead of logs and sleepers will restrict the income. The expenditure in the current year had, as usual, been over-estimated by the department; and it is pitched at a more moderate figure for next year except in Madras, where the extension of the departmental agency for working the forests increases the charges.

In the current year there is a reduction of over 4 lakhs in the interest which we expected to get from the overdrafts of capital by railway companies in India: in Bombay and the United Provinces there has been a shortage of about 5 lakhs in the collection of the interest due on agricultural and municipal loans. For next year these two provinces return to normal figures. The English figures are based on the probable interest which the Secretary of State obtains on his spare balances, the amount of such balances, and the periods during which they are available for temporary investment.

161. These figures have been fully examined in other parts of this Statement, so far as concerns the funded debt. There has been a small decline in the interest payable by the Post Office Savings Bank, as the famine led to heavy withdrawals of deposits during the latter half of 1907-08. For next year the figures will include interest on the first year's subscriptions to the new general provident fund which has just been sanctioned for the families of Government servants who are not subscribers to any of the existing funds.

162. The use of postage stamps for telegrams has been discounted in the above figures. There has been a considerable drop in the true postal receipts during the current year, as a consequence of bad harvests and slack trade. For next year a revival of the normal rate of progress is assumed. The expenditure of the current year has been greater than was anticipated, particularly in connection with grain compensation allowances and the Royal bonus. For next year, as the result of a special enquiry which is now on foot, it is hoped that the steady expansion of the cost of postal audit will be arrested for some time to come; but in other respects the steady development of the department must continue.

163. The loss in Telegraph revenue this year is attributable to the general depression of trade and the decrease in speculation. There has also been a fall in the receipts from trans-Indian messages, in consequence of the new Batavia-Cocos cable route; and a decline in foreign telegram revenue owing to the unsettled state of Persia and the consequent avoidance of the Teheran route of the Indo-European Telegraph Department. For next year the Budget is a cautious one, as the revolutionary changes in the message rates which occurred on 1st January 1909 introduced a factor of uncertainty into the estimates. It is hoped that in time they will bring increased revenue, together with greater economy in working.

164. The entire cessation from April last of the coinage of new rupees, and consequently of the seignorage on them, explains the fall in Mint revenue. The profits on bronze have also been much reduced owing to the return of bronze coins from circulation after the famine. Against an estimate under this head of 12 lakhs in the current year, we now expect only 2 lakhs, with a revival to 8 lakhs next year. Dollar coinage gives us 3 lakhs this year, but we do not budget for any thing on this account next year. The profits on nickel coinage are expected to be up to the estimate of 12 lakhs, and for next year the figure is put at 13 lakhs. The expenditure has been capable of large reduction owing to the shrinkage in work.

165. All through this group of figures runs the influence of high prices, as reflected in the large expenditure on compensation to low-paid Government servants for the dearness of food grains. Apart from this cause and the Royal bonus, the chief reasons for an excess over the Budget in the current year are: special duty in the Secretariats in connection with the scheme of Constitutional Reform, the International Opium Commission, etc.; heavy expenditure on judicial proceedings and fees to counsel in special prosecutions in the two Bengals; increased salaries of judicial establishments in the United Provinces and Madras; the effect of famine prices on the cost of jail dietary in the United Provinces and Punjab; the progress of police reorganization in all provinces; the cost of a new Hooghly pilot steamer in Bengal; heavy grants-in-aid for educational institutions in Bengal and the Punjab; and the unexpected call of His Majesty the Amir on the arrears of his subsidy. The only reduction in expenditure occurs under Medical, in consequence of the inability of the more impoverished provinces to use their sanitation grants. For next year, increased expenditure has been stopped so far as possible: and if it were not for the restoration of the full sanitary grants, the total would have been below the figure of this year's charges.

166. Furlough and Absentee allowances are swollen by the payment to officers on leave in England of their privilege leave allowances at the India Office now, instead of in India, as was the previous rule: they were formerly charged against the same head as the officer's salary. Under Stationery and Printing there has been a large excess this year, and measures are being taken to reduce the expenditure under this head for the future. The loss on exchange in the current year is due to the low rates at which Council Bills have consistently been sold. The large addition under Miscellaneous charges represents 10 lakhs of irrecoverable Takávi which the United Provinces are writing off their revenue account.

169. The revenue from Major Works was well up to the estimate except in the Punjab and the United Provinces. In the latter province the heavy rains of last August checked the demand for irrigation; and in the Punjab receipts fell by about 13 lakhs, owing to the poor kharif and excessive rain, while some of the canals had been running short in the rabi of the previous year. The working expenses rose in most provinces with the cost of labour, and they were specially enhanced by flood damages in the Punjab.

170. The charges for Civil Works have increased in the Central Provinces in consequence of the large employment of what would otherwise have been famine labour on ordinary works; in Eastern Bengal and Assam, owing mainly to the laying out of the new headquarters at Dacca; in Bengal, through the acquisition of land for the Presidency College and a variety of minor reasons; in the Punjab, owing to an all-round excess over the budget provisions; and in Bombay, in consequence of a variety of new works sanctioned out of the province's balances. Lapses occurred on the other hand in Burma, the United Provinces and Madras: funds having been appropriated in the two former provinces to meet unforeseen expenditure in other directions. For next year, heavy reductions have been made in the grants, except in Madras, in order to rehabilitate the provincial finances.

Section V.—Capital Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation Works not charged to Revenue.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION.

Capital outlay on Railway in 1908-1909 and 1909-1910.

172. The expenditure on Railway Construction for which the Government of India undertakes financial responsibility or gives any direct guarantee is now estimated at R15,00,00,000 in 1908-1909. There was a lapse of about 75 lakhs of rupees from the amount placed at the disposal of the Secretary of State, but it has been counterbalanced by increased grants for expenditure in India.

For 1909-1910 the programme of capital outlay on Railway Construction has been placed at R15,00,00,000.

The distribution of the total expenditure on Railway Construction between State and Companies' agency in each of the three years from 1907-1908 to 1909-1910 is as follows:—

Section VI.—Provincial Finance.

Revenue, Expenditure and balances of the various provinces.

177. The revision of the Madras provincial settlement, on the lines indicated in paragraph 188 of last year's Financial Statement, has been confirmed by the Secretary of State. He has also sanctioned the new settlement with the United Provinces, though certain modifications in detail have been made in the terms which were provisionally conceded last year. The temporary settlement with Eastern Bengal and Assam would expire on the 31st March next, but it has been extended for another year. When it is revised, all the provinces will have been given settlements of a quasi-permanent character.

178. The attached table, which gives the usual information about provincial revenues, expenditure and balances, indicates how seriously their reserves have been encroached upon during the current year:—

(h) Includes R53,000 on account of the balance of the Copying Agency fund, now merged in general revenues.

179. The figures of revenue given against the provinces require to be qualified. During the period covered by the table, the Government of India have made large additions to the Provincial resources; these were made either to enable Local Governments to incur special expenditure on new services, such as police reforms, primary education, grants to District Boards and the like, or to meet expenditure transferred from Imperial to Provincial revenues, or to replenish balances which had been depleted by famine, plague, or similar cause. On the other hand, transfers from Provincial to Imperial revenues have occasionally been made when a charge which at settlement was Provincial in its incidence has been taken over by Imperial. The net result of these transactions is shown below for the four provinces whose balances have suffered most :—

	1906-1907	1907-1908	1908-1909	1909-1910
Bengal . . .	6,43,000	15,30,000	43,51,000	27,01,000
Eastern Bengal and Assam.	3,27,000	2,80,000	20,74,000	7,21,000
United Provinces .	74,74,000	95,49,000	92,33,000	13,11,000
Burma . . .	...	6,58,000	2,01,000	3,16,000

Of these grants the following amounts were made in aid of Provincial balances :—

Bengal	...	16,95,000
Eastern Bengal and Assam .	..	13,08,000
United Provinces	41,18,000	82,92,000*

* R10,00,000 given to start the new settlement.

180. In every province except Madras there is expected to be a deficit on the current year's working, though the result is obscured in the United Provinces by the heavy subsidy referred to above. The year has certainly been an exceptional one: but it has provided evidence of the difficulty that most provinces experience in adapting their expenditure to a sudden deterioration in their resources; and it suggests that in most of the provinces a scale of expenditure has been reached which is in advance of the development of their revenues. Local Governments have been addressed on the subject, and invited to rehabilitate their balances whenever necessary. In the meanwhile, several provinces are budgeting to close with a balance below the prescribed minimum ; while Eastern Bengal and Assam will overdraw largely upon Imperial balances.

181. During the present year and in the Budget the following special subsidies are provided for from Imperial funds :—

(The figures are in thousands of rupees.)

(a) Of this R14,82 was given in the budget, and is now included in the larger figure.

182. The grant to Madras for the redistribution of the districts and divisions in that Presidency was not allowed for in the Settlement as the scheme had not at the time received sanction, but a grant was promised to be made when it was sanctioned. The United Provinces received a grant of 30 lakhs when the Settlement of 1904 came into operation; in consideration of the fact that famine has swept away all its reserves in the interval, a further grant of 10 lakhs is now made, in addition to the prescribed minimum balance of 20 lakhs, and with special reference to the scheme for a new hospital to be attached to the Medical College at Lucknow.

* The heads marked with an asterisk appear on both the receipt and payment sides. As the receipts and disbursements under each of them are generally equal, they do not affect the Ways and Means of the year to any material extent.

184. The figures on both sides of the account are swollen by the large transactions relating to the Gold Standard Reserve. In consequence of the fall in exchange, and under an arrangement which is described in Part I of this statement, Bills drawn in India on London were paid during the year to the amount of £8,058,000. These Bills were met from the sale-proceeds of securities of the Gold Standard Reserve, from dividends that accrued to it, and from the amount of £1,131,200 which was held in the cash balance in England on 31st March 1908 on account of the Reserve, securities having been sold shortly before the close of the financial year 1907-1908, and certain balances having remained uninvested. The amount drawn or withheld from the Reserve in excess of what was actually required for the payment of Bills drawn in support of exchange will be invested on behalf of the Reserve before the close of the year.

185. Apart from these exceptional transactions upon the Gold Standard Reserve, the net disbursements of the year are now taken at £19,381,500 against £21,096,400. The difference occurs mainly in the operations of what are sometimes known as the "remittance" companies which work State railways : see paragraph 190 below. But the drop in the net disbursements is also due in part to the Secretary of State having drawn £705,000 more from the currency Reserve (against a contrary payment in India) than had been budgeted for; and to his having received £239,900 in light weight cold coin and bullion from India.

186. The persistent weakness of exchange throughout the year led to a very great reduction in the Secretary of State's drawings upon India. The Budget anticipated that he would sell £18,500,000 Bills and Telegraphic Transfers; but during long periods of the year it was impossible for him to obtain a suitable price, and it is now estimated that the sales will amount to only £13,525,000. Of this £1,269,900 will be appropriated to repay to the Gold Standard Reserve certain sums borrowed from it for treasury purposes in India and the remaining £12,255,100 will be available to meet the disbursements of the Home Treasury. Inasmuch as the net expenditure was somewhat less than the budgeted figure, the extent to which the sale of Council Drafts had to be supplemented from other resources was £5,655,600. The bulk of this was obtained by temporary borrowings, the issue of India Bills being increased from £500,000 to £5,000,000; the balance was taken from the Home Treasury balances, which were replenished towards the end of the year by part of the proceeds of a new sterling loan of £7,500,000.

187. Among the transactions other than those on Railway account or relating to the Gold Standard Reserve, the chief variations from the Budget figure are due to the increased payments to the War Office in respect of British forces serving in India, and to the diminished income received from interest upon temporary investments of the cash balance. The net result of miscellaneous remittances was also unfavourable to the Home Treasury, owing to a variety of minor causes, e.g., a decline in postal and money orders receipts, an increased demand for stores for local funds and Native States, etc.

1908-1909. Capital raised and deposited by Railway Companies.

188. The details of the transactions under capital raised and deposited by Railway Companies are as follows :—

TOTAL	3,06[illegible],9[illegible]0	1,229,300

189. The Burma Railway was the only line which was able to raise any capital. A portion of the Madras Railway Annuity was redeemed by the issue of Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway shares to the extent of £1,500,000. This item appears on the receipt side in the table in paragraph 183 under "Capital raised and deposited by Railway Companies" and on the disbursement side as "Redemption of Railway liabilities." It is not a direct liability of the Secretary of State, and does not therefore represent any increase of permanent debt. The Budget provided for payment of £1,420,600 for the discharge of debentures of Railway Companies. Instead of being replaced by fresh capital, the debentures were renewed at a discount of £8,800.

190. The Railway Companies whose transactions are dealt with above have separate capital deposit accounts in England, and funds raised and withdrawn by them in England are brought directly to account in the Home Treasury. It is the practice for certain other Companies which work State Railways to receive advances from the Secretary of State for the purchase of stores; and funds are sometimes raised by them and deposited with the Secretary of State. These deposits and advances, instead of being brought directly to account in England, are treated as remittances from and to India respectively, and are brought to account in this country. The details of the transactions during the current year are as follows:—

191. The East Indian, the Bombay, Baroda and Central India and the Great Indian Peninsula Railways were able to raise debenture stock to the extent of £2,450,000, £1,000,000 and £1,000,000 respectively, realising the amounts shown against each. The South Indian Railway debentures which matured during the year were not discharged, being renewed at a discount of £6,300.

1908-1909. Loans.

192. As stated in paragraph 200 of the last year's financial statement, a loan of £5,000,000 India 3½ per cent. stock was raised in January 1908 towards providing for the Railway programme of 1908-1909 and for the discharge of certain Bombay, Baroda and Central India debentures. Similarly in February 1909, a 3½ per cent. sterling loan of 7½ millions was issued at the fixed price of £97 and was underwritten at a charge of one per cent. As explained already, it has been decided, in view of the heavy charges incurred in connection with the flotation of this loan, to take credit in the accounts for the actual money received and to create a sinking fund for the redemption of liabilities incurred in excess of this sum; a similar arrangement has been adopted in the past whenever the charges of a new loan have been unusually heavy. Of the net amount receivable, £4,350,000 will be received in the current year and the balance of £2,823,700 in 1909-1910.

193. The Budget also provided for the issue of £500,000 India Sterling Bills, and for renewing twice during the year the six months' India Bills for £1,000,000 issued in October 1907. As a matter of fact, the latter set of bills, on maturity in April 1908, were replaced for 12 months, and there were further issues for 12 months of bills for £5,000,000. The first £1,000,000 was issued in April 1908 at an average price of £96-15-10 per cent.; in June the Secretary of State advertised another £2½ millions; this was taken up at an average rate of discount of £2-16-2 per cent. A similar amount advertised in November was taken up at a discount of £2-18-8 per cent.

1909-1910. The Budget Estimate.

194. The Budget Estimates provide for a net disbursement of £23,393,000 including a payment of £179,400 for the discharge of Railway debentures which mature during the year. The net disbursements are estimated at £2,291,000 more than the current year's Budget. This is the net result of the following variations:—

The difference between the sum of these two items and the amount of net disbursement will be met by drawing on the Secretary of State's cash balances which are estimated to stand at £3,328,689 on 31st March 1910.

The programme herein announced of the probable drawings on India, and of the transactions in connection with the Government Sterling Debt and the borrowings of Railway Companies, represents the present intentions of the Secretary of State. But in view of the varying conditions of Indian finance and of the London money market, no assurance can be given that this programme will be adhered to either in amount or in form. The Secretary of State reserves to himself the right to vary the programme to any extent that may be considered necessary during the course of the year. The estimate of Council drawings is for the amount necessary to provide for the Secretary of State's requirements, but additional Bills will as usual be sold if needed to meet the demands of trade.

1908-1909. Main features of Budget Estimates.

202. In the Budget Estimate of 1908-1909 the cash balance in Indian Treasuries on 1st April 1908 was taken at 18,96 lakhs. It was estimated (1) that the net Imperial revenue in India would amount to 27,84 lakhs, (2) that a sum of 100 lakhs would be available for Railway construction out of the coinage profits likely to be realised during the year, (3) that the net deposits in Savings Banks and Provident Institutions would increase during the year by 68 lakhs, (4) that a sum of 37½ lakhs, representing the total of the amounts deposited by Local Governments with the Imperial Government as a reserve for meeting future expenditure on famine relief, would be available for the avoidance of debt, and (5) that the remittance transactions of Railway Companies would result in a net credit in India of 6,46 lakhs. On the other hand, provision was made (1) for a net expenditure of 79 lakhs from Provincial balances, (2) for capital expenditure in India on railways and canals (inclusive of outlay by companies) to the extent of 9,41 lakhs, (3) for a remittance of 225 lakhs to England through the Currency Department, (4) for net payments of 13,31 and 14 lakhs in connection with the discharge of the permanent debt, local loans and miscellaneous deposit and remittance transactions, respectively, and (5) for payments of Council Bills to the extent of 26,98½ lakhs. The payments mentioned aggregated 40,01½ lakhs, and as the receipts amounted to 36,35½ lakhs, there was a deficiency of 366 lakhs. It was proposed to meet this deficiency by raising a rupee loan of 3 crores and by reducing the cash balance to the extent of 66 lakhs.

1908-1909. Main features of Revised Estimates.

203. The results according to the Revised Estimates show considerable variations from this forecast. The persistent effects of famine and the general depression in trade, which have left their mark on the revenue account, have also materially affected the original programme of Ways and Means. The year opened well with a balance of 32 lakhs better than the Budget forecast. But the heavy decline in the net railway earnings reduced it before the end of November to below the workable minimum in spite of a large reduction in the remittances to England in aid of the Home Treasury caused by the absence of any active demand for Councils in the first five months of the year. In the four months November to February 450 lakhs had to be borrowed temporarily from the Gold Standard Reserve. The whole of this sum will be repaid before the end of the year either by an actual payment into the Silver Branch of the Reserve, or by payment of Council Bills, the proceeds of which are being appropriated by the Secretary of State for investment in England on account of the Reserve; but to do this it will be necessary to reduce the cash balances in India at the close of the year to the very low figure of 15,35 lakhs. Taking the year as a whole, the net Imperial revenue is now estimated at 5,90 lakhs less than the Budget Estimate, while the expenditure from Provincial balances will be 35 lakhs more. The return in large numbers of rupees from circulation in the earlier months of the year in consequence of the slackness of trade has rendered any fresh coinage unnecessary, and the expected profit of 1,00 lakhs on rupee coinage has not therefore been realized. The net credits from remittances of Railway Companies will fall short of the Budget Estimate by 1,27 lakhs. The net deposits in Savings Banks will be less than the Budget Estimate by 27 lakhs, while the payments on account of loans to cultivators, etc., will be more by 58 lakhs. There will be an increase of 17 lakhs in the amount of permanent debt redeemed; and the net payments under miscellaneous deposit and remittance transactions will exceed the Budget Estimate by 54 lakhs, owing mainly to a remittance to England of uncurrent gold coin and bullion of the value of 36 lakhs. Capital expenditure on State Railways and Irrigation Works and withdrawals by Railway Companies for capital outlay are expected to exceed the Budget by 26 lakhs, and a sum of 106 lakhs in excess of the Budget provision has been remitted to the Secretary of State through the Currency Department to supplement his resources. A reduction of 100 lakhs has also been made in the amount of the rupee loan announced in the Budget. The only set-off against the deterioration from all these sources, amounting to 12,40 lakhs, is a diminution of 9,13 lakhs in the payments of Council Bills. The balance of 3,27 lakhs has to be met by a reduction in the cash balances. These stood at the beginning of the year at 32 lakhs more than the Budget forecast; the closing balance on 31st March, 1909, is therefore now expected to be 295 lakhs less than the figure entered in the Budget Estimate.

1908-1909. Rupee loan.

204. In paragraph 213 of the last Financial Statement it was announced, subject to the usual reservations, that a new 3½ per cent rupee loan of 3 crores would be raised in 1908-1909. The loan was announced in July last, but in view of the paucity of loanable capital in the money market, tenders were invited for a reduced amount of two crores of rupees only. Tenders were opened on the 4th August, and the result of the loan was as follows:—

Total amount tendered.	Amount accepted.	Average rate of accepted tenders.	Minimum rate accepted.
R	R	R a. p.	R a. p.
3,18,25,700	2,00,00,000	95 7 0·3	95 2 0

1909-1910. Main features of Budget Estimate.

205. In 1909-1910 the net Imperial revenue in India is estimated at 28,42 lakhs; Savings Banks deposits are expected to yield a net receipt of 128 lakhs; a sum of 44 lakhs will be available from the Famine Insurance grant for the avoidance of debt; the remittance and capital transactions of Railway Companies are likely to result in a net credit in India of 469 lakhs; repayments of loans granted to cultivators, municipalities, etc., in previous years will exceed the net amount of such loans to be issued during the year by 42 lakhs; and deposits and miscellaneous remittance transactions are expected to show a net receipt of 92 lakhs. On the other hand provision has been made: (1) for an expenditure of 30 lakhs from Provincial balances, and of 19 lakhs in connection with the redemption of permanent debt; (2) for capital expenditure of 11,04 lakhs in India on Railways and Canals; and (3) for payment of Council Bills to the extent of 24,10 lakhs. It is also necessary to increase by about three crores the cash balances in India which have been seriously reduced during the current year.

The total amount of funds required by the Government of India next year therefore aggregates 38,63 lakhs, while the receipts at its disposal amount to only 36,17 lakhs.

1909-1910. New Rupee loan.

206. It is accordingly intended to raise a new rupee loan of 2½ crores in 1909-1910. With a loan of this amount it will be possible to close the year, according to the present estimate, with a balance of 18,39 lakhs. The announcement now made regarding the rupee loan is in accordance with present intentions; but full liberty is reserved, as usual, to vary the programme now announced to any extent that may be considered desirable.

1908-1909 and 1909-1910. Post Office Savings Banks, etc.

207. The following table gives details of the transactions of Savings Banks and Provident Funds during a series of years, and the estimated transactions for 1908-1909 and 1909-1910:—

1909-1910 (Budget)	61,04,000	57,46,000	1,18,50,000

208. Owing to the prevalence of famine a small net withdrawal from the Post Office Savings Banks of 10 lakhs, apart from interest, was assumed in the Budget Estimate of the current year. The transactions of the first ten months of the year have, however, resulted in a net withdrawal of 30 lakhs, and in view of the persistent effects of the famine it is doubtful whether any net increase in the deposits will take place in the remaining months of the year. The Revised Estimate accordingly provides for a net withdrawal of 35 lakhs during the year from Post Office Savings Banks.

In the Budget Estimate for 1909-1910, a total net deposit of 25 lakhs in Post Office Savings Banks, apart from interest, has been assumed. It is also expected that the deposits in the new General Provident Fund for Government servants will amount to about 25 lakhs.

Section VIII.—Summary.

209. The principal features in this statement are the following:—

I.—The Accounts of 1907-1908 closed with an Imperial surplus of £306,046, being £70,646 more than the surplus expected in the Revised Estimates of that year.

II.—1908-1909:—

(1) The Revised Estimate shows a total Revenue of £69,628,600, a total Expenditure charged to Revenue of £73,349,100, and an Imperial deficit of £3,720,500. The Budget Estimate for the current year anticipated a surplus of £571,500. There is thus a large deterioration of £4,292,000 in the revenue account.

(2) Railway net Receipts show a decline of £3,692,000. Owing to protracted weakness in the agricultural conditions of the year and to the general depression in trade, gross earnings have fallen off to the extent of £2,414,100; while working expenses have increased by £1,277,900 as a result mainly of special activity in betterment and renewals, and of expenditure required in the North-Western Railway on repairs and temporary diversions in consequence of floods.

Owing chiefly to bad seasons in Bombay and Upper Burma there is a shortage of £264,100 in the estimates of Land Revenue. The decrease would have been higher but for the collection of famine suspensions in the United Provinces and the Central Provinces. In Bombay alone, the decline in the collections amounts to £276,900.

The revenue under Salt and Forest has also suffered from the persistence of famine, the decrease as compared with the Budget Estimates amounting to £185,500 and £144,100, respectively.

A fall of £148,900 has taken place in Mint revenue, owing to the cessation of rupee coinage from new silver and the loss of seignorage thereon, as well as to a large decrease in the coinage of bronze.

Under Customs there is a large decrease of £148,000, the more important variations being decreases of £200,000 in the import duty on piece-goods and £140,000 in the export duty on rice and increases of £140,000 and £50,000 in the import duty on silver and sugar.

The other heads under which important decreases in the Budget Estimates have occurred are Major Irrigation Works (£90,600), Interest (£88,500), Telegraph (£85,900) and Post Office (£78,000).

The only substantial increase in revenue occurs under Opium; the Budget Estimate being exceeded by £1,041,300 Of this £256,500 is due to Bengal opium having been sold at an average of R1,384 per chest as against R1,300 taken in the Budget. But the bulk of the improvement arises from heavy advance payments of duty on Malwa opium with the object of securing priority of export in 1909 and 1910.

(3) Under expenditure, the largest increase has taken place under Salaries and Expenses of Civil Departments (£432,300) and is chiefly caused by (a) the payment of a special bonus of a week's pay to all permanent civil employés on pay of R50 a month or under, in commemoration of the assumption of the government of India by the Crown, (b) heavier expenditure on grain compensation allowance to low-paid Government servants and on dietary charges in jails, and (c) the special measures necessitated in some of the provinces for detecting and trying offences against the public peace.

There is also an excess of £259,100 in the Miscellaneous Civil charges, owing mainly to larger purchases of stationery and to the write-off of irrecoverable balances of takavi loans in the United Provinces.

The bulk of the excess expenditure in both cases is Provincial and does not affect the Imperial surplus, except in so far as it has led to an overdrawal of the Provincial balances in some of the provinces and necessitated a special contribution from Imperial revenues.

The charges for interest on the total public debt are in excess of the Budget by £119,500, which is largely the result of an increase of £4,500,000 in the temporary debt raised on India Bills.

Famine relief charges have been unexpectedly swollen to the extent of £132,200 by the protracted distress in the United Provinces and the failure of the winter rains in parts of the same province, as well as of Bengal and Eastern Bengal.

Smaller increases occur under Post Office (£96,900), Civil Works (£92,400) and Land Revenue (£92,000).

Opium expenditure is less than the Budget provision by £239,600, owing to a shortage in the outturn of the crop of 1907-08 and to a larger contraction in the poppy-growing area in Bengal.

Under Military Services also, there is a saving of £196,700 in the Budget provision, the excess expenditure caused by (a) the additional payment to the War Office as decided upon the recommendations of the Romer Committee, (b) the operations against the Mohmands, (c) the continued high prices of food and forage, and (d) the increase in the pay of the Indian army sanctioned with effect from the 1st January, 1909, being more than counterbalanced by lapses in the Budget grants and by economies effected in view of the unfavourable financial position.

(4) The balances of the United Provinces having been largely depleted as a consequence of the famine, a special assignment of £387,300 has been given (in addition to £98,800 provided in the Budget to avoid a minus Provincial balance at the end of 1908-1909) to raise the closing Provincial balance to its prescribed minimum. An initial grant of £66,700 has also been made to this province for its new financial settlement. Other special assignments are £113,000 and £87,200 respectively to Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam in aid of Provincial balances; and £91, 600 distributed among the several Provincial Governments to cover the expenditure in connection with the Royal bonus.

(5) A 3½ per cent loan of two crores of rupees was raised in India. A temporary loan of 4½ crores had also to be taken from the Gold Standard Reserve in the months of November to February as the cash balances in India had run down very low; but this will be wholly repaid before the end of the year. The Budget programme of Ways and Means did not contemplate the issue of any new sterling loan in England; but in February last, new 3½ per cent India stock was issued for £7,500,000, partly in anticipation of the requirements of next year. Of the total sum receivable £4,350,000 will be received in 1908-09.

In addition, fresh India Bills for £5,000,000 were issued, in lieu of £500,000 entered in the Budget, owing to the small demand for Council Bills on India.

(6) The fresh capital raised by Railway Companies during the year amounted to £6,800,900 against £4,913,900 entered in the Budget Estimate.

(7) In consequence of the depression in trade, the drawings of Council Bills in 1908-1909 are expected to amount to only £12,255,100 as compared with £18,500,000 entered in the Budget; the former figure is exclusive of £1,269,900 drawn for remittance to the Gold Standard Reserve. To supplement his resources, £2,205,000 have been drawn by the Secretary of State from the Currency Reserve Gold in England against £1,500,000 provided in the Budget, an equivalent transfer being made from treasury to the Currency Reserve in India; and gold coin and bullion of the value of £239,900 lying in India were remitted to England.

(8) The Gold Standard Reserve on the 31st March 1909 stands at £18,503,200. The issue of sterling bills in India on London to steady exchange necessitated the sale of securities of the face value of £8,100,497 held in the Reserve in England, the par value of the bills being paid into the silver branch in India. It will however be possible to re-invest £1,269,900 out of the latter sum before the end of the year, and the rupees held in the Reserve on the 31st March, 1909, will amount to £10,808,600 inclusive of the fixed nucleus of £4,000,000.

III—1909-1910:—

(1) The Budget Estimate of 1909-1910 shows a total revenue of £73,750,900, a total expenditure charged to Revenue of £73,520,000 and an Imperial surplus of £230,900.

(2) Provision has been made for special grants to Local Governments of £76,700 in aid of additional police reforms.

(3) The estimates for next year are generally based on the expectation of a normal monsoon next year and of a revival of trade. In view of the financial position steps have been taken to curtail as far as possible the growth of expenditure, both Imperial and Provincial.

(4) Compared with the Revised Estimate of the current year, the net receipts of State Railways show an increase of £3,099,200. The gross receipts are taken at only £109,500 more than the Budget Estimate for the current year.

A total increase of £1,202,700 is assumed under Land Revenue, in the expectation of normal agricultural conditions. Of this Bombay contributes £385,700, the Punjab £342,500, the United Provinces £211,300 and the Central Provinces £134,000.

A substantial increase of £369,900 is expected in the Excise revenue as a result of returning prosperity and improved control.

Under Customs the increase taken is £173,100. It assumes a reaction in the imports of silver, but heavy payments on the export of Burma rice and a moderate revival in the general import trade. Better trade conditions are expected to give an improvement of £137,200 under Stamps and £129,700 under Post Office.

For Salt an increase in consumption is anticipated of 2·2 million maunds. But in view of the probable extension of the credit system of payment of duty, the increase of revenue is taken at £103,300 only.

Other important improvements in revenue occur under Forest (£93,000), Interest (£92,200) and Miscellaneous (£89,900).

Opium revenue shows a decrease of £1,468,200, compared with the artificially inflated income of the current year. The sales of Bengal opium will be 42,300 chests, and an average price of R1,350 per chest has been assumed. It is also surmised that 8,700 chests of Malwa opium will pay pass duty during 1909-1910, mainly in preparation for the shipments of 1911.

(5) The failure of this year's winter rains in parts of four provinces has made it necessary to provide £204,400 for direct expenditure on famine relief, of which £121,800 will be required in Bengal and £55,000 in the United Provinces. £500,000 has been allotted from the Famine Relief and Insurance grant for expenditure on Protective Irrigation Works and Railways.

An important contraction of expenditure appears under Civil Works, where the allotments are £303,600 less than the probable expenditure of the current year in consequence of the efforts of Local Governments to secure financial equilibrium.

Under Opium a decrease of £156,600 is expected owing to a further reduction in the poppy-growing area.

The increase of £284,500 in the Interest payment on the total public debt is explained by the growth of the debt in the two years 1908-1909 and 1909-1910. There is also under the Railway head a further enhancement of £295,100, due to a growth in the debenture capital of Railway Companies and to the payment for the first time of a full year's annuity in connection with the purchase of the Madras Railway.

The rise in the pay of the Indian Army will lead to an increased charge of £353,300, the full year's payment of £426,600 being provided for; but this will be counterbalanced by extensive savings effected in other directions. There will be a net increase of £150,500 only in the total Military expenditure. The separate special grant for reorganization has been discontinued, necessary provision being made for the measures likely to be introduced next year.

Increases of £86,200 and £81,000, respectively, will occur in the Medical and Police expenditure owing to a more active programme of sanitation and the progress of police reorganization. But in consequence of the absence of the special charges which have been incurred during the current year and of the restriction imposed on the growth of expenditure, the Salaries and Expenses of Civil Departments will, on the whole, show an increase of £56,600 only.

(6) In spite of the large retrenchments made in expenditure, Burma will close the year with a Provincial balance below the prescribed minimum; Bengal will wholly exhaust its balances; while Eastern Bengal and Assam will overdraw largely upon the Imperial balances.

(7) Subject to the usual reservation, a loan of 2½ crores of rupees in India is announced. This is intended for Capital expenditure on Railways and Productive Irrigation Works. Of the sterling loan of £7,500,000 announced in January last, £2,823,700 will be realized after the 31st March, 1909. Provision has also been made for renewing the India Bills for £6,000,000 which will mature next year, and for the discharge of £179,400 of Madras Railway debentures which will fall in during the year.

(8) Subject to the usual reservations, provision is made for the raising of Capital through Railway Companies as follows: for outlay on Companies' Railways £69,300, and for expenditure on purchased Railways £2,400,000.

(9) Drawings of Council Bills are entered at £16,200,000.

FORT WILLIAM,

APPENDIX II.

Memorandum by the Joint Secretary, Military Finance, on Military expenditure in the years 1908-1909 and 1909-1910.

This memorandum is concerned with the expenditure incurred in England and India under the four Budget heads "46.—Army," "46A.—Marine," "47.—Military Works" and "47A.—Special Defences."

2. Up to the close of 1908-1909 expenditure on the following measures has been classed as Special, and financed from a special annual grant.

(1) Measures connected with Lord Kitchener's scheme for the Reorganisation and Redistribution of the Army.

(2) Other special measures for the improvement of military administration which had been initiated prior to the year 1904-1905. In this case the expenditure on such measures has been treated as Special only to the extent by which it exceeds the budget provision made in 1904-1905.

(3) The re-armament and improvement of coast and frontier defences.

(4) Other new measures which add appreciably to military expenditure. If the maximum cost of such a new measure, adding the full amount of recurring expenditure in any one year to the initial outlay, exceeds R20,000 (or R50,000 in the case of buildings), the cost has been debited to the grant for Special expenditure.

The balance of military expenditure outside special outlay of the above descriptions has been classed as Ordinary.

3. With effect from the year 1909-1910 the special grant has been abolished, and the recurring cost of completed measures for which funds have hitherto been provided from that grant has been merged in ordinary expenditure. In future the classification of measures as ordinary or special will depend solely on their cost. Expenditure on new projects of which the initial cost, plus one year's recurring expenditure, is estimated to exceed R50,000 will be treated as special, and all other expenditure will be classed as ordinary.

I.—REVISED ESTIMATE, 1908-1909.

GRAND TOTAL	2,50,00,000	1,666,700	1,89,47,000	1,263,300	403,400

Amount of Special Grant.

5. The Special Grant was reduced in 1907-1908 from 3¼ crores (£2,166,700), the amount which it was originally intended to provide annually for financing the schemes of Reorganisation and Redistribution and other measures involving special expenditure, to 250 lakhs (£1,666,700), but was supplemented by a grant from lapses which had occurred in the previous year. In 1908-1909, the reduction to 250 lakhs (£1,666,700) was maintained, but no addition was made on account of previous lapses. The amount which will be spent during the current year is now estimated at 1,89.47 lakhs (£1,263,300) or 60.53 lakhs (£403,400) less than the provision made in the Budget.

Allocation of lapses :—

(i) Special Defences.

6. With the exception of about 6.35 lakhs (£42,200) unexpended in England, these lapses have occurred in India. They include under Special Defences a lapse of 11.83 lakhs (£78,800) due to a reconsideration of the original scheme. A lapse of 1.33 lakhs (£8,900) occurred under Marine, owing to the partial suspension of the construction of the new tug required to replace the "Elephanta."

(ii) Marine.

(iii) Military Works.

7. The decrease under Military Works of 36.80 lakhs (£245,300) was due to delay in the initiation of a number of measures forming part of the Redistribution Scheme, and to the restriction of work generally in view of the financial situation.

(iv) Army.

8. The decrease under Army amounted to 10.57 lakhs (£70,400), and was mainly due to smaller expenditure than had been anticipated on the following measures :—

(i) Reorganization of Horse and Field Artillery Batteries and Ammunition Columns.

In view of the financial situation the complete formation of five Ammunition Columns was deferred until 1909-1910, while there were some savings in the other units owing to the augmentation of establishments not being completed as early as was anticipated.

(ii) Provision of lines for Indian troops under the Redistribution scheme, and purchase of land for this purpose.

There was a considerable saving under this head, owing to the programme of new lines having been reconsidered and reduced.

(iii) Working expenses of Ordnance factories.

These were restricted in some degree.

(iv) Increase of the Indian Army Reserve.

The new enrolments in the Reserve have been fewer than was anticipated.

(v) A[illegible]tion of 350 officers to the Indian Army.

The full number of sanctioned appointments were not filled.

In addition to the above, sundry extra charges which were expected to arise, and for which a lump su[illegible] provided as an unallotted reserve, did not come forward for payment.

Special measures undertaken :—

(i) By reallotment.

9. On the other hand, the failure to wo[illegible] p to the original provision for these and other measures has made it possible to allot funds to other projects, including the purchase of rifles, maxim guns and mono[illegible] in England, the delocalization and transfer to India of a Burma battalion, and the establishment of a Chemical Bureau connected with the manufacture of cordite. The expenditure incurred this year on account of the increased pay and other concessions sanctioned for the Indian Army from the 1st January 1909 has also been met from the above savings.

(ii) From Budget provision.

10. The funds provided in the Budget for special expenditure in the current year were applied in the first place to meeting the recurring outlay on measures undertaken in previous years. Over 4½ lakhs (£30,600) have been spent in the prosecution of the scheme for the improvement and re-armament of coast defences. About 26¾ lakhs (£178,400) were expended on Military Works measures appertaining to reorganization and redistribution, including the construction of buildings at Quetta, Nowshera, Jubbulpore, Ahmednagar and Dehra Dun; and 16¼ lakhs (£108,400) were expended on other works chargeable to the Special Grant. Under Marine the main portion of the expenditure was incurred on the upkeep of new vessels. The expenditure under Army enabled the reorganization of all the Royal Horse and Field Artillery batteries and of 15 out of the 20 ammunition columns to be completed; the provision of telephonic equipment for the Army, and the reorganization of the Military Accounts department to meet the divisional organization, have been practically completed; and progress has been made with the provision of a reserve of rifles.

Summary.

11. Thus against a total provision of 250 lakhs (£1,666,700), special expenditure to the extent of 189·47 lakhs (£1,263,300) is likely to be incurred in the present year; the difference is made up of 10·57 lakhs (£70,400) under Army; 1·33 lakhs (£8,900) under Marine; 36·80 lakhs (£245,300) under Military Works; and 11·83 lakhs (£78,800) under Special Defences. With the exception of 6·35 lakhs (£42,200), the whole of the lapse has occurred in India, the causes, as explained above, being the postponement of special measures or inability to carry them out to the extent anticipated, and, in the latter portion of the year, the necessity of restricting expenditure in view of the general financial situation and of the additional demands under military heads which came forward after the budget was framed.

12. The following table compares the provision for Ordinary expenditure in the Budget of the current year and the probable expenditure as now estimated:—

Cause of excess or saving.
(i) Marine.

13. Marine charges, as a whole, show a small increase, which is mainly due to extra demands for stores and larger retired pay charges.

(ii) Military Works.

14. Ordinary Military Works expenditure is met from a fixed grant which is expected to be fully spent.

(iii) Army— (a) Home

15. The Revised Estimate under Army shows an excess of 29·7 lakhs (£198,000). There was an increase of 36·44 lakhs (£242,900) in England, and a decrease of 6·74 lakhs (£44,900) in India. The excess at Home includes an increased contribution of 41·25 lakhs (£275,000) to the War Office on account of training and other charges in respect of the British Army in India; an increase in the payments of furlough allowances and of expenditure on the Indian Troop Service; partially counterbalanced by an expected refund on account of deferred pay, and less charges for stores

(iii) Army— (b) India.

16. The decrease of 6·74 lakhs (£44,900) in the Indian expenditure is chiefly attributable to the following causes:—The replacement of a number of British soldiers on the old rate of service pay by men coming under the new rules of proficiency pay, has reduced expenditure by 6½ lakhs (£43,300); the short strength of British troops and the large number of officers taking leave to England have given a saving in India of 10½ lakhs (£70,000); the conversion of the Malwa and Meywar Bhil Corps into military police battalions and their transfer to the Civil administration have relieved the military estimates of 2¼ lakhs (£15,000); the enrolment of recruits and reservists having been less than was anticipated has contributed over 5½ lakhs (£37,700); the restriction of expenditure and savings in supply departments account for 18 lakhs (£120,000); the charges for conveyance by rail, river and sea will be lower by over 5¾ lakhs (£38,900) than was anticipated; and the pensionary charges will be nearly 1⅔ lakhs (£11,000) less than the Budget provision. On the other hand extra expenditure has been caused by the Mohmand operations which account for 19 lakhs (£126,700); by the arrear charges on account of the Bazar Valley operations exceeding the budget provision by 1·4 lakhs (£9,300); by the rise in prices of food and forage, involving an extra charge of 21 lakhs (£140,000); by additional hutting grants, amounting to 1·38 lakhs (£9,200); and by the raising of the 2nd Battalion, 10th Gurkha Rifles, in lieu of a Moplah Battalion mustered out in 1907-08, which causes an addition of 1 lakh (£6,700).

Summary.

17. The total Ordinary expenditure under all heads shows an increase of 31·01 lakhs (£206,700), practically the whole of which arises under Army expenditure. As will be seen from the foregoing explanations, this increase is mainly due to the increased payment to the War Office, the prevailing high rates of food and forage, and the North-West Frontier operations; and is partially counterbalanced by savings arising from an abnormal shortage in the strength of troops and reservists, and by restrictions of expenditure and economies in various directions.

C.—Total Military Expenditure, Ordinary and Special.

1908-1909. Total Expenditure—Ordinary and Special.

1908-1909. Total expenditure. Revised compared with Budget.

19. The Revised Estimate shows a decrease of 29·52 lakhs (£196,700), made up of a lapse of 60·53 lakhs (£403,400) under special expenditure, and an increase of 31·01 lakhs (£206,700) in ordinary charges, the reasons for which have been explained above.

D.—Military Receipts.

1908-1909. Receipts.

20. Certain receipts are credited under Army, Military Works, and Marine. These arise mainly from payments by His Majesty's Government against charges incurred on their account, and rents of quarters, sales of stores, and recoveries on certain issues to soldiers, such as dairy produce, rum, and in certain cases clothing.

21. The following table shows the Budget and the Revised Estimates of receipts in 1908-1909:—

	Budget, 1908-1909. R	Budget, 1908-1909. £	Revised Estimate, 1908-1909. R	Revised Estimate, 1908-1909. £

Total	1,52,50,000	1,016,700	1,53,99,000	1,026,600

22. The variations under Army and Marine are mainly due to an arrear payment of about 6¼ lakhs (£41,400) by the War Office on account of the hire of Royal Indian Marine vessels for colonial trooping having been adjusted under Marine in India, instead of under Army receipts at Home. The net increase amounts to about 1½ lakhs (£9,900).

E.—NET MILITARY EXPENDITURE.

1908-1909. Net Expenditure.

23. Deducting the receipts from the gross expenditure, the net Military expenditure for 1908-1909 was taken at R29,60,66,000 (£19,737,700) in the Budget, and is now estimated at R29,29,65,000 (£19,531,100).

II—BUDGET ESTIMATE, 1909-1910.

24. In consequence of the change in classification explained in paragraph 3 above, the Budget Estimates for ordinary expenditure in 1909-1910 include 98·26 lakhs (£655,100) on account of completed measures which have hitherto been classed as special. The ordinary estimates also provide for all expenditure on new measures, the initial cost of which, plus one year's recurring expenditure, does not exceed R50,000. The provision for new or uncompleted projects, the cost of which exceeds the above limit, amounts to 71·23 lakhs (£474,900). Since this figure bears such a small proportion to the total, the following statements do not distinguish between special and ordinary expenditure, but deal with Military expenditure as a whole.

A.—GROSS MILITARY EXPENDITURE.

Budget, 1909-1910, compared with Budget, 1908-1909.

26. The Estimate for 1909-1910 under the four Military heads thus shows a total decrease of 6·93 lakhs (£46,200) as compared with the Budget of 1908-1909. Marine charges are practically the same. The Military Works charges show a decrease of 51·54 lakhs (£343,600), the greater part of which is due to curtailment of the programme of works under the Redistribution Scheme, to reduction in the rate of expenditure on measures in progress, and to the postponement of other new works in view of the general financial situation. The ordinary Military Works grant has also been reduced by 5·01 lakhs (£[illegible],400) partly on account of a re-adjustment of charges and partly on account of the necessity for reducing expenditure. Special Defences show a decrease of 12·2[illegible] lakhs (£81,500), which is mainly due to the fact that the programme is now appro[illegible] completion.

Cause of excess or saving:—
(i) Marine.
(ii) Military Works.
(iii) Special Defences.

(iv) Army. (a) Home.

27. Army expenditure shows an in[illegible] at Home of 53·2 lakhs (£354,700), and in India of 3·56 lakhs (£23,700). The increase in Home expenditure is attributable to the extra charge of 45 lakhs (£[illegible]) now paid to the War Office in respect of British forces serving in India; [illegible]creased furlough allowances amounting to 7·35 lakhs (£49,000); to larger store demands aggregating 4·28 lakhs (£28,500); and to the normal growth of non-effective charges amounting to 3·03 lakhs (£20,200). On the other hand, there are some minor reductions under miscellaneous heads.

(iv) Army. (b) India.

28. The increase of expenditure in India is mainly attributable to the increased pay and allowances given to the Indian Army from the 1st January 1909 which involve 64 lakhs (£426,600); and to the rise in prices of food and forage, which has necessitated an increased provision of 13·75 lakhs (£91,700). Other contributory causes are:—the inclusion in the Indian estimates of the expenditure, amounting to 2·25 lakhs (£15,000), connected with the battalion detached to North China, which will be credited as an Army receipt at Home; an increased provision of 4 lakhs (£26,700), required for completing the augmentation of artillery units; a provision of 2·25 lakhs (£15,000) for the 2nd Battalion, 10th Gurkha Rifles, which was raised in 1908-1909 in lieu of one of the Moplah battalions mustered out in 1907-1908; and a larger provision of 2·42 lakhs (£16,100) on account of remounts.

Budget, 1909-1910, compared with Budget, 1908-1909.—contd.

On the other hand considerable reductions have been effected by a restriction of expenditure in supply departments, amounting to 34·15 lakhs (£227,700); by the absence of provision for expenditure in the ensuing year on account of land and lines for Indian Troops under the Redistribution Scheme and for rifle ranges for which objects 12·56 lakhs (£83,700) were provided in the Budget of 1908-1909; and by the omission in 1909-1910 of the lump sum provision of 11·14 lakhs (£74,300) made in the Budget of 1908-1909 to meet anticipated but unspecified special expenditure. The increase in the total expenditure is also partially counterbalanced by the following minor causes:—the new rules for proficiency pay of British troops becoming applicable to a larger number of men produce a saving of 6·5 lakhs (£43,300); smaller purchases of stallions and mules account for a reduction of 4·45 lakhs (£29,700); the provision for conveyance charges is less by 5·16 lakhs (£34,400); the abolition of three mounted infantry schools causes a saving of 1·32 lakhs (£8,800); the anticipated short strength of troops and reservists entails a reduction of 6·62 lakhs (£44,100); the transfer of the Malwa and Meywar Bhil Corps to the Civil administration relieves the military estimates of 2·5 lakhs (£16,700); and a fall of 2·56 lakhs (£17,100) is anticipated in pensionary charges.

29. In order to provide funds for the increased charges indicated above, it has been necessary to restrict expenditure on new measures as much as possible in the coming year. Allotments have, however, been made under Military Works and Special Defences for carrying on the works already in progress; and provision has also been made under Army for further expenditure on the following important measures:—

(a) The completion of the 8 additional Royal Horse and Field Artillery Ammunition Columns.
(b) The rearmament of the Royal Horse and Field Artillery.
(c) The increase of the Indian Army Reserve.
(d) The establishment of the Sargodha young stock depôt and run.
(e) The increase of the reserves of rifles and artillery ammunition.
(f) The expansion of dairies, and
(g) The revised scale of medical and surgical equipment.

Budget, 1909-1910, compared with Revised, 1908-1909.

Causes of excess or saving.

(i) Marine.

(ii) Military Works.

(iii) Special Defences.

30. As compared with the probable actual outlay in the current year, the Budget Estimates for 1909-1910 provide, under the four Military heads combined, for an increase of 22·59 lakhs (£150,500). Marine charges show no important variation. The Military Works expenditure indicates a decrease of 14·74 lakhs (£98,300), due to a reduction in the grant for ordinary requirements, and to less special expenditure being contemplated on buildings of various kinds. Expenditure on Special Defences shows a small decrease.

(iv) Army. (a) Home.

31. Army expenditure shows an increase at Home of 12·8 lakhs (£85,300), and in India of 24·83 lakhs (£165,500). The increase at Home is mainly due to larger payments to the War Office in respect of training and pensionary charges for British troops.

(iv) Army. (b) India.

The increase in Indian expenditure is chiefly attributable to an increase of 53 lakhs (£353,300) on account of a full year's provision being required for the concessions to the Indian Army sanctioned on 1st January 1909; to a rise of 8 lakhs (£53,300) on account of the pay of the augmented establishments of Horse and Field Artillery units; and to an increased provision of 11·75 lakhs (£78,300) on account of an expected reduction in the shortage of troops and reservists. On the other hand no provision is made for extraordinary expenditure, which amounted to 21·4 lakhs (£142,700) in 1908-1909 on account of the Mohmand and Bazar Valley operations; and there are decreases under various heads on account of the reductions and economies indicated in paragraph 28 above.

Summary.

32. The total Military expenditure in 1909-1910 is expected to fall below the provision made for the current year by 6·93 lakhs (£46,200), and to exceed the Revised Estimate of the current year by 22·59 lakhs (£150,500). As explained above the Budget Estimates of 1909-1910, compared with those of 1908-1909, have to meet extra expenditure aggregating 122·75 lakhs (£818,300), on account of additional payments to the War Office, the concessions recently given to the Indian Army, and the rise in prices of food and forage supplies.

B.—MILITARY RECEIPTS.

1909-1910. Receipts.

33. The following statements compare the receipts taken in the Budget of 1909-1910 with those of the Budget and Revised Estimates of the current year:—

	Budget, 1908-1909.	Revised Estimate, 1908-1909.	Budget, 1909-1910.
	R	R	R
Army	1,32,18,000	1,26,29,000	1,39,03,000
Marine	11,82,000	18,81,000	10,42,000
Military Works	8,50,000	8,89,000	8,83,000
TOTAL	1,52,50,000	1,53,99,000	1,58,28,000
Army	881,200	841,900	926,900
Marine	78,800	125,400	69,500
Military Works	56,700	59,300	58,800
TOTAL	1,016,700	1,026,600	1,055,200

34. As compared with the current year's Budget, the only important variation is an increase of 6·85 lakhs (£45,700) under Army. This is mainly due to larger recoveries expected from the War Office on account of Indian Native regiments serving in the Colonies. From 1st April 1909 the Indian Infantry Battalion in North China will be brought under the capitation system, under which the expenditure is disbursed in the first instance from Indian revenues, and subsequently recovered in the form of a capitation rate. Under Marine, less recoveries are anticipated from the War Office for the hire of Royal Indian Marine vessels in connection with Colonial trooping.

APPENDIX III.

Memorandum by the Railway Board

ON THE

Results of Indian Railway Working, 1908-1909, and Proposals for 1909-1910.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURE.

The capital expenditure during the year 1908-1909 will amount to R15,00,00,000 (£10,000,000) being the same as the estimated expenditure for the year 1907-1908.

2. For the year 1909-1910 the estimate provides for spending a sum of 15 crores (£10,000,000), which is the same as the programme for 1908-1909. In accordance with the recommendations of the Committee on Indian Railway Finance and Administration, the amount which was at first proposed for capital expenditure on railways during 1909-1910, was fixed at R18¾ crores (£12,500,000), but owing to financial considerations this amount had to be reduced by R3¾ crores.

3. Under the head of lines already open, including the provision for additional rolling stock, the amount expended in 1908-1909 will be 1,245½ lakhs (£8,303,300), showing an increase of 146¼ lakhs in the expenditure under the same head for the previous year. Under the same heads in 1909-1910 provision is made for 1,300 lakhs (£8,666,700).

4. A comparison showing capital expenditure for 1909-1910 and the previous five years is contained in the following statement:—

5. The information showing in detail how the expenditure in 1908-1909 and 1909-1910 will be distributed is contained in statement A attached to this memorandum.

RAILWAY REVENUE ACCOUNT.

6. For the first time since 1898—1899 the railways of India, taken as a whole, show a deficit after allowing for working expenses, interest on capital expended, charges for annuities in redemption of capital and miscellaneous railway expenditure. The following table shows the approximate figures for 1908-1909 compared with the actual results for the previous six years:—

[Figures in rupees, omitting 000.]

* NOTE.—The figures to end of 1904-1905 include the Companies' shares of surplus profits, since shown under interest charges, etc.

† These figures include only net receipts of the Madras Guaranteed Railway for nine months of 1907-1908.

‡ These figures exclude working expenses of the Madras Guaranteed Railway for nine months of 1907-1908.

The transactions for 1908-1909, as brought out above shew a deficit of R1,76,46 (£1,176,400), but this result is arrived at after inclusion in the charges against Revenue of a sum of R1,08,80 (£725,300) representing the portion of the annuity payments attributable to redemption of Capital. Omitting this item which is not properly speaking a charge against Revenue the true result for the The follo[illegible]08-1909 is a deficit of R67,66 (£451,100). Compared with the results of year under all h[illegible]ear the receipts are less by R1,34,36 (£895,700), the working the previo[illegible]:— [illegible]igher by R2,54,44 (£1,696,300), while interest charges, etc., expenses are [illegible]23,54 (£156,900). have increased by [illegible] 1908-1909.

GROSS RECEIPTS.

7. For seven consecutive years ending with 19[illegible]-08 the Gross Receipts of our railways have marched steadily forwards from increase [illegible] to increase, until in the current year they received a severe check. The reason[illegible] this set back are not far to seek. The year 1908 has been one of abnormal trade depression throughout the world, and India has not been exempt from sharing in the vicissitudes of the times. Here too the calamity of famine, which reduces both the selling and the purchasing power of the country, has accentuated the situation, and all this has had its reflex action in a fall in Railway Receipts, which move up or down automatically with the increase or decrease of the trade and prosperity of the country.

8. It would serve no useful purpose to detail here by how much each railway has fallen or increased. The reasons in all cases are the same. How greatly however the paralysis in trade has affected our earnings may perhaps well be illustrated by the case of the North-Western State Railway. This, the largest of our state-worked lines, earns in Gross Receipts an average of between six and seven hundred lakhs of rupees a year. This year its total receipts are estimated to be about 550 lakhs. The back-bone of its traffic is the wheat export trade from Karachi, and the total failure of this in 1908 has caused a loss on this item alone of over a hundred lakhs of rupees. The same story is repeated elsewhere, and from all sides comes information of trade depression, famine, and falling receipts.

WORKING EXPENSES.

9. The increase in working expenses during the year 1908-1909 over those of 1907-1908 is estimated to amount to Rs. 254 lakhs, but it should be explained that the figures of 1907-1908 exclude the working expenses of the Madras Guaranteed Railway for 9 months of that year. For a proper comparison to be made the Madras Railway figures of expenditure should be added to the total of working expenses of 1907-1908. The true result therefore is a total excess of 171 lakhs approximately.

10. At first sight it might seem remarkable that so heavy a fall in gross earnings is accompanied by so great an increase in working expenses. For an explanation of this, it must be made clear that railway revenue expenditure consists of charges absolutely necessary to meet existing traffic, charges equally necessary to provide for the expansion of traffic, and special and extraordinary charges falling under the heads of betterment and improvement, or attributable to casualties, such for instance as might be caused by serious and heavy breaches due to floods. Of these charges the greater portion lead to increased revenue, if not at once, in the future, but others and by no means a small portion of the total, although not bringing in a return, are forced upon railways by the public demand for a better service than was offered them in the past.

11. In India, as indeed in most other countries, it had become apparent in the last decade that existing railway facilities were not sufficient to cope with the demands of increasing trade. The Railway Board realized this fully on assuming charge of their administration, and in their reports on the results of working of Indian Railways for 1905-1906 and 1906-1907 they clearly set forth the position.

12. The Railway Board pointed out—

(a) that the time had come when it was necessary to run faster trains, provide better carriages, improve the conditions under which third class passengers were carried, and to conduct the business of railways on more up to date methods,

(b) that in order to work economically it was necessary to carry heavier train loads. To effect this it was necessary to relay with heavier rails, and strengthen bridges,

(c) that although the cost of these improvements would be heavy and largely chargeable to Revenue, it was a sound business arrangement, and the expenditure would eventually repay itself.

13. The contention of the Railway Board that Indian Railways were behind the times received confirmation in the Report of the Committee on Indian Railway Finance and Administration. In paragraph 38 of their report the Committee say " we find that the equipment of Indian Railways has been unequal to the requirements of trade in the last two or three years." The Railway Board, fully alive to this, had already taken all steps possible, within the limits of their resources, to remove the defect pointed out by the Committee, and the upward march of working expenses during the last three years is due largely to the efforts thus made. It was necessary to incur heavy expenditure at the outset; but as soon as the desired improvements are effected this expenditure will cease, and working expenses will be steadied. There are however two other factors which bulk largely in the issue. One is the enormous rise in the price of coal, which forms perhaps the most serious item in increased working expenses, and the other the rise in the cost of living in India, both for Europeans and Indians, which has necessitated a considerable increase in the salaries of the working staff. Grain compensation also has been given on a larger scale than heretofore, and this item alone works out in 1908-1909 to an approximate figure of R23,64,000.

14. It is peculiarly unfortunate that the bad year of 1908 comes upon railways whilst they are in a transition state from the old order to the new. It was impossible to stop the large outlay on renewals for which commitments had been entered into, and on the North Western Railway there was the added calamity of disastrous floods, causing breaches that still further reduced its traffic, and will entail a cost to Revenue of many lakhs of rupees to repair. Had the year been but normal, the rise in working expenses would not have stood out so markedly as it does ; but the circumstances that led to it have been explained, and it has, it is hoped, been clearly shown that it was impossible to stop expenditure on schemes of improvement already launched, and thus throw back the work of progress.

OPEN LINE CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS.

15. The total amount allotted during 1909-1910 to open lines is Rs. 13,00·03 lakhs, and of this about Rs. 5 crores will probably be expended on rolling stock.

16. The explanation given last year in the memorandum as to the need for providing for improved facilities in the working of Indian Railways applies also to the figures given this year. The relatively large proportion of the grant which has been allotted to open line works will allow of works being carried out which will facilitate the more effective handling of the additional rolling stock already supplied or under order.

LINES IN PROGRESS AND NEW LINES.

17. It is proposed to allot Rs. 164·97 lakhs for expenditure on lines in progress during 1909-1910. This grant will allow of the completion of 8 lines and of the probable opening during the next year of another 4 lines, leaving 15 lines to be provided for subsequently.

18. After meeting the requirements of open lines and lines in progress as above, Rs. 35 lakhs remain for new lines to be started in 1909-1910. The greater part of this amount will be spent on the Lower Ganges bridge and connecting lines. The Railway Board recognise that active operations in constructing this bridge should not be delayed and the provision of Rs. 25 lakhs will admit of works being pushed forward on the connecting lines and on the collection of material for the bridge. The remaining 10 lakhs will be allotted to the Nagpur-Chhindwara branch of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. This branch line, about 99 miles long, is required in the manganese and coal interests in the Central Provinces and has more pressing claims than other proposed new lines.

GENERAL.

[illegible] 19. The results of working of the year 1908-1909 will have a retarding effect [illegible] following steady progress that was being made in bringing the Railways of India to on their heave of efficiency. The prospects of the coming year are at present a higher [illegible] the Railway Board have thought it advisable to reduce the conjectural, an[illegible] expenses for next year by curtailing the outlay to be provision for work[illegible] and betterments at the cost of Revenue, since how- incurred on improvement[illegible] 8-1909. [illegible] they are not justified unless earnings ever desirable these works [illegible] unmistakeably resume their former buoyancy. [illegible] reduced expenditure

20. In the matter of third class passenger traffic [illegible] traffic in a far will be enforced. Railways are now dealing with this class [illegible] third class more liberal manner than was the case in the past, and the type o[illegible] [illegible]t on bogie carriage now being generally built by all lines is a great improvement the stock which it supersedes. Third class express trains have been introduced and are very popular.

21. Attention is invited to statement B attached to this memorandum which shows the progress of railway construction during the year. It will be seen that the mileage of lines of all gauges open to traffic on 1st April 1908 was 30,206, and under construction 2,527 ; on 1st April 1909 there will be 30,983 open and 2,740 under construction. At the end of the coming year there will be 2,009 miles under construction.
